

ROUGH LOOKING BUT NOT ROWDY

Local "Reception Committee" Somewhat Backward in Welcoming Uninvited Guest.

A fit subject for a movie scene was enacted on Sunday night—and, fortunately for all concerned, it was attended with no more serious consequences than if it had been "made up." A big, rough, raw-bone, "Western-type" man, just like the bouncers shown in the moving pictures, paid Manassas an informal call, having selected this place as his first stop after leaving Orange, from which point a telegraph message to the local operator had preceded him.

The message from Orange sounded interesting to the venturesome. Soon the word passed around that a regular giant of a fellow, who had "cussed out" the ice plant force at Orange, might be expected to drop down upon our peaceful town. When C. & O. train No. 6 passed through, sure enough, the expected "guest" rolled off.

The reception committee was not missing, but on its part there seemed to be a certain degree of timidity, just as though it might be mistaken in the man, and realizing that it would be a breach of etiquette to place itself at the disposal of the wrong man when the real visitor might possibly show up later and find the committee without the freshness of accord expected of its members. Hence the stranger was not approached with welcoming arms, but eyed scrutinously from a distance.

As the "Goliath" sauntered towards the depot he noted something a little unusual in the number of young fellows yet out of bed. He looked in vain for the attraction for such a late gathering. He was at sea as to why so many eyes were so brightly riveted in his direction. Then the thought occurred to him that possibly some of these young fellows "craved" his acquaintance. Not desiring to go to sleep with any unfinished work undone, our friend casually strolled over to a group of these keen-eyed young fellows and asked, "Do you want me?"

"N—n—o—o," came the reply.

A "comfortable" bench in the depot was selected. Our guest was soon in the land of slumber. Sergeant Weir then communicated with the operator at Orange, asking whether the man was to be retained. The reply came back that he was not "wanted." Until daybreak, when this uninvited guest departed in the direction of Washington, Sergeant Weir lingered in the vicinity of the depot, ready to act, if action were needed. Had anything at all unruly been attempted there is no question the stranger would have received a warm reception.

Monday news began to drift into town. The stranger when reaching Buckhall "touched up" the home of Anton Lund for about $60 worth of clothing. Then he visited a colored home nearby and, finding no one at home, prepared and ate his breakfast. Next he was seen at the home of Mr. Joseph Brown, where he inquired as to how he would be able to get across the run. Mr. Brown informed him that he would have to go back and cross the railway bridge.

The story here closes with the remark that several young fellows dozed over their work Monday.

HOME WEDDING TUESDAY

Miss Daisy Virginia Mauck Becomes Bride of Mr. John David Kline.

Mr. John David Kline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Kline, of Manassas, and Miss Daisy Virginia Mauck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James I. Mauck, of Manassas, were married early Tuesday morning, March 16th. The ceremony was performed at the home and by the groom's uncle, Rev. Jehn M. Kline.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom, with the bride's father, motored to Luzay, Va., the former home of the bride, where they will spend a week visiting friends. After their return Mr. Kline will be employed with his father on his farm near Manassas.

We extend hearty congratulations to the young couple.

CLUB WORK OUTLOOK FOR YEAR

Boys' and Girls' Clubs Now Organized in all Sections of the County.

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)

Boys and girls are becoming more interested in club work than ever. The following phases of club work are now popular in the county: Corn, canning, pig, poultry, garden, sewing, dairy calf, beef calf, soy bean and from June first to September 30th, the bread club work will be offered to the girls in organized club work.

Boys' and girls' emblem in club work—four-leaf clover; which represents the principles of scientific farming, rotation of crops, soil building and larger production and greater profits on less acres.

The purpose of club work is not to make everybody farmers; far from it, but we do believe that in whatever sphere in life the boys and girls, who have been active club members enter, they will be just a little better prepared than those who have not caught the vision through some phase of club work.

The object of club work is to train the head to think, plan and reason; the hand to be useful, helpful and skillful; the heart to be kind, true and sympathetic; the health so as to resist disease, enjoy life and make for efficiency. In other words, club work works to encourage and train along the lines of the activities of country life; to bring the school life of the boy and girl into close relationship to home life; to assist in the development of the spirit of co-operation in the family and in the community; to enlarge the vision of the boy and girl and give to them a definite purpose at an important period in life.

