LATHAM LOSES CATTLE SUIT

Second Trial Reduces Damages Assessed by Jury Against Prince William Farmer.

The suit of Reuben A. Powell, of Grassy Cove, Tenn., against T. O. Latham, of Hickory Grove, this county, involving a cattle contract made several years ago, was decided against Mr. Latham on Wednesday for the second time in this court. When the case first came to trial Mr. Powell obtained a judgment of $583.73, the amount deducted from the purchase price of the cattle by Mr. Latham for alleged differences in the weight of cattle bargained for and those received. A year ago the Supreme Court granted a writ of error and suit was instituted again by Mr. Powell. The jury this time reduced the damages to $383.73, allowing Mr. Latham $200 for "drift on account of 16-mile drive." Execution of the judgment was suspended for ninety days pending an appeal.

Mr. Latham was represented by Col. Robert A. Hutchison. Mr. Powell's attorneys were Mr. Thos. H. Lion, of Manassas, and Mr. E. E. Garrett, of Leesburg.

Court overruled defendant's motions to set aside verdict and to reduce award to $146.04.

TINY TOTS ENGAGE IN MERRY JUNE FESTIVAL

Maypole Dance, Drills and Motion Songs—Esther Warren Pattie Crowned Queen.

About 100 little folk from the primary department of the Manassas public school gave an out-door June festival last Thursday afternoon on Bennett grounds. The entertainment was attended by a large company of admiring friends, who occupied seats on the spacious lawn and in automobiles parked in and around the grounds.

The principal feature of the afternoon was the Maypole dance and crowning of the May queen, Miss Esther Warren Pattie, who arrived in regal style in a much decorated pony cart. She was preceded by four little flower girls, Misses Katherine Browning, Christine Broeden, Anne Camper and Eva Lunsford, and attended by two pages, Martin Weatherall and George Galleher, with Duncan Gibb bearing her crown. After the crowning ceremony the little folk gave the Maypole dance, twenty-two little dancers gathering at each of the four Maypoles.

A patriotic flag drill was given by the entire class, Martin Weatherall carrying a large flag and all the participants bearing Old Glory in smaller size. Two motion songs, "Comin' Thro' the Rye," and "Sweet and Low," were given by twelve girls, rainbow scarves adding a pretty touch of color in the latter. Recitations were given by Edgar Conner, Virgie Allred, Elsie Hottle and Malcolm Yates.

Music was rendered throughout the entertainment by an orchestra composed of Miss Louise Maloney, piano; Mr. Harry P. Davis, cornet; Mr. I. E. Cannon, saxophone, and Mr. Taylor Weir, mandolin.

Miss Grace Moran, head of the primary department, was assisted in training the children by Misses Edith Callan, Louise Maloney and Marion Lewis, members of the teaching staff.

MISS BURKE VISITS COUNTY

District Home Demonstration Agent Here for Few Days With Agent.

Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent, and Miss Belle Burke, district home demonstration agent, left Wednesday morning for Charlottesville, after spending two days in Prince William county. In company with the home demonstration agent several clubs were visited, and also several homes. Miss Burke is very much pleased with the work of the boys and girls, and hopes to be able to get back for the big County Rally August 12.

Special stress is being put on holding regular meetings by the club members. All are busy working not only for the county but the state banner also. The county bread contest is being started. Many of the girls are already interested and prospects are that there will be just as many willing to work as can possibly be looked after. Bread judging is one of the features of the work this year. Many of the girls already have their books and are studying the first ten pages. The bread work will include the months of June, July, August and September.

THE JOURNAL REPLIES

Although the management of The Journal has no liking for the present political controversy, a letter of Hon. C. J. Meetze in the News of yesterday and other statements in the News demand reply.

While The Journal is not a partisan newspaper, it endeavors to be fearless in championing every movement for the good of the town and at the same time quick to recognize good points advocated by opponents of any measure which we champion.

The editor of the News, in "Some Reminders for Tuesday," advises Manassas voters to keep in mind: "That it may prove detrimental to the town's interests to vote for any one whom the voter does not positively know will serve if elected."

The Journal agrees most heartily with this, although it fails to understand why the assertion is appropriate at this time.

As the editor of the News apparently has not interviewed the members of the present council who are candidates for re-election, the Journal may be pardoned for saying with some enthusiasm that The Journal has not voluntarily aligned itself with the members of the present council without first knowing that they will serve if re-elected.

