

TIE IN CONTEST FOR BEST KEPT RECORD BOOK

Contestants Who Tied for First Place Live in Different Parts of the County.

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)

Miss Bettie Shirley, Manassas, route 3, and Miss Nellie Ewell, Haymarket, route 1, tie for first place in the contest for the best kept record book.

Although not half of the records for the contest were sent in a goodly number. These all made a fairly good showing. A prize of a standard-head cockerel was offered as a first prize and a sitting of standard bred eggs as a second.

It is interesting to know that the two women who tied for first place are in different parts of the county. Miss Ewell gathered 3213 eggs during the contest, and Miss Shirley 3393. Mrs. E. L. Hundley wins second place, has a record of 9621, and Mrs. W. P. Wilson third place with a record of 9371.

In going over these records we find that the highest egg production was in the months of March and April. To make hens pay to the best advantage it is necessary to get this production during the winter months.

The following letter to club presidents from Miss Bettie Hadden, assistant poultry specialist gives some very helpful points:

Blacksburg, Va., Dec. 1921.

Dear Club President,

As the winter comes on and the weather grows colder there is usually a great decrease in egg production. As this has happened so often and for so long a time, the majority of people seem to take it as a matter of course and think it a logical thing that spring and summer is the time for egg production; winter the time for a scarcity.

Now we know that hens lay the eggs in spring and summer. We will take the ordinary farm flock which is on free-range and has no particular attention:

The weather is warmer and the hen is more comfortable.

The grass and other green things are growing and she has the needed green food.

Bugs and worms are plentiful, and she gets the animal food and plenty of exercise while scratching for them.

Growing grain and grass seed give a variety of grain.

Oyster shell or lime in some form can usually be picked up around the farm and some form of grit.

Lastly, but by no means least, there if often a stream of water available where they can get clean fresh water. So with these things almost "any old hen" will lay some eggs.

Now if these things will make "any old hen" lay, what about supplying our good cullered flock with them so we may have a reasonable supply of eggs in winter?

We can have our houses comfortable, tight on back and sides so no draft can blow on hens while at roost; but open across the front facing the south so the sun can shine in.

Sprouted oats, cabbage, or even steamed shattered clover or alfalfa beans, will supply the green food. Meat scrap, tankage and such like will supply the animal food, and you will find the extra supply of eggs will pay for this.

When sour milk or buttermilk is used the meat scrap can be greatly reduced.

Cracked corn, wheat and oats give a good variety of grain and are grown on nearly every farm.

Commercial oyster shell and grit can be had from any poultry supply house and are quite cheap.

Water in pans of buckets should be kept fresh, and I think in my last letter I gave a suggestion for keeping it at an even temperature.

Below I am giving a ration which has proven a good egg producing ration:

Meal Scratch Feed for Winter Feed for Virginia:

3 bushel wheat,
1 bushel cracked corn,
1 bushel oats.

To be fed twice a day in deep litter; lightly in the morning, heavier at night.

Meal Mash for Virginia:

50 lbs. wheat shorts or middlings,
50 lbs. wheat bran,
50 lbs. corn meal,
25 lbs. meat meal,
1 1/2 lbs. salt.

Best fed from hopper, and kept before hens all the time.

With very best wishes for a good winter season of eggs for every member.

Sincerely,
BETTIE HADDEN,
Poultry Specialist.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

George Whitfield Nutt, Confederate Veteran, Answers Final Call.

In the death of Mr. George Whitfield Nutt, which occurred at his home in Manassas on Wednesday, December 14, Prince William county loses another of her few remaining Confederate veterans.

Mr. Nutt sustained a fall sometime ago, which resulted in an injury to his hip, from the effect of which he had been confined to his bed for several months, and which eventually was the cause of his death.

The deceased was born in St. Louis, Mo., June 24, 1839, but while still an infant was brought by his parents to Loudoun county, where he grew to manhood, later he moved to Prince William county, where he was for many years employed as county surveyor.

Mr. Nutt served throughout the civil war in company A, 4th Virginia cavalry.

The arrangements for the funeral were in the hands of the Confederate veterans, and the local chapter, of the Daughters of the Confederacy. The funeral service was held this morning at 11 o'clock, at the Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. T. D. D. Clark, officiating, interment being in Manassas cemetery.

TUCKER ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR CONGRESS

Claims That Carrying District in the Primary for Governor Insures His Election.

Lexington, Va., Dec. 13.—Harry St. George Tucker has announced his candidacy for Congress from the Tenth District to succeed the late Representative Flood. Previous to Mr. Flood's incumbency Mr. Tucker represented this district in Congress.

He claims that carrying the district in the primary for Governor will insure his election. He has received numerous letters from prominent Democrats in the different counties of the district pledging him support, among the number being some of the men named as contestants for the honor.

Clifton Forge Man's Hat is King

The first clear-cut announcement of candidacy for the nomination for Congress in the Tenth District to fill the unexpired term of the late H. D. Flood was made yesterday by Floyd King, a young attorney of Clifton Forge. Mr. King said he would be a candidate in event a primary was held; he would be a candidate if a convention was called, and he would be a candidate in the event the matter resolved itself into a free-for-all.

Mr. King was a member of the State Senate in 1908-10, representing Alleghany, Bath, Botetourt and Craig counties and the city of Clifton Forge. He was a candidate for Attorney-General in 1918 against the late Judge Samuel W. Williams, of Wythe county, but withdrew from the race when John G. Peppard entered the contest.

BUCKLAND HALL FARMS WINS

Nokesville Obtains Prize Against Strong Competition.

Virginia live stock was well represented at the International Live Stock Exposition, held in Chicago last week, and breeders from the State won many awards.

In the breeding shorthorn classes Buckland Hall Farms, Inc., Nokesville, Va., were consistent winners against strong competition. Among the winners of this herd were third on senior yearling bull, 13 entries in class; sixth and ninth on junior yearling bulls, 37 entries in class; fourth on cow with calf at side, 14 entries in class; eleventh on 2-year-old heifer, 24 entries in class; sixth on senior yearling heifer, 30 entries in class; sixth on senior heifer calf, 75 entries in class of 21 entries.

In the shorthorn sale held during the international, Buckland Hall Farm purchased the grand champion short-horn female of this year's show, this making the second international grand champion to be brought to Virginia by this breeding establishment.

THE VIRGINIA WOOL POOL A BIG SUCCESS

Average Price Received for the Entire Pool Was 24 1/2 Cents After Paying Expenses.

The Virginia Wool Pool has disposed of all of its holdings at good prices compared with the present market, and checks to producers who had their wool in it have just been mailed out by the Secretary-Treasurer, Wm. S. Moore, Lexington, Va.

The Average price received for the entire pool was 24 1/2 cents per pound, which enables the Growers' Association to pay at least an average of 2 1/4 cents per pound, after all expenses have been deducted, more than the average price received by growers of Virginia who were not in the pool. This price also exceeds that received by any local pool in Virginia, and is 4 1/2 cents better than the average price received by growers all over the United States this season.

The work of this association has been made possible through the efforts of the county agents and farm organizations forming local pools in their counties, which united in the Virginia Wool Pool that has been assisted in getting the wool graded, classified and marketed by the Virginia division of markets, of the state department of Agriculture, and the U. S. Bureau of Markets.

The educational work done by these forces co-operating has been worth a great deal to the growers, and will cause them to take much better care of their wool, which will enable them to get a larger advance in price next year.

Requests have been received by this association to handle more wool of the 1921 clip, but the activities have closed until the next season, for which preparations are being made to handle much more wool in even greater amounts than it has been handled this year, and those interested in forming local pools or joining the state pool should get in touch immediately with Wm. S. Moore, secretary-treasurer, Lexington, Va., or the Virginia Division of Markets, 313 Lyric Building, Richmond, Virginia.

WILBUR BRAWNER INJURED

Throws From Horse Last Friday and Collar Bone Broken.

Mr. Wilbur Brawner, of Hickory Grove, was seriously injured last Friday, when the horse he was riding shied, throwing his rider violently against a tree.

We understand that when found, Mr. Brawner, though unconscious, was still on the saddle which had fallen to the ground, with his feet in the stirrups. His collar bone was broken by the fall, his whole body bruised and his head and face badly cut.

