

LOCAL ADVISORY BOARD SELECTED

Salvation Army Planning Enlargement of Its Work in the Old Dominion.

Plans for the establishment in Virginia of several new Salvation Army Corps and the securing of homes for men and women and a maternity hospital for unfortunate mothers, will be assured through the appointment of community advisory boards of the Salvation Army throughout the state, in the opinion of the Salvation Army officers at Richmond.

Discussing the plans of the Salvation Army, Colonel W. McDonald Lee, divisional director of its social research bureau, recently stated that these advisory boards had already been formed in several communities of the state, including Wytheville, Fredericksburg, Ashland, Waverly, Suffolk, Harrisonburg and Clifton Forge, and that organization of advisory boards in more than one hundred additional cities and towns in Virginia is in progress. The advisory boards plan was initiated last year in the western half of the country and has proven so successful by its adoption by 2,000 communities there, that the plan is being put into effect throughout the east this year.

A community advisory board was organized in Manassas Tuesday evening, with the following officers elected: President, H. T. Davies; vice-president, G. W. Merchant; secretary, L. Ledman, and treasurer, R. A. Hutchison.

The social welfare activities of the Salvation Army, which have been appreciated before the war, have been brought into clear outline through its energetic service at home and abroad during the war period, although this service was but a continuation of that which has characterized the work of this organization since its inception forty years ago.

The plan is part and parcel of the "home service" movement of the Salvation Army, which hopes through its 1,000 corps and outposts in this country to aid materially in bringing about a solution of the country's social, religious and economic troubles.

Naturally the need of such work is greater in the industrial and commercial centers of the country and it has been felt as much in Virginia as in any other state of the east, according to Colonel Lee.

The new corps which the Salvation Army hopes to establish will be located at Radford, South Boston, Harrisonburg, Suffolk and Hampton.

MAY HAVE LOCAL NEW ENTERPRISE

Plans Under Way for Formation of Soft Drinks Bottling Works Here.

Manassas is to have a new enterprise in the form of an up-to-date bottling plant if plans now underway for the formation of a company materialize.

At a meeting held yesterday by the parties interested, plans were adopted for the organization of a corporation to be known as the S-C-Nectar Bottling Works, of Manassas, Va., and the purpose of which will be to manufacture, bottle and sell soft drinks.

The present interested parties are Messrs. H. Elmer Metz, Arthur L. Pence and C. A. Sinclair, all well known to the people of this county. These three gentlemen have subscribed to the stock of the company and Mr. C. A. Sinclair has been appointed trustee to hold all funds received from the sale of stock until the capital stock of the company is fully subscribed. If for any reason the organization is not perfected the funds will be returned to the subscribers in full. The maximum and minimum capital stock will be $15,000 and $10,000 respectively.

This company will use the most approved and modern machinery in its plant, and its products will be bottled under highly sanitary conditions.

Judge C. E. Nicol has agreed to erect a building near the depot to be used by this corporation as its home.

Mr. Metz will be the first secretary, treasurer of the corporation, while Mr. Pence will be in charge of the plant as manager. Mr. Metz has been one of the most successful of the younger business men of the town and, as the original idea for the organization is his, his many friends will take pleasure in seeing this enterprise make a complete success.

HIGH SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

Hon. C. A. Sinclair Addressed Students on Good Citizenship.

(Contributed)
"Good Citizenship" was the theme of the assembly held at the high school Wednesday of last week. An address on the subject being made by the Hon. C. A. Sinclair, delegate to the state legislature. In his address Mr. Sinclair brought out very clearly to the students how they might even now be training themselves in the fine traditions of good citizenship by showing loyalty to their school; respect for all property rights of others; and respect for themselves, bodily, mentally and spiritually.

Mr. Sinclair's address was preceded by a recitation by Ralph Larson of "The American Creed," and by the following series of readings and recitations on "some great American citizens":

Washington, the founder of a nation, Miss Christine Mosser.

Lee, the great soldier, the great teacher, the great gentleman, Miss Rose Rice.

General Goethals, the great engineer, Wilbur Rosenberger.

Walter Reed, the great physician, Miss Mildred Creel.

