FAIR ENDS WITH BIG HORSE SHOW

Roman Race, Farmers', Pony and Mule Races Feature the Final Day's Exhibition.

With crowds thronging the exhibition halls and the carnival city which was a blaze of light and merriment, the third Prince William Fair ended Friday evening. The final day's events included the horse show and four races. The farmers' race was won by "Bill," a horse owned by Mr. F. R. Saunders, of Manassas; "Queen," owned by Mr. Victor Hayden, of Manassas, won the mule race; Roland Seeley's "Prince" won the pony race, and Private Hadden, of Fort Myer, held to his record by coming out ahead in the Roman race.

One of the most interesting horse show classes was exhibited in the afternoon, when the Fort Myer mount of Lieut. M. E. Jones captured first honors in the handicap jump in a field of thirty-seven contestants. A Prince William horse, owned by Mr. H. F. Lynn, of Haymarket, came second, with Lieut. Col. H. C. Cootes and Capt. R. I. Sasse following.

Officers and directors of the Fair association will hold a meeting this afternoon to check up the accounts of the Fair. The attendance, while good, was somewhat disappointing and it is known that there is a small deficit, owing to the expense of erecting buildings and putting the grounds in order, necessary improvements which the association has been making gradually during the first three years of the Fair.

JOHN M. MICHAEL DIES

Rev. A. B. Jamison and Mrs. Jamison Attend Funeral at Aberdeen.

John M. Michael died on Saturday at his home in Aberdeen, Md. He was born on February 16, 1857, at the Michael homestead near Aberdeen, part of an estate purchased by his great-grandfather, Balcher Michael, in 1750. Mr. Michael was engaged extensively in farming and canning and his home on Swan creek near the Chesapeake bay was known as Brick House Farm.

Aside from his farming and packing interests he had long been identified with the First National Bank of Aberdeen as one of its directors. In 1900 he was one of the organizers of the Citizens' National Bank, of Havre de Grace, Md., serving since that time on its board of directors, and as president since 1909. He was a member of the Elks fraternity and a trustee of the Presbyterian Church at Aberdeen. He is survived by his wife and four children and by one brother and four sisters.

Mr. William O. Michael, of Bel Air, Md.; Mrs. C. R. Kirwan, of Baltimore, and Mrs. A. B. Jamison, wife of the pastor of the Manassas Presbyterian Church. Mr. and Mrs. Jamison left Manassas on Sunday to attend the funeral services.

MR. AND MRS. HAINES TO LEAVE

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Haines will leave next Thursday for Weir, Kansas, where they will visit Mrs. Haines' mother, Mrs. August Remy. They will spend about six weeks in Kansas, also visiting their former home at Parsons, before leaving for Van Nuys, Cal., which is the home of Mr. Haines' relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Haines have been living in Manassas several years, Mr. Haines having owned the Manassas Democrat, which he sold to Mr. Clarence W. Wagner a few months ago. Mr. Haines expects to enter the newspaper business again at Van Nuys, which is a town of 5,000 people situated near Los Angeles.

BAPTISTS MEET AT OAK DALE

Sixty-Sixth Session of Potomac Association Held at Greenwicks Church.

The sixty-sixth session of the Potomac Baptist Association, composed of a number of Baptist churches throughout Northern Virginia, was held on Wednesday and Thursday, August 17 and 18, at Oak Dale Church, near Greenwicks. The meeting was largely attended.

Rev. J. A. Golihew, of Canova, pastor of the church, delivered the address of welcome, to which Rev. E. B. Jackson, of Alexandria, made response. The associational sermon was delivered by Rev. C. T. Herndon, of Warrenton. Dr. J. P. Craft, of Danville, president of Averett College for young women, spoke in the interest of that institution.

At the final afternoon session, which opened with devotional exercises by Rev. Barnett Grimsley, of Manassas, an address on the work of the association was made by the clerk, Mr. James R. Mansfield, of Alexandria. One new church—Hume, Fauquier county—was admitted to membership in the association.

Among the reports presented were the following: Acting Board, Mr. G. L. Hutchison, Aldie; treasurer's report, Mr. G. Harris Field, The Plains; foreign missions, Rev. E. B. Jackson; home missions, Rev. J. L. McCutcheon, Leesburg; education, Mr. C. H. Lane; ministers' relief, Rev. Westwood Hutchison, Manassas, and orphanage, Rev. C. T. Herndon.

