BURGLARS GET BIG HAUL OF TOBACCO

Carry Off Entire Stock of Tobacco Products at Store of George Bryant.

Six thousand cigarettes, 200 bags and 48 cans of smoking tobacco, three boxes of cigars and five boxes of chewing tobacco constitute the haul made by thieves who raided the store of Mr. George Bryant at the cross roads in west Manassas Friday night.

Burglars entered the store some time during the night, breaking a heavy lock on the door. Nothing but tobacco has been missed. The stolen articles represented Mr. Bryant's entire stock of tobacco products...

The same store was entered some time last winter, when burglars broke the lock on the door and escaped with a smaller amount of tobacco and a good supply of candy...

MRS. WISSLER HOSTESS

President of Missionary Society Welcomed Home by Members.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary) The home of Mrs. E. D. Wissler was the scene of a delightful meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary Society on the afternoon of Tuesday last.

Mrs. McDonald led in the subject of the afternoon, "Lumbering Camps and Jacks," by reading an interesting article which enlisted the attention of the society.

Mrs. Wissler surprised us during the visiting time by serving delicious ice cream and cake. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. D. Sharrett, with Mrs. A. L. Emmons as leader, and the subject "China."

LIST OF "IMMORTAL 600"

Nashville Banner in 1897 Published Names of Prince William Men.

Capt. D. C. Grayson, who enlisted in the Confederate army in Page county, serving in the Tenth Virginia Infantry, has in his possession a copy of the Nashville Banner published in 1897, which gives a list of the Confederate officers placed under fire of Confederate gunboats at Morris Island, S. C., by order of General Halleck, who at that time was commander-in-chief of the U. S. army.

The list, which was shown to The Journal by Mr. Westwood Hutchison, of Manassas, credits the "Immortal 600" to the several southern states as follows: Maryland, 6; Virginia, 186; North Carolina, 111; South Carolina, 24; Georgia, 60; Florida, 10; Alabama, 26; Mississippi, 22; Louisiana, 31; Texas, 5; Arkansas, 27; Missouri, 8; Kentucky, 25, and Tennessee, 49, making a total of 600.

The Virginia list includes the names of Lieut. Benjamin H. Hutchison, of the Eighth Virginia Infantry, a brother of Mr. Westwood Hutchison; Lieut. B. D. Merchant, of the Prince William Cavalry, father of Dr. W. Fewell Merchant, of Manassas, and Capt. Bruce Gibson, of Upperville, a relative of Mrs. R. S. Hynson. Another member well known here was Major J. Ogden Murray, of Charleston, W. Va., who died recently at Roanoke.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Scott, of Amherst, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Everett Scott, to Mr. Robert Ambler Meade, of Haymarket. The wedding will take place at their home September 7. Miss Scott is well known in this section, having taught school at Haymarket.

FAIR AND HORSE SHOW EXPECTED TO DRAW BIG CROWD NEXT WEEK

Grounds in Readiness to Welcome Visitors Tuesday Morning—Fine Agricultural, Live Stock, Household and Boys' and Girls' Club Exhibits—Sensational Fire Drill, Roman Races and 110-Foot Dive.

Fine agricultural products of every variety, fine horses, dairy and beef cattle, swine, boys' and girls' club exhibits, races, sensational fire drill by U. S. cavalry, Roman races, 110-foot dive by Up-High Billy Kline and music by two bands are some of the attractions offered by the third annual Prince William fair, which opens Tuesday and continues day and night until Friday night.

Every day attractions will be the sensational high dive, both afternoon and evening, the super-sensational fire drill, band music and exhibits showing the agricultural development of northern Virginia.

Tuesday will be chiefly devoted to judging exhibits, with races in the afternoon. Races will also feature the day's events on Wednesday and Friday. The horse show will be one of the main events Thursday and Friday.

Excellent animals of every kind are entered in the live stock show and the horse show is said to be the largest held in the annals of the association. The live stock exhibit includes beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine. Poultry will also be exhibited, as well as a variety of pet stock ranging from white rats to collie pups.

An important feature of these exhibits will be the animals and poultry raised by the boy and girl club members of the county. The 110-foot high dive will be a free act each day. The management will relieve congestion at the gate.

MRS. HOLLIDAY HOSTESS METHODIST CONFERENCE HELD AT SUDLEY CHURCH

Mr. Henry Contributed $10 to the Judith Henry Monument Fund—Other Business.

Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, held its monthly meeting at Eastern College-Conservatory Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. R. H. Holliday as hostess.

Announcement of money needed for the chapter's contribution to the Lee Mausoleum was repeated. The chapter hopes to contribute a sum equal to $8 per member to provide a caretaker and guide for the shrine at Lexington.

Report was made of the receipt of $10 from Mr. A. L. Henry, the initial contribution to a fund which the junior chapters plan to raise for the erection of a monument to the memory of Mrs. Judith Carter Henry, Mr. Henry's aged grandmother, who was killed by a shell during the first battle of Manassas.

A paper of wartime recollections, written by Mrs. Phebe Holden Fimmel for her great-niece, Miss Ruth Hutchison, was read. The story will be sent with others to form a U. D. C. collection, to which Miss Hutchison and other Juniors will contribute.

Mrs. Holliday's application for membership was received. Mrs. Holliday named among her Confederate ancestors her grandfather, Capt. T. B. Martin, of South Carolina, one of the "Immortal Six Hundred" imprisoned at Morris Island during the war. The September meeting will be held with Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge at "Robley Cottage."

Miss Cocks was accompanied by Miss Mary Vic Maack, of Troy, Ala., who had been her guest for several days. Miss Maack will take up mission work in Korea.

Manassas citizens who are able to provide rooms for fair visitors next week are invited to communicate with the New Prince William Hotel.

MASS MEETING CONFIRMS REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Endorses Their Action in Drilling New Well and Recommends Loan to Pay for It.

Citizens of the town assembled in mass meeting at Conner's Hall Monday evening to hear the report of the committee appointed to relieve the present water shortage and to advise with the committee concerning measures to be adopted.

Mr. C. A. Sinclair, municipal attorney, presided. Mr. Sinclair called the meeting to order and explained its purpose, offering several suggestions. Mr. Thomas H. Lion spoke briefly, suggesting that money be obtained from local banks to finance the work, as the town treasury holds no money for the purpose at the present time.

Mr. R. S. Hynson, reporting for the committee—which is also composed of Mr. O. E. Newman and Mr. Frank Goe, Jr., superintendent of public utilities—stated that the committee had lost no time in its effort to secure relief. Three days after its appointment the committee had made arrangements for drilling a new well and on the following day work had actually begun.

Supt. Gue answered questions asked concerning the well and the water supply.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE TO MEET

State Secretary Announces the Choice of New Chairman Will Be Made on August 30.

Secretary Brenneman of the state democratic committee has announced that he will convene the state committee at Richmond August 30 to elect a chairman. The district committees were told to complete their lists of vacancies forthwith.

Many of the women named last year failed to accept the places tendered them, and since that time there has been no occasion for a meeting and no attention has been paid to the matter. However, as there is to be a selection of a chairman, and as there is to be a vigorous campaign and the women are to be called to take the stump for the party, they will receive all the attention and rights to which they are entitled.

Interest centers now in the selection of a chairman, and while there has been a demand that a man not holding any office shall be chosen, that demand is coming from those who did not hold the winning hand in the late primary. Names of many men have been mentioned for the honor, among them former Gov. Henry Carter Stuart of Russell, William T. Regd, capitalist and business man of Richmond; Gen. William Wilson Sale, who managed the campaign of Senator Trinkle; Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Winchester, and Representative H. D. Flood, of the tenth district.

Mr. Flood is expected to be the choice of the committee when it convenes. There are many reasons for this. He was one of the lieutenants of the late Senator Thomas S. Martin, was a personal friend and advisor of the late J. Taylor Ellyson, and was also a friend of the late chairman, Col. Rorer A. James. He will not have to be trained for the duties, whereas many of those mentioned would be more or less novices in the contest.

DIES IN WASHINGTON

Alexander F. Wanda, Former Resident, Passes Away Friday.