Woodrow Wilson, the great statesman and idealist, Miss Nell Hyde.

After some very attractive part songs by the boys' glee club, the program was closed by the singing of the school song, and the "Star-Spangled Banner" by the school.

That same afternoon a very beautiful exhibit of Japanese water colors was made at the high school by the artist, a Mr. M. Sakurai, of Japan, who is studying at the University of Virginia and making the exhibit at different high schools of the state.

MEETING AT CONNER'S HALL

Your Attendance is Urgently Requested at the Mass Meeting to be Held at Conner's Hall Monday, April 4, 7:30 p. m.

Every citizen of Manassas, young or old, registered voter or not, will be well repaid for attendance upon the mass meeting to be held in Conner's Hall Monday evening, April 4th, when Mr. S. D. Holsinger, city manager of Staunton, Va., will give a talk on the practical side of the city manager form of municipal government.

Whatever your present convictions may be as to how Manassas should be governed, you know all is not well with Manassas. You are interested in your home town—then come to this meeting. You will be privileged to ask as many questions as you may care to ask.

The educational value of this meeting alone should well repay any one's attendance, for the city manager plan is widely recognized as the most modern and approved of all forms of municipal government.

In another column you will note a letter from Mr. R. G. Koiser, a former Prince William county demonstrator but now a business man of Staunton. Mr. Koiser's endorsement of Mr. Holsinger and his expression of continued interest in Manassas, should convince all that Monday evening's meeting will be well worth while attending.

HUNGRY THIEVES RAID BAPTISTS

Break into Conner's Hall Last Tuesday Night and Enjoy Big Feast.

Not overburdened with scruples as to the sanctity of a church's efforts to obtain funds, unknown thieves broke into Conner's Hall sometime Tuesday night and made themselves at home to the extent of making up a fire, boiling coffee, devouring about three gallons of ice cream, eating the better portion of a whole ham, and parts of several pies and cakes which had been left uncut, and leaving a coal-oil taint on the left-over portions as to render such unfit for use.

Tuesday evening the ladies of the Baptist Church served a delicious chicken supper. This and the miscellaneous and candy booths were well patronized. After all expenses are paid there will remain about $100.

In anticipation of a visiting delegation of Baptists ministers in connection with the Seventy-five Million Dollar Campaign of that church, enough tables were left in the hall for dinner next day. Before leaving for the night, the ticket office booth at the head of the stairs in the Conner building was boarded up and the door was securely locked.

Upon discovery of the raid Wednesday morning, hurried calls had to be sent out to ladies of the congregation in order to provide a suitable dinner for the delegation of ministers. Their liberal response prevented the display of any seeming lack of hospitality, which the robbers did not apparently concern themselves with.

HOLSINGER A PRACTICAL MAN

R. G. Koiser Bespeaks Large Attendance at Monday's Meeting.

Manassas Journal:—I have been reading with keen interest during the past winter the series of articles printed in your paper from the pen of Mr. Clarence W. Wagener. Having at least some knowledge of the conditions prevailing in Manassas I feel that the splendid array of facts and the sound arguments presented by him should not be allowed to go to waste entirely.

It is, however, the notice printed in your last issue that our city manager here at Staunton is invited to address your citizens at an early date that prompts me to write you this note encouraging you to do all you can to get the people out to hear Mr. Holsinger.

He has been in the city manager's office here continuously since it was first opened thirteen years ago—first as clerk, then as manager with limited power and now with full power and full responsibility. He makes no pretensions as a polished and eloquent public speaker, but, if your people want reliable first-hand information about running a town he can give it to them.

I bespeak for his meeting a generous attendance and you will not be wrong in urging the people to come out and take an interest in the affairs of their own home town.

With pleasant recollections of numerous courtesies extended to me by The Journal in the past, I remain with best wishes for your continued success.

R. G. KOISER,
Staunton, Va., March 29, 1921.

FEW DOLLARS MORE NEEDED

Editor Manassas Journal:—Through your columns please allow me to acknowledge receipt of the following additional contributions towards paying the expenses of Mr. S. D. Holsinger, city manager of Staunton, Va., when he visits Manassas Monday evening to discuss the practical side of the city manager form of municipal government, the meeting to be held at 7:30 o'clock in Conner's Hall:

One dollar from R. B. Sprinkel and 50 cents from M. B. Whitmore.

