

FINE PRIZES OFFERED TO GIRLS AND WOMEN

Women to Compete for $300 in Canning Contest—Prizes Offered to Girls.

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)
The Hazel-Atlas Glass Company, of Wheeling, W. Va., offers a grand champion prize of $300 to the woman or girl in the United States who conserves the most satisfactory and practical supply of fruits, vegetables, meats, pickles, preserves, jellies, etc., for home use in Atlas E-Z seal jars. It is hoped that several women and girls in this county will try for the prize.

The object of this contest is to encourage thrift in the conservation of all available products during the season of abundance. Fruit is going to be scarce in Prince William, so it is urged that should the crop of blackberries mature every one possible be saved. There are a number of ways in which blackberries can be saved.

Another object is to encourage the use of the best, most practical and most economical type of glass containers; and to encourage the provision in the home of a variety of pure, wholesome food for each family. These jars can be gotten from most any merchant who handles glass jars.

This prize will be awarded on the following points: Number of jars in proportion to the number in family, 40%; size of jars in proportion to the number in family, 20%; variety and practicability of products for canning, 20%, and quality, 20%. (All products must be put up in half-pint, pint, quart or half-gallon jars.)

Canning must be done for family use, not commercial canning. No products put up for sale, or for hotel or boarding house will be eligible to compete in this contest; nor will one person be allowed to can for several families and report the same in competing.

Further information as to judging, etc., will be given those who enter the contest by the county home demonstration agent. Report blanks for contestants may be secured through the county agent. The contest will close November 1, 1921.

The Hazel-Atlas company also has a contest for canning club girls. For this contest the United States has been divided into the following sections: Northern, southern, eastern and western, Virginia being in the southern section. The conditions for each section are as follows:

For the best individual jar of any product put up in Atlas E-Z seal jars, together with full directions used in preparing same: First prize, $25; second prize, $20; third prize, $15; fourth prize, $10, and fifth prize, $5. Club members may send more than one if they wish. Jars for this contest will be furnished by the county home demonstration agent free of charge to all girls entering the contest. Jars will be sent to the office of the company not later than November 1. The county home demonstration agent will give all necessary information to those who wish to enter.

Girls entering this contest are urged first to show their products at the county fair. Conditions for the contest will be found in the boys' and girls' department of the county fair catalogue.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 8, 1921

THE TREATY AGAIN

The accurate eye of Secretary Hughes, one of the strongest figures if not the master mind of the administration, has discovered a curious feature of the peace resolution, a little reservation announcing that in declaring the state of war with Germany at an end these United States do not yield any of the rights which accrue from signing the armistice and which obtain under the treaty of Versailles.

We forgot for an important instant that we had consigned the treaty to our official waste basket and mentioned it unobtrusively—so unobtrusively that it escaped the "irreconcilables"—but no less certainly, declaring unmistakably in our peace resolution our determination to cling to its advantages.

Just where this little discovery leads us it is too early now to say. It is notable that, although through congress we have declared ourselves at peace with Germany, President Harding has been slow to announce the news by official proclamation to a waiting world. One thoughtful observer sees the President facing a choice between law and domestic politics. Secretary Hughes, it is thought, will insist upon ratification of the treaty, with certain reservations, and the President is expected to follow the lead of his able counsellor.

REPUBLICAN APPOINTMENTS

Although some of President Harding's appointments have not found especial favor with even the friends of the administration, two at least have met with universal approval—the appointment of General Charles G. Dawes, Chicago banker of "Hell and Maria" fame, as director of the recently authorized Bureau of the Budget, and the selection of former President William Howard Taft as chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

General Dawes vaulted suddenly into public favor by the vigorous, athletic language unloosed in his testimony before a congressional committee investigating the conduct of the war, when in the gentle tones of a warrior he set forth America's stand in the war and recommended to the committee the more profitable occupation of trying to inaugurate some semblance of business principles into government. While one brief incident gave to General Dawes nationwide publicity and popularity, he holds a distinguished war record marked with unusual executive ability and efficiency and with a high and proper disregard of any governmental red tape which threatened to block the successful conduct of the war. These attributes augur well for his success in directing the program of rigid economy promised by the republican administration.