Mr. Alexander F. Wanda, formerly a resident of Manassas, died Friday evening in a Washington hospital. He was about seventy years of age and had been in failing health for eight months. He lived in Manassas fifteen years ago, when he was a compositor on the Prince William Times, a paper formerly published here. Surviving members of the family are a daughter, Miss Mabel Wanda, with whom he lived at 227 Twelfth street southwest, and several sons. Mrs. Kate Randall, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Randall and Miss Dorothea Randall, Manassas friends of the deceased, motored to Washington Sunday, upon hearing the news of his death, and Mrs. Kate Randall is spending the week with Miss Wanda.

BASEBALL GAME TOMORROW

FUNERAL OF SOLDIER TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Body of Private Hugh M. Corum Brought Home From Battlefields of France.

The body of Private Hugh M. Corum, who was killed October 24, 1918, while serving in France with the American expeditionary forces, after memorial services in New York a few days ago has been brought to his Manassas home for burial. Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Manassas Baptist Church. Former service men are specially invited to attend.

Mr. Corum was a son of Mrs. Fannie Corum, who gave three other sons to the service. These brothers, who returned from France at the close of the war, are Messrs. Joseph Hunton, Ashby Herbert and Wallace Bryant Corum. Other surviving members of the family are two sisters, Mrs. Raymond McCuen, and Miss Edna May Corum, and a brother, Mr. Douglas Corum.

Lieut. Charles Giles, Company D, 116th Infantry, 29th Division, under whom Mr. Corum served, wrote to Mr. Corum a few days after the young soldier's death: "Hugh was a man whom everyone liked, and who, to me, was a brother. I have been with this company but three months, and in that time took a great interest in Hugh. He was one in whom I could place confidence, to whom I could give an order and know it would be carried out. He was very quiet and reserved. When others were out from their billets, not always in the most desirable places, I knew where Hugh was and could get him when I wished to see him."

"He has often spoken to me of his home life, of his mother, sisters and brothers, and I know he loved his home, and it was in defense of his home that he gave his life. "Hugh had no bad habits and his speech and mind were free from the taints which so many of us have. I only hope all of us may live as Hugh did; that in the end we may meet in a land where parting and sorrow are not known."

HORSE SHOW AND FIRE DRILL FEATURE THE FAIR

Cavalrymen Will Ride Over Hurdle Through Burning Arch—Roman Races.

The daring fire drill by U. S. cavalrymen is one of the main attractions of the fair. Firing a volley of shots, cavalry officers will spur their horses over a jump topped by a blazing arch. The framework of the arch will be padded with sacking saturated with gasoline from a trench at the base of the jump and lighted just in time for the daring ride.

In the Roman races a single rider will race with two horses, at least three pairs being entered in the race. Fort Myer soldiers will ride in the race. This feature was attempted here last year, but was not wholly successful then, for the track was open, making it difficult to keep the horses in bounds. This difficulty has been eliminated this year, the track being in excellent shape and surrounded by the necessary barriers.

The horse show classes are well filled, the largest class—the handicap jump—having thirty-seven entries. Fort Myer army officers are listed prominently among the exhibitors, with twenty horses entered.

The annual fair and horse show ball will take place Thursday evening at Conner's Hall. The Marine band will furnish music for the occasion.

MISS SULLIVAN DEAD

Daughter of Luther T. Sullivan Succumbs to Lingering Illness.

Miss Oedlia May Sullivan, thirty-three years old, died Saturday morning at her home near Blandford bridge. She had been in ill health for several years, having contracted tuberculosis following an attack of influenza.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment was made in the Hixson cemetery, near Buckhall.

Miss Sullivan was the daughter of Mr. Luther T. Sullivan and the late Lavinia E. (Hixson) Sullivan, who died eight months ago. Besides her father she leaves four brothers, Messrs. Alpheus, of Baltimore; Edward, of Washington, and Maurice and Richard, who live at the Sullivan home near Blandford. Another brother died a year ago.

FARM AID WORK GROWS IN STATE

Sixty White County Agents Enroll 3,366 Demonstrators During the Year.

(By W. P. Moore)

County agents, or farm demonstration work as it is better known in some places, was carried on in 60 counties in this state last year. When it first started in Virginia most of the work was done with individual farmers by visiting them at their homes, but the agents realized after a few years that it was impossible to reach all the farmers in a county by personal visits. So for several years all county agents have made an effort to do their work as far as possible through existing farmers' organizations, or where none existed to perfect such an organization, though a considerable amount of individual visiting is still necessary. The work consists in carrying on demonstrations in all field crops, horticulture, livestock and other farm practices suitable to the particular locality, through meetings of local communities or the whole county where farm topics are discussed by members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs; by exhibits at fairs, both county and state.

Our report for last year shows that the 60 white county agents enrolled 3,366 demonstrators, made 43,708 visits to farmers and others interested in agriculture, visited 1,912 schools where 4,487 boys and girls club members were enrolled in some agricultural club; made 9,291 visits to these club members; held 2,888 farmers' meetings, with an attendance of 166,736 farm men and women; wrote 39,359 letters and 1,421 newspaper articles; formed 179 local farmers' organizations. They traveled 298,288 miles by auto or team in rendering the above service. Co-operative buying and selling was advocated by all agents as a means of obtaining better prices for farm products or needed supplies. In this way, $300,405.00 was saved to the farmers.

The average yield of corn on 9,048 acres of demonstration fields was 54.5 bushels per acre; wheat on 4,396 acres yielded an average of 23 bushels per acre; rye on 1,284 acres made 19 bushels per acre; clover on 6,485 acres made 2 1-24 tons cured hay per acre; cow peas and soy beans on 8,083 acres yielded 2 tons cured hay per acre; alfalfa on 7,295 acres made 3.5 tons cured hay per acre.

In addition to these crops, demonstrations were carried on in cotton, tobacco, peanuts, potatoes, orchards and in feeding livestock, all of which gave satisfactory results. A great deal of attention was paid to raising better livestock. Due to the agents' efforts the following purebred livestock was brought in: 144 dairy bulls, 36 dairy cows, 161 beef breed bulls, 232 cows, 17 stallions, 2 jacks, 235 boars, 668 sows and 65 sheep. 48,469 animals were treated for some trouble, or as preventive measures, either by the agents or by their advice. 20,509 acres were limed, due to the agents' advice.

Considerable miscellaneous work was done, such as improvement of home surroundings and the purchase of improved machinery. A great deal was done with poultry. The most interesting feature of this work was culling the non-laying hens. On a large number of farms the agents either culled or instructed the owners in culling the home flock, with the result that the part of the flock left produced as many eggs as the whole flock produced before. It is utterly impossible to even estimate the value of county agent work to the state in dollars and cents. The profits from increased yields of crops, better feeding of livestock and savings from buying and selling co-operatively can be arrived at to a fair degree of correctness, but who can estimate the value of a purebred sire over a scrub to a community, or the value of club work to a boy or girl? The profit of saving effected by demonstrations and co-operative buying and selling amounted to $579,947. This does not include the work done either by the home demonstration, the negro agents or specialists.

EXCELLENT CHANCE FOR DESERVING YOUNG MEN

Washington, D. C., Y. M. C. A. Offers Wonderful Opportunity for Men of Virginia.

Deserving young men in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia who desire to take up the study of law are to be given every possible assistance by the city Y. M. C. A., at Washington, according to a plan which is being worked out by the director of the Department of Education.

Owing to the fact that many young men living in smaller towns and cities of the country are unable to fulfill their ambitions to study law because of financial limitations, the "Y" is extending its service into this particular field, and through its employment bureau will endeavor to find employment in Washington for a limited number of deserving young men, thereby making it possible for them to attend the night law school which is a part of the educational department of the Washington "Y."

Editors, ministers, lawyers, judges and others are asked to submit the names of such young men as come under their observation. The "Y" will endeavor to locate them in permanent positions. Those who submit names are requested to be certain of the qualifications and aptitude for the profession of law.

Inasmuch as graduates of the law school are required to have a high school certificate, it is desirable that the persons recommended shall meet this requirement, but those who have completed two years of high school work will be allowed to enter, and a program will be arranged which will enable them to remove these requirements before completing the law work.