This is the third accident that has befallen this young man within the past few years.

About two years ago, Mr. Brawner had his hand caught in a cornsheller and badly crushed. From the effects of this he was in a hospital for five months, suffering from both lockjaw and blood poison. He also, not so long ago, had his foot badly hurt in a manure spreader. His recent accident has cast quite a gloom over this neighborhood, where Mr. Brawner is so well and favorably known.

CALIFORNIA CONGRESSMAN ENDS LIFE IN POTOMAC

Body of Representative John A. Elston Found Floating in Stream—Leaves Note

Washington, Dec. 15.—The body of Representative John A. Elston, of California, was found floating in the Potomac River late today. A note found in the Congressman's coat said he was caught in "a chain of circumstances which spelled ruin."

Mr. Elston, it was said tonight, disappeared Tuesday morning, but was found by detectives that evening. Within a few hours, however, he again disappeared and that was the last seen of him. It is believed that he plunged into the river late that night. He apparently had been suffering under mental depression, although he had given no evidence of it until disappeared Tuesday. Upon being found that evening he was given medical attention.

Failure of the movement to undertake extensive development of the Alameda, Cal., naval base project was understood to have been a cause of great concern to him, as he had from the first given close attention to this proposed development. Whether other matters pertaining to his district had also weighed upon his mind could not be said tonight, although it was asserted that he had decided not to stand for re-election next fall.

Mr. Elston's hat and overcoat were found on the bank of the river about the time the body was recovered. The note found on the body said:

"I am in a chain of circumstances which spell ruin although my offense was innocently made in the beginning. I hope that all the facts come out. My stay means embarrassment to my district, and to a worthy people, clean and generous."

Mr. Elston was elected to Congress as a Republican from the Sixth California District, and had been a member of the House since the sixty-fourth Congress. He was born at Woodland, Cal., February 10, 1875. In 1899 he was admitted to the California bar, and practiced law in Berkeley until 1903 he became secretary to Governor Pardee. Later he was elected as attorney for the California State Board of Health and was trustee of the California Institute for deaf and blind. He was a member of the Delta Upsilon and Phi Beta Kappa College fraternities. He is survived by a widow and four children.

FIRE AT BUCKHALL

Home of Mr. George Hensley Totally Destroyed With Contents.

The home of Mr. George Hensley at Buckhall was burned to the ground Sunday evening. As the family was on their way to church one of them chancing to look back saw flames pouring through the roof.

The fire had gained such headway, however, that by the time they reached the house they saw there was no hope of saving anything.

Mr. Hensley has a new construction home, and he and his family have moved into it. The home at Buckhall was destroyed by a fire which started in the kitchen. The fire was caused by a gas stove which had been left burning. The fire spread rapidly and destroyed the entire home. Mr. Hensley is a well-known citizen of Manassas and has been in the city for many years. He is a member of the local church and is well respected in the community.

DIES IN WASHINGTON HOSPITAL

fr. Sedwick Hynson Victim of Bright's Disease Body Interred Here.

Mr. Sedwick Hynson, a well-known citizen of Manassas died last Saturday at Providence hospital, Washington, of Bright's disease, from which he had suffered for sometime. He was born in Westmoreland county in 1858, and would have been sixty-four years old his next birthday.

Mr. Hynson had been twice married, his first wife being Miss Meaker Wilson, of Alexandria. From this union a daughter was born, Mrs. John H. Burke, of this place, who together with his second wife, formerly Mrs. Josephine Groves, of Washington, survive him.

The funeral was conducted at the Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. T. D. D. Clark. The beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his friends and relatives. The pallbearers were E. H. Hibbs, W. F. Hibbs, George B. Cocke, H. P. Davis, R. L. Gaither and Jas. E. Larkin. Interment was in the Manassas cemetery.

Mr. Hynson represented the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for over twenty-five years and had the unusual honor of having received a medal in appreciation of his faithful services to the company.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Miss Alice Grove, Mrs. Harry Beavans, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Evans, Mr. George Hynson and Mr. Frank Weaver, of Washington; Mrs. Charlie Brain, of Alexandria; and Messrs. Wharton and Everett Sanders, of Wamant, Virginia.

INFANT ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Unusual Accident Wounds Mother and Kills Her Infant Daughter.

A most remarkable accident occurred on Sunday afternoon, when John Allen, colored, shot and unintentionally killed the infant daughter of Claude Payne, also colored, of Catharpin.

According to Allen's statement, he had gone to the home of Payne for the purpose of getting his pistol which Payne had borrowed the week previous. As he stood talking to Payne's wife, who sat with her child in her arms, the pistol slipped from his hand to the floor, striking the trigger, which caused it to explode, the ball going through the hand of the mother at last finding a lodgement in the head of the child, near the temple, thereby causing its death.

Upon the advice of Dr. Brower, young Allen hastened to Manassas to explain the circumstances to the commonwealth's attorney, Thos. H. Lion. He was accompanied by near relatives of the child who had witnessed the shooting and who were willing and able to prove it to be an accident.

It is rather a strange coincident that about two years ago a brother of Allen dropped his pistol which also exploded, the bullet entering his abdomen, inflicting a severe wound.

DANCE AT EASTERN

Social Event of the Season Much Enjoyed By All Present.

The chief social event of this week was the dance given on Monday night, to the students of Eastern College Conservatory of Music. Only the young ladies who were enrolled at the college were invited, together with an equal number of young men from this and adjoining towns.

The dance was opened with a grand march, led by President and Mrs. Holliday. The excellent music which was furnished by Crowder's Musical Aces, of Washington, together with the splendid condition of the floor, left nothing to be desired. The decorations of Christmas greens, formed a striking background for the various colored evening gowns, while the Christmas spirit seemed to everywhere prevail.

Miss Gladys Perry gracefully presided at the punch bowl and served punch throughout the evening.

Among the young men who attended from out of town were, Messrs. Coleman, of Orange; Shuey, of Rector-town; John Adams, of Wellington, and Toots Peters, Ham Hutchison and Ed. Carter, of Haymarket.

SECOND UNFORTUNATE FALL

On Thursday of last week, while engaged in housework Mrs. E. K. Mitchell, of Lee avenue, fell, breaking her right wrist. This is the second time that Mrs. Mitchell has suffered such a misfortune, the first occurring just three years ago when she fell on the stairs breaking her left wrist.

ADJOURNED MEETING OF THE TOWN COUNCIL

Mayor Davis Suggests Purchase of Bloodhounds for Use in Running Down Thieves.

At a regular adjourned meeting of the town council, Mayor Harry P. Davis presiding, the following councilmen were present: D. J. Arrington, J. M. Bell, E. R. Conner, F. C. Cornwell, C. M. Larkin, E. S. Hynson and M. B. Whitmore.

The minutes of the regular meeting of November were read and approved. A committee of citizens headed by L. E. Beachley appeared before the council and filed protest against the erection of a shed building at the courthouse. They claimed that the building being erected was not in conformity with the permit granted, and would have a tendency to injure the value of adjoining property. It was ordered that the building committee investigate the same, and that notice be served on the builders to cease operations until further order of the council.

The council was asked to invite a reorganization of the Manassas fire department.

Mr. Albert Spiden, who was again made fire chief, made some good suggestions as to the future of the company and requested that a meeting be called for next Tuesday night for the purpose of reorganizing the fire department.

The attention of the council being called to recent robberies, Mayor Davis suggested that other towns within reasonable distance be communicated with in regard to joint purchase of bloodhounds, to be kept in some central location for use of said towns.

The council ordered that on all delinquent light and water rates a penalty of 50 cents be added after the 15th of each month, and if still unpaid by the 15th of each month, service be discontinued.

The recommendations and new provisions of the town charter were approved by the council, and on a recorded vote of the above-named councilmen, were recommended to the General Assembly of Virginia for enactment, through representative Sinclair from this county.

The following resolution was offered and adopted:

Resolved—That it is the sense of this council that it is the duty of the town sergeant to enter any and all public buildings whether being used for private entertainment or not, for the purpose of ascertaining whether there is danger of fire, or whether proper order is being maintained in said public building.