All officers were re-elected, as follows: Moderator, Mr. D. P. Wood, Warrenton; clerk, Mr. James R. Mansfield, Alexandria; assistant clerk, Mr. G. L. Hutchison, Aldie; treasurer, Mr. G. Harris Field, The Plains, and historian, Rev. E. B. Jackson, Alexandria.

M. Jenkins, C. M. Larkin and M. Bruce Whitmore, who were chosen by the citizens at the municipal election in June.

Members of the present council, who have served with Mayor Brown, are: Messrs. D. J. Arrington, J. H. Burke, R. L. Byrd, W. F. Hibbs, E. M. Jenkins, C. M. Larkin, J. L. Moser, O. E. Newman and B. Lynn Robertson.

MRS. EMMONS IS HOSTESS

The Presbyterian Missionary Society Studies Chinese Missions.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary) On the afternoon of Tuesday, August 23, Mrs. A. L. Emmons' attractive home, surrounded by charming views, was the scene of a very successful meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary Society. Thirteen members were present, and the presence of three guests, Mrs. Charles Francis, of Uniontown, Pa.; Mrs. C. E. McKay, of Bristow, and Mrs. J. D. Springer, of Bristow, added much to the social feature of the event.

The business disposed of, Mrs. Hornbaker, in the absence of Mrs. Sharratt, the appointed leader, introduced the subject of the afternoon, "China," and the Shantung missions, especially. Several very instructive papers were read or told by different members, and the time passed profitably away.

Delicious refreshments, ice cream and homemade cake "fit for the gods" were generously served by our hostess, and soon after the society adjourned to meet next at the home of Mrs. A. B. Jamison at the Manassas, with Mrs. M. Bruce Whitmore as leader, and the subject, "American Work."

BIG CIRCUS WILL COME TOMORROW

Howe's Great London Circus and Van Amburg's Trained Animals to Exhibit Here.

They're coming to town tomorrow—the blaring bands, the white ring horses, the pink-clad folk and the jungle actors. Howe's Great London circus, with Van Amburg's trained wild animals, is coming to town. Performances, opening with impressive pageantry, will begin at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m., and the three rings, the two stages, the air, the track and two steel wild animal arenas will be filled with the best that can be assembled in the world of the white tops. Doors to the menagerie will be opened one hour earlier to permit of a leisurely visit to the combined zoos.

The midday street parade is scheduled to leave the grounds at 11 a. m. This will give Prince William folk a chance to see the many attractions that the circus has to offer. Appearances indicate that it is the real thing that Prince William kiddies have been waiting for and which they were disappointed not to see a few weeks ago when a traveling show with a few animals advertised itself as a big circus and drew a large but disappointed host of visitors. A big order for feed, placed with a local dealer a few weeks ago, seems to assure the presence of the animals.

"Little Vic" is said to be the pet of the circus. "Little Vic" is a baby hippopotamus, bought in the spring from the zoo at Washington. He is six months old, weighs nearly 1,200 pounds, and has one consuming ambition—to eat a bale of hay a day just as "Kimberley" and "Zambesi," his two grown-up hippo pals, do daily in the menagerie tent. Of course, "Little Vic" calls the old "bloodsweating be-lemoths" by their nicknames, "Kim" and "Zam," as do the eleven hundred people with the circus. The baby hippo has learned several laughable stunts. He is named after Victor J. Evans, a Washington attorney, who is passionately fond of animals and circuses.

"Laugh and grow fat; laugh and grow thin." That's the way it works with the clowns in the circus, for there are fat ones, thin ones, small ones, tall ones, rotund ones, angular ones, pompous ones and meek ones, but they are all laughing clowns and they are selected to make Johnny and his pups and mamma and big brother and pretty sister laugh. If they don't make you laugh, they promise to make you smile.

In the principal riding act, there will be such riders as Miss Celia Rooney, Miss Daisy Howell, Miss Stella Moss and Miss Dollie Montgomery, leaping and somersaulting atop the "resin-backs," as the bare back horses are termed. The young riding stars were at home on the backs of ring animals in their toddling days. Formerly they would have been billed as Mademoiselle this or Senorita that, but in these days simplicity is the rule among the aristocracy of the riding folk in the big show and they use the plain American "Miss."