Information is also desired regarding the candidate's age, the kind or kinds of work for which he is best fitted, and any other information which will be helpful in placing him in the right kind of position.

Names of candidates should be sent to Arthur L. Ward, Director, Department of Education, Y. M. C. A., 1736 G. St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

SGT. YORK IN TROUBLE

World War Hero Faces Mortgage Foreclosure in Tennessee.

Sergeant Alvin York, of Pall Mall, Tenn., the outstanding individual figure of the world war, is reported as facing a foreclosure of the mortgage on his farm, and at least two tentative offers to relieve him of this embarrassment have been made.

A statement of his financial condition, as made by Sergeant York himself, is as follows:

"The Rotary Club, of Nashville, purchased a farm for me at the price of $23,000, and have paid $10,987.50 and executed three notes for the balance of the purchase price. The three unpaid notes, amounting to $12,062.50, not counting the interest from the date of same, which was November 18, 1919, and are a lien on the farm to secure payment of same. The Nashville Rotary Club has paid all the money that was raised by them for the purpose of purchasing the farm, for which I am very thankful."

The first proposal is the action of a Memphis bank, to the end that the foreclosure would be handled through long time paper that would be accepted from the sergeant himself.

The second proposal came from the Knoxville Board of Commerce, in the nature of a letter from the Berwind White Coal Mining Company, of Philadelphia, seeking information concerning York, his reputation, his religion and other data that would be considered desirable looking to the advancement of a loan to the war hero to relieve him of the obligation pressing upon him at this time.

SHOOT'S BROTHER DEAD IN BOW OVER THE SMALL-SUM OF $4.11

Ralph Jarrett Penrose, 30 years old, was shot and almost instantly killed shortly after noon Tuesday at Elkins Park, Philadelphia, by his brother, Norman Samuel Penrose, 25 years old, in the heat of a violent quarrel.

While Ralph lay dying, Norman knelt beside him, and with his arms about his neck, protesting with sobs that he had not meant to kill him and begged his forgiveness.

The dying man, bleeding to death from a bullet wound that had severed the jugular vein, tried to speak but could not, and then smiled his assent to his brother's frenzied plea.

The shooting, which followed a fight over a $4.11 phone bill, in which Ralph is said to have beaten Norman, blacking his eye and bringing blood to his nose, ended a lifelong companionship between the brothers, which is said to have been unusually close and sympathetic.

The shooting occurred in the home of William Connard, on old York road, where the brothers had boarded for seven years. In the house at the time was Mr. Connard, who is 80 years old; a daughter, who is ill; a second daughter, Miss Elizabeth Connard, who witnessed the quarrel and the events that followed the shooting, and her fourteen-year-old niece, Doris.

According to Miss Connard, Norman, after the shooting, sought the pistol, and she believes would have killed himself if she had not hidden the weapon.

The two men were veterans of the world war, wealthy in their own right, and sons of Samuel J. Penrose, a wealthy retired farmer of Doylestown.

Ralph was a civil engineer, and before the war was employed by the state highway commission. The younger brother had been an oil salesman. Since the war neither had been regularly employed.

Each had a fortune of more than $100,000 left them by their mother. Their father married again.

The quarrel took place in the dining room of the Connard home. After the fight ended in the defeat of Norman, the younger brother, it is said, went upstairs to his room, and Ralph went out into the yard. It is said that Norman got an automatic pistol from a drawer in his room, and going to the window, fired four shots at his brother. All the shots went wild.

In a second quarrel Norman, after apparently getting the worst of it, again fired at Ralph, striking him in the neck. He fell and died a few minutes later.

SALE SLATED FOR FORMER POSITION

Senator Trinkle Expresses Appreciation to Democratic Voters of Virginia.

Gen. William Wilson Sale, state campaign manager for Senator E. Lee Trinkle, of Wytheville, in the democratic gubernatorial primary race, in which Mr. Trinkle emerged victor over Hon. H. St. George Tucker, of Lexington, by a majority of over 20,000, is understood to be slated for adjutant general, a position which he held under the regimes of both Governor Mann and Governor Stuart.

In a speech Mr. Trinkle called attention to the fact that the state mansion has not demicied any children in nearly twenty years, and voiced the hope that his little ones would be accorded the opportunity of romping about the place and making things lively.

Late returns indicate that Mr. Trinkle went over the top in the ninth, his home district, with a majority of approximately 12,000. Mr. Tucker developed substantial strength in only two districts, the eighth and the tenth, the latter being his home district.

Senator Trinkle has issued the following statement to the voters of Virginia:

"I appreciate beyond expression the kindly consideration given my candidacy for governor by the democrats of Virginia.

"To my active and loyal supporters I am deeply thankful, and particularly am I due sincere thanks to my state campaign manager, General W. W. Sale, and his assistants throughout the state.

"I know the democracy of Virginia will rally solidly behind me as its standard bearer.

"When elected governor of Virginia, there will be no sectionalism in my administration, as a united Virginia is necessary for a progressive Virginia.

"My prayer and hope is that I may be able to render real service to Virginia and her people.

"As a loyal democrat, I shall be glad to stump the state for you in the general election against your republican opponent," declared Governor Westmoreland Davis today in a telegram from Roanoke to Senator E. Lee Trinkle, democratic nominee for governor of Virginia. Following is the text of the governor's message to his successor.

Roanoke, Virginia, August 5. Hon. E. Lee Trinkle, Wytheville, Virginia.

"While I voted for Tucker I wish you to feel entirely free to visit the governor's office whenever you are inclined to do so in order that you may at once familiarize yourself with the state's affairs from the executive viewpoint. We will give any assistance you may desire. As a loyal democrat I shall be glad to stump the state for you in the general election against your republican opponent."

Signed WESTMORELAND DAVIS. Senator Trinkle, when seen by reporters this morning, was sitting on his front porch, friends and newspapers around him, reading telegrams of congratulations, and good wishes, which continue to swamp the little telegraphic office in Wytheville.

Among the messages arriving this morning was one from Mrs. W. H. Bolling, the mother of Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, wife of former President Woodrow Wilson. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Bolling were former residents of this town, and neighbors of the Trinkles. The telegram read: "Big Stone Gap, Va., August 5.—Accept our hearty congratulations and best wishes. W. H. BOLLING."

Another telegram was from an old college mate, who informed the nominee that he traveled 60 miles to vote and would have made it 1,400 had he been that far away.

Mr. Trinkle stated that he would remain at Wytheville until September 15 to rest and attend to legal and business matters in his office. This is the result of the long and arduous campaign made for the nomination.

He stated, however, that he had accepted an invitation to speak in Newport News on Labor Day, September 5. At the invitation of the Wytheville Post of the African Legion, he has also agreed to speak in Danville on Armistice Day, November 11.

CHEESE FACTORY PAYS GOOD PRICE FOR MILK

Local Merchants Encourage New County Enterprise by Obtaining Cheese Made Here.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)

The Gold Ridge co-operative cheese factory has paid its patrons for milk delivered at the factory for the month of June 35 cents per pound for butterfat. Had they shipped their cream to any of the creameries in the state, the average price for the month would have been 28 cents, and they would have had expressage to pay while taking the other parties' weight and test. We consider this a good start, and with the quality of the cheese that is being put on the market this plant should be a great success.

The time is short to get any kind of animals in show order to exhibit at the fair, but you can do what you can in the time that is left. All cows and calves, whether beef or dairy animals, should be taken off pasture at once and kept in stall, preferably one that has not too much light, so that the flies will not bother them.

The new and young voters have the duty and opportunity of preventing mistakes and crimes by the people of their generation, such as our past and present generation have committed, at times. The one way to do it is to take the trouble to think, to realize that the vote is given to be used thoughtfully and faithfully for the good of the country and people—not to gratify personal grudges or preferences—and to understand that it is a very serious responsibility. Half a dozen voters of that kind at each precinct in the country would make us quickly the ideal nation we hope we shall be.