The News assures us that the men nominated on the new ticket have agreed to serve, and The Journal has been in possession of the same knowledge since their names were certified to the county clerk. Assuredly we would hesitate to intimate in our columns that they MIGHT NOT be willing to serve without first going to them for information.

"The policy of the News is to study the interests of Manassas and Prince William in a broad-minded way, regardless of whether or not the editor agrees or disagrees with any or all of the statements made by those whose signed articles may appear . . . from time to time."

The Journal fully agrees with this sentiment. It might be added that this spirit was clearly demonstrated when a letter from Mr. Meetze was published in The Journal of May 27.

The Journal accepted Mr. Meetze's second letter for publication in the issue of June 3. Unfortunately one of three members of the mechanical department left Manassas unexpectedly and we were obliged to reduce our edition from 10 to 8 pages, because it was physically impossible to do otherwise. Many articles, including Mr. Meetze's letter, two wedding announcements, a dozen social and personal items, a county club letter and other matters were crowded out. This explanation was briefly made in our local columns, not only for Mr. Meetze's benefit, because we might easily have communicated with him, but for the information of his friends who might have been led to expect its publication.

"This, however, in my opinion, is not the real reason why it was not printed," Mr. Meetze declares.

The Journal begs leave to register surprise that Mr. Meetze would allow a political campaign to drive him to the extremity of accusing the editor of The Journal of possessing—well, a convenient imagination, or simpler and straighter words to that effect.

Mr. Meetze makes the novel suggestion that room might have been found for his article by eliminating some of the editor's remarks on the editorial page. It is absolutely beyond our powers of conception to understand how any man in full possession of his faculties could suggest that a newspaper give up its editorial page to a political letter—or to anything else. Surely Mr. Meetze does not understand the significance of the editorial page. We confess to being stunned by the amazing proposition—stunned absolutely beyond reply. In fact, there are times when silence is said to be golden.

The News publishes Mr. Meetze's second letter, which is addressed to the manager of The Journal. Why Mr. Meetze addresses the manager instead of the editor is something which perhaps Mr. Meetze can best explain. In it Mr. Meetze replies to statements made by the editor of The Journal, statements which were made on the solid basis of facts and figures of actual receipts and disbursements of the town, as The Journal asserted when the statements were made.

Mr. Meetze, addressing the manager of The Journal, says, "I can find no other name appearing in your paper of any other person as editor, or any one acting in that capacity." Mr. Lewis' name appears in The Journal each week, it is true, but it is definitely stated that he is its "business manager." The editor's name is not announced weekly because of the editor's personal choice. It is entirely a private affair between The Journal and its editor, without law or precedent to govern it. Mr. Meetze is respectfully referred to provinces where he is more at home.

(The editor's name appeared in these columns on April 22 in a statement of ownership and management required by the government twice a year.)

The present editor of The Journal has no financial interest in The Journal corporation, as doubtless many readers know. In the case of a conflict of opinion between the editor and the management, on any vital issue, please rest assured, good friends of ours, that there will be another editor to advocate the measure if the management wins. There are standards in the profession, you know, and editors are not bought by the pound.

"If I understand the English language, I fail to find where you answered my questions at all," Mr. Meetze informs us.

Having answered Mr. Meetze's questions, The Journal naturally considers the questions answered. Whether they were answered or not, or whether Mr. Meetze "understands the English language," are matters which may be left in debate for the entertainment of our readers.

Various rumors Mr. Meetze mentions can hardly be brought into the discussion, as The Journal has consistently declined to recognize during the campaign "rumors" or "reports" of any kind merely "heard" or "understood."

Mr. Meetze again takes up the matter of Mr. J. C. Parrish's being "not eligible" to serve as mayor. And again, in spite of Mr. Meetze's attempt at explanation, we repeat that it is news to The Journal that Mr. Parrish is "not eligible."

Returning to question 8 in Mr. Meetze's letter, concerning our statement that criticism of street neglect by the present council is not justified, "We, of course, attribute this to your private opinion and leave the matter to the citizens . . ." says Mr. Meetze.

We beg to remind Mr. Meetze that he has left the subject completely. In his first letter he stated, "Well, you have admitted that the criticism about the streets is justified . . ." and The Journal in defense immediately informed Mr. Meetze that The Journal had frankly admitted the fact of neglect but not the justice of criticism. For some reason, which we are at a loss to explain, Mr. Meetze fails to grasp the distinction.