POULTRY SHOW BIG SUCCESS

More Than the Usual Amount of Interest Manifested.

At least three hundred people have been in attendance today the Poultry show now being held at Conner's Hall. Among the 209 birds on exhibition, are birds from Thoroughfare, Haymarket, Nokesville, Bristow, Groveton, Aden and Manassas. More than the usual amount of interest is being manifested at this show and to quote Mr. Quinn, of the United States department of agriculture at Washington, "This show is one of the best of its kind I have ever judged, especially among the Barred-rocks, Rhode Island Reds and Brown Leghorns."

It is yet too early for us to learn who are all the prize winners, but we have just been informed that Master Wilbur Neff, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Neff, of Bristow, has won the White Rock cockerel offered as a prize by Mr. J. M. Kline, for the best bred White Rock pullet. Mr. Kline purchased this fowl directly from U. E. Fushel, of Hope, Ind. Wilbur's bird also won first prize at the Prince William Fair.

Lunch was served for the benefit of the Woman's Rest Room, of Manassas.

DESIRES TO MAKE VIRGINIA ROADS BEST IN U. S.

Governor-Elect Trinkle Making Intensive Study of all Phases of the Subject.

Richmond, Va.—In his desire to help make Virginia's highway system the best in the United States, Governor-elect E. Lee Trinkle has undertaken an intensive study of all the phases of the subject, seeking the best advice not only of business men of Virginia, but of leading authorities of the United States. The first conference on this subject was held in Richmond with four eminent highway executives who have produced noteworthy results in other states. On the invitation of Governor-elect Trinkle, Col. W. D. Uhler, chief state highway engineer of Pennsylvania, Hon. Frank Page, chairman of the State Highway Commission of North Carolina, H. G. Shirley of Baltimore former chief state highway engineer of Maryland, and Dr. A. N. Johnson, dean of the Engineering College of the University of Maryland former chief state highway engineer of Illinois and an authority on highway administration of the Bureau of Municipal Research of the Rockefeller Foundation, came to Richmond and remained in conference with the Governor-elect for the entire day. This is the first instance where a state in the solution of its highway problems has held a consultation with such an array of outside expert authority as was called into conference by Governor-elect Trinkle. The conference will be followed by others with representative business men throughout the State.

"I shall resort to every means in securing the very best advice and the most practical suggestions" said Senator Trinkle at the conclusion of the first conference. "These men are noted for their achievements. They are the very top of their profession and I am certain that their advice and suggestions will redound to the credit of the State Highway System. We must have good highways and we must not be behind other states."

Colonel Uhler, one of the conferees has made a greater record in road construction than that of any highway executive of any other state. Under his direction $92,000,000 including a bond issue of $60,000,000 has been expended in three years. During 1921 contracts have been let for $45,000,000 of road construction. In addition to other types of road, 630 miles of reinforced concrete road have been let to contract. Frank Page, chairman of the North Carolina Commission has built up an organization for the administration of their bond issue which is considered by expert authority to be one of the best in the Union. Contracts approximating $10,000,000 have been awarded in North Carolina this year.

Lead a Helping Hand

Do you know of Ivakota Farms at Clifton, Va., a branch of the National F. C. Mission?

It is five years since Mrs. Ella Shaw Williams, realizing the terrible need of a refuge like this, gave us Ivakota Farm, situated one and one-half miles from Clifton Station, Fairfax county, Va., in loving memory of her mother, Mrs. Williams is first cousin of Mrs. Billy Sunday. We have 325 acres. For two years the F. C. League has devoted its entire attention towards raising sufficient means to properly equip Ivakota Farm, in order that we might avail ourselves of an endowment fund of $150,000 which was given contingent upon the erection of proper buildings. Thus far we have not been able to qualify for this gift, but the time has been extended and we are hoping that through our field secretary's efforts, Miss Elizabeth C. Biggs, we may be assisted towards this end. During the last year girls from forty-two counties have been helped by the league, all of them in their early teens, many of them needing physical as well as mental and intellectual treatment. All cities of Virginia have been assisted in solving their problems, as their public health service and probation officers will willingly testify. At the present time we have 118 girls and babies at Ivakota under our care, and the institution is unique. In five years we have cared for over 500 girls and babies. In spite of the fact that there are no bolts or bars, girls are committed by the courts and remain for the full time of their commitment. Recently a girl was pardoned from the penitentiary by the Governor upon her willingness to go to Ivakota. The average age of the girl who comes to us is under sixteen years of age.

We have a model schoolhouse, sponsored by the Virginia Daughters of the American Revolution. Last year the girls prepared for the market 30,000 cans of tomatoes. At the Prince William County Fair, held at Manassas August 16 and 17, 1921, they took fourteen blue ribbons and one red ribbon for canning, preserving, embroidery, crocheting, basketry, rustic furniture, free-hand drawing, water colors, china painting, carpet weaving and patching. Wheat and oats also won a blue ribbon. Of the 130 girls and babies there recently forty-two were treated for venereal disease.

The State Board of Health co-operates with us. Your generosity alone has made this work possible. We will continue to give our services. Will you continue to support us? The overhead expenses are all met from a privately contributed fund. One hundred dollars will keep a girl at Ivakota one year. Are they not worth your sympathy and help? We need $25,000 more to get our endowment.

We extend an invitation to all to visit Ivakota.—Richmond Christian Advocate.

[Editor's Note.—Contributions will be received by The Journal and forwarded to Ivakota Farm.]

CLIFTON

Rev. T. H. MacLeod preached Sunday morning on the character of David, "A Man After God's Own Heart." Before the sermon Mr. and Mrs. Blewens were received into the church and their little daughter was christened.

Rev. C. H. Frye preached at night in the Baptist Church from the 11th chapter of Matthew, 23-30 verses. Mr. Frye will begin on next Sunday night a series of sermons on "Pilgrim's Progress."

Miss Mariam Buckley gave a very interesting and instructive talk in the missionary meeting on the subjects of the Mormons in Utah and the conditions in Syria and Persia.

Mrs. Cornwell, who died last week in a Washington hospital, was brought here for burial on Sunday, and was laid to rest in Clifton cemetery. Mrs. Cornwell is survived by her husband, several children and her grandmother.

The patrons' league met in the school building on Friday afternoon. Arrangements were made for the coming sale and entertainment to be held at the school building on Friday night, December 16. Fancy articles will be on sale and there will be a grab-bag. Ice cream will be on sale before and after the entertainment. A silver offering will be taken at the door. The proceeds from this entertainment will be used for school purposes.

The postoffice at Clifton was entered by robbers some time Sunday night. Only a few stamps were stolen and a registered letter opened, but as it contained nothing of value, was cast aside. Entrance was made by breaking in the panels of the back door. There has as yet been no clue to the identity of the robbers. Several years ago a burglar, while attempting to rob the postoffice here, fell dead before he had effected an entrance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bauserman have left here for a trip to Florida in their Ford. Mr. and Mrs. Mewins have charge of their farm during their absence.

Mr. Curtis and family, of North Carolina, have moved into the Sutherland property, which Mr. Curtis has recently purchased.

Mr. Clarence Robey, having resigned his position in the city, is spending some time at his home here.

Miss Frances Robey, accompanied by a girl friend, spent Monday at her home here.

The Clifton Sunday Schools are practicing for their Christmas entertainments.

It is reported that Mr. Williams, of Washington, is quite ill from a nervous breakdown. Mrs. Williams will be remembered as Mrs. Shaw.

A letter received from Rev. Alford Kelley, of Philadelphia, states that his health is better, but Miss Kelley is suffering from an attack of nervous indigestion. Mr. Kelley expects to take a pastorate in New Jersey before spring.

PURCELL

Quite a large crowd gathered at Purcell Saturday, December 10, at a league meeting and entertainment.

Mr. Harrison Cornwell, of Baltimore, is spending a few days with his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Cornwell.

All the little folk are looking forward to Santa Claus around Purcell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fair and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beavers spent Sunday with Mrs. R. E. Beavers.

Mrs. Elsie Jett, Miss Jennie Smith, Mr. Berkley Fair and Mr. Harry Cornwell called on Mrs. Ethel Jones, of Canova, Sunday.