Be sure to look for the boys' and girls' club exhibit of livestock at the fair this year. I hope to have some of the best animals we have ever exhibited at this fair. The boys and girls have taken more than usual interest in feeding and fitting their stock, and are going to be rewarded for it when you see the stock.

At the county rally of the boys' and girls' agricultural clubs, which will be held with the farmers' union picnic, I hope to have as many boys from the different clubs as possible. We will give a prize to the club that wins the most points in some athletic event that will be held. Be sure to get a bunch of members from your club to be on hand.

Disarmament by agreement would be better than disagreement by armament, as in the past.—Chicago Daily News.

WHAT WE THINK AFTER ELECTION

Editor of The Loudoun Mirror Reviews Situation and is Still of Good Cheer.

About half of you are disgusted with Tuesday's results. Somebody you think should have been beaten is elected and somebody you think should have been elected is beaten. You incline to gloomy views of the future of country, state and county and to believe that the majority of your fellow voters are crooks or chumps.

Your belief is correct. A few of us are crooks and most of us are chumps, when it comes to the use of the high privilege of voting. Aren't you a good deal of a chump yourself?

Examine your own conscience and review the working of your own mind when you went to vote and bring in the verdict for yourself. Did you, or did any of us, faithfully try to inform ourselves of the qualifications and records of the men offering for each place and honestly and diligently and in fear of God and regard for our fellow man undertake to use our privilege for the best interests of state and people?

About one in fifty of us did, perhaps. The rest of us were interested in seeing some one man, or two men, defeated or elected and for the others we did not care a hoot and took no pains to inform ourselves. What casual enquiries we may have made were of fellow citizens who knew no more of the matter than we.

Even where we took real interest, what of our motives? Did we want some man beaten because we had an old grudge against him or his kin or his supporters, or some man to win because he had done us or somebody a favor, or we happened to like him, or somebody friendly to him, or somebody asked us—in either case taking no care to learn of the respective qualifications of himself and his rivals?

Those of us who have been voting for twenty or thirty or forty years have seen people voting those ways, and from even worse motives, all our lives, have voted so ourselves many a time. Also we have seen occasions when we thought after election days that the crooks and fools and corruptionists ruled everything and everywhere and that the country had gone to the Old Scratch forever. But it hasn't gone.

Voters in this country and every other have been doing fool things and making mistakes since those of Frederick county beat old George Washington for the Virginia House of Burgesses, at command of the keeper of a cross roads groggery, almost two hundred years ago. We have blundered and stumbled along and brought on ourselves frightful disasters. Always we have been frightened by dangers too evident to be overlooked or angered by wrongs intolerable in time to avoid destruction. That is because deep within most of us, beneath all our folly and sin and carelessness, are underlying impulses of honesty, common sense, courage and patriotism which rise to meet emergencies and sweep all before them.

The new and young voters have the duty and opportunity of preventing mistakes and crimes by the people of their generation, such as our past and present generation have committed, at times. The one way to do it is to take the trouble to think, to realize that the vote is given to be used thoughtfully and faithfully for the good of the country and people—not to gratify personal grudges or preferences—and to understand that it is a very serious responsibility. Half a dozen voters of that kind at each precinct in the country would make us quickly the ideal nation we hope we shall be. The vast majority of people really want to do right and are ready to follow leadership that is honest and can prove itself to be sensible.—Loudoun Mirror.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF FREIGHT CARS SHOWN

Freight cars temporarily out of service due to the business depression numbered 10,000 less on July 23 than on July 15, according to reports received from the American Railway Association. The total of cars out of service was 555,168.

The reduction shown in the current report was due principally to the increased demand in the Central Western region for grain cars. Surplus box cars totaled 119,442, a decrease of 18,191, compared with July 15, and surplus coal cars were reduced 5,049 to 162,568. Surplus stock cars fell off 628 during that period. Owing to the demand for grain cars, a shortage of 2,768 freight cars was reported, an increase of 1,500 over the total shortage reported on July 15. Allowing for 7 per cent being normal totaled 264,396, which, added to the total surplus, meant 555,168 cars out of service because of business conditions.

Why the New Perfection is so successful for cooking

THE present New Perfection Oil Cook Stove owes its success to its design and the care with which it is built. Early types of "oil stoves" cannot compare with it in convenience, economy and durability.

The New Perfection burner produces the hottest kind of a flame—white-tipped. This and the long blue chimney are responsible for the splendid results obtained by New Perfection users everywhere.

The chimney is made long for a distinct purpose. It assures the burning of every last drop of kerosene used. There is no fuel wasted in the form of soot on the bottom of utensils. Then, too, it drives the clean heat of the white-tipped flame forcibly against the pan or kettle. No flame is ever so hot as the area just a little above it.

There's no stooping over to the oven when you use a New Perfection. It is up where you can reach it easily. The New Perfection oven has a three-point locking device that keeps the door closed tightly and prevents the escape and waste of heat. You can look into it at all times through the glass door. The large four-burner size with warming cabinet is most popular. There are also, however, five, three, two and one-burner sizes. Use Aladdin Security Oil regularly to obtain the best possible results. Always pump and clean—it's all best.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Col. Rorer A. James, congressman from the fifth Virginia district and chairman of the state democratic executive committee, died suddenly Saturday morning at his home in Danville. Col. James was alone at the time, Mrs. James being on a visit to Philadelphia and other members of the family being elsewhere. He was subject to heart attacks and, feeling the approach of illness, telephoned to his brother, Dr. Bruce R. James, who lived a few blocks away. Dr. James hastened to his brother by automobile and found him lying lifeless on the stairway, the trip to the telephone having been too much for his strength. His face was slightly disfigured by the fall, evidently striking against the banister.

Col. James was sixty-two years old and a graduate of Virginia Military Institute and the University of Virginia. He had owned and edited the Danville Register and Danville Bee for twenty years. He was chairman of the board of visitors of V. M. I. and had served in the House of Delegates and State Senate. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Annie Wilson, of Henry, and the following children: Wilson R. James, of Camden, N. J.; Rorer A. James, Jr., his associate in the conduct of his paper; Miss Annie James and John Bruce James.

Mrs. Frank S. Tavenner, of Woodstock, narrowly escaped drowning a few days ago while bathing with a party of friends in the Shenandoah river. Mrs. Tavenner, a good swimmer, had gone into deep water and, underestimating its depth, decided to rest by standing in the bed of the river. She sank for the second time before a companion became aware of her perilous state, and she was brought to shore in an exhausted condition. The ready response of Mr. J. Carson Adkerson prevented another tragedy in the Shenandoah river, where several drownings have been reported in recent weeks.

William A. McConchie, a retired farmer living at Brandy, Culpeper county, died a few days ago in a Charlottesville hospital. Mr. McConchie was a native of Virginia and was ninety years of age.

A cloudburst recently swept over Gretna, a small town in Pittsylvania, doing in two hours damages estimated at $25,000. The rain was the heaviest experienced by the present generation, the dry soil being unable to absorb the falling torrents and the drains unable to carry off the water. A large lake was formed in the heart of the town five feet deep in places. Stores and residences were flooded. A motor company suffered the heaviest loss when mud and water standing four feet deep engulfed a number of machines kept there. Water courses of the region went amuck and swept crops away.

Mr. W. R. Huffard, of Wytheville, and his son, Andrew, who has been residing in Fairfax county near Chantilly for three years, have purchased a valuable farm of 166 acres adjoining the town of Herndon belonging to the estate of the late J. J. Darlington, a prominent Washington attorney. Mr. Andrew Huffard will take possession of the property in the near future.

Every effort will be made by the Brunswick authorities to run to earth and prosecute members of the mob of 2,000 people that lynched Lem Johnson, colored, last Wednesday morning at Tobacco for the murder of Mr. T. W. Eimora, postmaster and storekeeper of that village, says a news dispatch from Petersburg. This is the second lynching in Virginia in sixteen years.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brandt, who live about ten miles from Lynchburg, have probably named the first Trinkie baby in the state since the nomination of the Wythe county man for governor. A nine-pound baby was born to the family on the day after the election and it was promptly christened E. Lee Trinkie Brandt.