As to the bonding of the town treasurer, it may be said that the same avenues of information open to The Journal are open to Mr. Meetze and we respectfully suggest that he obtain the information for himself. Believing, as he presumably does, that the town officials are not bonded, we find it difficult to understand how a man of Mr. Meetze's avowed devotion to his town could have passed through the years of his residence here without doing his utmost to correct such a glaring oversight before he became a candidate to succeed the men whom he is trying to discredit.

As to the figures given in the article, "Meetze Unearths Further Data," permit us to inquire where the data came from. The Journal published facts and figures obtained from town records and filed in the treasurer's office, where they are available to every citizen.

We have the word of the Treasurer that Mr. Meetze did not get his figures there. Where did he get them?

We ask these questions out of a sincere and gripping desire to know. Our present council is endorsing notes for $8,000, he tells us. According to town accounts, in the office of the Treasurer, the figure is $4,900 instead of $8,000. Where did Mr. Meetze get his figures?

Coal bills for December, January, February and March, amounting to $2,948.59, are unpaid, he tells us. The town treasurer and a member of the public utilities committee state unequivocally that all coal bills were paid in full to February 1 and that $1,000 on account has been paid since that time. Where did Mr. Meetze get data to support his assertion that December, January, February and March coal bills are unpaid?

Some of the outstanding coal bills since March 1, it may be explained, are

TEMPLE MUSIC SCHOOL HOLDS COMMENCEMENT

Annual Recitals Held on Wednesday and Thursday—Honors Pupils Named.

The annual commencement recitals of the Temple School of Music took place Wednesday and Thursday evenings at Conner's Hall. About eighty students took part, attesting by their performance the progress made during the year under the guidance of Miss Margaret Temple Hopkins, director, and her assistant, Miss Frances Elizabeth Spies. "OLLIE" LYNCH BURIED HERE

Many Comrades Attend Funeral of Young Manassas Soldier Who Fell in France.

Sergeant George Oliver Lynch, who died of wounds received in France, was buried here Saturday in the Lynch family lot in the Manassas cemetery beside the body of his father, Patrick Henry Lynch, and in the shadow of a memorial unveiled May 30 to the memory of his father.

Impressive funeral rites were held at All Saints' Catholic Church, Rev. William Winston officiating. Requiem mass was said at 9 a. m. and the office of the dead and the last abluition took place at three o'clock in the afternoon.

The funeral was largely attended. The pallbearers, all former service men, were: Messrs. Lawrence Gregory, of Baltimore, and Currell Pattie, of Catharpin, former sergeants in Mr. Lynch's company overseas; Wheatley M. Johnson, J. B. Johnson, jr.; Eugene Davis and Joseph Corum. About thirty ex-service men, most of whom served in Sgt. Lynch's regiment, formed an escort to the cemetery. Among the floral tributes was a spray of roses and sweet peas from his Manassas High School classmates and a wreath of red roses from Manassas comrades who served in the war.

Flags were flying from many business establishments and private homes as a tribute of honor and respect.

The body was accompanied to Manassas by Private Offendorf, of Wisconsin, a soldier at Camp Meade. A guard of honor, composed of six former service men, remained with the body at the church after its arrival the evening before the funeral.

Sgt. Lynch, popularly known as "Ollie," was the second son of Mrs. Mary J. Lynch and the late Patrick Henry Lynch. He received his education at Manassas High School and Eastern College and is remembered as one of the best athletes the Manassas track squad ever produced. He entered the army at Camp Lee and was sent over seas as a sergeant of Company K, 318th infantry, 80th division. He was severely wounded in action in the Argonne, hill 474, October 4, 1918, and died January 13, 1919, in a hospital at Vichy, France, at the age of twenty-four.

NINETEEN ON HONOR ROLL

Poultry Club Members Send in Annual Compositions to County Agent.

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)

It is the custom each year to publish in the county papers the names of the poultry club members who get their compositions in by the first of June. Some of the boys and girls have been very enthusiastic about this, and it has been interesting to see the efforts that have been put forth to get on the honor roll.