Mr. Taft in receiving the highest office of the judiciary owns to having attained the ambition of his life. Always popular in the south in spite of his political sympathies, Mr. Taft's appointment received from southern representatives only one dissenting vote, Mr. Tom Watson, of Georgia, having elected to play this conspicuous role. The opposition in the other broad sections of the land narrowed down to Borah, Johnson and LaFollette, a select group of solons whose decision will cause little loss of sleep among the friends of Mr. Taft.

Three other appointments not wholly welcome in the republican camp but notably evidencing President Harding's kinship to President Wilson in his desire to utilize the services of the best men regardless of party affiliations, were Secretary Mellon's selection of three assistant secretaries of the treasury who served under the democratic administration and whom the republican Senate confirmed as temporary appointees for the good of the service prior to the selection of good republicans.

Since that time one of these former assistants of Secretary Houston—S. Parker Gilbert—has been made first under secretary of the treasury, a newly created title, outranking any republican assistant to Secretary Mellon and placing an entertaining interrogation on the service expected of the "temporary" appointees confirmed by the Senate.

THE BATTLE PARK AT MANASSAS

The Times-Dispatch incorporates in an editorial, as follows, the Boston Transcript's editorial comment on the Manassas battlefield park:

The movement in the South for the establishment of a Confederate battle park on the field of Manassas, or Bull Run, as it is more familiarly known throughout the North, according to the Boston Transcript, is not likely to meet with any begrudging sentiment in the North. Sponsored by Virginia, and with the expense of improvement falling apparently in large part upon a private association, the Manassas park, says the Transcript, will undoubtedly come into being, and will prove a worthy companion memorial to the great battle reservations set up by the United States government—to Gettysburg, to Antietam and to Chickamauga. And that the Manassas battle park will not attempt merely to vaunt the victory over the forces of the Union that was won there is made apparent, says the Transcript, by the announced intention of the organizers of the movement to dedicate it "in memory of the brave dead of both armies."

As every one knows, Manassas was the scene of two notable Confederate victories over the Union forces. But in the view of Northern students the defeats sustained by the Union armies, particularly in the first battle, had compensations for the latter, not the least of which was the demoralization which pursuit of the panic-stricken Federals brought to the Confederate forces in their overestimate of the results that would follow their victory. What happened, says the Transcript, at the first battle was that the incompetence of the command and the total inadequacy of the organization of the Union army were demonstrated, forcing the men of the Union to make at last the wholly serious effort that was necessary.

"For many years," says the Transcript, "the story of the panic of the Union troops at Bull Run quite overtopped the record of the desperate fighting that brave Union soldiers did there. Somehow there was a tendency to lose sight of that. It was natural, no doubt, in view of the wild helter-skelter of the flight which took place to the Potomac. But those who now propose to make a memorial of the battlefield to the brave men who fought on both sides are well advised. . . . And it was to the immortal credit of the Northern Democracy that the very vastness of the defeat, even the spectacle of thousands in flight, and the appalling record of death and capture, spurred the men of the North on to offer themselves, by hundreds of thousands, for new and more glorious battles. For every man who ran away from the fight at Bull Run, thousands came forward to volunteer, bringing eventual victory as their gift. In view of all that it means, the whole country might properly join in establishing this Confederate battle park."

"Aw, him and me's worked together for years," answered Mickey, the newsboy. "He's the editor of one of me papers."

STILL GOING STRONG

The original one-way traffic is along the road paved with good intentions.—Life.

WAS WELL SUPPLIED

One of the churches of a western town has a young woman as its pastor. She was called to the door of the parsonage the other day, and saw there a much embarrassed young farmer of the Swedish type.

"They said the minister lived in this house," he stammered.

"Yes," replied the fair pastor.

"Well—well—I'd—er—like to get married."

"To get married? Very well, I can marry you," said the minister encouragingly.