R. H. Wills, carpenter for the city of Lynchburg, has just completed twenty-six years of service with the city, during which time he has lost but seven days from the pay roll. These days were lost during the Christmas season of 1919 and 1920, Mr. Wills having lost no time on account of sickness.

Mrs. J. W. Carpenter has a hen which hatched nine partridges, according to the Madison Exponent. The hen is mothering eight of them. At night the birds nestle up under the hen's wings and Mrs. Carpenter carries them carefully to the house so nothing will happen to the mother and her brood. Mrs. Carpenter has a hen setting on eight partridge eggs which will soon hatch.

Fire destroyed one of the large dairy barns at "Beauregard," the estate of J. C. Miller, near Brandy, Culpeper county, Tuesday night. About 250 tons of alfalfa hay stored in the second story of the barn were burned and one bull and calf were consumed. The loss, estimated at $10,000, is partially covered by insurance.

The entire town of Wakefield and surrounding county has been aroused by the shooting of Town Sergeant Harry L. Harris by one of a gang of six negro hoboos, and practically every man in the village is fully armed and searching for the desperadoes. Mr. Harris is in a Richmond hospital suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen. He was shot while attempting to arrest the gang of negroes for shooting at W. D. Purcell, telegraph operator at Ivor, only a few minutes before as a freight train passed by that station. One of the negroes was wounded when the fire was returned by Sergeant Harris and townsmen who joined in the pitched battle. A similar occurrence was noted at Manassas a few weeks ago.

A severe earthquake shock was felt in Buckingham, Fluvanna and Cumberland counties Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock. Many were awakened from sleep by rattling dishes, windows and furniture. In some cases houses were severely rocked. As papers from the citing made no mention of the matter, it is thought in that section that the earthquake is one of a series which have occurred for many years in the slate belt of Buckingham and Fluvanna. Since 1875 there have been thirteen distinct shocks of earthquake in this region, those of May 31, 1897; February 11, 1907, and August 7, 1912, having been severe. So far as can be determined, no material damage was done by the earthquake Sunday morning.

No. 25 will leave New York at 8:45 p. m. and Washington at 3:10 a. m., as at present, but will arrive in Chattanooga at 10:50 p. m. and Memphis at 8:55 a. m., instead of at 11:15 a. m. No. 26 will leave Memphis at 7:30 p. m., two hours later, and will continue to arrive in Washington at 12:30 a. m. and New York at 6:45 a. m.

No. 41 will leave New York and Washington as at present, but will arrive in Chattanooga at 6:10 p. m., fifteen minutes earlier. No. 42 will leave Chattanooga at 11:15 a. m., arriving in Washington at 7:45 a. m. and New York 1:30 p. m., an hour and ten minutes earlier.

No. 52, the Augusta Special, will continue to leave Augusta at 12:15 p. m., arriving in Washington at 7:30 a. m., but will reach New York at 1:30 p. m., an hour and ten minutes earlier.

Inauguration of faster schedules by the Southern has been made possible on account of the shortened distance and excellent condition of the double-tracked line extending all the way from Washington to Atlanta.

NEGRO PEEPER KILLED

Surprised while peeping into a house window at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, Welden Pittrell, a negro ex-service man, was arrested by Police-man W. C. Talley, of Danville. On the way to the Courthouse alone Pittrell, it is charged, turned on the officer and, clutching him by the throat began strangling him. The officer drew his revolver and shot him five times, killing the negro.

OUR FAIR

Plans are all in readiness for the third Prince William fair. The officers of the fair have promised us a "better than ever" exhibition, and with departmental superintendents, committees and interested boosters throughout the section are making the most of every available moment to keep the pledge. They are doing a splendid work and have our hearty commendation.

Let us see that we attend the fair. If every family is represented we shall be able to furnish a fine crowd—enough to insure the success of the 1921 exhibition and to make up in some measure for the disappointing rainy days a year ago.

Granting that the weather man will scorn to repeat last year's performance, we shall hope for four sunny days of entertainment and profit. We all know the advantages of a good fair—and more particularly what a good fair can do to promote our agricultural interests—and so we should be ready to accept our obligation to make it a success. The management has done its part, and the rest lies with—us.

THE NOVEMBER OUTLOOK

Democratic observers already are able to see that the republican party, encouraged by the last national election, has begun a campaign to break the solid south and will throw its energy this fall into Virginia as the gateway to the goal. Perhaps Col. Anderson, the republican candidate for governor, has no thought of making serious headway at this time. It has been suggested that his keen republican eye has been gazing into the next campaign year, when the senatorial contest between Senator Swanson and Governor Davis may offer sweet inducements for a triangular engagement.

We have grown accustomed to the Virginia idea that the primary decision is equivalent to election, and there is no reason to doubt the soundness of the belief this year. The inroads of the republican party, however, must not be allowed to widen without our knowledge, because we are napping, nor can we afford to allow the republicans a seemingly heavy vote in November, because we "know what the result will be."

Virginia democrats in all sections of the state are ready to fight for Senator Trinkle until he is safely ushered into the governor's chair by the November polls, if the attitude of the press may be accepted as the sentiment of the people. Editors who tried by every honest means at their command to defeat him in the primary have rallied to his standard since the party made its choice.

While this newspaper sentiment, expressing as it does the views of many of the most indefatigable workers in the political campaign, is gratifying and a truly happy omen, it will be well for all good democrats to take stock and prepare to line up at the polls.

This is no time for family quarrels and within-party friction. This is no time to harbor grievances and hates growing out of the party contest. We fought the good fight and are expected in all honor to lend our undivided support to the party's nominee.

A great host of democrats often fail to vote in the general election "because it is not worth while."

It is worth while—immensely and intensely worth while. If we nap, we are likely to be caught napping—and perhaps we should deserve it.

A BLOT ON OUR RECORD

Virginia's second lynching in sixteen years occurred near Petersburg a week ago, opening another ugly page on the record of a proud commonwealth which has been signally known as the home of a law respecting and law abiding people. There are times, of course, when we feel that no punishment is too severe for a criminal, but even this is never an argument for mob rule in an enlightened land, and never a vindication of mob justice.

Two thousand men went so quietly about their work that before their purpose became generally known one of the negroes charged with killing the postmaster and storekeeper at the little town of Tobacco had been securely hanged to a tree at the scene of the murder. True, the negro is said to have confessed his guilt, but neither confession nor proof should license a mob for the execution of justice.

It was a regrettable occurrence, and one which Virginia's steady thinking population could devoutly hope to erase from her record. On this type of citizenship—and not on the emotional type which follows the leader and makes a mob—rests the obligation of finding a remedy. So many reasons for the mob spirit have been assigned that it is almost possible to apply a different reason to each particular lynching. One general term, however, may be truthfully applied in every case. It is lawlessness—a type of lawlessness which threatens to undermine our civilization, a type of lawlessness which demands a swift and heavy curb.

RURAL BETTERMENT

Commenting on the appointment of a committee of twenty-four citizens to act with Representative R. Walton Moore for the improvement of rural life in Virginia—"to devise means to bring into active co-operation the full strength of the Virginia people for the betterment of rural life"—the Times-Dispatch asserts that the means is right at hand in the building of good roads and suggests that the committee might fulfill its mission without further delay by supporting the Virginia Good Roads Association in its work of "lifting Virginia out of the mud."

"Rural life in Virginia will not improve appreciably until good roads make every part of the state easily accessible. When that has been done betterment of rural life will largely care of itself. It has been the history of other states, and history will repeat itself in this one, that good roads, good homes, good farms, good schools and good churches go along together. In the absence of good roads all the others are usually lacking. It is a social and economic combination that cannot be broken up, and ideal rural life will never be found along streaks of mire and dust. Here, then, Mr. Moore and his fellow-committeemen will find the solution of the great Virginia problem which they have determined to solve."

CAMOUFLAGE

(A soldier's poem published during the war by the Stars and Stripes)

They tell us tales of camouflage
The art of hiding things;
Of painted forts and bowered guns
Invisible to wings.
Well, it's nothing new to us,
To us, the rank and file;
We understand this camouflage

We saw the painted battleships
And earthen-colored trains,
And planes the hue of leaden skies,
And canvas-hidden lanes.
Well, we used the magic art
That day of anxious fears;
We understand this camouflage
—We laughed away our tears.