The animal folk are hoping for a big crowd. They have been planning to come for some time, but haven't been able to tell as about it, because Virginia provides a heavy fine if a circus advertises within thirty days of the opening of a county fair.

ONCE NEIGHBORS BOTH WIN FAME

Edith Bolling Becomes President's Wife and Lee Trinkle Named for Governor.

(Wytheville Dispatch)
Back here in Wytheville, Va., is a spot of ground which appeals to the citizens of this community as unique, says a dispatch from Wytheville. With it as a center, a radius twenty feet or less in length will describe a circle inclosing the birthplaces of both Senator Elbert Lee Trinkle, democratic nominee for Governor of Virginia, and Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, wife of former President Woodrow Wilson.

A "first lady of the land" and a man who may be the next Governor of Virginia were born at nearly the same time, in the same town and within less than forty feet of each other. Only an alley separates the two houses.
As friends and neighbors, Edith Bolling and Lee Trinkle played together when children. Later they danced together in Sexton's Hall and the old Hancock House, which burned a score of years ago, and in the private homes of the town. As evidence of the friendship existing between the two families, Mrs. Wilson and practically all members of the Bolling family have wired congratulations to Senator Trinkle.

Mr. Trinkle will be forty-six years old on the 2d day of March, 1922. If he is inaugurated chief executive next February, Virginia will have the youngest governor she has had in many years.

He received his early education at home, graduating from the Wytheville Male Academy when he was under sixteen years of age. He next attended Hampden-Sydney College, where he graduated in 1896, having taken the full four-year course and received both the bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees. Besides being first honor man in his class and winning both the state's and the country's medals, he found time to manage both the foot ball and base ball teams and take part in other college activities.

Mr. Trinkle spent the next two years at the University of Virginia. He graduated in 1898 with the degree of bachelor of laws and was winner of the first moot court prize, the highest honor of the law school. While at the University of Virginia he was manager of the base ball team and of College Topics, the university weekly paper. He was also largely instrumental in placing athletics at the university on a paying basis.

The candidate is a son of the late Elbert Stephen Trinkle, a successful business man and farmer and a Confederate veteran of this county. After the war he acquired large business and farming interests in Wythe and located in Wytheville, where he died in 1884. At the time of his father's death, Senator Trinkle was eight years of age. He was left in the sole care of his mother, who before her marriage was Miss Letitia M. Sexton of Wytheville.

Besides enjoying a large law practice, Senator Trinkle is engaged with his brother in operating several large farms and grazing plantations in Wythe and Pulaski counties.

An interesting bit of local history is that ninety acres of land on which the town of Wytheville is located was donated in the year 1790 by the great-grandfather of Mr. Trinkle.

In electing E. Lee Trinkle as Governor of Virginia in November, the people of the State will be sending to the mansion, as his wife, a "first lady of genuine and unaffected charm."

She was Miss Helen Ball, daughter of Houston, Texas, and is a relative of Mary Ball, the belle of Lancaster, who was the mother of Washington.

She was educated at Texas College, formerly located at Dallas, where she graduated with first honors. She also graduated from Howe's Conservatory of Music in that city. Mrs. Trinkle is a violinist of unusual ability.

Senator and Mrs. Trinkle were married in 1916. They have three children: E. Lee Trinkle, Jr., age ten; Helen Sue Trinkle, age five and William Seiver Trinkle, age six months.

Lee Trinkle, Jr., thinks he would prefer to remain in Wytheville.

"Of course," he grumbled, "I want daddy to beat. But I don't want to go. I'd rather stay here with the gang, so I can play ball and ride the pony and swim. I'm going to get daddy to let me stay here next winter and go to school with the bunch, wouldn't you?"

Clyde Bristow, has been missing from his home at Hopewell since Tuesday afternoon. The boy, who is 10 years old, but rather large for his age, is thought to have headed for Richmond. When he last home he was wearing a light gray cap, a striped shirt and brown pants.

Clyde is somewhat precocious and it is believed here that he set out for Richmond in the belief that "the big city" is the proper place in which to acquire fame and fortune.

OFFICIAL REPORT ON PELLAGRA PROBE

Southern Famine Exists Only in "Scientific, Restricted Sense," They Say.

