

LYNCH MEMORIAL DEDICATED HERE

President Harrison, of Southern Railway, and Others Offer Tribute at Unveiling.

A memorial shaft of pink Tennessee granite, nine feet high, was unveiled here on Memorial day, May 30, at the grave of Patrick Henry Lynch, under the auspices of a committee representing 466 Southern railway employees who erected the memorial.

President Fairfax Harrison, of the Southern railway, was among the speakers at the dedication. "It is altogether appropriate for our railroad people to join together in this memorial," Mr. Harrison said. "Mr. Lynch spent more than forty-three years in the service of the Southern railway, and died at his post. This is a memorial to all other men who gave the kind of service Pat Lynch gave."

"He lived in the heroic age of railroads, when men were more than the materials they used. His greatest characteristic was loyalty. He began at the bottom as a laborer on the track and rose to a high place. That is an honorable record. The explanation, I believe, is loyalty."

"He was a man with a great heart," the speaker continued, "promoting co-operation among employees in conspicuous degree. His loyalty was not only loyalty to his job; it was the kind of loyalty which began at his mother's knee and grew to embrace loyalty to his wife, to his children, to his state and to his country. That was Pat Lynch. That is perhaps the lesson, more than anything else, that we may draw from the life of Pat Lynch."

Mr. Morris Spero, general foreman of the Southern railway at Harrisonburg, who knew Mr. Lynch intimately for twenty years, paid a touching tribute to his memory, likening the spirit which prompted the erection of this memorial to the spirit which carries Americans to the shrines of Washington and Robert Lee and other Americans who have won the undying love of the people. "Pat Lynch was broad on all subjects," he said. "He believed in the teachings of God, 'Love thy neighbor as thyself,' and 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' He gave an honest day's work and believed in fair treatment to all. He lived a true, upright, honest life."

Hon. Thos. H. Lion made the address of presentation on behalf of the railroad employees. He paid a striking personal tribute to Mr. Lynch and in a few appropriate words presented the memorial.

Mr. Lynch responded briefly and with feeling, expressing the thanks of the family for the tribute to his father.

Mr. Thomas F. King was in charge of the exercises. Mr. King made a short introductory talk, offered a brief prayer and introduced the speakers. "Friends, we are gathered here for the purpose of unveiling this stone, erected to the memory of our departed friend, Mr. Patrick Henry Lynch, better known as 'Pat' to the older men," Mr. King said. "Lynch was a good friend of mine and I served ten or more years of my railroad life with him. Knowing his friends of the Washington and Danville division as I did, I felt it would be their wish to express in some way their appreciation of his kind acts toward us. The thought came to me that we could do nothing better than to erect a monument at his grave."

"The one thing in Mr. Lynch's life that impressed me most was that he never had an unkind word to say about any one."

Three hymns, "Rock of Ages," "Abide With Me" and "The Sweet Bye and Bye" were sung by Messrs. Albert Spelman, Sedwick Hynson, W. E. Myers and T. J. Broadbent and Rev. T. D. Clark. Rev. Louis Sages of Alexandria, a former pastor of All Saints' Church here, pronounced the benediction.

Mr. E. E. Simpson, of Charlotte, N. C., general manager of the Southern railway, who was to have made the address of presentation, was unable to be present on account of a railroad order summoning all general superintendents and chief engineers to Washington for a conference on that day. A telegram expressing his disappointment and regrets was read by Mr. King.

Among the out-of-town friends who were guests at the home of Mrs. Lynch for the ceremony were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jahn and their daughter, Marjane, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. George Yocum, and Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Collins and Miss Rosebud Collins, all of Washington; Mrs. Green and two daughters, Mrs. Honora Murphy and Father Smet, of Alexandria; Father Winston, of Warrenton; Mr. and Mrs. J. Pollard and Mrs. Fitzsimmons and Mr. and Mrs. M. Murphey, of Strasburg, and Mr. G. W. Barry, of Culpeper.

All of Mr. Lynch's family were present except a daughter, Mrs. G. W. Barry, of Culpeper, who was detained by the illness of her baby daughter, and a son, Mr. Edward Lynch, who is in Texas.

Addresses Made by Rev. G. W. Crabtree, Prof. Holliday, Mr. C. J. Meetz and Others.