They say that scientific men
And artists of renown
Debated long on camouflage
Before they got it down.
Well, it came right off to us,
We didn't have to learn;
We understand this camouflage
—We said we'd soon return.

We understand this camouflage,
This art of hiding things;
It's what's behind a soldier's jokes
And all the songs he sings.
Yes, it's nothing new to us,
To us, the rank and file;
We understand this camouflage

LAUGH AND LIVE

SAFETY FIRST

The street-faker expressed disgust with the crowd of pickers standing around him. "Why," he exclaimed wretchedly, "I'll bet you fellows aren't sports enough to offer me 50 cents for this bright new $1 bill."
"I will," piped up a ragged urchin.
"All right," said the faker. "Hand over the 50 cents."
"Take it out of the back of my hand me the change," said the urchin, who wasn't taking any chances.—Boston Transcript.

Ethel—What's the matter, dear? You look unhappy.
Edith—Oh, such hard luck! I married Dick for all money, and then I had to go and fall in love with him, and now I know it will just break my heart to divorce him.—The American Legion Weekly.

CHEERING HER UP

To a priest came a young woman one day, who had an exaggerated idea of her charms and who confessed she feared she had a besetting sin.
"And what is it?" asked the priest kindly.
"It is this," she replied, her eyes cast down. "Every time I pass my mirror I think of my beauty."
"Faith, daughter," said the priest. "That's no sin, no sin at all. Just a trifling error in judgment."—The American Legion Weekly.

AN INGENIOUS THING

Mrs. Mason, who had just installed an electric cooking stove, asked her maid, Norah, what she thought of it.
"To me, mum," said Norah, "it seems like a great invention. When you and Mr. Mason were away for ever Sunday, mum, I burned it all the time, mum, and there seems to be plenty of electricity still left."

AN IMPOSSIBLE UNDERTAKING

"I hear that you have been laid up with nervous prostration. What's the cause, overwork or worry?"
"Both. I tried to have a photograph taken that suited my wife."

I WAS BORN IN WINCHESTER

In a heated political battle Sam Medary of Ohio hoped to sway the people of his state by reminding them of his place of birth. But Woodrow's Wilson's grandfather, who was an editor, expressed his opinion of such a practice in the following significant way:
"Sam Medary's friends claim for him the merit of having been born in Ohio. So was my dog, Towser."—Advertisement in the recent political campaign.

Checking Accounts

Most people have learned through rich experience of the many conveniences which a checking account offers.

Women, especially housewives, should investigate this good method of handling personal funds.

When you spend by check you don't have to stand in line to pay bills, wait for change or argue about mistakes. Checks for any amount can be sent through the mails.

A checking account encourages correct keeping of your account—leads to savings and investments—and it costs nothing. We invite your consideration.

Battlefield Visitor Praises Work of Bull Run Chapter.

(A Well Wisher) Many people who attended the inauguration of the Bull Run battlefield park feel that especial mention should be made of the part taken on that occasion by the Bull Run Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. For a small chapter, and one which had been spoken of as on the decline for several years past, it surely covered itself with glory. To the Bull Run chapter was assigned the entertainment of the Quantico Marine Band, numbering over twenty persons, and other guests. The lunch table was most tastefully decorated with the Confederate colors, and a bounteous repast, which was well served. Comfortable seats were provided, and everything possible was done for the pleasure of the guests. Certainly the chapter kept up its old tradition of handsome hospitality, and the ladies who had charge of the lunch proved their capability.

BANK SCHEMES TO SAVE

"Ponzi" Discovery Reduces Cable Expenditures 12,000 Francs a Day.

A modified Ponzi scheme in international exchange that really works and is quite legal, is being used by a Paris bank with New York connections, to save an average sum of 12,000 francs a day on cable messages from New York.

The cable rate from Paris to New York is 1.25 francs per word. From New York to Paris the rate is 25 cents a word, or 3.25 francs. Therefore, the Paris bank prepays all replies in correspondence with its New York connections, effecting a saving of 2 francs per word. The daily average of correspondence from New York is 6,000 words.

Moreover, the bank credits its New York correspondent at the rate of 25 cents a word. Thus the bank figures that the French government is paying 12,000 francs a day toward the New York office and other officials.

Inquiries by government officials elicited the reply from the Department of Posts, Telegraph and Telephone that the process is entirely regular from the administrative viewpoint.

The Manassas school board is making plans to remove the dilapidated school building in front of the new Groveton school, using part of the lumber in the erection of a wood shed in the rear of the new building.

Colored citizens are discussing plans for the enlargement of Brown public school for colored children. The school has an enrollment of 126 pupils and desk room for only 62, which has made half-day sessions necessary. A two-story addition of two rooms has been proposed, the building to be moved to the center of the lot. The advisability of installing a heating plant has also been suggested.

Your Ideal of a Flour

There is scarcely a housewife or cook in this whole section who has not had trouble, at one time or another, with flour. And when you can not get just the kind of flour you want, doesn't everything just seem to go wrong?

Many a time you have wondered why there was not a flour to serve every purpose. "Why should it be necessary to have two or three different kinds of flour on hand in order to take care of the various baking needs?" you have probably asked yourself over and over.

B. Lynn Robertson's White Rose Flour is the solver of your baking troubles—the answer to all the questions you have been asking about the merits and adaptability of this and that grade of flour.

In White Rose, we have succeeded in grinding a flour that is an all-purpose baking material—a flour that you will be delighted with, once you have used it. If your home is not acquainted with this popular brand, order it the next time. If your grocer does not have it, we will gladly supply you direct until you can get White Rose at your grocer's.

BRENTSVILLE

This vicinity was grieved to hear of the death of Dr. William J. Bell, who was for many years a highly esteemed citizen of this place. One of the best picnics ever enjoyed on the school house lawn was held last Thursday. Games and racing contests, together with a bounteous dinner with ice cream for dessert, were the features of the day.

Members of the Baptist Sunday School will have their annual picnic on the school lawn next Saturday. All friends are invited to come, bring their baskets and have a good time. Mrs. K. M. Bradshaw and Mrs. G. L. Jamison entertained the members of their Sunday School classes and a number of friends on the church lawn last Saturday afternoon.

WHERE WIVES COME HIGH The return to normalcy in British East Africa has run against a hard obstacle.

The natives, says a dispatch to the London Daily Express, from Nairobi, are resisting wage cuts on the ground that the cost of wives is 50 per cent above the level which existed prior to the war.

The employees on the plantations are making representations to the government, insisting that something must be done regarding the market value of spouses. The latest delegation made the suggestion that the government fix a standard price for wives.

(Charlotte Observer)

Former President Wilson looks a perfectly well and hearty man, but walks slowly and carefully, according to Mr. Edward E. Britton, Washington correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer, who tells how he went to a theatre in the National Capital the other night and secured a seat close to the former President in order to study him at close range and get a line on his physical condition. Once a week, he says, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson go to see a vaudeville show. So last Saturday night, as usual, the former President and his wife took seats in the very last row of the theatre in order that he might have little walking to do. The newspaper man was seated near by. He says of Mr. Wilson: "His color is good, his cheeks tanned, his eyes clear. It was only when he started to rise that there was any sign of illness. He walks slowly and carefully. During the vaudeville numbers I watched his expression so as to see what appealed most to him. This I found to be the quips and jests, the bits of humor that came across the footlights. At these Mr. Wilson's expression was of keen pleasure, smiles chasing themselves over his features."

It is gratifying to learn that the World War President's physical condition is so good. But the country will never be able to forget, nor will his enemies ever be able to obliterate from the pages of history the fact stated by John G. Emory, commander of the American Legion, that Woodrow Wilson is entitled to the same honors as the soldier wounded at the front, for verily he was wounded, apparently permanently, in his fight for that which the war was fought, just as the soldier who was wounded on battlefield.