Mr. Odie Cornwell was taken seriously ill at the home of Mrs. Ashel Posey's Sunday evening about 7:30 o'clock and lay unconscious until about 11 o'clock. He is much improved at this writing.

Mr. Allen Corawell spent Sunday night at the home of Mrs. Tilton Hedges.

Grandpa "Brad" Cornwell fractured two ribs recently.

Mr. T. B. Harris has moved on the farm of Mr. Benkie Cornwell.

CATHARPIN

Mrs. C. F. Brower has returned from a week's visit to her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Brower, jr., in Round Hill.

Miss Lenore McCutcheon recently visited her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. McDonald at "Oakwood."

Among the recent visitors at Sudley Church were Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball and Gen. Washington Gardner, commissioner of pensions, both of Washington.

Mrs. S. C. Swart, who has been in bad health for some time, is being treated by a Washington specialist.

The infant child of Claude and Ella Payne, colored, was killed on Sunday afternoon by the accidental discharge of a pistol, the bullet first passing through one of the mother's limbs and hand, then into the child's head, penetrating the brain.

Mr. Samuel H. Althoff, representing one of the street railways of Baltimore, called to see Mr. E. N. Pattie one day last week in regard to an accident due to the negligence of one of the employees of the railway, in which Mr. Pattie's daughter, Margaret, sustains slight injuries.

Mr. E. N. Pattie spent Monday in Alexandria.

BUCKHALL

Last Sunday night at about six o'clock the residence owned and occupied by Mr. G. W. Henaley's family was completely destroyed by fire, the origin being unknown.

The family had started for church and when they had reached Mulberry hill, glancing in the direction of their home, saw flames bursting through the gable. The alarm was given and a large crowd at once gathered at the place, but were unable to save either house or contents. We understand it was covered by insurance.

Mr. D. E. Kincheloe spent last Sunday with relatives in Manassas.

Mrs. G. W. Wallace went to Washington last Tuesday.

Miss Lela Henaley came home from Alexandria last Saturday and returned Sunday night.

Despite the bad condition of the roads a goodly number assembled together at both church services held here last Sunday.

BRENTSVILLE

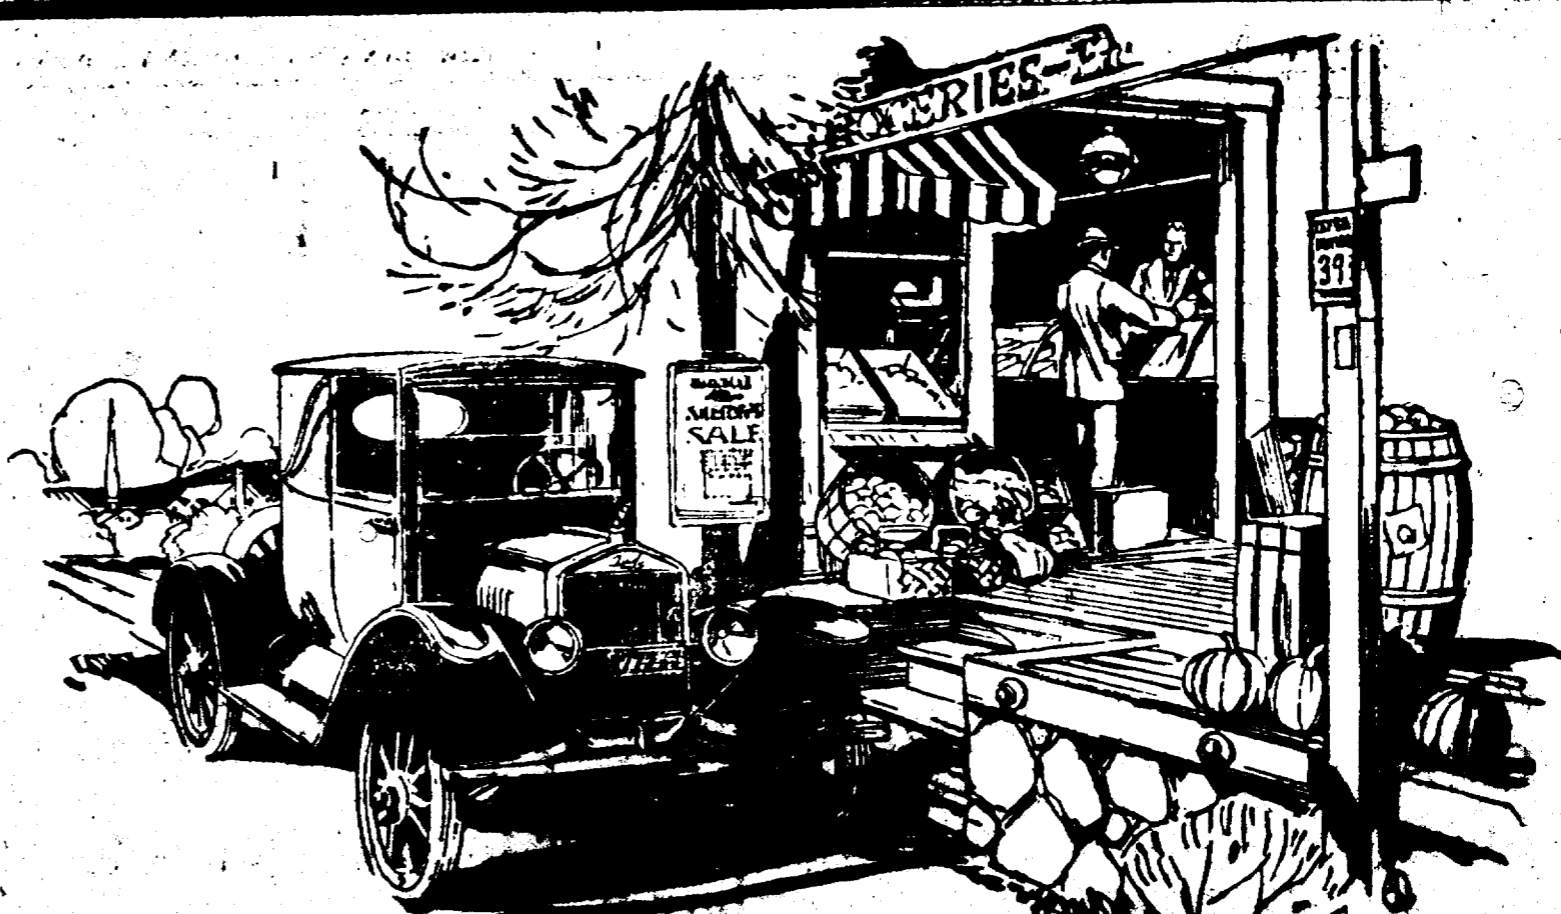

The community Christmas tree and exercises by the school children will be held at the school house on Christmas eve at 7:30 o'clock.

Special Christmas programs are being prepared by both Sunday Schools, but dates have not been decided yet.

Mrs. R. H. Keys and Mr. Herman Lam, who have been on the sick list, are much improved.

Miss Aliene Keys has returned from a visit in Washington.

What kind of gasoline do traveling salesmen buy?

DRUMMERS who make dozens of calls a day, who drive further every week than most of us do in a month, know a lot about the efficiency and economy of different motor fuels. They nearly always ask for "Standard" Motor Gasoline.

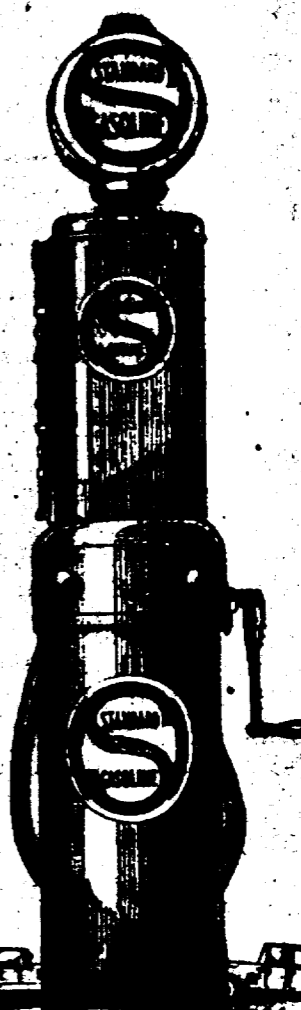

This balanced gasoline gives quick starts, even when the motor has become chilled. It burns up completely, doesn't quickly choke the motor with carbon or ruin the lubricating oil with carbon and unburned gasoline. It runs the motor on a lean mixture and gives big mileage per gallon.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline leads the procession in all these essential qualities. It is the most perfectly balanced motor fuel we know of—the result of innumerable tests for economy and efficiency, perfected refining processes and the choice of the most suitable crudes.