The time will soon be over for enrolling in club work for 1921. Parents are urged to let their boys and girls join some phase of club work, especially in communities where clubs are organized. Through the co-operation of the Farmers' Exchange of Prince William, a Burpee can sealer is offered to the girl in the canning club putting up the largest number of cans and jars of vegetables, fruits, preserves, jellies, pickles, etc. It is hoped that the girls will get busy. This sealer requires no hot irons in sealing tin cans.

"A GOOD PROVIDER"

When it comes to being "a good provider," no man would pride himself on furnishing trash liberally for his family. The family is entitled to good, wholesome food that helps growth.

It is the same with reading. Good reading pleases and creates its own hunger for more good reading. The Youth's Companion is the best of reading for all—every member—every age. And it comes every week—crowded with the best. Let us prove it with a sample.

The Youth's Companion has long since ceased to provide for "Youth" alone. It has become the favorite of the whole family weekly of America. Its name is a misnomer, but is retained for the sentiment it has generated in American hearts through its service to every age.

Only $2.50 for a year of 52 issues. Serial stories, short stories, facts, fun, games, puzzles, humor, etc. The Youth's Companion, Commonwealth Ave. and St. Paul St., Boston, Mass.

—Mr. E. E. Thomason, of Haymarket, was in town on business Wednesday.

HEAR ADDRESSES ON LEE HIGHWAY

Mass Meeting of County Citizens at Haymarket Tomorrow (Saturday) at 2 P. M.

A mass meeting of Prince William county citizens will be held at Haymarket tomorrow (Saturday) in the interest of the Lee Highway of which the county has a fair chance of having it pass through instead of taking the route first selected.

Dr. S. M. Johnson, director of the Lee Highway Association, will be the principal speaker of the occasion, who will deliver an address on the proposed route, and will impart as much information as possible to those desirous of obtaining first-hand knowledge of this most important project.

It is most urgently requested by the committee that all those who can possibly do so be present at this meeting and every loyal citizen of old Prince William and lover of good roads is urged to try to see that their friends and neighbors also get there.

The meeting begins promptly at 2 o'clock p. m., so it is quite possible for a large crowd to assemble. It is also important for the citizens of the lower section of the county to be present by reason of the fact that all the road mileage that is taken over by an association of this kind relieves the county in the future of maintenance expense and thus leaves quite a balance to be prorated out to the other districts.

BETHEL CLUB

Meeting Called to Order by the Club President, Miss Georgie Brockett.

(Mary K. Pearson, Reporter)

The Bethel Agricultural and Home Economics Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Bethel school house on Friday afternoon, at three o'clock, March 11th.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Georgie Brockett. After this all joined in singing one of the favorite club songs.

A good percentage of members were present and also a number of visitors. At this meeting we decided to send for a dozen new club song-books, and hope to get them in time for the next meeting.

A number of members reported that they had their seeds sown and eggs set.

Hargest Hedges, a member of the poultry club, announced to the club that he had thoroughbred R. I. Red eggs for sale at $1.00 per setting.

Naomi Pearson, another member, reported that she had twelve little chicks.

Bethel club has a good average of members and the total average is 28 at present.

After practicing several club yells and songs our club adjourned to meet the second Friday in April.

"TACKY" PARTY AT CANNON BRANCH SCHOOL

OBEY PREMONITIONS THE MORAL OF THIS ACCIDENT

Marshall Harris, Colored, Unconscious Seven Hours After Hit By Falling Tree.

Marshall Harris, a respected and worthy colored man of this vicinity, had an unfortunate experience and narrowly escaped what might have proved to be a fatal accident while cutting pulp wood in Yates' woods on Bull Run last Monday.

Marshall was working alone and after he had felled one tree and began trimming up he noticed that another small tree had previously blown over and lodged against the top of a standing tree, which he considered to be a dangerous position for it while he was working so near. Sticking his ax in a stump he attempted to shake the dead tree loose from the other but found it too well secured. He then decided that it would be safe enough to continue the task he had already begun and proceeded thereto when to his surprise everything became dark and life itself was a pleasant dream, following what he felt like was a slight blow on the back of his head.