NEWPORT NEWS CORONER ASKS SALARY TO BE CUT

Dr. B. R. Gary, coroner for Newport News, who has received an average of $98 a month from the city for the last six months, wrote to the city manager and suggested that the Council pay him $75 a month hereafter, and no more. He was thoroughly in sympathy with authorities' efforts to cut expenses, he said.

This letter was read to the members of the Council. Each expressed his delight at the coroner's willingness to help cut expenses, approved the suggestion, and authorized the clerk, J. L. Ficklen, to write Dr. Gary expressing the Council's appreciation.

ASKS VOTERS NOT TO SUPPORT MURDERER

Eleven-Year-Old Boy's Letter Against Candidate Published in Contest.

The following letter appears in the current issue of the Pikeville, Ky., news:

"I am Dr. L. Q. Thornsbury's boy, an orphan boy, not yet twelve years old. When I was five, Will Flanary, who is now candidate for nomination for county judge for the Republican ticket, shot and killed Daddy and left me an orphan. I dearly loved Daddy; he was all I had up there at Card, where Will Flanary killed my Daddy, where they would come after Daddy to doctor them.

"I would ride behind on the horse and would see Will Flanary carrying a gun, but did not think then about him killing my Daddy. I have learned since then that was what he was carrying the gun for. When other people are sleeping at night, I am thinking of my Daddy. I was left without a home, no one to look to but friends to open the door and let me in. I have been told that Will Flanary says that killing Daddy did not bother him at all.

"Now what do you think about a man to be county judge that has no conscience? God says, 'Thou shalt not kill.' It is in the Bible, for I have read it. It can be found in the twentieth chapter of Exodus.

"I want to beg the fathers and mothers of the Republican party not to vote for this man. Vote for Will Flanary, a murderer, an orphan maker and a life taker, who has blood-stained hands and has taken the life of a fellow-man?

"Girls and boys, I want to ask you to beg your fathers and mothers that read this to vote for some good man, not to think that I am asking much of you, nor hard to do, to not vote for a murderer. Place yourselves in my footing and what would you do?"

"Yours respectfully,
"JAS. M. THORNSBURY."

FOR MIDSUMMER Lyons Velvet Hats

—If history is to be believed, women at one time wore straw hats in summer and velvet hats in winter. Woman is a creature of moods and by no means dependent upon the weather man to tell her what to wear.

—In winter she wears hats of straw or lace—in summer, behold, she dons the chapeau of velvet.

—Because it is becoming almost always, and because it seems peculiarly adapted to seaside wear, we excuse the inconsistency of lovely woman's fads, and applaud her in her chic velvet hat though the weather be 100 degrees in the shade.

—These new models are in large, medium and small shapes. The color list includes blue, brown, pheasant, cherry, taupe and black.

—The trimmings are of pin ostrich, in fancy effects.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

State Farmers' Meeting—Fall Fertilizer—Club Notes and Seed Prospects.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)
County Agent Browning attended the State Farmers' Institute, held at Blacksburg August 3 to 5, and also a state agents' meeting. This was considered by a majority of those attending the best institute ever held. The key note of the whole program was organization, and especially co-operative marketing of all farmers' products. In co-operative marketing is not meant the dictating of prices, but standardization and grading of products, and selling as near as possible direct to the distributor, in this way eliminating all speculation possible, and returning to the producer the actual market price for his product.

One of the big problems taken up was the purchasing of fall fertilizer. It is a fact that the fertilizer manufacturer has a large stock of goods on hand and is in need of cash. It is also a fact that the farmer cannot economically plant a wheat crop without the use of fertilizer. He may cut down on his acreage, but a certain amount of fertilizer is necessary. It is also a fact that the price for fall goods has been adopted by the association of fertilizer manufacturers. For the purpose of obtaining the best possible price on fertilizer, a committee of representatives from all the farm organizations and farmers' clubs was called together to formulate some definite plans.

It was decided that the Producers' Co-Operative Exchange of Richmond would be the agency for negotiating the deal, that all farmers' organizations and clubs make up their order for fertilizer by August 25 to send it to the above concern, and then the president of the exchange with this committee with a large volume of orders and with the cash, can make a deal that will mean a saving. The only way we can get a reasonable price is with volume of business and cash business. There is not a farmer in this county that has not the cash or who cannot get the cash for his fertilizer. It is much cheaper to borrow a little money at 6 per cent. at the bank than pay the fertilizer company 10 per cent. to 15 per cent. Also cash is the thing that is going to get the price right.

I want to urge every club member raising a pig, dairy calf or baby beef to be sure to have the animals at the fair grounds Monday afternoon. Bring enough feed to last during the fair, as we do not want you bringing feed every day. There will be several club boys who will help to take care of all club livestock. We will expect all club members who have calves to be on hand Tuesday, the first day of the fair, to lead their animals out to be judged. We want this club exhibit this year to be the greatest in number and quality of the animals exhibited that has ever been shown here, and want everybody coming to the fair to be sure to look for the club live stock exhibit.

When the farmers of today buy any kind of seed, you will find on the bag a tag stating that the seedsmen do not guarantee the purity of the seed. In other words, if you bought a variety of bearded wheat and it turned out to be rye, you would have absolutely no comeback on the seedsmen. There has been a new department established at Blacksburg—the Virginia Crop Improvement Association. This association will grow through its members and advertise and help them sell, at a reasonable charge over the market price, certified seed of all kinds. This seed will be field inspected and bin inspected by a member of the association. Prince William county is growing this year through the influence of the county agent several acres of Early Wilson soy beans to be certified.

The Virginia Polytechnic Institute will sell this fall through the Virginia Crop Improvement Association a limited number of bushels of wheat and oats. These grains have been grown on the college farm for a term of five years and are absolutely pure, certified by the association and hot water treated for smut. The two varieties of wheat have yielded over a period of five years four bushels more wheat per acre per year than the best standard varieties used in the state. The oats have yielded thirteen bushels more oats per acre over a five-year period over the best of the standard varieties grown in the state.

It is desired by the college to get this certified wheat grown in as many different parts of the state as possible. The supply is limited to two bushels per person of wheat and five to ten bushels of oats. Of course you will have to agree to save the crop from this planting for seed purposes only.

Here is an opportunity for several good farmers to get on the ground floor by being the first to start raising these wonderful new varieties of wheat and oats. The first ones applying for this seed will be given the refusal, but we must have your name at once as the supply is limited. (V. P. I. No. 112, bearded wheat, $2.50 per bushel; V. P. I. No. 131, smooth wheat, $2.50 per bushel; V. P. I. No. 1, oats, $2 per bushel.)

CLUB TO PAINT SCHOOL

Proceeds of Ice Cream Festival Donated to Painting Fund.

(Sylvia Showalter, Reporter)

The Bristow Agricultural and Home Economics Club held its regular monthly meeting July 30 instead of August 6, as Miss Gilbert could not be present at the latter named date. The program was very interesting.

Miss Gilbert gave a bread judging contest after the meeting. Some of the girls are going to exhibit bread at the county fair.

The club held an ice cream festival and box party July 22. This opened at 8 p. m. There was a large crowd present. One of the interesting features was a fish pond game, which Miss O'Callahan had in charge. The box bringing the highest amount sold for $3. They auctioned the cakes, Mr. Voorhees, the depot agent, being the auctioneer. The club realized $28, which will go to painting the school house.

REFERS WOMEN'S LEAGUE TO STATE G. O. P. PLATFORM

Colonel Henry W. Anderson, Republican nominee for Governor of Virginia, answering a questionnaire from the Virginia League of Women Voters relative to his position on child labor, education, public health, good roads, etc., refers at length to the planks in the Republican platform adopted by the State convention held in Norfolk.

His reply closes with the following paragraph: "Permit me to add that the action of the Republican party in nominating Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis-Otey for the high office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, and appointing three of the leading women of this State as members of the campaign committee to conduct this campaign, is conclusive evidence of the broad and progressive attitude of that party toward the women voters of Virginia."

The most remarkable phenomenon known to zoological science, which was born on a farm at Grandchamps, Paris, two weeks ago, died yesterday. It was being transported to Paris for exhibition at the Academy of Science.