In cold weather or hot, when it's dry and frosty, wet and muddy or hot and sunny, you'll travel the road more smoothly and get further on a gallon. And with less carbon trouble. You won't have to constantly adjust your carburetor. That's why city and country salesmen use balanced "Standard" Motor Gasoline.

You, too, want the best for your money. The best is "Standard" Motor Gasoline. Try it on your next filling. See how lively and powerful your car is, how promptly it starts, how easily it takes hard hills, how far you go on a gallon. One quality wherever you buy it, and for sale everywhere.

Protect the moving parts of your car. Polaris is the great friction remover.

LEAGUE STANDS VINDICATED

It was not necessary for Senator Borah or Senator Reed to remind the country and the world that in the negotiation of the new quadruple treaty for the promotion of peace in the Pacific, the conference on limitation of armaments recognized the broad principle of Article X. of the league of nations covenant. Not even the disavowal of Senator Lodge, to whom was accorded the distinction of announcing the text of the treaty, on the subject of fixed guarantees, removed the fact that the Washington conference proceeded along exactly the same lines as did the Paris peace conference in safeguarding the territorial rights of nations.

For purely political reasons the Harding administration has repudiated the suggestion that America has put its hand and seal to an international convention applying the paramount principle of the league covenant, but that repudiation will not stand. It will deceive no one who has thoughtfully considered the two compacts, and it ought not to deceive any one.

The manly and candid thing for the President and his Secretary of State to do in the present situation would be to issue a plain-spoken declaration to the effect that Great Britain, France, Japan and the United States have united in a treaty to respect the rights each of the other in the Pacific, and to maintain existing conditions in that quarter of the globe, just as the league of nations covenant bound the members of the league to respect the rights of all members and to maintain conditions in Europe existing at the time the league was formed.

It might be added, in truth, that the league covenant provided for the exercises of all available resources on the part of members to maintain the rights of each other, whereas the Pacific treaty merely provides for a conference of signatories to determine, in case of international differences, what shall be done about it. There is more than a mere technical distinction between the two measures on that point, but unless the signatories feel themselves bound in honor, if not by written stipulation, to enforce the purposes of the treaty, then it is a "scrap of paper"—a perfectly futile instrument.

Senator Lodge, in his original exposition of the treaty, took particular pains to inform the country that the measure contained "no provision for the use of force to carry out any of the terms of the agreement," then adding that "no military or naval sanction lurks anywhere in the background or under cover of these plain and direct terms."

Even so, the "moral force" is there, the same moral force that President Wilson urged in behalf of the league covenant, and if it is not to be involved, the treaty might as well go to the scrap basket now. In his defense of the treaty Senator Piodexter could only observe that it changes nothing. Senator Borah's reply was that in that event there was no occasion for a new entente, a reply that definitely stated the case.

At the moment there is no organized opposition to the treaty. A few individual Senators have announced their purpose to fight it, but party lines are not drawn. That the Republican majority will go along may be assured, and Democratic Senators who supported the league can scarcely find fault with a measure that so generously vindicates their stand.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

HENRY FORD ON PUBLIC BORROWING

Speaking of public debt Henry Ford says: "If the government tried to raise by direct taxation all the funds that are proposed to be raised by bond issues, there would be a great reduction in the amount of debt that is piled upon the country. Bond issues are painless to the generation issuing them, but they accumulate their burdens upon the generation following. The enormous income of our government today is not put back into the country—80 per cent of it is used to pay for dead bond issues. Other generations shouldered their burdens down to us, and we are shoving a heavier load down to our children. And through all the generations the same families of bankers take interest from all of us. Interest is a parasite that is eating up our wealth, without creating any wealth in return."

This is the doctrine the Leader has been preaching for years: Mr. Ford certainly is equipped with fairly good business sense; we suppose no one will dispute this fact. Not so long ago, just at the turning point when it was found impossible longer to maintain the high prices, and when money began to grow "tight," Ford found himself hard pressed because of loans he owed said to be seventy-five million dollars. It was freely predicted that he would be driven to the wall, as he found it impossible to borrow more money to pay that becoming due. He surprised the business world by adopting a master stroke that saved his credit, country and forcing it on the market. He made immense sales before other automobile manufacturers realized that a cut in machine prices was necessary, when they slowly followed his example.

We do not consider that Mr. Ford means to advise against all borrowing for he borrows largely himself. What he must have been opposing is that class of borrowing which produces no wealth. Public borrowing is usually of this class, as the things for which the money is spent are usually worn out and destroyed before the debt is paid.

Mr. Ford might have made out a stronger case than he did against this class of borrowing. He says a generation puts its burden on the generation following; it does this, and more, for it begins to feel the burden itself, and feel it grievously before the burden ever gets to the coming generation.

The ease with which individuals and communities borrow money is often a curse to them. Borrowed money is spent so freely that often it fails to secure as much in the way of returns as it should. If all public improvements were paid for out of current revenues, taxpayers would exercise closer supervision over the expenditures, and better results would be secured.

We wouldn't undertake to advise against all borrowings for public purposes, as there are times when it becomes necessary; but it ought not to be the settled policy of any government or of any subdivision of government.—The Richmond Evening Leader.

LAUGH AND LIVE

"WE" WILL LICK YOU

The able editor of the Tumlerville Torch of Liberty was recently in receipt of the following epistle, which explained itself:

Straddle Ridge, 192—

Dear Sir and Friend: I take my pen in hand to let you know that if you think by calling yourself "we" you can skip me out of coming up and whipping you for that there piece you printed about me in your valuable paper, you are mighty mistaken. Just for that I am going to bring my wife along, and I am pleased to say that she is the lady that whipped a constable to a standstill and choked a catamount till his tongue hang out. No more at present. Yours truly,

Gabe Giggery.

"Before we were married you used to send around a dozen roses every week," said she.

"Roses are easy," replied he. "This week I'm going to send around two tons of coal and a rib roast."

Casey—Hivins, Pat! Phwere did yez get the black eye?
O'Brien—Oi paid Clancy a grudge yisterday, and' thot's the reaste he gave me.

"Why is Mrs. Van. Wombat so angry with you?"
"It seems the cook she lured away from me is not satisfactory."

Little Marion and her next-door neighbor, Donald, were engaged in an absorbing conversation.

"Who are those anarchist people?" asked Marion.

"Why," returned the boy, "they want everything everybody else has got, and they never wash themselves."

"Oh, I see," replied the little miss, a great light dawning. "they is the little boys growed up!"

STUNNING REPORT

When the woman motorist was called on to stop, she asked, indignantly, "What you want with me?"

"You were traveling at forty miles an hour," answered the police officer.

"Forty miles an hour? Why, I haven't been out an hour," said the woman.

"Go ahead," said the officer. "That's a new one to me."

"Well, Dinah, I heard you are married."

"Yasum," said the former cook. "I've done got me a man now."

"Is he a good provider?"

"Yasum. He's a mighty good provider; but I've powerful shered he's gwine ter git kitched at it."

Medium—The spirit of your wife is here now; do you wish to speak to her through me?

Widower—Ask her where the chickens she put my summer underwear.

DELICATE REVENGE

"You must have made a few enemies in your long political career?"

"More than a few," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have forgiven them all."

"That is magnanimous."

"Not especially. By forgiving them I call their attention to the fact that they never succeed in injuring me enough to earn my abiding resentment."

Mrs. Slimdiet—The boarders are all at the table. Where's the milk?

Cook—Here, mum; but it do look awful blue.

Mrs. Slimdiet—Then hurry into the dining room and pull down the yellow sunshades.