Food shortage in the Southern States has assumed the proportions of a famine only in a "scientific, restricted sense," but undoubtedly has been accompanied by an increase in pellagra, the Public Health Service reported to President Harding as a result of the special investigation undertaken at his request.

The findings of the public health officials, the report said, were based largely on incomplete statistics submitted by Southern States health commissioners at a recent conference here. In a letter to the President, Surgeon-General Cummings declared that despite the criticism of some Southern officials regarding the administration's course, the information collected "fully confirms, in my opinion, the position of the Public Health Service with respect to the increase of pellagra in various parts of the South."

Detailed figures were not made public, but a memorandum of supplemental information accompanying the surgeon-general's letter was summarized as follows tonight in a statement issued at the White House: "Information indicates a definite increase of pellagra this year in Ala-

HOW TO BAKE FRUIT PIE

Juicy fruit pies present unexpected difficulties to the home cook owing to their tendency to become soggy. Specialists in the experimental kitchen of the United States Department of Agriculture have found, in the course of pastry-baking experiments, that if the undercrust is prebaked until slightly brown, the pie will be much better. Another point brought out in connection with pastry making especially in warm weather, is that speed in handling is an important factor if the housewife does not wish her dough to become soft and consequently difficult to roll and lift.

Declaring peace is not making it.—Springfield Republican.

Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas and probably North and South Carolina. Some evidence also indicates an increase in Georgia. In Kentucky and Virginia testimony points to a decrease. Conservative estimates indicate 5,000 deaths and 100,000 cases of pellagra in the country in 1921.

Failure to diversify crops is blamed by the surgeon-general for the food situation throughout the South, which he advised the President was acute in some localities when considered "from the standpoint of a physiologically complete diet," such as is required to prevent pellagra.

GOES UP IN AIRPLANE UNBETROTHED: LANDS WITH RING ON FINGER

Love was a matter of altitude with Miss Mildred Armstrong, who went up in an airplane with George Hauser, unbetrothed, and landed a short while later at Mineola Field, wearing a diamond on the appropriate finger and a strong masculine arm in the appropriate position about her waist.

At 3,000 feet, according to Richard Dewey, the pilot of the plane, Miss Armstrong wasn't sure. So Dewey leaped to 3,500. At that altitude she seemed to weaken as Hauser persevered. Four thousand feet was just the right height, Dewey said. At that level, Miss Armstrong put out her finger for the ring and the pilot considerably turned to admire the sunlight dancing on the clouds.

Miss Armstrong is the daughter of Edward J. Armstrong, a well-known Long Island educator. Hauser is employed by the Curtis Aeroplane Company.

How much Gasoline Do You Waste?

Continued use of a low grade of gasoline results in an average wastage of almost 90% in fuel energy!

Even the best engines unavoidably waste great quantities of potential power. But the principal source of unnecessary energy loss is in the use of poor gasoline.

Unless gasoline of a uniformly high quality is supplied, the motor functions unevenly, sometimes burning the fuel cleanly, but more often discharging a large proportion of it, unburnt or only partially burnt, into the muffler. This means loss of power and is the cause of crank-case dilution and other troubles.

Use motor fuel of definite quality, and unnecessary waste will be eliminated. The improved gasoline now available wherever you see the familiar "S.O." sign is the best that you can buy. "Standard" Motor Gasoline is clean-burning, quick-firing, and releases a maximum of steady, smooth power. It will be more than worth while for you to give it a careful trial. You might as well have the best, for it costs no more.

AFTER THE FAIR

Another Prince William Fair has passed, with its stimulating influence on Prince William agriculture and Prince William progress generally. Fair officials, with their limited group of supporters, labored faithfully for months to make the Fair what it was—an exhibition of real merit. They labored systematically and well, and there are many citizens of the county who are ready to express a whole-hearted appreciation of their service.

Unfortunately, and disappointingly, the Fair did not fully pay out this year, a fact which gives rise to dismal thought beside the remembrance of last year's failure after a week of uninterrupted rain. There is some room for consolation, however, in the fact that the money "out" may be considered an investment instead of a total loss. The fair association, now in its third year, has been at considerable expense to put the fair grounds in order, the erection of buildings adding materially to the cost, and this year's contribution to the equipment will be of immense value and will of course reduce the expenses of next year's Fair.