A few dollars more are yet needed to meet the actual expenses. Contributions may be left with either of the local papers to be duly acknowledged. Any money left over will be turned into the street fund of the town.

CLARENCE W. WAGENER.

"CLEAN-UP" WEEK

ANOTHER TALK ON LEE HIGHWAY

Second Mass Meeting in the County Held at Manassas Saturday Evening.

Last Saturday evening quite a representative number of citizens of Manassas and vicinity attended the mass meeting held in Conner's Hall in the interest of the proposed Lee Highway, which may traverse a portion of Prince William county.

This meeting, in large measure duplicating that held one week previously at Haymarket and which was reported extensively in last week's Journal, again afforded Prince William citizens opportunity of hearing the interesting and able address of Dr. S. M. Johnson, general director of the Lee Highway Association, on what the Lee Highway would mean historically and economically to the South.

Nothing definite has been settled upon by the Lee Highway Association as to the route to be selected to get from Washington into the Valley of Virginia, but Prince William people were given encouragement to hope that this proposed highway will traverse the upper section of Prince William, running from Centreville by way of Stone House to Thoroughfare Gap and thence on to The Plains, Marshall, etc. This seems to be one of the best of the routes laid down by nature for a highway. Definite announcement as to the selection of the route, according to Dr. Johnson, will be forthcoming shortly.

However, there is a great deal of preliminary work to be done before the Lee Highway can become an established fact, which necessitates the organization of county associations where memberships are solicited to aid in the work of making the Lee Highway a reality.

The officers of the Lee Highway Association of Prince William county, headed by President B. Lynn Robertson, was announced in last week's issue. At Saturday evening's meeting, additional memberships were solicited and several applications were turned in.

President Robertson presided. At the conclusion of Dr. Johnson's talk, Mr. Boyd, the chairman of the Lee Highway Association of Warren county, told briefly of what the people of his county are doing to bring the highway into existence and to have it traverse their county.

VEHICLE LICENSE MAY BE REQUIRED

Children Under Fourteen Forbidden to Operate Motor Vehicles Over Town Streets.

With but Mayor W. Hill Brown and Councilmen Arrington, Burke and Hibbs in attendance, the regular monthly council meeting scheduled for Monday evening was adjourned to meet again on Tuesday evening, when the Mayor and all councilmen except Messrs. C. M. Larkin and B. Lynn Robertson were present.

A permit was granted the Farmers' Co-operative Exchange to remodel the dwelling portion of the old Kincheloe property on Centre street, which they purchased several months ago and which will be occupied by the Exchange shortly.

Mayor Brown reported the collection of $1.00 in fines. Several bills were endorsed paid. It was agreed that the license schedule should remain the same as last year.

Upon motion being made and seconded, Mayor Brown appointed Messrs. Sinclair, Burke and Newman to investigate and report at the next regular or called meeting of the town council as to the advisability of licensing automobiles and all vehicles operating over the streets of the town.

It was ordered that a warrant be drawn in favor of the Hooper-Mankin Company in sum of $1,000 on coal account.

Resolved that the Ladies' Rest Room in Manassas be given, without charge, water to the extent of 6,000 gallons per quarter.

It was unanimously voted that a child under the age of 14 should not be allowed to operate an automobile, truck or tractor within the corporate limits of Manassas.

The Public Utilities Committee was instructed to confer with Mr. Gue, superintendent of the power plant, regarding a requested increase in salary and to report to the council at the next regular or called meeting.

Mayor Brown appointed the following committee to solicit subscriptions for an air compressor for the town well—Messrs. E. S. Hymas and B. Lynn Robertson.

FOR A BETTER FAIR

For outsiders and newcomers to understand the fair situation, it becomes necessary to review past Horse Show history at Manassas. Fifteen years ago it set out with bright prospects and $10,000 in cash to improve the breed of army and hunting horses, under agreement then not to allow races. Soons, however, by voting stock and proxies, they introduced this gambling element. Some of our best citizens and stockholders then withdrew.