"We were slowly starving to death," remarked the famous explorer at the boarding-house table, "but we cut up our boots and made soup of them, and thus sustained life."

"Sh-h-h! Not so loud!" exclaimed the dyspeptic boarder. "The landlady might hear you."

COW VS. HUSBAND

The wife of a small farmer in Perthshire some time ago went to a druggist with two prescriptions—one for her husband, the other for her cow. Finding she had not enough money to pay for both, the chemist asked her which she would take.

"Give me the stuff for the cow," said she; "the morn will do well enough for him, pair body. Gah he were to dee I could sure get another man, but I'm no see that I could git another coo."

STANDS OR FALTERS

We all know today how strictly in force is the public degree of economy. The war is no longer accepted as an excuse for inflated prices. But the demand goes farther than this, in as much as its basic requirements is for something better—merchandise which is not thrown around in a slipshod manner, but goods bought in quantities and handled in an efficient way in order that overhead will be reduced. People have had their eyes opened as never before, and no longer are they satisfied with mere nicely worded advertisements. THEY DEMAND TO BE SHOWN.

We have always tried to anticipate the desires of our customers and we have therefore built an addition to our meat market and shall hereafter offer in season, THE MARKET'S BEST SELECTIONS IN

FISH AND GAME

It will now no longer be necessary for the anxious housewife to have to listen with an expectant ear and sometimes in vain for the cry of the meat and fish vender. For she can merely phone us and rest absolutely assured that it will be delivered at the appointed time. The cost will be no more and no forty and one families will have handled the food that's for her and her children. In this manner be ye economical, not in price alone, but demand "Something Better" at the same price. That and that alone is true economy. May we serve you in our new place with

And this is what he said:

"That SUNOCO OIL I got from you proved to be fine; especially for the Haynes. It has worked better than it ever has since I bought it. I have been trying to buy some more of the oil since my return, but no one seems to handle it out here. I am writing to the factory today to have them send me some. Tell Ludd (I think that is the name of the fellow that works there with you all the time) that all I have to do with the Haynes is give it lots of Sunoco oil and gasoline and drive it like Sam Hill."

The writer is Mr. J. B. Gibson, who recently left here in his Haynes for Webb City, Mo.

What Mr. Gibson thinks is the opinion of many other SUNOCO users. Have you tried it on your car?

THE DIXIE

TONIGHT

"EVER SINCE EVE"
The story is adapted from Joseph Ernest Peat's "Concerning Chichine," which was published in Young's Magazine and attracted wide attention. It is a story charming in conceit, clever in construction, and contains an element of sustained mystery which holds the interest in an increasingly powerful grip until the final climax. And the love theme is not incidental, but basic. Miss Mason is utterly wholesome and delightful in this photoplay. Also Esop Fable. Matinee 11c-17. Night 11c-22c.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17
JACK PICKFORD

"The Man Who Had Everything"
Young Henry Bullway was born with everything—and found he had nothing. So he started all over again with empty hands, and discovered that money and good times are nothing in life and that love and self-respect are everything. Jack Pickford's best picture. Be sure you see it. Also Pathe News and special comedy. Matinee 6c-11c. Night 11c-22c.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 19
ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN

"HANDCUFFS OR KISSES"
Miss Hammerstein's interpretation of the part assigned her is both artistic and human. As the abused inmate who was unjustly committed to a two-year term she at once wins the sympathy of her audience and holds it until she is finally cleared of the false charges that have been lodged against her. There also is a pretty love theme that culminates in all pretty love plots must end, and the action throughout is both swift and dramatic. Admission 11c-22c.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 20
JACK LONDON'S—"The Little Fool"

With an all star cast including Milton Sills. "The Little Fool" portrays the drama of a "Dick" Forest, a wealthy rancher, and his wife Paula. Paula falls in love with the husband's chum, and is about to leave the palatial mansion forever. At the last moment, Paula Forest does not really know her mind. The tense drama with which the big situations are packed make this really the greatest of the London stories so far translated to the screen. Admission 11c-22c.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 22
BERT LYELL

"A MESSAGE FROM MARS"
The play that put the planet on the map. The story tells of the regeneration from selfishness of Horace Parker, a wealthy young Englishman, through the agency of a messenger from Mars, condemned to shadow him until his moral cure is effected. A series of thrilling episodes brings on the desired consummation. Admission 11c-22c.

THE NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGN

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson Explains Some of Its Benefits.

In a sermon recently, Rev. A. Stuart Gibson explained some things about the nation wide campaign of the Protestant Episcopal church and its relation to the new building now being erected by the congregation of Trinity Church, which may be of interest to all of the people of the community and of special interest to the Episcopaleans.

To begin with, he stated, that if the members of the congregation would continue to give as they have given for the two years past, (the years since the inauguration of the nation-wide campaign) they need give themselves no concern about taking care of the interest on the money it will be necessary to borrow and at the same time gradually paying off the principal.

This church is one of the projects which is receiving aid from the nation-wide campaign (for a number of reasons which were set out in the survey with which the campaign began) so we are at present receiving from the treasurer of the Diocese of Virginia just about two dollars for every one we are sending him. So far, all of the money paid out on the new building has come to us from the nation-wide campaign and none of that raised by us for our building fund has as yet not been touched. We are to receive two thousand dollars from the nation-wide campaign next year, so it is, of course, our privilege as well as our duty to contribute to that fund the amount asked of us.

It is just a case of good, steady, active, co-operation, who have the backing of the Diocesan authorities and there is every reason for faith in the entire success of our undertaking.

 Due to heavy losses and expenses and reduced premium income, insurance institutions are under considerable strain at this time. The strong ones are not seriously affected, but many lightweight concerns which have been unwisely managed have already succumbed, and the prevailing opinion is that others of that class have trouble ahead. Under these conditions it is wise for business men to go over their insurance policies, consider the standing of the institutions which issued them and if there is any doubt about them have the insurance replaced in thoroughly strong companies.

STATE NEWS NOTES

One of the biggest hauls made this week by federal prohibition officers, assisted by police of Alexandria and officials of Fairfax county, took place Sunday when they visited a place near Potter's hill, Fairfax county, about seven miles south of Alexandria and captured three stills. The agents also destroyed, they claim, about 200 gallons of mash. About a gallon of corn liquor also was taken by the raiders. The raiding party also took in custody a colored man giving the name of Henry Ward. Ward denies ownership of the stills. He is being held for further investigation.

Walking calmly into a local physician's office at Portsmouth, supported by a girl companion and a negro, Lieut. John Raymond Hiddlebrook, U. S. N., of Powder Springs, Ga., collapsed after a hasty examination showed his neck to be broken. He died a few minutes later at the naval hospital. According to the story told by his girl companion, Hiddlebrook had driven his car, in which she was riding, head-on into a mule team, the wagon tongue on the wheels drawn by the mules ramming through the windshield and striking him in the neck.

Near Milford, Caroline county, Friday evening, Lee Beasley was instantly killed in the yard at his own home. He was sawing wood for his own use when the saw frame broke causing the saw to fly up with terrific force in his face. The sharp steel saw nearly severed his head, causing instant death. His wife and a brother were standing near and witnessed the tragedy. Mr. Beasley was in his forty-second year. He is survived by his widow, three sons and several brothers.

Maj. Calvin M. Borum, eighty-one, widely known Southern railway traveling freight agent and Confederate veteran, died of pneumonia recently at Strasburg.

An appeal for funds with which to provide useful Christmas gifts for disabled veterans of the world war now in hospital in Virginia was made at Winchester Saturday by Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, president, and Mrs. W. A. Baker, secretary of the woman's auxiliary of the Virginia department, American Legion. There are known to be 887 disabled war veterans in Virginia hospitals, Mrs. Baker said, and more hospitals are yet to be heard from. There are only thirty-eight active auxiliary units in Virginia at present, and the auxiliary is unable to provide for all veterans without the assistance of sympathetic friends. Articles suitable for useful Christmas gifts, such as bathrobes, slippers, socks and underwear, or funds with which to make purchases, are to be sent to Mrs. W. A. Baker, of Winchester.