The Journal heartily commends the work of the fair association, and hopes for an increasingly general support of fair activities in the future. It was not the fault of Fair officials that the Fair failed to pay this time. We who did not support it and we who failed to attend are responsible. A little more support at the gate and behind the association might have saved the day.

VIRGINIA'S HEALTH RECORD

Virginia's report of the pellagra situation within her borders is most reassuring, and doubly welcome since alarming reports of conditions throughout the South were made public and President Harding publicly sought the assistance of the Public Health Service and American Red Cross in an effort to check the ravages of famine and disease.

There were forty-three deaths from pellagra in Virginia during the first six months of 1921, a fifty per cent. decrease over the record of the previous year. Although there were 318 deaths in 1918, when the disease reached its record height in the state, the next year showed only 183 deaths and in 1920 the reduction had proceeded still further to 136, which makes it reasonable to assume that the situation so far as Virginians are concerned is already well in hand.

Apparently our good fortune is due in no small measure to our program of crop diversification, which might be followed with profit by southern neighbors who have devoted their efforts chiefly to the cotton crop to the exclusion of agricultural products necessary to the physical well-being of their people.

THE HAZARD OF DISARMAMENT

The country as a whole may be said to expect definite results from the international conference on disarmament, which is to meet at Washington on November 11, the anniversary of the armistice which marked the cessation of hostilities in the war against Germany.

America's invitation to other powers throughout the world, couched in the terms of Secretary Hughes, has paved the way for worldwide attendance, the nature of the agreement smacking of no political difficulty or embarrassment and making for freedom of expression on the part of all nations represented.

If the feeling of the people of the world, without regard to some of their rulers, be taken into account, it is certain that the world is solidly set for disarmament. The horrors of the great war, so fresh in our memory, are a crying argument for lasting, worldwide peace. America wants disarmament, but America cannot afford to disarm by way of example, either alone or with a group of important powers. Such a course would place her interests, heretofore so jealously guarded, in a state of wildest jeopardy. Nothing short of worldwide disarmament will do.

Because there can be no safety in disarmament that is not worldwide, the Washington conferees have in their hands a wonderful opportunity and a wonderful power.

SECRETARY MELLON'S TROUBLES

Rumors that Secretary Mellon will quit the Treasury portfolio are not surprising to those who have followed his official career since the inaugural of March 4.

Secretary Mellon may be a good politician, but chiefly he is an astute business man and financier. Since his induction to office he has gone over the whole American works, fully acquainted himself with the limitations and possibilities of Uncle

Sam's household account, and presented a safe, businesslike program for the guidance of the nation's legislators who have been busy with tax "reform." These legislators—intrusted with the business of regulating Uncle Sam's income and expected to see that he lives within his means—have discarded Secretary Mellon's plans as poor politics: all this under the leadership of his good republican brothers and with executive sanction.

Naturally, it is somewhat difficult for a shrewd financier to relinquish reason for political expediency, and it is a safe deduction that Secretary Mellon is feeling decidedly at sea. Further than this, it can be seen that Secretary Mellon's attitude may find support in many quarters—a matter of increasing importance as the pendulum swings toward the next election.

IS LIFE GROWING CHEAPER?

Pittsburgh Dispatch.
 The Save-a-Life League is alarmed at the increase in the number of suicides and in the light of President Warren's figures perhaps with justification, since the number for the first six months of this year shows an increase of more than 100 per cent. over the first half of 1920. The widespread unemployment is given as the chief cause by Dr. Warren, who characterizes conditions as "a suicide wave" that began to display itself about the beginning of the year and has grown perceptibly since. The league's statistics report 6,509 cases of self-destruction for the first half of the year, against 2,771 for the first six months of 1920, a substantial difference, whatever the cause or causes.

The worst feature of the increase is that 507 cases were of boys and girls under 16 years of age, a number that is little short of appalling. This is a phase of the report which may not be explained by unemployment conditions except perhaps indirectly, but influences of some nature must be of overwhelming weight when those to whom life has become a burden to relinquish reason for political expediencies. If life is growing cheaper to children a closer analysis might be profitable.

THE WANDERER

By Esther Clark Hill
 I have come back to my own again, to my old familiar place—

To the peace and quiet I left behind in this little circled space.

I have warmed my hands by the friendly blaze of many a home hearth-side:

"At last," they say, "he has come to stay—at last he is satisfied."