When we reorganized for a fair in 1919, some of these predicted then that it would turn out in the same way. After running through with what money they had, and all they could borrow, the Horse Show found so little local interest that gate receipts and entry fees would not pay operating expenses. The race horse man in charge that year told me himself that people here do not appreciate the sport of kings—racing—that he was through with Manassas. (And, by the way, he was the only man in the county making a specialty of racing.)

Sure enough, there was no meet the next year. Business men and farmers then felt it would be wise to start an agricultural fair. Careful inquiry was made, not only by the Ladies' Auxiliary, but also by the Farmers' Institute, and we were assured by both county agent and his fair expert, that a fair could be made a success without races, gambling devices, and immoral shows, and that there would be no such. To make sure, we went further by insisting that it be put in the charter.

Later on, at a special meeting, called for that purpose, enough stock and proxies were secured to insert a clause calling for "Contests of Speed." Some of us, while not claiming to be philologists, thought we could see that there would not be much difference between a "contest of speed" and a horse race, and refused to take up our stock. (They claim now that we do not amount to much—only a few cranks.) It was serious enough though for them, then, to admit they could not go forward without money, so a meeting was called at the courthouse to determine what the people wanted. By a rising vote and count, we found that racing was turned down by three to one. There were no races that year.

In 1920 the Horse Show crowd overreached us by changing the date agreed upon, to the one which was rained out. This was done to put us in the Horse Show circuit, so professional circuit-goers could drop off at Manassas enroute to Fauquier. Few will forget the contiguous downpour of rain upon these dates. They claim, and it is true (we are thankful for it) that we do not make the weather—but the Horse Show crowd, and they alone, are responsible for putting our fair under this particular water-spout of 1920. I predicted also at the time that the original date would prove fine weather. So it turned out, as can be established by witnesses—to whom I remarked, "I told you so!"

Notice they set the 1921 show again in Horse Show instead of Fair circuit. August is too early—weather too hot and dusty, or stormy. Crops, young stock and poultry are immature, and old birds in moult. We wish a date just before or after the Fairfax Fair. August date alone is sufficient to prevent a successful fair. Why ruin it, a thing in which the majority of our own people are interested, for the sake of showing of race horses—a game at which very few of us can afford to ply?

Discouraged by the dismal failure and big loss, they run races on Labor Day, under "auspices of Prince William Fair Association," in deliberate and willful violation of the agreement by which they secured the money. Most of the subscriptions had already been paid up on the assurance that there would be no racing. I refused to pay then, but have since offered to settle on the basis of my subscription, for an agricultural fair.

The next move was to call another meeting, when it is claimed three-fourths voted for racing. Note, however, this was done by thirty using stock of seventy-one proxies, a proceeding admittedly responsible for remaining away with the old association, and which we stated plainly we would not stand for in this. Labor Day races resulted in a further loss of $300. The truth is, that the Horse Show has occupied the stage here to the exclusion of more worthy and important enterprises. The Fair has been run both with and without races. In neither way did, nor can it ever touch the real interests of enough people to make it a success. To illustrate, take the last catalogue, which shows seventy women—all home people—made exhibits, to twenty odd entrants of horses—over half of them outsiders. Nearly $100 was put on one army horse, officer's mount. Now just why should one horse get about the same money as all these seventy home women, who exhibit domestic science products?

One of our best merchants characterized the effort to make the Fair carry the old Horse Show like "trying to revive a corpse." Many farmers have said they would not allow any more of their crops, stock, or children in it. Organized club women (the largest and most influential clientele) passed resolutions denouncing racing, rowdyism, and indecent side shows, stating they would have nothing more to do with it. Those who heard them present their case, admit that their point was well taken. The Secretary conceded that indecent shows had to be turned out, but said these side shows were hard to keep posted on. What we want to know is, why have any? If the best our country affords is not good enough to be interesting, then it is high time we were organizing to make it so.

The Country Gentleman, in a last summer issue, tells of a leading Illinois Fair (Mercer) with good lot and buildings, all paid for and cash in the bank—the paid admissions of the season being $17,000. All this without a so-called "attraction," nor a single dollar in capital stock.