Gov.-elect Trinkle on Saturday announced the appointment of Col. W. McD. Lee, of Lancaster, to the position of state fisheries commissioner, a position which he held for eight years. Joseph H. Hall, of Portsmouth, was named as state labor commissioner, succeeding John Hirschberg. Mr. Hall is president of the State Federation of Labor.

A whirlwind courtship of less than a week followed by a wedding in a curtained automobile in a downpour of rain on the main thoroughfare of Portsmouth December 8, entitled Harry N. Eads, U. S. N., to a thirty-thousand-dollar legacy. Eads, whose home is in Cleveland, Ohio, learned last week of a provision in the will of his mother, who died only recently, bequeathing to him $30,000 if he was married before he reached his twenty-seventh birthday. He had five days to comply with the terms of the will, and an acquaintance with Ethel Ast, of Portsmouth rapidly budded into romance, culminating when their wedding was solemnized in an automobile on the public street. Rev. E. K. Denton, pastor of a local church, married the couple.

Five hundred gallons of mash and between fifteen and twenty gallons of corn liquor were captured last week by state federal prohibition agents assisted by the police of Alexandria in a search made near Riverside, Fairfax county, about six miles south of Alexandria. The mash and liquor, according to the officers who made the raid, was hidden in a cave near the river. The officers say that the mash was destroyed and the liquor is being held as evidence. At the time of the capture the officers arrested two men giving the names of Edward Werling and Nick Wells. They were brought before United States Commissioner W. P. Woods and charged by the officers with an alleged violation of the national prohibition law. Both entered pleas of not guilty and they were held for the action of federal grand jury which will meet in Alexandria in January. Both furnished a bail bond in the sum of $1,000 each. The raiding party consisted of J. J.

Hudgins, deputy collector of internal revenue, and S. W. Davis, Thomas D. Dorsett, assisted by policeman Magner and Dugan.

Graduate Manager R. A. Smith of Washington and Lee has announced that he has closed a contract with the athletic authorities of the University of Virginia for a foot ball game at Charlottesville, November 4, next. This will be the first time the two universities have met on the gridiron since 1907. A return game will be played in Lexington in 1923.

Many people prominent in civic and social life of Virginia and Maryland attended the funeral, at Winchester December 7, of Mrs. Charlotte Claybrook McGuire, wife of Dr. Hunter H. McGuire, president of Winchester Memorial Hospital and a widely known specialist, whose death followed a comparatively brief illness of complications. Funeral rites were held in Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Rev. Robert B. Nelson, rector of the parish, officiating, and interment was in Mount Hebron cemetery. Mrs. McGuire was actively engaged in Red Cross surgical dressing work during the war. She was the first superintendent of Memorial Hospital, resigning shortly before her marriage in June, 1904. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Claybrook, of Hague, Westmoreland county.

The federal squad raiding out of Lynchburg for the enforcement of the Volstead act has set for itself the goal of moonshine raid a day between now and Christmas, the effort being made to check the flow of moonshine product into Lynchburg for the Christmas trade. One big outfit has been captured near Riversville, down the James river from Lynchburg. Another in the city and still another on the Forest road not far from the city. Coupled with the work of the federal officers the city police, headed by Chief D. C. Smith, has been very active this month, nine convictions having been secured since the month opened. The Brookville officers in the suburbs are also moving, having one fifty-gallon outfit to its credit, where forty-eight quarts of corn liquor was destroyed.

A memorial athletic stadium in honor of Lynchburg's dead in the world war is being advocated by City Manager Edward A. Beck, whose suggestion has grown out of the effort of the Sports Corporation to secure an athletic field on city-owned realty at 18th and Court streets. A survey of the property has been made and it has been found that there is surface there sufficient for a base ball field, which would make it ample for foot ball. R. Chess McGhee, commander of the American Legion Post, has written the city manager that the legion here has often unanimously approved the idea of a utilitarian memorial, and he expressed the belief that the legion at its next meeting would approve the memorial stadium without opposition.

Thomas Sellman Hall of Lothair, Md., has been elected captain of Virginia's foot ball team, Charlottesville, for the next year. Hall, a guard has been a mainstay of the Orange and Blue for the past two years.

After cutting off his left hand with a razor, F. R. Austin, a prominent fruit grower of Albemarle county, attempted to cut off his foot, and is now in a critical condition in the University of Virginia Hospital.

Eight colored prisoners, all held for the grand jury on felony charges, Monday night made their escape from the Newport News jail by sawing and bending a bar in a side door and leaping two high fences. One was re-arrested the next morning. Pending repairs to the principal cages in the jail these prisoners had been stationed in temporary quarters. The saw used is believed to have been passed in by a friend the week before when repair crews left the fence door open, thus permitting access to the prisoners through the barred side door.

Sydney and Rothwell Smith, aged ten and seven, respectively, sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Smith, had narrow escapes last Saturday evening from asphyxiation from escaping gas from a heating stove, while they were in a bathroom at their home at Lynchburg. An unusual noise caused the mother to make an investigation and she found both of the boys lying unconscious on the floor of the bath room. They were revived without great trouble. The boys are brothers of Miss Anna Smith, of the faculty of John Marshall High School, Richmond.

James E. Caskie, who spent a year in France during the world war, eight months of which was in the army zone, has received from the French government the "French medal of the great war," which is being sent to Y. M. C. A. workers who spent as much as six months in the army zone in association work.

Last Sunday afternoon Ringgold Council, No. 122, J. O. U. M., laid the corner-stone of the new public school building at White Oak, Stafford county, with elaborate exercises. Through the efforts of W. Herman Walker, Jr., of Fredericksburg, past state councillor, several of the state officials were present and took part in the exercises. A Fredericksburg orchestra furnished music and several short addresses were on the program.

Let Farmers Market Co-operatively and Have Ample Credit

Congress Impressed With Necessity for Action—Senators Favorable to Agricultural Needs—Committed to Passing Bill for Cooperative Marketing and Improving Farmer Credits

Cláude A. Swanson, of Virginia in Farmers' National Magazine

While conditions are somewhat improved and the prospects of revival in business looks somewhat brighter, yet we had as well face the fact that aggressive, energetic action is needed to get the country out of the present financial depression to a state of permanent and satisfactory improvement. Reports show our exports are sufficiently high to indicate good business. In fact, they are in excess of last year. But that has not brought economic relief in this country.

No Excuse for Present Conditions
We must recognize that only eight per cent of our products are for export. If our exports are actually normal and still financial difficulties exist, then the trouble cannot be caused entirely by failure of the export market. The cause must be searched out elsewhere. It is not difficult to locate. It largely lies in the fact that there is a problem is to work out a remedy for this under consumption at home.

There is no excuse for conditions approaching panic when we have had one of our most bountiful harvests. It is astounding that with abundant supplies, people should be hungry; in distress and out of employment. This is the condition in our country today. Such a situation demands relief.

It is an easy matter to point out a sure way to relief. It is not difficult, however, to recognize the responsibility resting upon us to make diligent effort at doing the things generally believed to be necessary as steps toward relief. I have some well founded ideas along this line and they call for legislative action.

Prosperous Farmers Basis of National Prosperity

There can be no serious question of the statement that the basis of American welfare must be bounteous crops and reasonable returns for them to the farmers. The financial distress which overwhelmed the farmers last year and still continues is the one great determining factor in present national economic depression. The farmers, with abundant crops have not realized enough money to pay their maturing obligations. The low prices were caused largely by the fact that farmers were forced to sell to pay off their debts. Proper credits were denied them. With their products forced on the market, the logical result was the disastrous fall in prices. The farmer's source of income is from his crops. When this failed, or was severely reduced, he became powerless to purchase what he needed and his failure to be able to buy was the first step in bringing on the industrial stagnation which has swept the nation. When he could not buy the manufactured goods, those who make them had to go out of employment. No demand existed for their handiwork. The endless chain of difficulty has kept turning round and round and no sound basis for relief has been provided. The farmer's harvest is over, his crops sold and now without more to sell, he cannot hope to be active in buying supplies beyond barest necessities until another harvest.