Marshall remembered that he had looked at his watch and that 8:30 a. m. when he felled his tree; when he awoke from his peaceful slumber it was 3:30 in the afternoon. As he awakened he imagined he had just recovered from a surgical operation and seeing a pool of blood on each side, felt alarmed at the imaginary stain on the carpet of the hospital floor and upon gaining a better grasp of his faculties realized that there were no evidence of a doctor or nurse, not even an attendant and that if he was in a hospital it must be of the primitive sort.

Upon a careful examination he discovered that the lodged tree had fallen loose from its resting place, struck him a blow on the back of the head, just as he had reached the spot where he stuck his ax in a stump, knocking him down on the back of the ax and inflicting an ugly wound in the forehead, both of which together rendered him unconscious for about seven hours. After much effort he walked home without assistance.

Both wounds have been carefully dressed and barring infection he is on the road to a complete recovery from everything but the unpleasant memory of his painful experience.

HAYMARKET

Mrs. Albert East spent the week-end in Washington.

The garage at the corner of Main street and Carolina Road, owned by Mr. C. B. Roland, has been pulled down and a pretty pebble-dash bungalow is being erected on the same lot, which will be occupied by Mr. Roland and his family.

Mrs. James Edward Jordan spent the week-end with relatives at Strasburg.

Miss Katherine Tullos, who has been spending several weeks here, returned to Washington on Saturday.

Mrs. Tom Williamson, Mrs. Carval Hall, Miss Namie Williamson and other members of the family who have spent the winter at their Annapolis home, are expected to return to "Shirley" in a few days.

Mr. Henry Butler, now located in Washington, was at his home here for the week-end.

EASTER BASKET FILLED BY PATRONS' LEAGUE

It being necessary to raise more funds with which to continue the much needed improvements at the Bennett Building, the Patrons' League has decided to ask patrons to contribute eggs next week.

These eggs will be colored and arranged in attractive baskets and sold probably at a booth on the vacant lot between the Corner Building and the National Bank, on Friday and Saturday before Easter.

Persons desiring to make contributions of eggs may send or leave them at the Bennett Building any time next week.

—Mr. J. L. Moser, who purchased the farm formerly known as the Pringle farm on the old turnpike near the Stone House, has recently bought a fine bunch of stockers from our local stock dealer, Mr. E. R. Conner. Mr. Moser's father expects to move to the farm from his present home in Manassas the first of the week.

A BIG (?) ATTENDANCE

Meeting Called in Gainesville District Brought No Teachers.

(Communicated)

The meeting of the teachers of Gainesville district, which was scheduled for March 12, at Hickory Grove school, was not a success as far as numbers go, but nothing may be considered an entire failure from which something is learned.

Some of the ladies of the Patrons' League assisted Mrs. Wilson, the teacher of the Hickory Grove school, in preparing a lunch (enough for several occasions). Two members of the Junior League came to help serve lunch.

The school house was opened at about 9 a. m., the meeting being scheduled for 10, and at 12:30 not one teacher had come. If any came later we have not heard of it.

There are thirteen teachers in Gainesville district, according to a pamphlet sent out by the superintendent. Three of the thirteen sent notes accounting for their absence. Of these notes, two came before Saturday. One other teacher sent a message after the meeting. The rest have not been accounted for. We trust that nothing of a serious nature occurred to anyone on the journey to the meeting.

The program, had it been rendered, we thought would be a helpful one. Two or three papers were especially sorry to miss, viz., the one entitled "Co-operation in the District." The one entitled "Our encouragements and Discouragements" and "Teaching for Love or Wage."

Notices were sent to each teacher in the district. We sincerely hope that the various absences were not occasioned by a failure of any to receive the notice.

WILLING WORKERS MEET

Our Willing Workers are doing right well. Since last year we have five new members, which are Eunice Swart, Martha Kidwell, Constance Henry, Keen Wells, and William Wheeler.

With the help of our county home demonstration agent, Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, we are getting along fine with our sewing.