(W. Y. Ellicott, Secretary)
The third annual convention of the Sunday Schools of Coles district was held at Bellehaven Baptist Church on Sunday. The meeting was presided over by Mr. W. A. Wine, superintendent of the Independent Hill Sunday School. We must congratulate Mr. Wine on the excellent program he arranged for the occasion.

The morning session opened with a song service, Miss Dorothy Merrill presiding at the organ and with Mr. W. B. Bowers as leader. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. M. Wells, of Orlando, who read the twenty-third and twenty-fourth Psalms.

Rev. W. T. Wine gave an excellent address of welcome. He gave some interesting facts concerning the past history of Bellehaven, telling of the number who have gone forth to ministerial service and urging the people to work together in the future.

Mrs. M. M. Hill, of Woodbine, poetess of the forest, gave a hearty response.

Mr. J. J. Murphey gave a splendid talk on the importance of training for citizenship, as our country was never more in need of good citizens than at the present time.

Miss Dorothy Merrill recited "The Ninety and Nine."

Rev. G. W. Crabtree, of Catlett, gave some excellent illustrations of the benefits and necessity of training the children.

The morning session closed with music.

After a bountiful lunch, which was served by the ladies, and a social hour, the meeting was again called to order. All joined heartily in the song service, Miss Bertha Linton presiding at the organ.

A short business session was held and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. W. B. Bowers; vice-president, Mr. W. A. Wine; treasurer, Mr. C. M. Wine, and secretary, Mr. W. Y. Ellicott.

Reports were given from the following schools: Bellehaven, Orlando, Woodbine, Independent Hill and Greenwood. There was no report from Patteell. We understand they have a good school.

Prof. R. H. Holliday, new president of Eastern College at Manassas, gave an excellent talk on the advantages and benefits derived from Sunday School work. This was followed by a splendid address by Hon. C. J. Meetz, in his usual jovial and pleasant manner. His subject was "Realization of Our Personal Responsibility."

Rev. J. A. Golihew spoke on the great need of trained teachers for the Sunday School.

All schools are urged to send delegates to Haymarket. This will be the county meeting.

PATRONS GIVE DANCE

Benefit Under Auspices of School League Pronounced Big Success.

(Communicated)

The dance given by the Patrons' League of the Manassas schools last Friday evening at Conner's Hall was beyond a shadow of doubt a big success.

The stage was prettily decorated with ferns and daisies, the music furnished by Roscoe Lee's orchestra was excellent, while the sandwiches and cold tea furnished by the patrons during the intermission were very refreshing.

The patrons are to be congratulated on their ability to give such a good dance and they should be urged by all in favor of properly conducted dances to continue the good work.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the dance were: Miss Simpson, of Washington; Mr. Simpson, of George Washington University; Mr. and Mrs. Willis, of Remington; the Messrs. Ramey, of Warrenton; and Mr. Roderick Jackson, of the University of Virginia.

The chaperones were: Mrs. Joseph P. Lyon, Mrs. Stuart E. Bevans, Mrs. E. S. Hynson, Mrs. Ashby Lewis, Mrs. E. R. Conner, Mrs. Frank Gibb, Mrs. W. H. W. Moran, Miss Grace Moran, Mrs. M. B. Whitmore and Mrs. E. R. Giddings.

MR. BYRD AGREES TO SERVE

Since the editorial page of The Journal went to press yesterday, Councilman R. L. Byrd, who for personal reasons had decided that he would not again serve on the Town Council if elected, has stated that if the town electors desire him to remain as a member of the council he will, if elected, continue to discharge the duties pertaining to the office, having reached the conclusion that personal matters should be laid aside for duties of public character.

Therefore, the editorial giving the names of the old council who are willing to serve the town another term should be read as if Mr. Byrd's name is included in the list, and that there is no vacancy on the ticket so far as his name is concerned.

ST. CECILIA CLUB MEETS

(Miss Elvere Conner, Secretary)
The St. Cecilia Club held its May meeting on Friday evening at Mrs. Hodge's studio. In the absence of the president the vice-president, Miss Christine Beaver, called the meeting to order. The secretary called the roll and read the minutes of the April meeting. The program showed satisfactory progress. A new feature was introduced. Before playing Mozart's Minuet, Miss Elvere Conner read a short sketch of the life of Mozart. Miss Christine Beaver followed a brief paper on the life of Heller by a delightful selection from the works of that composer. Lemonade and cake were enjoyed after the program was concluded.