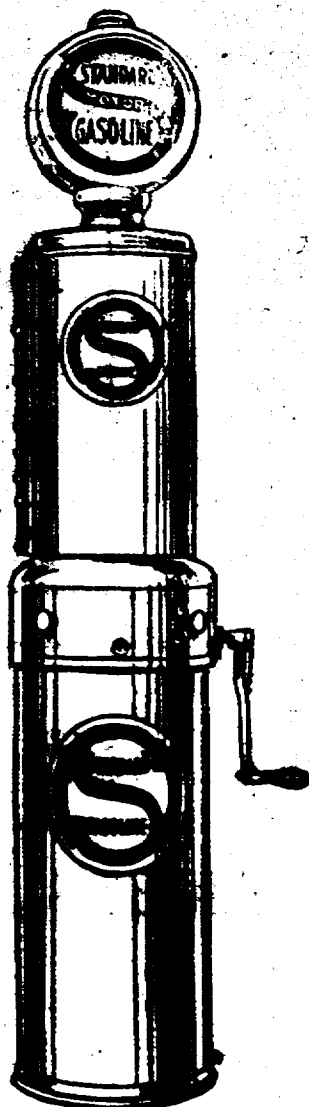

The creature had the body of a calf, the head of a rabbit, eyes like a pig, ears like a fox, hair like a St. Bernard dog. It weighed twelve pounds at birth and cried like a baby.

Motor Efficiency vs. Gasoline Efficiency

Why the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) Maintains a Great Experimental Department

THERE is a point beyond which the efficiency of a motor car or truck cannot be guaranteed by its manufacturer. Thousand dollar cars have been known to render longer and more satisfactory service than others which were valued at two or three times as much.

Mechanically your "job" was perfect when it came to you from the factory. The best of materials, commensurate with the price of the car, were used in its construction. The car was as nearly ready for efficient service as the manufacturers could make it.

How do you select Motor Fuel?

From this point the responsibility for efficient operation of your motor lies largely with you (who must select and purchase fuel and lubricants) and with the refiners.

Your task is to find a consistently good gasoline, adjust your carburetor to it, and use no other. Our work is to see that this gasoline is constantly up to standard; to make sure that you can get it wherever your business or pleasure takes you in the field served by the Standard Oil Co. (N. J.); to improve it when possible through the efforts of specialists in our Development Department.

Follow Expert Guidance

Our development men are at work seeking still further to improve our products. These experts have devoted their lives to study of the refining business and the relation between the properties of the oils and the service which they render. They deal only in facts. You can't go wrong in following their guidance.

WOMEN'S VOTE AND PROHIBITION

Is Candidate's Record on Prohibition a Passport to Office? What Then?

Under the caption, "Women's Vote and Prohibition," the Richmond News-Leader publishes an editorial from the pen of Dr. Douglas Freeman, from which the following excerpts are taken:

"Here in Virginia, prohibition was not an issue in the Democratic campaign and should not have been injected. Both Mr. Tucker and Mr. Trinkle were pledged to the enforcement of the law. Both could be trusted. None the less, Mr. Trinkle has won the primary by a large vote than can be attributed to his strength in the Ninth district or to the gratitude of women voters for his part in the attempt to procure Virginia's ratification of the equal suffrage amendment. The explanation is the same as that which can be given for the action in congress. Most of the women voters are ardent prohibitionists. Where there is the slightest suspicion, however unfounded, of any leaning toward a relaxation of the law on the part of any candidate, the women will vote against that candidate. In the case of Mr. Tucker, to repeat, there was grave injustice in the suggestion that he was inimical to prohibition in any way. The fact remains that a definite majority of the women voted for Mr. Trinkle, and on no grounds so certainly as on that of his advocacy of prohibition.

"The attitude of women voters on this much-mooted question obviously is destined to have a very profound influence, perhaps a decisive influence, on the whole future of prohibition. If the women favor prohibition; it is settled. It will remain in the constitution, because a substantial minority of the male voters may at all times be counted on to stand with the women in supporting it. At the present time the majority of the votes of men also would be cast for continued prohibition.

"There is a certain element of potential danger in unyielding support of 'consistent' prohibitionists in preference to other candidates, regardless of all other considerations. America will lose, for example, if every man who opposed prohibition honestly and without selfish motives is permanently to be proscribed. America will suffer if a candidate's record on prohibition is a passport to office, however incompetent the man may be. Needless to say, this does not apply in the case of Mr. Trinkle, for he has abundant qualifications of other sorts. He did not have to stand solely on his support of prohibition. But readers will understand at what a depth of mismanagement public affairs would sink if nothing but a prohibition record counted at the polls.

"More serious than this is the prospect that a false sense of confidence in the enforcement of the law may be created by the election of a few superior officers, who are sympathetic with prohibition. These officers often have little power. They can do little to enforce the law. The governor of Virginia, for all the dignity of his office, has far less influence on the enforcement of prohibition than the chiefs of police in the cities and the sheriffs in the counties. In Richmond and in Norfolk, indeed, there scarcely is a police officer who cannot do at least as much to make prohibition effective or futile as can the chief executive in the capitol.

"What then? 'Elect men who are sympathetic with prohibition? Yes—if they are qualified in other respects and are not belted to a political machine. But keep on the educational campaign. See to it that the men who come in direct contact with the violators of the law are mindful of their oaths, courageous in the discharge of their duty and untrammelled by appointive superiors who are hostile to prohibition.

"If prohibition fails it will be on the streets and on the highways, and not at the polls or in the legislative halls."

TURTLE RACING, LATEST SPORT AT MIAMI, FLA.

Loggerhead turtle racing, a sport regarded by natives of the Bahamas as Cubans regard cock-fighting and Americans baseball, is to be imported into Florida by local sportsmen. Turtle races never have been held in the United States, local authorities assert.

In racing, the huge reptiles are harnessed almost in the same manner as horses, the riders don bathing suits, mount their backs and drive in the most approved jockey style. The turtle may be so handled by the driver as to prevent its diving, but the rider finishes the race thoroughly soaked.

Racing turtles are the largest of the species that may be obtained. The entries to face the barrier here were taken along the Florida keys after a search of several weeks.

DAVIS OBELISK TO BE UNVEILED

Ceremonies at Kentucky Birthplace of Confederate President Next June.

The Jefferson Davis obelisk, crowning monument to the president of the Southern Confederacy, will be unveiled June 8, 1922, at Davis' birthplace in Fairview, Ky., on his 114th anniversary.

The Davis homestead is about 140 miles from Hodgenville, Ky., where Abraham Lincoln was born.

The obelisk, which will be 175 feet high, is today within five feet of completion. It was planned originally to erect a shaft 350 feet, to be excelled only by the Washington monument, but the Jefferson Davis Home Association decided to hasten the unveiling in accordance with the wish of Confederate veterans. Anxious to participate in the ceremonies, the thinning ranks urged completion as soon as possible. The work was started in 1917 and interrupted by the World War.

Profiles in bronze of Mr. Davis and his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Davis Hayes, one of the most beautiful women of the South, ornament the base of the monument, which is forty-three feet square. It contains a room for relics.

The shaft is situated in Jefferson Davis Park, which takes in part of the farm on which the president of the Confederacy was born on June 8, 1808, less than a year before Lincoln. The park comprises about twenty-two acres. The town of Fairview gains its name from one of the most beautiful landscapes in the South.

Cost of the monument to date is about $100,000, which was raised by popular subscription. Mrs. Roy McKinney, of Paducah, Ky., president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, at the head of a committee of daughters and Confederate veterans, organized every county in the state to complete the shaft.

General William B. Haldeman, formerly owner with Colonel Henry Waterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is president of the Jefferson Davis Home Association, succeeding the late General Bennett H. Young, Louisville, four times commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans. General George W. Littlefield, of Austin, Texas, and General Julian S. Carr, of Durham, N. C., were promoters, with General Young, of the original conception.

Care of the monument and park will be supervised by the state of Kentucky after the unveiling, by act of the 1920 legislature.

Two other monuments commemorate the president, one in Richmond, Va., the capital of the Confederacy, and the other in New Orleans. Both were built through efforts of the women of the South.