IN TOILS OF LAW

The Alexandria correspondence to the Washington Star of Monday says: William Keys, a man who gave his age as nineteen years, who says he is from Manassas, Va., was taken into custody early this morning by Policemen Gill and Newland. The policemen recovered half a dozen chickens which they allege he placed in a crate in the city market. The officers told Justice Snow they were out on another mission and they saw Keys with a bag on his back, and followed him to the market, and they added they saw him place the chickens in the crate. Keys, however, stoutly maintained he was innocent, and denied absolutely he was the man who deposited the chickens.

Justice Snow continued his case until the ownership of the chickens can be established.

NEABSCO

The Neabeco people were very much surprised to hear of the marriage of Miss Mabel Bailey and Mr. Archie Arnold, both of this place. Mr. Arnold, who has been on his honeymoon the past week, expects to return to his work Monday.

Mrs. Mary Ann Bushey, of Cherry Hill, who spent some time here, has returned with her son.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold were guests of Mrs. Barnes Tacey Sunday.

MEETING OF PATRONS' LEAGUE

The regular monthly meeting of the Patrons' League will be held on next Thursday, March 24, instead of Friday.

The program, "An Evening With Robert Louis Stevenson," will be given by the primary children. A large attendance is desired as important business will be discussed.—Mrs. J. P. Lyon, Secretary.

DEATH OF OLD TOWN RESIDENT

Late George Muddiman Came to America When Six Weeks Old in Sailing Vessel.

Another of Manassas' oldest inhabitants is dead.

In the death last Friday afternoon of George Muddiman, seventy-eight years old and for fifty-two years a resident of Manassas, Prince William loses one of her oldest artisans. After stricken with apoplexy on Thursday, March 3, when watching the funeral procession of the late O. H. Evans pass the Catholic Church railway crossing, Mr. Muddiman lingered between life and death until the final summons came.

Jacob and Esther Muddiman, natives of England, embarked in 1843 for America. They brought with them their two children, David, now living in Manassas, and the deceased George. The former was then three years of age and the latter six weeks old. At that early day steamships were not plying the Atlantic and the trip had to be made in a sailing vessel, six weeks being required to effect the voyage.

After arriving in this country, the Muddiman family settled in Alexandria, in 1869 moving to Manassas. Their son George learned the stone mason's trade—making this and brick-laying and contracting his life work. He continued active in such work up to suffering the stroke of paralysis. The store houses adjacent to Grace M. E. Church, South, stand as examples of his handicraft.

When a young man, Mr. Muddiman was married to Miss Margaret Jane Wolverton, of Manassas, who died about eight years ago. To this union was born four children, Samuel, who died several years ago; Mrs. Ernest Shirley, whose death occurred about a year before that of her mother, and two surviving daughters, Mrs. A. N. Muddiman, of Roanoke; and Mrs. W. R. Wilson, of Kenova, W. Va.

Surviving the deceased are also his brothers, David, of Manassas; Eli and Edward, of Kentucky, and two sisters, Mrs. Selma Dunkard, of Kentucky, and Mrs. Ella Florence, of Washington, D. C.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at the cemetery by Rev. T. D. D. Clark, the remains being laid to rest beside those of his wife. The pall bearers were Messrs. Joseph Roy and Aubrey Muddiman, Ernest Shirley, B. C. Cornwall and Lorn Walters.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mrs. A. N. Muddiman and Mrs. Lucy Muddiman, of Roanoke; Mrs. W. B. Wilson, of Kenova, W. Va.; Mr. Charles Muddiman, Mrs. Walter Hixson, Mrs. Ella Florence, and Miss Viola Florence, of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. Lorn Walters and two children, of Alexandria.

MISS HENRIE DOGAN DEAD

Passed Away at Home of Her Brother Tuesday—Funeral Today.

On March 16, at "Paradise Farm," the home of her brother, Mr. J. Frank Dogan, Miss Henriette Dogan passed over to her rest final reward after much suffering to peacefully await the arrival of her loved ones on the other side of the shore.