The following have gotten their compositions in: Gold Ridge Club, Christine Berryman, Vernon Berryman, Norman Deats, Brown Ennis, Claud Ellicott, Thomas Potter, Dorsey Wright, Paul Wright; Groveton Club, Katherine Harrover, Rena Ritourn, Esther Rollins, Inez Rollins, Lida Sowers, Constance Henry; Purcell Club, Esther Cornwell; Gainesville Club, Helen Arthur; Bethel Club, Waddell Fairbanks, Naomi Pearson, Mae Hill.

It is interesting to know that some of these boys and girls were so determined to get on the roll of honor that at the last moment compositions were sent by special delivery. In two instances the failure of one club member to get the composition in kept the clubs from being 100%. Boys and girls, can you afford to be the one to pull your club record down? Get your compositions in as soon as possible, and let's all help our county to make a 100% report to Blacksburg and Washington.

The following boys and girls have not been in compositions: Robert Brown, David Harrover, Roy Ledman, Lottie Scatter, Mary King, Hazel Doak, Randolph Posey, Ernest Hodges, Hargest Hodges, May Mills, East Duvall, John Chaparra. Boys and girls, get busy and get this part of your work done.

ALUMNI TO HONOR SOLDIER

As a memorial to "Ollie" Lynch, who died in France, a tree will be planted on the high school grounds Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Manassas High School Alumni Association. The public is cordially invited to attend the exercises.

A mass meeting was announced for Friday, June 17, to boost the finishing of the macadam road to Centreville.

Owing to the coming of Representative Ketcham, the Civic and School League met at the school house in the afternoon. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mr. R. R. The primary and grammar grades held their closing exercises on Monday evening and the high school pupils on Tuesday evening, with the final commencement and senior class night on Wednesday. The address to the graduates Wednesday evening was made by Mr. F. S. McCandlish, of Fairfax. Mr. McCandlish made a plea for the school system to be so changed that the boys and girls may be taught the things of importance to them as country boys and girls; namely, agriculture and domestic science.

The importance of service to humanity was emphasized all through the exercises from the sermon, Sunday evening to Mr. McCandlish's address on Wednesday. In the absence of Supt. M. D. Hall, Mr. McCandlish delivered the diplomas.

The graduates were: Miss Elizabeth Detwiler, valedictorian; Mr. John Ferguson, salutatorian; Roger Elgin, class prophet; Paul Quigg, class historian, and Ford Merchant, who gave their last will and testament.

Hart, a pantomime, "The Gypsy's Warning," by Misses Pauline Davis and Elizabeth Detwiler and Mr. John Ferguson; a drill by second year students and a song, "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming."

On Tuesday Manassas citizens will go to the polls to select the mayor and councilmen who are to govern Manassas for the two years beginning September 1.

The choice lies between the two tickets printed here. Mr. Parrish and the nine men whose names follow his were nominated by a mass meeting of forty citizens. Mr. Davis, whose candidacy is advocated by many Manassas business men, heads the other ticket, his running mates being the members of the present council, with the addition of Messrs. James R. Larkin and J. M. Bell.

Members of the present council, it will be remembered, were not urged to stand for re-election in time for their names to be printed on the election ballots. For this reason only the names of Mr. Parrish and his running mates will appear on the official ballots.

If you would cast your vote for the candidates whose names are printed on the ballot you have nothing to do but to place the ballot in the ballot box.

If you would vote for Mr. Davis and the members of the present council, be very sure to draw a line through the names of the candidates already printed and in their places write the full names of Mr. Davis and the other members of the same ticket. It is especially important to see that the names of not more than nine councilmen appear on the ticket. You are privileged to withhold your vote from any of the nine, but a ballot containing too many names will not be acceptable to the judges. If you would vote a spit ticket, cross out and fill in names as you desire.

The names of Mr. Arrington and Mr. Bell, it will be observed, appear on both tickets. Mr. Bell and Mr. Larkin, unofficially nominated by a large number of business men whose names are of record in The Journal office, have been placed on the ticket to succeed Mr. Byrd and Mr. Robertson, whose names for reasons heretofore explained have been eliminated.

It is necessary to exercise due caution, for all ballots improperly prepared are thrown out. Any voter in case of an error is privileged to obtain from the judges a second ballot.

THE ELECTION

On the eve of the election The Journal would say a parting word in behalf of Mr. Harry P. Davis, candidate for mayor, and Messrs. Arrington, Burke, Hibbs, Jenkins, Larkin, Moser and Newman, members of the present council, and Messrs. Larkin and Bell.