FAIR DIRECTORS CONSIDER PLANS

Admission Fee Reduced—Secretary Urges Early Preparation of Exhibits.

(H. W. Sanders, Secretary)

An important meeting of the directors of the Prince William Fair Association was held last Friday, at which time the material for the 1921 premium list was submitted for the approval of the directors previous to its being placed in the hands of the publishers. Bids having been received for printing the catalogue, this work will go forward at once and it is expected that copies will be ready for distribution by about the middle of the month.

Patrons of the fair will be interested to know that the directors placed the price of admission this year at fifty cents, a reduction of twenty-five cents in last year's admission price. There will be no admission charge at night, although the grounds will be open for visitors as usual and entertainment will be provided as in previous years, with the exception of fireworks.

An excellent racing program has been arranged by Mr. F. D. Gaskins, the first two days of the fair being decided upon as those on which to hold the races. In addition to this, a county and a mule race will be held on the last day of the fair, detailed announcement of which will be made at a later date.

Arrangements are being made for the erection of several wooden structures to house the live stock as well as the farm products and household exhibits, in order that all exhibitors may be assured of ample protection from the weather.

Now is the time for the farmers and housewives of this section of Northern Virginia to begin preparations for their 1921 exhibit. Don't wait until a few weeks before the fair because your opportunities for selection will not be as good. Now is also the time for you to do another important thing for the fair—get behind it and do some real honest-to-goodness boosting.

That is what we need more than anything else. In spite of the fact that some people are still asking the question, "Are THEY going to have a FAIR this year?" the fair is YOUR fair and the officers need your help to make it the success that it should and must be.

HAPPY HUSTLERS BUSY

Miss Gilbert was present at all the meetings except one and has given us lessons in basket making and sewing. We are going to hustle and we cannot help being happy with such an enthusiastic teacher as Miss Gilbert, and we are anxious to learn, hence our name.

MRS. RANDELL A HOSTESS

Bethlehem Housekeepers' Delightfully Entertained Saturday Afternoon.

(C. E. L. Hodge, Secretary)

On the afternoon of May 28 the Bethlehem Good Housekeepers' Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. F. E. Randell in her pleasant home in Richmond avenue. The vice-president, Mrs. M. D. Brown, presided, as Mrs. Gibson was unavoidably detained until late in the afternoon. The business proceeded as usual. Mrs. Simpson was the guest of the day.

The interest in the various activities of the club was unabated. The suggestion made by Mrs. Haines and supported by the president and every member present, that the club enjoy an outing to some point of interest, was laid on the table for consideration until the June meeting.

Delicious ice cream and cake were enjoyed during the social hour. A violent electrical storm detained the club to a later hour than usual. With words of appreciation to our hostess we adjourned until the June meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. T. J. Broadbent.

—Mr. A. B. Davis, of Clarendon, a former resident of Manassas, has been ill since May 25 and is still in a critical condition.

FAMOUS TWINS VISIT US

Those interesting twins—Appre Tite and Appre Hension—paid us a visit this week. Appre Tite was enjoying his usual health, and his sister, Appre Hension, was in her usual mood. 'Twas only after much persuasion on her brother's part that she ate her dinner. After that she felt better and by the time she had her dessert—The Velvet Kind Ice Cream—she was feeling very much better and bought a pound of Martha Washington at the new price of 87c, which tickled her so that she promised to tell her cousin, Appreciation.

For Mayor:
HARRY P. DAVIS

For Councilmen:
D. J. ARRINGTON
J. H. BURKE
W. F. HIBBS
R. M. JENKINS
C. M. LARKIN
J. L. MOSER
O. E. NEWMAN

Members of the Present Council.

These are the men whose election, The Journal believes, will be for the best interest of Manassas.

Mr. Harry P. Davis, who has consented to be a candidate for mayor, is not personally committed either to the old council or to a new ticket nominated by a recent "mass meeting" of forty people, although he is said to favor the re-election of the present council. He has formally agreed to serve if elected.

Mr. Davis, now town treasurer, is in close touch with town affairs, particularly its financial affairs, and is well fitted to lead the council.

The names of two members of the present council, it will be observed, have been stricken from the list. Mr. R. L. Byrd for personal reasons finds that he will be unable to continue the work and Mr. B. Lynn Robertson, according to the recent announcement of the commonwealth's attorney, is ineligible by reason of his appointment to the county board of supervisors. Many supporters of the present council have suggested the names of Rev. J. M. Bell and Mr. James R. Larkin to fill the vacancies.