"Oh, but I've got a girl already," was the disconcerting reply.

THEIR PREDICAMENT

"Extravagance," said Senator Cummins at a dinner, "is at the root of most of our ills. We Americans are the most extravagant people on earth."

Senator Cummins smiled. "How many of us," he went on, "are like the Neweds at heart?"

"Young Mr. and Mrs. Newed are in a dreadful predicament," a friend of the Neweds said.

"Yes? How so?" asked another friend.

"Why, you see, they paid so much for their going-away outfit that they can't go away."

A SOOTHING ANSWER

The train was over half an hour behind schedule when the conductor, passing through a car, was stopped by a woman who fairly bristled with indignation.

"Why is this train so late?" she demanded.

"Well, you see," said the conductor, with a confidential air, "the train behind was behind and we were behind before besides."

WHY THEY NEVER HAPPENED

A Voice in the Wilderness (i. e., the United States Senate)—How can we prevent another great war? Why, gentlemen of the Senate, only in the same way in which all the great wars of history have been prevented—by being thoroughly prepared!—Judge.

UPS AND DOWNS

Two men, strangers, sat side by side in a suburban train. Finally, one turned to the other and became confidential.

"I," he said impressively, "am a starter of elevators in a city sky-scraper. When I signal them to go up, they go up. And your line is—?"

"I," said the other, "am an undertaker. When I signal them to go down, they go down."—The American Legion Weekly.

Y.

This grandfather was raised in Culpeper county and left there about 1810; his father was James Calvert, son of Jesse and grandson of Obed, sr., a fact which the present Mr. Calvert says he is able to prove by a deed recorded in Prince William in 1804 and by the will of James Calvert, who died at Maysville, N. Y.

—Mrs. J. V. Payne was very badly hurt Monday when her horse ran away with her between Warrenton and Amisville, according to the Warrenton Times. Mrs. Payne, says the Times, was returning from a visit to her niece, Mrs. Joseph Bailey, of Manassas. She was badly bruised and sustained several broken ribs.

—Mr. Ray Hedrick, of Annandale, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hall, painfully injured his hand a short time ago while working on an automobile. A piece of steel flew off, cutting a vein and becoming embedded in the bone. Surgeons cut open the wound to scrape the bone and Mr. Hedrick is recovering the use of his hand.

—The families of Dr. C. R. C. Johnson, Dr. W. Fewell Merchant, Mr. G. Raymond Ratielle, Mr. J. L. Harrell, Mr. O. D. Waters and Mrs. Margaret Lewis celebrated the holiday at the clubhouse at Widewater. Many members of the party will occupy the clubhouse throughout the summer. Mrs. Ada Holt, of Washington, is Mrs. Merchants' guest.

—The nine Flanagan brothers invaded Orange Monday and vanquished the native Gillum brothers' baseball team to the tune of 30 to 21. This long heralded exhibition of the national pastime was the feature of the Independence day celebration there and many crowded to see the game. In spite of the large score the contest was said to be interesting and sometimes thrilling. The invaders scored five runs in the first inning, but when the Gillums overcame the lead in the second the crowd went wild. Dr. V. Gillum, of Manassas, was first baseman on the Gillum brothers' nine.

BRISTOW CLUB MEETS

Members Will Use Club Funds to Provide Lamps for School.

(Sylvia Showalter, Reporter)
The Bristow Agricultural and Home Economics Club met Saturday, July 2, to hold their regular monthly meeting, thirteen of the seventeen members being present. Miss Gilbert gave a lesson in sewing to the sewing class before the meeting. The program was very interesting and well rendered.

The president, Louise Winslow, read a letter from the county president. The club has over $4 in the treasury and has decided to buy lamps for the school house.

We held our picnic July 4, fourteen members attending. We played games and had a very pleasant time.

BUSY GRINDING
The All-Purpose Flour

Though business is admittedly dull in many places and in many lines of industry, our modern flour-grinding mill is kept busy turning out "WHITE ROSE"—the all-purpose flour.