Miss Dogan was born on Groveton farm, which was the old family homestead in those happy days before the Civil War. She was a daughter of the late William Henry and Lucinda Dogan and enjoyed the distinction of being the daughter of one of the most kind-hearted, motherly women of which the Southland boasted in those trying times and days of blood and battle around her old home. It was frequently said that Mrs. Dogan was truly an "Angel of Mercy" and these fine qualities of true feminine instinct were inherited in no small measure by the younger lady whose death the community deeply mourns at this writing.

Miss Dogan was in her sixty-seventh year at the time of her death and although her health had been in an impaired state for some time she had borne her suffering with great patience like a true Christian soldier, always concealing her unpleasant feelings of discomfort and greeting her friends and dear ones with a pleasant smile.

She is survived by her brother, Mr. J. Frank Dogan, one niece, Mrs. Chas. C. Lynn, and one nephew, Mr. Harry Dogan.

The funeral will be held today at Paradise Farm and interment will be in the family burying ground.

Rev. Mr. Wesley preached in the Baptist Church every night last week, closing Sunday night.

During this week there is a moving picture and vaudeville show in the town hall nightly.

The Hynson family have moved into the house on chestnut street owned by Mrs. Cross.

Wednesday of last week at 3 p. m. there was a called meeting of the civic league at Mrs. R. E. Beckley's. It was decided to hold the community sale March 30 and 31.

Friday night, March 11, the regular meeting of the civic and school league was held. Mr. H. B. Derr gave us a stereopticon talk on the section of Missouri in which he (Mr. Derr), had lived while in the west, telling us both the advantages and disadvantages of living in this section of the country, and advised his hearers to stay where they were.

After Mr. Derr's talk was over a short business session was held. It was decided to offer prizes to the school children for the best display of flowers and vegetables during the summer; it was also decided that the league would meet the town council at its next session to talk over town improvement. Mr. W. H. Mathers was appointed to notify the council of this decision.

CUBA AND MEXICO

Developments in Cuba and Mexico are attracting the attention of Americans, and no doubt the United States government is watching the situation. The election just held in Cuba is palpably a farce, from the American point of view, as one party remained away from the polls, while the other claims an "overwhelming victory." The party that refrained from voting makes the allegation that the country is in the hands of a military oligarchy which will not permit honest voting, and that the strong man in the equation is President Manocal, who did not figure openly in the campaign. Gen. Crowder, who has been in Cuba for several weeks as a friendly inquirer and adviser, will doubtless furnish the facts upon which the United States government will shape its policy in the premises.

A friendly but firm hand must be kept upon Cuba by the United States, as required by circumstances and by the Platt amendment. The Cuban people have made much progress in many directions, but their mastery of art of self-government is still far from complete. They are learning even this art, however, and by persistent exercise they may be expected eventually to establish absolute self-government. They need the constant friendship of the United States, exercised tactfully and intelligently, during the period when their political passions and intrigues threaten to destroy their independence.

The United States long ago gave proof of its determination to befriend the Cuban people through thick and thin, and to retain faith in their ultimate ability to govern themselves. There is no reason to doubt that the present administration will adhere to the policy begun by President McKinley.

The state of affairs in Mexico is much more complicated. There is no Platt amendment whereby the United States is given the right automatically to intercede in behalf of the Mexican people whenever their governors by misgovernment endanger their independence. Any influence exerted by the United States in behalf of the Mexican people is easily represented to be imperialism under the guise of friendship. The Mexicans are fed upon the tradition that the United States would extinguish their national existence if it could or dared to do so. Intelligent Mexicans know better, but unfortunately the intelligence that removes this error is only too often misused for the purpose of exploiting the ignorant. The amount of unselfish patriotism in Mexico is insufficient for the needs of a country so populous and extensive. Popular ignorance is at the bottom of the difficulty, for ignorance leaves the masses both incompetent and credulous.

The regime that has succeeded Carranza is fast losing even the semblance of a government. Gen. Obregon has not manifested the strength of character necessary to dominate the national government. His early promise is not fulfilled in any field of activity. The men who surrounded him are no whit better than the adventurers who exploited Mexico under Carranza. The so-called government, indeed, is the same organization of exploiters, who employ the power of government with which to wring money from natives and foreigners, usually under color of law, but always successfully. The personnel of the governing clique has changed only in part, and the methods remain almost the same. Now some of the leaders are falling out, and it is obvious that Obregon will soon be facing formidable rivals in his own camp, to say nothing of the disaffected elements that are out organizing revolutionary movements in the north and south.