The members of the present council, seven of whom are willing to serve again if the people desire it, are busy with their program of getting the town affairs on a business basis. With the gradual return to normalcy, they are striving to obtain the necessary funds to repair the much neglected municipal water, light and power plant, and to make it a model of service and efficiency. Just this week they have been enabled to place an order for a new air compressor, which is expected to make a material increase in the town's water supply.

The Journal, it may be said, has no fault to find with the ticket nominated at the "mass meeting."

The question of importance is not so much whether the new men named are men of quality and worth as whether it is advisable to make a change of administration at a critical period.

The present councilmen have safely passed through a training period. They have already saved the town from threatened bankruptcy and, as shown by official figures in the issue of May 27, are getting our treasury in the shape that we would have it. They have known little but work, to make "both ends meet," with little outside of our bank account to show for it. The money has not been in reach.

The matter will come before the voters of Manassas on Tuesday, June 14. It is for them to decide this question:

At this critical time, shall we risk a new training period with even the best of men, when men who have been tried and found worthy are ready to continue in office?

OUR WAR MEDALS

Apparently—and it is not surprising—Virginia ex-service men are in no hurry to claim the medal awarded by the national government for honorable service in the world war. They did not fight for honor and glory in any personal sense and are shy of accepting decorations. In Virginia alone 40,000 of them have neglected to claim the simple badge of honor which the nation desires to confer upon them.

The medal is an emblem of the cause which stirred them to follow the flag into battle; and a modest but sincere expression of the everlasting gratitude of a people. If you are one of Virginia's 40,000 who have neglected to claim your medal, think it over and write to the Victory Medal Officer, 1112 Capitol Street, Richmond, Virginia.

It will be well for our soldiers and sailors to remember that though they perhaps may not see its value, this medal will be a treasured possession of posterity. For the sake of their children, and their children's children, they should obtain the little medal, and cherish it.

MEMORIAL DAY

Today we pause in tribute to our heroic dead. It is the birthday of Jefferson Davis, only president of the southern Confederacy, whose memory has been so honored for many years by the women of the south.

While the day is set apart as Confederate memorial day, it has come to mean, to its observers, a day of memorial to all our dear and heroic dead.

In thought we lay a wreath upon the shrine at Mount Vernon. In thought we strew garlands about the tomb of Lee at Lexington. In thought we kneel before the resting place of men and boys who lately fell asleep on foreign soil, that liberty might live. In thought we summon back the images of all our dear departed, and pay anew our tribute with fragrant flowers.

FREDERICKSBURG

The city of Fredericksburg, Virginia, has just celebrated its two hundred and fiftieth birthday, with national recognition and congratulation and with a splendid and stirring celebration.

While her years, by old world standards, are hardly thrilling, they contribute to a long and honorable record second to few on the American continent and one to be envied by her sister cities of this infant nation which has attained first rank among the powers of the world.

The earlier history of Fredericksburg recalls many events and persons of national importance. Her early citizens were real makers of American history. As to Fredericksburg spirit today, this celebration, its success and its scope, will testify.

FOREST PROTECTION WEEK

Forest protection week has been observed throughout the nation.

We of Virginia have every reason to do our utmost to save our forests. Our average annual loss for the last five years has been $650,000, with 250,000 acres burned each year. It would be impossible to estimate the loss if we should begin to include the actual reduction in the sale value of injured property, the injury to the soil through the burning up of the humus, the reduction in the producing capacity of the forests, or the resulting scarcity of the products of the forests.

In 1909 Virginia ranked sixth among the states in the production of lumber, producing a little over two billion board feet. In 1919 we dropped to twelfth place, producing a little over one billion. This loss is not the result of clearing timber land for agriculture, the Virginia forestry department says, since only a small fraction of the cut-over land is cleared, and this is practically offset by uncultivated fields which gradually reforest themselves. The loss is due to failure to renew the forests, they declare, and this is due principally to forest fires.

While adequate forest protection is impossible in Virginia until adequate funds are provided, every citizen may contribute largely to the safety program by following these simple rules:

1. Never throw away a lighted match.
2. Be careful with pipes, cigarettes and cigars when smoking in the open.
3. Always clear a safe space before building a fire in the woods.
4. Extinguish, to the best of your ability, any fires you may discover.