To be a user of WHITE ROSE is to know why it is in such demand. To have baked with this high grade flour that adapts itself to the making of fine bread, cake, pastry and biscuit, is to be a booster of the "flower of flours," as WHITE ROSE has been aptly termed.

WHITE ROSE NOT HIGH IN PRICE

Of course, WHITE ROSE flour is not the cheapest you can buy. We could not make it the all-purpose, pure and highly milled flour it is and sell it as cheaply as you can buy some less desirable brands for. You would not like it as well, if we did.

But taking into consideration the quality bread and cake and pastry you can make from a sack of WHITE ROSE and the consequent elimination of having to have on hand two or three different kinds of flours to meet the various kitchen needs, WHITE ROSE is very economical and highly satisfactory.

If you are not a WHITE ROSE user, become one. Should your grocer not be able to supply you, we will gladly take care of your orders, if you will send us his name and address.

FAMOUS TWINS VISIT US

Those interesting twins—Appre Tite and Appre Hension—paid us a visit this week. Appre Tite was enjoying his usual health, and his sister, Appre Hension, was in her usual mood. 'Twas only after much persuasion on her brother's part that she ate her dinner. After that she felt better and by the time she had her dessert—The Velvet Kind Ice Cream—she was feeling very much better and bought a pound of Martha Washington at the new price of 87c, which tickled her so that she promised to tell her cousin, Appreciation.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Owing to the excessive exertion and confinement incident to the proper handling of our GROCERY DEPARTMENT which has grown vastly beyond our anticipation as well as space and physical ability, we have decided to eliminate that feature of our business, thus confining ourselves to BUILDING MATERIAL, MACHINERY, HARDWARE, AUTOMOBILE ACCESSORIES and a few other lines which we will add later.

Upon the specific agreement that they will serve our customers as satisfactorily as we have in the past, we have sold our stock of Groceries and the Somers Store Property East of the railroad at Bristow to Messrs. Slack Brothers, of Marshall, Va., who are practically life-long merchants and bear a most excellent reputation for efficiency and fairness. They will conduct a GENERAL STORE at the said location, affording a market for all kinds of farm products and in addition to the lines usually carried at Bristow they are carrying a well selected stock of STAPLE DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, LADIES' AND GENTS' FURNISHINGS, CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES, &c., which lines have been woefully needed here for many years.

In retiring from the grocery business, we do so reluctantly, for the reason that we feel wonderfully attached to our customers, and without solicitation we have enjoyed the "cream of the trade" and the support of all worthy of our consideration up to the moment of our retirement. Their continued friendship, loyalty and support have built up an enormous volume of business in addition to what was originally intended for the protection of ourselves and a few close friends who had been obliged to pay exorbitant prices for their daily necessities of life.

Many of our old customers have personally expressed their regrets at our retirement, with visible emotion that is pathetic. We have mighty warm places in our hearts for these good people but see no occasion for alarm. We will still be with them and the proverbial "latch string" will be conveniently on the outside. We want them all to come in and have a friendly chat whether they want anything or not. We believe our successors will give just as good or possibly better satisfaction than we did. However, we will see that our friends have adequate service at fair values.

With all good wishes, very sincerely,

R. H. DAVIS & COMPANY

CLIFTON

The Civic and School League meeting was transferred to the moving picture hall, as Mrs. Upp and family were away for the week-end over the holiday. There being no speaker, there was only a small attendance and an informal meeting was held, President R. E. Buckley presiding. The matter of bringing the grounds and buildings of the school up to the standard required of an accredited school was discussed. It was decided to have the secretary notify all patrons of the school to be present at the next meeting to talk the matter over.

Mr. Buckley stated that it seemed useless to spend time and money on improvements if the parents of the children do not endeavor to have the boys and girls respect and care for the repairs. The fact that many hours' work of teachers and pupils was destroyed in a few minutes by a few small boys after the term of school was over makes it seem discouraging to do any more.

The secretary promised to find out the cost of painting the building before the next meeting.