Mr. Davis is well known to every citizen as a man of shrewd business sense and of strict integrity, whose administration will insure wise leadership for the council and justice to all with favors to none.

The members of the present council in twenty-one months have earned by hard service the approval of the citizens they have served. The assertion that they have served wisely and well is not inspired by the blarney stone, delightful as its inspirations sometimes are. Their record has been given in previous issues of The Journal, with facts and figures obtained from the official papers of the town. Nothing has been "heard" or merely "understood."

They stand for re-election not on a platform built of promises, pledges, or pleasant anticipations, but presenting a service record which every voter knows or is privileged to investigate.

The nomination of Messrs. Bell and Larkin by representative business men speaks for itself.

Fellow citizens, men and women of the community, the little ballot wields a powerful influence. Your own judgment, better than any offered opinion, will tell you which administration is best suited to the present needs of the town. We need not urge you further to see that your intelligence counts.

EARLY RISING

By JOHN G. SAXE

[Now blessing light on him that first invented sleep! It covers a man all over, thoughts and all, like a cloak; it is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold, and cold for the hot.—Don Quixote, Part II, Chapter 67.]

God bless the man who first invented sleep!
So Sancho Panza said, and so say I;
And bless him also that he didn't keep
His great discovery to himself, nor try
To make it—as the lucky fellow might—
A close monopoly by patent right!

Yes—bless the man who first invented sleep,
(I really can't avoid the iteration.)
But blast the man with curses loud and deep,
Whate'er the rascal's name, or age, or station,
Who first invented, and went around advising
That artificial cut-off—Early Rising!

Rise with the lark, and with the lark to bed,
Observes some solemn, sentimental owl;
Maxims like these are very cheaply said,
But ere you make yourself a fool or fowl,
Pray, just inquire about his rise and fall,
And whether larks have any beds at all!

The time for honest folks to be abed
Is in the morning, if I reason right;
And he who cannot keep his precious head
Upon his pillow till it's fairly light,
And so enjoy his forty morning winks,
Is up to knavery, or else he drinks!

Thompson, who sang about the "Seasons," said
It was a glorious thing to rise in season;
But then he said it lying in his bed
At 10 A. M.—the very reason
He wrote so charmingly. The simple fact is,
His preaching wasn't sanctioned by his practice.

'Tis doubtless well to be sometimes awake—
Awake to duty and awake to truth—
But when, alas! a nice review we make
Of our past deeds and days we find in sooth
The hours that leave the slightest cause to weep
Are those we passed in childhood or asleep!

'Tis beautiful to leave the world awhile
For the soft visions of the gentle night;
And free at last from mortal care or guile,
To live as only in the angels' sight,
In sleep's sweet realm so cozily shut in,
Where at the worst we only dream of sin!

So let us sleep and give the Maker praise,
I like the lad who, when his father thought
To clip his morning nap by hackneyed phrase
Of vagrant worm by early songster caught,
Cried, "Served him right! 'Tis not at all surprising;
The worm was punished, Sir, for early rising."

I HAD A FRIEND

By EDMUND VANCE COOKE
Author of Impertinent Poems

I had a friend.

He was up-to-date,
And he handled nothing but real estate.
For, after all's said—you'll admit it's sound—
All wealth comes out of the good old ground.
So he had a Syndicate, duly planned,
To absorb the "unearned inc." of land,
And unless the Astors got in right quick,
He could prove their decline by arithmetic.
Did I want to get into the game before
All the space was gone on the basement floor?
Now, I do not say it was his intent
To absorb my coin with the "increment"
But I DO observe that I miss my pile,
And my friend still lives in a lordly style.
Well, let us endure what we cannot mend
And be glad we're alive.

But I had a friend.

A Hot Stove Needed—And Something Else

To make good loaf bread, cake, biscuit and pastry, any cook will tell you that a hot stove is a leading requisite. It is folly to try to turn out good baking with a low fire.

And it is just about as hopeless to try to get good results for all types of baking from a flour that is not an all-purpose flour.

There are special flours for cake making and for loaf bread and for pastry, but the average housewife does not confine her baking to just one kind of flour product. For the sake of convenience, and for the assurance that her baking will be satisfactory, she wants a high grade all-purpose flour.