But here is a cry in the wind tonight, and it will not let me be,

And well I know I must rise and go whenever it comes to me.

My feet are stayed in the pleasant ways, my heart is a thing at rest;

For me there is neither north nor south, there is neither east nor west.

And out of a very thankfulness the spirit in me sings

For a new-born beauty I find each day in simple and homely things.

Yet there is a voice in the wind tonight, like the surge of the western sea,

And it's I that know I must rise and go whenever it comes to me.

The West with its wide and open charm, the East with its days that were,

The fragrant South with its lotus bloom, the North with its spicy fire—

They have taken my fancy, each in turn, and held me a little while,

But the feet turn back to the beaten paths when it comes to the last long mile.

Yet there is a call in the wind tonight, and the gray road opens free,

And tomorrow I know I shall rise and go wherever it beckons me.

Your Ideal of a Flour

There is scarcely a housewife or cook in this whole section who has not had trouble, at one time or another, with flour. And when you can not get just the kind of flour you want, doesn't everything just seem to go wrong?

Many a time you have wondered why there was not a flour to serve every purpose. "Why should it be necessary to have two or three different kinds of flour on hand in order to take care of the various baking needs?" you have probably asked yourself over and over.

B. Lynn Robertson's White Rose Flour is the solver of your baking troubles—the answer to all the questions you have been asking about the merits and adaptability of this and that grade of flour.

In White Rose, we have succeeded in grinding a flour that is an all-purpose baking material—a flour that you will be delighted with, once you have used it. If your home is not acquainted with this popular brand, order it the next time. If your grocer does not have it, we will gladly supply you direct until you can get White Rose at your grocer's.

$70 PAY FOR 200 TRIPS

Mail Carriers 50 Years Ago Received This Princely Stipend

The Loudoun Mirror, from its files of fifty years ago, prints some entertaining facts concerning the state of prices after the war of '61 which is particularly interesting at this time. H. F. Davis, carrying the mail from Lincoln to Hamilton, was to be allowed $70 a year additional by the government for making four more trips a week. A route that had been changed to start at Hamilton.

Major B. P. Noland had declined to stand for the House of Delegates on the ground that he had too much to attend to and that other men who could better spare the time were supply fit for the place.

G. W. Ball advertised the Big Spring farm for rent to a good tenant.

Wheat was quoted at Alexandria at 1.35 for white, red from 1.18 to 1.46, and market strong. Corn dull, 76 to 77. Cows and calves, $25 to $45.

Sheep and lambs, 4 to 5 cents a pound, or $2.50 to $4 for lambs. Hogs, 6 to 7 cents. Cattle, 4 to 6.

Cattle in the West were afflicted with a strange disease, making them blind—probably the loco weed, then new to Eastern people.

Times have certainly changed, when an editor can be selected as prohibition commissioner.

FOR MIDSUMMER Lyons Velvet Hats

—If history is to be believed, women at one time wore straw hats in summer and velvet hats in winter. Woman is a creature of moods and by no means dependent upon the weather man to tell her what to wear.

—In winter she wears hats of straw or lace—in summer, behold, she dons the chapeau of velvet.

—Because it is becoming almost always, and because it seems peculiarly adapted to seaside wear, we excuse the inconsistency of lovely woman's fads, and applaud her in her chic velvet hat though the weather be 100 degrees in the shade.

—These new models are in large, medium and small shapes. The color list includes blue, brown, pheasant, cherry, taupe and black. —The trimmings are of pin ostrich, in fancy effects.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Magnus Leach, a farmer of Ninevah, W. Warren county, who was recently arrested and lodged in jail at Front Royal after he is alleged to have snatched a revolver at Aubrey G. Weaver, counsel for Mrs. Leach in divorce proceedings, has returned from a sanatorium near Richmond, where he had been sent for observation at the suggestion of a lunacy commission. No report of his mental condition or his release has been received from the Richmond institution, and as he defrayed his own expenses the authorities, it was said, felt they had no right to question his movements. He is out under bond of $2,500 to appear at the next term of the circuit court for Warren county.

There was a sudden cessation of swimming and bathing in the Shenandoah river near Harpers Ferry last week, when it became known that an alligator had escaped from a show and had crawled into the stream, according to a news dispatch from Winchester. Those with and without bathing suits made a frantic scramble for the shore, leaving the alligator in full control of the stream. "Snapper" Roderick, a local fisherman, was sent for, the reptile finally was hooked and dragged ashore, only slightly injured. It has been added to Leo O'Brien's museum at Harpers Ferry.