Patriotic Sermon.
Rev. H. T. MacLeod preached a patriotic sermon Sunday morning, mentioning a few of the many things that this nation has given to the world in the field of invention and improvement, including machinery, science and comforts.

The Presbyterian Sunday School had a pageant for Children's day on Sunday, the exercises being held on the eastern side of the church lawn. The whole Sunday School formed in line inside the church building and marched to the lawn, each class bearing a banner. The church was represented by Miss Hazel Doak and the school was represented by Miss Elizabeth Detwiler, while Miss Frances Makely represented America. Misses Ayre and Richards sang a duet. The music was greatly enjoyed, especially the trombone and drum accompanied by the Boy Scout band of Washington.

The joint picnic of the Baptist and Presbyterian Sunday Schools on Mrs. Kemper's lawn was a decided success. At least 300 persons were present. Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, of Alexandria, gave a short, spicy talk in the afternoon, which was followed by a talk on grange work by a National Grange representative from New York.

Picnickers in Races.
The suitcase and umbrella race was easily won by Mr. Calhoun. Miss Helen Quigg won the sack race for girls. The peanut race was won by Master Snite. Mrs. Clyde Mathers took first honors in the fat woman's race. Fred Sauber was declared winner of the long race from the gate. Mrs. Kemper's lawn is an ideal place for such an outing and in spite of the extreme heat of the day it was passably cool there. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Williams, of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mathers have returned from a trip to Ohio to see their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon Mathers, who returned with them.

Miss Effie Adams spent the Fourth at Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Upp and children spent the holiday on the river.

The grange will meet at Mrs. Quigg's Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Miss Jeanne Sauber is home for a month's vacation.

Miss Elizabeth Detwiler began her studies at a Washington business school on Tuesday. Paul Brown on the same day began a summer course given in Central High School. Both are commuting.

Miss Vivian Mathers and Mr. Roy Shaeffer were married in Washington on Saturday. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. D. W. Mathers.

BUCKHALL

The Fourth of July was a decided success here in spite of the heat. The Methodists did not open up their refreshment stand until about 4 o'clock but succeeded in taking in $35.50 and making a profit of $21 after expenses were paid.

The ball game between the married and single men resulted in a 23 to 3 score in favor of the singles. In the afternoon Independent Hill defeated Buckhall 32 to 27.

Hon. C. A. Sinclair, of Manassas, gave a very stirring address, which was enjoyed by all present. He told the children they must always remember the Fourth of July as the birthday of our country. He spoke of the active part Virginia took in the early days in the development of the country and how men like Washington and Jefferson continue to live in the memory of the people. He spoke of the patriotism of our people during war times and urged them not to forget their duty to the nation in times of peace. It is as patriotic to build up our community and help keep up our schools in time of peace as to take up the colors in time of war, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Morgan and son Alfred, of Washington, spent the Fourth at Buckhall.

Mrs. Alice Kischeloe, of Brentsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Payne, of Manassas, spent several days with Mr. Payne's mother, Mrs. Lada Payne, recently.

Mrs. F. F. Raymond is quite sick with an attack of acute indigestion. Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Bell and children were among the Manassas people here for the Fourth.

Vacation Days!

VACATION DAYS are here again, and how glad are the kiddies. Little journeys are now in order, picnicking and down to the "ole swimmin' hole."

We won't always be able to go with them, but we will do the next best thing and see that they have a good time. That will be our joy.

We will pack their lunch boxes with goodies and not forget the cold meats, for their little bodies must be kept strong and meat is very necessary once a day.

And because we want that particular portion of their food to be wholesome, to be clean, to be sanitary, to be fresh, we will buy it from

THE BEST ADVERTISING COMES FROM OUR CUSTOMERS

From time to time buyers come in our offices and make purchases for building and improving who tell us they do so because our material is so well spoken of by those who have dealt with us in their community and this has happened a number of times recently from buyers who are much nearer large cities.