I HAD A FRIEND

By EDMUND VANCE COOKE
Author of Impertinent Poems

I had a friend. He was up-to-date,
And he handled nothing but real estate.
For, after all's said—you'll admit it's sound—
All wealth comes out of the good old ground.
So he had a Syndicate, duly planned,
To absorb the "unearned inc." of land,
And unless the Astors got in right quick,
He could prove their decline by arithmetic.
Did I want to get into the game before
All the space was gone on the basement floor?
Now, I do not say it was his intent
To absorb my coin with the "increment"
But I DO observe that I miss my pile,
And my friend still lives in a lordly style.
Well, let us endure what we cannot mend
And be glad we're alive.

But I had a friend.

CHILDREN'S DAY OBSERVED

Buckhall Sunday School Holds Annual Service at Methodist Church.

(Buckhall correspondent)

A children's day service was held at Buckhall Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday. The church would seat only about half of the people who came, so the doors were thrown open and the remainder viewed as best they could from the outside.

The service opened with "Love Divine," a hymn by the school, and Rev. W. B. Winslow offered the invocation.

Among those who took part were: Lyla Somarank, Pauline Smith, Cecil Crouch, Edward Smith, Virginia Carter, Flora Hotel, Marie Jasper, Maline Smith, Florance Raymond, Addis Crouch, Louis Carter, Edith Jasper, Rena Crouch, Lawrence Brawner, Annie Colbert and Maud Hensley. Mrs. Winslow gave a reading. Several groups of boys and girls took part in songs, dialogues and drills and the primary class sang two songs. Mrs. F. J. Chandler pronounced the benediction.

A Hot Stove Needed—And Something Else

To make good loaf bread, cake, biscuit and pastry, any cook will tell you that a hot stove is a leading requisite. It is folly to try to turn out good baking with a low fire.

And it is just about as hopeless to try to get good results for all types of baking from a flour that is not an all-purpose flour.

There are special flours for cake making and for loaf bread and for pastry, but the average housewife does not confine her baking to just one kind of flour product. For the sake of convenience, and for the assurance that her baking will be satisfactory, she wants a high grade all-purpose flour.

White Rose Flour a Necessity

In many a home White Rose flour is now recognized as a necessity. No matter how many cooks there may be taking their turns in the kitchen; no matter how varied the baking done, White Rose—the "flour of flowers"—is daily proving to Northern Virginia matrons that it is a stand-by of special merit.

If you are unable to get White Rose flour of your grocer, send us his name with your order. Until he stocks White Rose, we will gladly supply you direct.

Petersburg police and others throughout the country are searching for John Matheny, missing secretary and treasurer of the Petersburg Excelsior Company, who disappeared suddenly last week, following which a shortage of between $4,000 and $4,500 was discovered in his books.

Eluding his wife and mother-in-law, who had accompanied him on a squirrel hunt, Lee Peer, 37 years old, blew the top of his head off with a shotgun, according to reports reaching Harrisonburg. Peer lived near Maurertown and was said to have been despondent over ill health.

While playing in a sand bank, Roland L. Pittman, jr., nine-year-old son of R. L. Pittman, of Petersburg, was buried alive at 6 o'clock Tuesday and was dead from suffocation when dug out half an hour later.

Loring Shane, 24 truck driver employed by a Winchester lumberman, died from injuries suffered when struck by a train when he jumped after the motor of the truck went "dead" on the railroad track. As Shane jumped and was about to run, the engine struck the truck, which hit him, throwing him partly under the engine. His right arm was ground off above the elbow, both legs fractured and his skull mashed.

Rev. Harry B. Lee, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church at Charlottesville for twenty-five years, died recently while sitting with his family on his porch near Culpeper, where he had been in charge of several Episcopal churches during the last few years. During the storm horses on the Cobert farm, where he lived, got into a neighboring field and Mr. McClanahan and his two brothers went out after them. The two brothers returned without him and later went out to seek him, finding him lying dead in the open field. The only marks on his body were a speck back of his right temple and a scar on the calf of his left leg.

A resolution extending hearty greetings to Rev. John S. Hansborough, of Orange, a priest of the church for 62 years, was adopted by the Episcopal council in session at Charlottesville. Rev. Mr. Hansborough is nearing his ninetieth birthday and has been a member of the council 51 years.