Dr. Russell Stewart Wingfield, of Richmond, died Saturday night at Saloniki, Greece, as a result of burns received a week before while in the discharge of his duties as surgeon in the Red Cross hospital, where he had been for several months. Dr. Wingfield was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tyree Wingfield, their only child, and was in his twenty-seventh year. He left America in February of this year, proud of the chance to go to Europe and to continue the study of his profession by practice among the stricken people of Greece.

Pellagra has decreased about 50 per cent in Virginia during the first six months of this year, as compared with the corresponding period of last year, according to figures released by the Bureau of Vital Statistics. In the whole state there have been only about forty-three deaths in the last six months from the disease. In 1919, when the peak of deaths from the malady was reached, there were 318 deaths; in 1919 there were only 183 deaths and last year 136. Unless there is a rapid spread of the disease there will not be more than 100 deaths for 1921.

Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg, according to Dr. Dice R. Anderson, president, is being besieged by girls from all parts of the country who desire to enter that college. Dr. Anderson announces that as many applicants have had to be rejected as those accepted because of the lack of accommodations in the college buildings. With adequate facilities, the college could easily have accepted 1,200 students for the coming session.

Not a death occurred in the city of Lynchburg between August 12 and 21, according to record kept at the office of the welfare department of the city. That this is an unusual condition is disclosed by the records which run back ten years.

Two Norfolk policemen, W. H. Dalby and E. E. Long, left their beats, it is alleged, to participate in a crap game, which was raided by other policemen Sunday morning. The two officers were suspended by Police Chief Borland, pending their trial before the board of police commissioners.

Five automobile accidents in the Petersburg section over the week-end broke all records, with one dead and three injured and others suffering bruises and injuries as the toll taken. W. Robert Mears, of Petersburg, was killed, and the injured are Mrs. W. G. Bowles and Dr. P. V. King, of Petersburg, and Hugh Steinman, of New York.

With their motor gig literally smashed to pieces by angry waves whipped up by a northeaster which swept up to its peak, twenty-eight officers and sailors from the battleship Delaware and the destroyer Schenck, minus clothes and outfits, ended a day's outing Sunday night, when they came ashore at Norfolk clinging to the side of a near-swamped whaleboat.

Two husbands suing the same woman for divorce furnished a unique case for Judge Allen E. Hanchel, of the Norfolk court, to decide. The husbands are Claude E. Talliaferro and Owen L. Pope. Talliaferro, in his bill of complaint, declares he married the woman in 1919, after she had misled him into believing she had obtained a divorce from Pope. He did not find out that the woman was not divorced until a few weeks ago, when she went to visit her relatives and wrote him she had not been divorced from Pope. Pope declares he married the woman when her name was Lucy Isabelle Candler. Her home was at Bondleman, N. C. They lived together for three years, he says. She left him one night and never returned. Both men seek a court decree for a legal separation from the woman, although the laws of Virginia provide that where either party to a marriage contract is married and not divorced the second marriage is void.

On September 5 the University of Virginia's football season officially begins, as preliminary work starts on that date. Coach Warren has received many replies to his call from last year's veterans, promising to make an appearance. From present prospects, the chances of Virginia "coming back" are very bright. Capt. Rinehart, once Episcopal High School star and since mainstay of Virginia's offensive, with his speed, level head and ability to lead, promises to be an excellent general for the coming season. Mishie, last year's captain and well-known end, is returning to play his final year of college football and receive his law degree.

R. E. Bolton is in a critical condition in a hospital at Danville with a bullet wound through his mouth, inflicted by an unidentified negro at Spray, N. C. Bolton, a circus attache, had words with the negro over the price of admission, when the negro drew a revolver and fired. The assailant ran through the tent and escaped.

W. T. Beck, a Danville druggist, is in jail following the shooting up of his home. Beck, who, the police say, was under the influence of a drug, wrecked the home, destroying furniture, tearing up clothes and breaking crockery. His wife and two small children sought refuge at the home of neighbors. None would enter the house until the police disarmed Beck and lodged him in jail.