New to business point of view. The race track and grounds belong to a non-resident, who refuses to consider its sale or a long term lease. Stop to think a minute. Were this association a success otherwise, would it not be foolish to put permanent buildings on land belonging to some one else? Instead, the association's statement is practically an admission of insolvency. Liabilities approximating $7,000 and what are its assets? Two years ago we directed attention to the wrong in placing more money on horses than all the crops and stock combined—recommended a reduction of $1,000, which still left over twice what Fairfax puts on its horse department. Instead of reducing the Horse Show prizes, they were increased $1,400 to $1,700, exclusive of purses. Is it wise to put more money into one attraction (?) than into our poultry, sheep and pigs, asks an ex-superintendent?

Whether we like it or not, most of us are up against a long period of enforced economy. John Clay, of Clay Robinson & Co., says in his last market report, that on a 100-mile trip across a rich section of New York, he passed only two cars, whereas, motoring same way each spring in past years, he'd see from 50 to 100 cars. Stated he had run his cars in, sold his hunting horses and hounds. And, Mr. Clay is neither a poor nor a narrow man.

Our proposition is to buy a lot in town, and set up substantial buildings when funds in hand warrant. A saving of $15,000 can be made in five or six years. This has resulted in creditable equipment for other sections trying it. (See Bul. No. 1173, Farming Activities.)

It is but fair to say that the president is not personally responsible for all the shifts made. We are not making an attack on Mr. Robertson, or any body else, personally. On the contrary, we see much in their public spirit and generosity to admire. We hope they will lead out in a purely agricultural fair, close in to town.

Where is the sense or justice in promising to pay four to six thousand dollars for speed and sport and vile shows, while we can't pay our boys and girls and their mothers their small allotment of well-earned prize money? To pay Pain Fire Works twice what all our sheep and hogs got is scarcely fair.

Manassas has already achieved recognition for leadership with the Land Bank, Federal Government Wool Warehouse, Farmers' Union. My judgment on rural sentiment in Northern Virginia is away if it does not support a fair catering to the actual farmer and his family. That it will come as "One of those blessings which maketh rich and addeth no sorrow therewith," is my prayer.

WILSON'S POLICY UPHHELD

The announcement from Washington that Secretary Hughes has transmitted a note notifying the Soviet authorities that resumption of trade between the two countries could not be considered until fundamental changes had been made in the economic system underlying the Soviet regime, is decidedly interesting reading, in the light of the bitter criticism heaped upon the Wilson administration by Republican leaders for taking a similar stand. Charged with the responsibility of government, they now find themselves compelled to pay tribute to the wisdom of the policy adopted by the previous administration by continuing it in force. Moreover Secretary Hoover authorizes the statement that continuance of this Wilson policy met with the full approval of every member of the Harding cabinet.

When Warren G. Harding at Des Moines deliberately announced that, if elected, he would reverse all the foreign policies of the Wilson administration, he practically held out his hand to Lenin and Trotsky. It may be true that in other utterances he denounced Sovietism, assured the country that he would have nothing to do with an organization that was bent upon destroying the government of the United States, and gave notice that he never recognized Lenin.

That was not the important fact in the situation, from a bolshevist viewpoint. The important fact was that the Republican party was campaigning for power upon a platform of repudiation; that it solemnly announced it was out to destroy Wilsonism and disavow every act and sentiment for which that administration stood.

It was Woodrow Wilson who had given Sovietism its most terrific blow. It was Wilson who had indicted it at the bar of civilization and had heaped contumely upon it to such an extent that no other great power dared deal with it while he was in office. If the Republican party should win, Lenin assumed that it would lose no time in expunging from the record of the American government every revocable policy or program that the Democratic president had sponsored.

And Lenin lost no time on his part, in presenting his petition to President Harding. Within less than a month of Mr. Harding's induction into office, the Bolshevik dictator, pretending regeneration, petitioned Mr. Harding for a resumption of trade relations with Russia. He declared that it was not the purpose of the Soviet to foment revolution in America or to interfere in any form in the processes of government in this country. He asked the privilege of sending a mission to America to negotiate with this government.