White Rose Flour a Necessity

In many a home—White Rose flour is now recognized as a necessity. No matter how many cooks there may be taking their turns in the kitchen; no matter how varied the baking done, White Rose—the "flour of flowers"—is daily proving to Northern Virginia matrons that it is a stand-by of special merit.

If you are unable to get White Rose flour of your grocer, send us his name with your order. Until he stocks White Rose, we will gladly supply you direct.

Distinguished Virginia Statesman Lauds Confederate Heroes in Speech Here.

Confederate Memorial day was observed here on Friday, the birthday of Jefferson Davis, by a large assemblage which gathered at the pavilion in the Confederate cemetery, where public exercises were held under the auspices of Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and the Ladies' Memorial Association.

Senator Swanson, who was introduced by Hon. C. J. Meetze, carried the veterans present back to the days of the war between the states, picturing vividly the scenes of '61 and telling the story of the remarkable achievements of the Confederacy.

He recounted incident after incident which "surrounded the Confederacy with glory imperishable," coming down to the present when the "tumultuous heart of 105,000,000 people beat down all barriers" between the sections of America, and closed with a tribute to the women of the south who, during the war, "attained to heights which they had never reached before."

The exercises opened, according to custom, with "How Firm a Foundation," known as the favorite hymn of Davis and Lee, sung by all present. The U. D. C. ritual was read by Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, chaplain of Ewell Camp.

Rev. A. B. Jamison, pastor of the Manassas Presbyterian Church, sang "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Jamison, who joined him in singing part of the hymn.

Miss Mary Lee Arrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Arrington, read her paper on "Robert E. Lee," which was awarded the U. D. C. medal in a contest entered by twenty-four eighth grade pupils of the Manassas public schools. The medal was presented for the chapter by Senator Swanson.

A portrait of Jefferson Davis was presented to the U. D. C. chapter by Mrs. T. S. Coles and her sister, Miss Rixey. Rev. William Stevens, pastor of Grace M. E. Church, South, who made the address of presentation, paid eloquent tributes to the first and only president of the Confederacy. The portrait, draped with the Stars and Bars, was unveiled by Misses Mary Elizabeth Hutchison and Lucy Athey, representing the Judith Henry and Hannah Johnson junior organizations of the U. D. C. and Memorial Association.

Major E. W. R. Ewing, of Ballston, president of the Manassas Battlefield Confederate Park Association and past historian of the Sons of Veterans of the South, presented to the public library, on behalf of the Memorial Association, a copy of "Women of the South in Wartime," by Matthew Page Andrews, reading interesting excerpts from the book and mentioning incidents of Southern history well calculated to awaken a keen interest among the library patrons present, and recommending the volume particularly to the young people of school years as a model of accurate Confederate history.

Mr. R. A. Rust, of Haymarket, representing the Sons of Veterans, read rules governing the award of crosses of honor. Announcement was made of crosses obtained for Messrs. Tobias Fox, Allison S. Fairfax and J. E. Pickett. Mr. Pickett was present to receive his cross, which was awarded to take the place of one he had lost. Veterans who have not received the cross were urged to make application through the president of the local chapter.

Rev. T. D. D. Clark sang a solo, "The Little Bronze Cross," inviting all present to join in the chorus. Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge presided at the organ. Rev. Westwood Hutchison, commander of Ewell Camp, who presided over the ceremonies, read the Last Roll of members of the three Confederate organizations who have "passed over the river" during the year, paying particular tribute to each of the following: Mrs. Hannah L. Johnson, Mrs. Walter Shannon, Mr. J. B. Johnson, Mr. Willis L. Johnson and Mrs. H. M. Clarkson, wife of the late poet laureate of the Confederacy. Mr. Hutchison read a few lines from a letter written by Mrs. Johnson shortly before her death, as follows: "I cannot forget that if it were not for them, the few who are left on this side of the River, and those who have crossed over, we would not be today a body of women calling ourselves the Daughters of the Confederacy."

Visiting Confederate veterans from neighboring communities were entertained at luncheon in the homes of Daughters of the Confederacy.

GIRLS TO MAKE BREAD

Woodlawn Club Members Preparing for County Contest—Meeting Held.

(Daisy Payne, President) Woodlawn Club was to have met Wednesday, May 25, but owing to a hard rain that morning it was put off until Tuesday, May 31. The time for the regular meeting is the fourth Wednesday in each month.