C. W. Bourne, game warden of Stafford county, was at Potomac creek when he saw a flock of young partridges, twenty in number, attempt to fly across. They fell in the water, and Mr. Bourne went after them in a boat and brought them to land, where he liberated them.

Fire of unknown origin, believed to have been of incendiary character, destroyed a large portion of the business section of Mathews Monday night. The buildings burned were: The Farmers' and Fishermen's Bank, in which the post office was also located; Jarvis & Pugh's department store; Mathews' drug store; W. A. Hurst's store and residence, a garage owned by Joseph A. Davis, Dr. C. C. White's office, R. W. Foster's tailor shop, and several smaller buildings, including a blacksmith shop and warehouse.

HORSE'S WOODEN LEG BROKEN, OWNER SUES

Jacob Diamond, a peddler, filed suit in Hammond, Ind. for $10,000 damages against an autoist who ran into Diamond's three-legged horse and broke its wooden leg. The suit alleges the animal was "bruised and humiliated" to that extent.

The horse, which has worn the wooden leg for five years, has had a troubled career. On one occasion the leg caught on fire and the fire department was called to extinguish the blaze.

Building a patronage of this kind has not been an easy task. It has taken not only time and hard work, but sticking to this motto:

"Long after the price is forgotten, the recollection of quality lingers."

Our patrons depend on us for meats of quality, and we do not disappoint. Our prices are low as can be made without sacrificing quality and sanitation. Have you been down our way?

It's Economy To Have Tires Repaired

Even though you can buy a new tire cheaper today than you could six months ago, you can save perfectly good money by having your blowouts properly repaired.

It is extravagance and a pure waste of money to run a tire with a blow-out patch. If brought to us promptly, we can make your tire as good as new, and at a very slight cost. We know HOW. Bring your tire work to us.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

Farmers Discuss Fertilizer Buying—Agent Lauds Work of Baby Beef Clubs.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)
A very interesting fertilizer meeting was held at the courthouse Monday at 11 o'clock, at which time Mr. O. A. Thomas, business agent for the farmers' union, and Mr. Nelson B. Rue, state agent of the farm bureau, made addresses. It was brought out at this meeting that in order to get a concession in price it was necessary that some agency representing the farmer be given a large bona fide order, and if possible for cash. Cash and volume of business will get results.

Get together in your community and make up your order for a car of fertilizer, specify the amount and analysis, and send it in to the Co-operative Producers' Exchange at Richmond, and you can feel assured that the price will be the best that it is possible for a volume of business to obtain.

Keep on Feeding

I want to ask special attention of the club members exhibiting animals at the fair. Just because the fair is over is no reason why you should stop feeding. The important time is now just coming. Keep on feeding as you have, and December 1 we will offer some prizes in pig and calf club classes for the pigs and calves making the best record for the season. Among these things to be considered will be the greatest gain, the most economical gains, a story of your animal, your record book, etc.

Culling Time Here

This is the time of the year that every farmer should be considering what chickens he will keep over the winter. Early-hatched pullets are the ones that will lay you the high-priced eggs this winter. Replace all two-year hens with early pullets. Be sure to cull your hens and early pullets, and keep only those you know are able to produce the goods after you have given them the proper food and housing. This culling is very simple after you have once seen it done, and there is no reason why every flock in the county should not be culled.

Your county agent will be glad to come to any and all flocks it is possible to get to and to show you how to cull, and where possible to get several neighbors in a community together at one place to teach all, so that they can go home and cull their own. This culling should be done during the next two months, so call on your agent for this work.

Baby Beef Exhibit

The Baby Beef Club exhibit at the fair was surely a great success, especially when you consider that none of those club members had ever owned a beef calf and had never fed a calf with a view of making it fat, and when (from the looks of the average year-old calf) there are few farmers who understand finishing a good calf at an early age. These grade calves at an average age of about fourteen months averaged nearly 900 pounds.

We are anxious to have a large class of baby beefs fed in the county next year, and if you are interested in having your boy or girl get the experience of feeding a good calf, and seeing it grow on the proper balanced rations, I will appreciate it if you will get in touch with me as early as possible. I am anxious to get these calves this fall, instead of waiting until spring. In this way the calves can be wintered in better condition, and on the farms where they will be finished.

Everything for QUALITY
—nothing for show

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making T CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from ciggerty aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.