This placed the issue squarely before the new administration. It was not to be sidestepped. Some answer had to be made to the Bolshevik communication. The answer was promptly forthcoming and it is a complete upholding of the policy of the previous administration and, by implication, open confession of its wisdom.

Meanwhile, the cunning Lenin has proclaimed his own reform, it appears. He has abandoned most of the fundamental principles of Communism. He has declared that world revolution is no longer to be promoted by militant Socialism and he is ready to make friends with "capitalism." How seriously this surrender was taken by the Harding administration is indicated by the policy adopted regarding the proposed negotiations. The Harding administration declines to place any faith whatever in these promises. It demands fundamental changes in the economic system underlying the Soviet regime that necessarily imply complete repudiation of its political system.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The seedy but honest person entered the second-hand clothing store and accosted the proprietor.
 "Last Tuesday," he said, "I bought a second-hand suit here, and—"
 "Nothing doing," shouted the proprietor. "You examined the suit and paid your money; the deal's closed!" And with ungentle hands he pushed the person into the street.
 "Oh, very well," said the person, waving a twenty-dollar bill in the dealer's face. "I just wanted to give you back this thing that I found in one of the vest pockets."

I HAD A FRIEND

By EDMUND VANCE COOKE
 Author of Impertinent Poems

I had a friend. And he had a mine.
 It was full of ore and its grade was fine.
 He could show, by the map, a deposit of ore,
 Which made it as safe as running a store,
 Or a factory plant.
 All there was to do
 Was to put up a mill and run it through.
 The assay plainly proved that the ore would run
 Some several dollars to every ton.
 If I wanted to win, here was one best bet,
 So I put in my pile—and it's in there yet,
 Oh, well, every golden dream must end,
 And some dreams are short.
 But I had a friend.

C. B. ROLAND, Proprietor, HAYMARKET, VA.

At the close of my first year in the Garage Business I want to thank my friends, to whom my success in this line is due. It is very gratifying to know that the business has grown, and if honesty and work counts, it will continue to grow.

I carry a complete stock of Ford Parts. I also sell New and Used Cars, and the famous Lee Puncture Proof Casings. These casings are backed by a guarantee that is a guarantee. All you have to do if they are not as represented is to return them to me and get your money back. The Lee Fabric Casings are as good as any on the market and prices are right.

Backed by twenty years of actual machine shop experience, you will profit by coming any reasonable distance to have your repairs made under my personal supervision.

I also rebuild and paint cars. All work guaranteed.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS:

Haymarket, Va., December 8, 1920.
 It gives me pleasure to state that my Ford did not half pull until overhauled by the HAYMARKET GARAGE, since which time it pulls to "beat the band."
 Very truly yours,
CHAS. J. GILLISS.

 To Whom It May Concern:
 I met Mr. C. B. Roland soon after coming to the county and he has done quite a bit of work for me, which has always been perfectly satisfactory, and his charges have been less than any I have found in the county. Anyone having any work in Mr. Roland's line will make no mistake, I am sure, in going to him.
 Very respectfully,

A QUERY AND ITS ANSWER

¶ Hardly a day passes without some of our good friends asking us this question: "How is it that you are only paying 10 cents for meat and charging us 35 cents for steak?" We are always very glad to explain this for it's YOUR FAULT, Mrs. Housekeeper, if you insist on steak. As there is only so much breast on a chicken someone must eat the dark meat or it's a waste. That's the whole argument, dear patrons, and not only ourselves but every butcher in the country today is crying the same thing. We can't give the cheap cuts away!

¶ Yes, we pay 10 cents for a beef and it dresses 50 per cent, so the carcass will cost us 20 cents. Now, we have plenty good meat in briskets, plates and rough cuts that we will be only too glad to sell you for 10 cents to 20 cents per pound, or at and below the actual cost of the beef. So why not help us lower the cost of living?

¶ Get back to soup for one day in the week and thus by helping us move the cheaper cuts, steaks will become more plentiful and therefore cheaper. This is merely a suggestion on our part.

¶ To those who want any kind of meat, we have it for we specialize in meats and meats only. Prices, as heretofore, are fixed on value and satisfaction is assured.