At the meeting Tuesday the club decided to enter the reporters' contest. As the reporter has not been elected yet it was decided that the president report and send notice to the editor. The reporter will be elected at the June meeting.

As the secretary was absent the minutes of the last meeting were not read. Miss Gilbert met with us and told about the prize contest, after which it was decided that the club enter same. She also told about the county bread contest and urged all to do their best for it, and gave each member a bulletin on bread making and suggested that the first ten pages be studied before the next meeting; also discussed with the club how to make liquid yeast. Several members promised to try to make yeast and bread before the next meeting. It was suggested that several loaves be brought to the next meeting, so that some work in bread judging can be given.

An hour was spent on the sewing work. All are interested in sewing and hope to have some nice work for the county fair.

A Community League has been organized at Woodlawn which is going to be a great help to the club. All are interested in improving the school before time to begin teaching again.

All girls who are interested are urged to attend the club meetings. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, June 22nd, at nine o'clock. a. m.

TWENTY-EIGHT GO TO HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. McDonald Presents Diplomas to Eighth Grade Boys and Girls—Mr. Clark Speaks.

Twenty-eight boys and girls received certificates of graduation from the eighth grade Tuesday evening, when the annual commencement exercises of the Manassas graded school were held at Conner's Hall. A large company of parents and friends were present and hearty applause greeted each member of the program.

Miss Elizabeth Coleman, who made the highest scholarship record, was valedictorian. Wilmer Jasper gave the salutatory, and Miss Gladys Ball read the class prophecy.

Rev. T. D. D. Clark and Supt. Chas. R. McDonald made addresses. The theme of Rev. Mr. Clark's address was the motto given to the school children by Representative W. D. Upshaw, of Georgia, "Don't Be Discouraged, Never Give Up." Supt. McDonald spoke of the good work of the school and the loyal services of the teachers who remained at their posts in spite of the low salaries offered.

The graduates marched to the hall in a body and entered singing the professional, "Go Forward, Christian Soldier," at the close of which they were seated on the platform.

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson presented two English prizes offered to students of the seventh grade. Miss Anna Weir Waters received the first award for a paper on "Woodrow Wilson." Second prize was awarded to Miss Theresa Evans, who wrote on "A Trip to Mount Vernon." Papers written by Miss Virginia Speiden and Claude Smith received honorable mention. Rev. Mr. Gibson also mentioned the eighth grade medal offered by the U. D. C. for the best "Life of Robert E. Lee," won by Miss Mary Lee Arrington and presented on Memorial day.

A song, "Miss Mary," was sung by Misses Thelma Ferrell, Ardath Evans, Elizabeth Coleman and Margaret Cornwell. Hawes Davies, Manuel Sabatier, Ashby Lewis and Charles Armistead Sinclair sang "Swanee," the girls joining them in the last chorus. Miss Margaret Cornwell and Hawes Davies sang "My Old Kentucky Home" while the following girls took part in a pantomime: Misses Thelma Ferrell, Lula Hixson, Hazel Saunders, Elizabeth Coleman, Ardath Evans and Mildred Mills. Other musical numbers were: "Flow, Flow," "Just a Tiny Little Ray of Sunshine" and "Commencement Song." A chrysanthemum drill was given by sixteen girls. Miss Louise Maloney presided at the piano.

Diplomas were presented by Supt. McDonald to the following graduates: Misses Margaret Cornwell, Ardath Evans, Lula Hixson, Mildred Mills, Elizabeth Coleman, Hazel Saunders, Thelma Ferrell, Mary Lee Arrington, Eva Breeden, Lucy Brawner, Madeline Pettit, Winnie Wenrich, Mary Sweeney, Margaret Rexrode, Josephine Hirst, Beulah Baker and Gladys Ball, Hawes Davies, Wilmer Jasper, Manuel Sabatier, Charles Armistead Sinclair, Ashby Lewis, Clyde Muddiman, Arthur Muddiman, Selwyn King, Clyde Hedrick, Strother Stevens and Abner Myers.

The program closed with benediction by Rev. Mr. Clark.

The graded school faculty for the session was composed of Miss Grace Moran, Miss Edith Callan, Miss Louise Maloney, Miss Marion Lewis, Miss Grace Metz, Miss Elsie Lawson, Miss Lillie D. Evans and Mrs. E. D. Wissler. The girls of the eighth grade presented a silver mesh bag as a parting gift to their teacher, Miss Grace Metz.