Where there is a rather large number of people grouped in an organization like ours who are all working hard to maintain a high standard of quality and service at fair prices it is difficult for the customer to fully understand how much those who deal with us can make us feel that we are accomplishing the things we are working for.

Aside from the purely business feature it is very pleasant to constantly make new friends for our company and we wish to assure each of our customers who are instrumental in bringing us new business that we appreciate their telling their neighbors of their pleasant transactions with our company.

It's Economy To Have Tires Repaired

Even though you can buy a new tire cheaper today than you could six months ago, you can save perfectly good money by having your blowouts properly repaired.

It is extravagance and a pure waste of money to run a tire with a blow-out patch. If brought to us promptly, we can make your tire as good as new, and at a very slight cost. We know HOW. Bring your tire work to us.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Oscar Brooks, who lives near Lynchburg, has a calf which has two heads, or rather a double head. The head has two ears, four eyes, two mouths and two tongues. It is being bottle-fed and feeds equally as well with one mouth as the other, and shows no distress if the bottle is transferred from one mouth to the other and back again. The calf appears to be strong and healthy.

Despite his twenty-five years, David Grey, famous thoroughbred hunter, came out of retirement this season and captured the blue ribbon in the medium and heavy class at the Upperville horse show. David Grey was considered by his owner last fall as too old for further competition in the show ring and was retired to the pasture to finish out his life. But down in the pasture the old horse found the elixir of youth and emerged sleek and fat and as frisky as a two-year-old. So he was given another chance to display his prowess and added a new ribbon to his already long list.

Charles J. Morrisette, of Charlottesville, and Miss Lottie Marie Duncan, of Roanoke, were married Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Emmet Gleason, of Charlottesville, by Rev. Harwood P. Myers, of the First Methodist Church. The wedding was to have taken place at Roanoke on that day, but the sudden illness of the bridegroom caused a change of plans. Miss Duncan arrived in Charlottesville on an early morning train and at 8:30 in the afternoon the couple were united, the groom being too ill to leave his bed.

Senator Carter Glass has declined a decoration and order of nobility offered by the King of Italy because the constitution of this country forbids a member of our congress from accepting such honors without the special sanction of congress.

A report from Harrisonburg places the loss through robbery at the Bank of Grottoes, in Rockingham county, at $70,000. It is said that $30,000 of this amount represented registered bonds, the remaining $40,000 negotiable bonds and other securities. The Grottoes bank was entered early last Thursday morning, thieves blowing open the safe-deposit vault. The money vault was not tampered with.

While a youth learning the engraving trade at Columbia, Pa., H. W. Yerger, now of Lynchburg, engraved his name, address and date (September 24, 1897) on a silver half dollar. A few days ago he received a letter from Joseph H. Tracey, of Columbia, advising him that he had the coin and would be glad to hear from him. Mr. Yerger does not recall having engraved the coin, but recognized it as his work as soon as he saw it.

A different heat for every burner, if need be

YOU don't have to "rush the fire" to bake—two burners of the New Perfection Oil Cook Stove will give you all the heat you need. And you boil a vegetable and make coffee on the other two burners if you wish. Plenty of heat, just where you want it and in the right amount—none wasted. You can regulate it.

The white-tipped flame of the New Perfection gives an intense heat and keeps the bottoms of your utensils clean—doesn't soot them up. Hence it lightens labor. And the chimney is made long for a purpose; every bit of the oil you use has a chance to burn up completely and produce its full share of heat. This is a big item of fuel saving for those who use the New Perfection exclusively.

Kitchens equipped with New Per-fections—over 3,000,000 of them—are invariably cooler and more comfortable to work in. It's a great relief to be rid of coal, ashes, dust and wood in the kitchen. And there are fewer corners to collect dirt.

The New Perfection is made in one, two, three, four and five-burner sizes—warming cabinet or not, as you prefer. Of course, you will want a New Perfection Oven, too.

Aladdin Security Oil gives uniform, satisfactory results. You should use it regularly. It is economical because it's pure—all heat.

New Perfection Oil Cook Stoves are sold at most department, furniture and hardware stores.