Recognition by the United States would perhaps save Obregon, but this recognition is impossible unless he should agree to protect American life and property, and to do justice, on behalf of Mexico, for the Americans killed under former regimes, and for property losses sustained. He has repudiated the verbal agreement made in his behalf by his agent, who was visible in promises before Obregon took office. In the absence of any guarantee of protection to Americans, the United States government must hold itself in readiness to protect its own citizens to the best of its ability. Therefore it can not extend recognition to Obregon, but must give him to understand that no encroachment upon the rights of Americans will be tolerated.

The disintegration of Obregon's organization indicates that a season of disorder and revolution is imminent in Mexico. So long as the Mexican people alone are involved there is no danger that the United States will concern itself with the situation, but if outrages are perpetrated upon Americans or other foreigners the Mexicans will probably discover very quickly that the policy of the United States government is exactly the opposite of the policy pursued by President Wilson. —Washington Post.

LAUGH AND LIVE

Johns and Witty Sayings From The Liveliest Publications of the Country

She Said It.

"You are no gentleman," she wrote, "if you think I said such a thing as she said you said I said I had said."

"Dear girl," he answered, "you must not think I think you think you must be the kind of girl I think you must be if you said such a thing as you said she said I said you said you said you had said."

It seems he knew she knew he knew she said just what she said she heard he had heard her friend had heard him say he had heard her say, but with intuitive feminine tact she accepted his apology.

In His Defense.

"Daughter," called the father from his position at the top of the stairs, at the well known hour of 11:55 p. m., doesn't that young man know how to say good-night?"

"Does he?" echoed the young lady in the darkened hall. "Well, I should say he does."

Even Score.

"I'm not denyin' the women are footish," said Aunt Henrietta, as she patiently peeled potatoes for dinner. "God Almighty made 'em to match the men."

She Caught Him.

The young lady confronted him with flashing eyes.

"What did you mean," she demanded "by kissing me as I lay asleep in the hammock this morning?"

"But," protested the youth, "I took only one."

"You did not. I counted at least seven before I awoke."

Naturally.

Father—You want to get married on fifteen dollars a week! What are you thinking of?

Son—The girl.

Good Cause.

Pokes—Do you believe in the recall of judges?

Jabbe—No, sir. The last time I was in court, the judge said "I recall you face; sixty days." I'm against the recall of judges.

Charcoal Eph's Daily Thought.

"When a man got so much 'ligion he ain' no time fo' craps," said Charcoal Eph, in a mood, "all I got t' say is, de wise farmer gwine watch he hen house when dat man pass wid de hymn book undah he-arm. Eat a hunk o' pie, Mistah Jackson." —Richmond Times-Dispatch.

A Scottish countrywoman was taking her son to school for the first time, and after impressing the schoolmaster with the necessity of the boy's having a thoroughly good education, she finished up by saying, "Be sure he learns Latin."

"But, my dear lady," said the schoolmaster, "Latin is a dead language."

"So much the better," replied the woman. "Ye ken he's going to be an undertaker."

CIGARETTE

No cigarette has the same delicious flavor as Lucky Strike. Because Lucky Strike is the toasted cigarette.

Literature.

"This line," said the critic, "where you refer to your heroine's liquid voice—change it; un'stand it!"

"Change it Why," stammered the author, "what's wrong with it, any how?"

"Nothing, young man, under the old school. But it just doesn't mean anything, that's all; it's like the dode bird, that liquid voice is!" —Times-Dispatch.

"Dad, what is flattery?"

"Flattery, my son, is having somebody else tell us the nice things we have always thought about ourselves."

"The violinist's execution was simply marvelous."

"Wasn't it, though? You could see the audience hanging on every note."

I HAD A FRIEND

By EDMUND VANCE COOKE
Author of Important Poems

I had a friend.

And he had a mine.