"The former council could have shown the same increase (in revenue)," Mr. Meetze says, commenting upon Journal figures, "if it had increased the rates as did the present council. The power to tax is the power to destroy."

Mr. Meetze's argument here is highly logical perhaps. Mr. Meetze himself may be able to explain what his argument is and just what he would have done as a councilman to meet the increased cost of everything for which town money—or the individual's money—was paid out. Without raising the taxes what could be done? Whether a town—or a citizen—can, or has a right, to obtain what the town—or the citizen—cannot pay for, is a problem in mental arithmetic which is respectfully referred to Mr. Meetze.

"During the past few weeks some of the statements that have been made have not been justified by cold facts," says the News.

The Journal's utterances have been supported by "cold facts." We have nothing to retract and trust that this is not a confession of negligence on the part of the News.

The News attacks a statement of The Journal that the council has been "enabled to place an order for a new air compressor, which is expected to make a material increase in the town's water supply."

"Credit to whom credit is due—always," "sings" the News, stating that the money was loaned by Manassas business men. It is quite true that a group of Manassas men loaned for the purpose $1,400 at 6% for three years. It is not true, however, that they asked to have their names sung in the public press for showing their public spirit by offering it to the town.

In pursuing its policy of "credit where credit is due—always," the News might have added that the movement for the loan was put in operation and the money was solicited by two men identified with the present administration.

In pursuing its policy of "credit where credit is due—always," the News might have ventured still further to say that the loan in itself is a sparkling refutation of its much-repeated intimation or assertion of a lack of co-operation between the present council and the citizens of the town.

DR. JESSE EWELL

Dr. Jesse Ewell, a well beloved physician of Greene county, died suddenly at his home at Ruckersville on May 30, of neuralgia of the heart. Dr. Ewell was a son of the late John S. Ewell and Helen Woods McGregor Ewell. He was born at "Edge Hill," Prince William county, in 1853, but after his mother's death, which occurred while he was still very young, he went to live at "Dumblane," with his grandparents, Dr. Jesse and Eleanor McGregor Ewell, by whom he was educated.

In 1876 he was graduated from Washington College, Baltimore, now the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and began the practice of medicine with his venerable grandfather, Dr. Jesse Ewell.

Dr. Ewell's wife was Miss Mary Ish, of Loudoun county.

Always proud of his Scotch ancestry, he was one of the organizers of the American Clan Gregor and was its scribe until his resignation last year. The funeral was held from his late residence on Tuesday, May 31. He was buried on a hill overlooking his home, by the side of his son, Robert. On his casket, besides many beautiful floral offerings, was a pine cross, the emblem of Clan Gregor.

Besides his widow, Dr. Ewell leaves two sons and three daughters, two half brothers and six half sisters, and two little grandchildren, all of whom have the loving sympathy of a host of friends.

Rev. T. A. Hall, pastor of Elk Creek Baptist Church, in a sermon on "The Modern Dance," spoke in favor of the pastime. "If there was a dance in this neighborhood, at the home of some good member of this church, I would attend myself, but I would not dance," he said. "There is no harm in dancing itself, but some of the present-day methods of dancing might lead to immorality, so I am opposed to the 'fox trot' and some other dances where the man has to put both arms around his partner's neck." Mr. Hall's hearers were dumfounded, according to a press dispatch, but after they got their breath a roar of approval went up.

Miss Helen Coleman, of America and England, is visiting at "Edge Hill," the home of the Misses Ewell.

On Thursday, June 21, the Misses Ewell, Mr. George Coleman and Mrs. W. P. Wilson attended some of the closing exercises of the Theological Seminary near Alexandria. Among other features of the exercises was the dedication of a beautiful memorial library building in honor of Dr. Packard. Many of the older ministers were present at the meeting of the alumni, among them being Dr. John McGill, one-time rector of Trinity Church, Manassas, who spoke with his old time spirit in a voice loud enough to be heard over the large church.

The memorial exercises in honor of Jefferson Davis were held at the U. D. C. Hall on June 2, the anniversary of Davis' birth.

Mr. C. A. Sinclair, of Manassas, made the address in his usual impressive and dignified manner. Besides the address appropriate recitations were given by some of the juniors and special music by Miss Eugenia Browner, Mrs. J. R. Turner, Mrs. Walter George and Mr. Irving Furr.