It was full of ore and its grade was fine.
He could show, by the map, a deposit of ore,
Which made it as safe as running a store,
Or a factory plant.

All there was to do

Was to put up a mill and run it through.
The assay plainly proved that the ore would run
Some several dollars to every ton.
If I wanted to win, here was one best bet,
So I put in my pile—and it's in there yet,
Oh, well, every golden dream must end,
And some dreams are short.

But I had a friend.

HAYMARKET GARAGE

C. B. ROLAND, Proprietor, HAYMARKET, VA.

At the close of my first year in the Garage Business I want to thank my friends, to whom my success in this line is due. It is very gratifying to know that the business has grown, and if honesty and work counts, it will continue to grow.

I carry a complete stock of Ford Parts. I also sell New and Used Cars, and the famous Lee Puncture Proof Casings. These casings are backed by a guarantee that is a guarantee. All you have to do if they are not as represented is to return them to me and get your money back. The Lee Fabric Casings are as good as any on the market and prices are right.

Backed by twenty years of actual machine shop experience, you will profit by coming any reasonable distance to have your repairs made under my personal supervision.

I also rebuild and paint cars. All work guaranteed.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS:

Haymarket, Va., December 8, 1920.

It gives me pleasure to state that my Ford did not half pull until overhauled by the HAYMARKET GARAGE, since which time it pulls to "beat the band."

Very truly yours,

CHAS. J. GILLISS.

Manassas, Va., December 3, 1920.

To Whom It May Concern:
I met Mr. C. B. Roland soon after coming to the county and he has done quite a bit of work for me, which has always been perfectly satisfactory, and his charges have been less than any I have found in the county. Anyone having any work in Mr. Roland's line will make no mistake, I am sure, in going to him.

Very respectfully,
M. BRUCE WHITMORE.

TOWN ORDINANCE TO BE ENFORCED

The attention of the public is called to paragraph 8, Section 105 of the Ordinances of the Town of Manassas, which reads as follows:

"The owner of any property served by the public sewers will be required to pay the sum of $1.00 per year for the privilege of making and maintaining each connection with the public sewers."

On account of badly needed repairs to the sewer system and for the reason that no funds are available to make such repairs, it becomes necessary to enforce the above ordinance from now on—the first sewer charge to be added to the water bills falling due April 1, 1921, and the same to be collected annually thereafter.

Seen in the First Glimpse of Spring Apparel—

Interesting Modes—Equally Interesting Prices

REGARDLESS of chic modes there is a magic something which tinges all the new things to wear, giving them a rosy, interesting hue. That something is price. One may go about the ever delightful, engrossing task of selecting the details of a Spring outfit unhampered by the thought of high prices and their accompanying train of inhibited desires for what is pretty and what is needed.

What You Will See When You Come Down to the Store

FASHION has outdone herself for the return of Spring. Frocks, Suits and Millinery echo the paeon of joy that marks the coming of the gayest season of the year. Clever French heads and clever heads wherever smart apparel is created have evolved fascinating and charming modes, some not without a very practical turn, of course, for the delectation of fair women. Inspection discloses a very choice collection of the earliest models for women who desire the new while the bloom is yet upon it.

If One Thinks of Frocks

—Then there are smart cloth models, ornate with the new cut work, embroidered, and in contrasting materials. Moroccan and Canton crepes form many a luscious Frock for diversified uses. Afternoon gowns are quaint or dashing in their use of vivid color and eccentric style.

A Glorious Tradition Is the Spring Hat

—Every year comes the fresh new pleasures of selecting Spring Millinery, every year the delightful query of whether it shall be feathers or flowers, a large one or a small one. This season's modes are charming. It is not a moment too early to select the Hat for your suit, the Hat for sports wear and the Hat to accompany lovely frocks. Sailor, off-the-face and close fitting turban styles that are in demand.

To Be Sure, There Must Be a Suit

—No woman will overlook one. They are as inevitable as Spring itself. This year, because these are very youthful box coat models, or flared back models or coolie jackets or semi-fashioned styles, you will see the necessity of having a smart Suit early in the season. Piquetiné is one of the much used new fabrics. Ask to see it.