Credit Facilities Necessary

Either we must furnish ample and proper facilities for the farmers or we shall go through the long period from now until the next harvest in continued depression. Relief to him is the first necessary step in general improvement. It is the imperative duty of those entrusted with governmental responsibilities to examine thoroughly and intelligently and provide promptly ample credit or basis of money supply to the farmers. This duty extends alike to Congress and the Executive Departments. It is gratifying to know that Congress has a large number of Senators and Representatives deeply interested in this matter and who are determined that this just measure of relief shall be granted the agricultural interest. They have united to obtain for agriculture proper legislative relief. These, consisting of members from both political parties in sympathy with agriculture have co-operated and passed many measures for the betterment of farm conditions. As one of these co-operating members, I am some hopeful that a program of practical relief will be secured for the farmers of the country which would be quite unlikely but for this co-operative effort.

Strong Program Adopted

Among the measures sought to be enacted and considered essential are the following:
A co-operative marketing bill, system with increase of farmers' credits.

Put a farmer representative on the Federal Reserve Board, Interstate Commerce Commission and the Farm Loan Board.

Also devise an efficient and sound personal credit service for the farmers.

For the farmers' welfare as well as for the advantage of the consumers, the co-operative marketing bill now before Congress should pass. The present system of distribution has left the farmers for all these years at the mercy of organized dealers; has permitted speculation in food commodities and while resulting in high prices to consumers, has left the farmer but little for his years of labor. Any restriction against the farmers marketing co-operatively should be removed. Our previous selling system has kept hundreds of farmers poor and without benefit to consumer. Co-operative marketing will benefit alike producer and consumer. We have started in my state a tobacco marketing plan, which even with the handicaps forced through the present law, it is my hope and belief that our Virginia tobacco growers, through this association and the pooling of their crops, will commence to realize fair returns for their hardships and labor of production. As a grower of tobacco, I am a member of this association.

Representation on Important Boards

The financial relief sought in the bills named above is indispensable to any large and permanent improvement of farm conditions. The Farm Land Banks have been of incalculable benefit to the farmers and their scope and usefulness should be greatly extended. The measures appertaining to these named above should greatly add to their efficiency and safety and extend to the farming communities greater financial accommodations. It is of the utmost importance that agriculture should have a member upon the Federal Reserve Board. This system, controlling as it does, the finances of the country, seriously affects agriculture. The basic and largest industry is justly entitled to representation. The recent severe and unjustifiable deflation to which farmers were subjected conclusively proves the necessity of this, in order for them to obtain proper consideration and credit. The forced liquidation of farm credit precipitated the great fall in price of farm products. This brought on the present financial and business depression. At the time I earnestly protested against this policy to those in control and prophesied the distressed condition which afterwards arrived. Of all the interests none are more deserving of representation upon this important Board than agriculture, none are more interested and affected.

Extend Rate Reductions

There is no agency of the Government that concerns farmers more than the Interstate Commerce Commission. This commission fixes the rates charged by railroads for carrying farm products to the markets. These rates determine what market these products can enter and really fix the profits received. Agriculture is staggering under the present high freight rates and will have no marked relief until these are reduced. The limited relief recently extended to the territory west of Mississippi should be enlarged and then extended to the entire country. The need is as great in one section as the other. There should be no discrimination. The very existence of profitable farming being dependent upon the decisions of the Interstate Commerce Commission this interest is justly entitled to representation.

Farmers Have Impressed Congress

This word of commendation should be given the farmers. They have Congress impressed with the need and importance of legislation. They have carried on an exceptionally wise campaign to have obtained this point of vantage. It is important now that the farmers all over the country keep in touch with their delegations in both the House of Representatives and the Senate so as to stimulate them in their efforts to secure this valuable legislative program. We have seen the supporting effect of such action by the people in the past and experience is a teacher worth following.

Should Some Helpful Legislation

I both hoped and expect that we shall soon see crystallized into law the program outlined above. Since I have been in Congress, first in the House of Representatives and for eleven years in the Senate, I have stood for such legislation as would aid the farming interest. My effort now is to be just as active and tireless in accomplishing this program which I deem essential, as in the past when we fought for and secured rural free delivery; the parcels post; repeal of the saving daylight law; the farm loan

Have We Forgotten?

What's the matter with the American soldier? Didn't he make us proud of him over there in France? Wasn't he all right in the Argonne? Didn't he "step lively" at Chateau-Thierry? How proud we were of him when we sent him over? What parades we made when he marched away—how we stood on the sidewalk and crowded at the windows in the tall building, and shouted and waved our flags, and hurrahed and laughed with pride and cried with grief when they went away—our boys, bone of our bone, flesh of our flesh, beat of our very heart!

What a time it was when we heard that they had landed in France! How we dreaded and yet longed to hear of their first battle! What pride was ours when the news came of their glorious victories!

"Keep the Home Fires Burning"—how we used to sing it—fighting back the tears.

"There's a Long, Long Trail a-Winding"—that was another of the songs we loved to sing when they were across the ocean—our boys—fighting for us and our country's flag.

"A long, long trail," indeed, it was he trod—poor boy—the one who died "over there" in Flanders—a long, long trail and paved, every foot of it, with torture and bitter agony of spirit.

But he is at rest now. He sleeps sweetly on the slope of some little hill, perhaps with the squat cross the Americans planted at his head. And French girls go, by they say, sometimes, and put a knot of flowers upon his grave.

A Brave Chorus

And over here some lonely mother lays her cheek against the little coat he wore when he was a boy, and tries to still the throbbing agony of her heart.

At peace, out of his troubles—that much, at least, she knows.

But how about the boy who didn't die in France? How about the one who came home? We met him at the station, didn't we? And some of us put a wreath of laurel around his trench helmet and pinned medals to his breast? And we shook him by the hand and were not ashamed of our tears of joy and pride.

That was two years ago, and over. What's become of that boy now? What's he doing?

What kind of work has he found? Who's looking after his comfort? Oh, we sang for him and danced with him and invited him to dine while the war was on! But now—

Who knows—who cares? "When Johnny comes Marching Home Again, Hurrah, Hurrah!"—it was a brave chorus, wasn't it? And we sang it bravely and no doubt we meant it, too—from the bottom of our hearts—while we were singing it.

"When Johnny comes marching home again"—what wonderful things we were going to do for Johnny.

What Has Happened? We were going to pension him and educate him and get work for him and reverence him as long as he lived, as a hero.

Where are they now, these heroes of ours? What has become of Johnny, now that he rearily has come marching home?

Maybe he's one of the lucky ones and went back to his job and has forgotten all about the trenches and "No Man's Land"—if any man ever can forget such things.

Maybe he was rated as class 1 in the vocational training, and has received $100 a month to live on, and a training that will make him able to earn his own living after two years.

And maybe he's sleeping out in the park somewhere, under the stars, cold and hungry and penniless and friendless and ragged and heartick and disillusioned.

Maybe he's in the poorhouse, out in the hills, or in the insane asylum, where he doesn't belong—he isn't insane at all, perhaps—he's just nervous and shell-shocked and needs a little time and a little care and little peace of mind to help him through. Is he getting any of these things? Perhaps—and perhaps not.

There are thousands of ex-soldiers in this country today who are tramps and paupers because we who cheered so bravely when they marched away have forgotten all about them.

It was a wise poet who prayed to the God of Battle to keep his memory green: "Last we forget—last we forget."

CLASS DISTINCTION AND LABOR

Labor of Human Being is Not a Commodity or Article of Commerce.

(By H. O. Russell)

There has grown up in some localities, a class distinction which has proven to be a detriment to the welfare of the whole communities, where in most cases they represent inferior position in the human family.

It cannot too often be stated, that the labor problem is not a class affair, but that it concerns the entire human race. There may be a class of aristocrats; of plutocrats; of society idlers; or even criminals, or of any such group whose instinct is to withdraw itself from the common mass of humanity. But for laborers this is an impossibility. They remain, and must remain, part of the whole people. There can be no laboring class. It is a contradiction of terms.

We must acknowledge this in America, where from the highest office in the land, that of President of the country, down to the human ditcher, every body is supposed to perform some kind of work. So strong is this supposition, that the inference is, that those who does not bear some part of the world's burden must be a deceased unit within the ranks of the human family.

The ultimate aim of all normal progress in social justice is to remove these units.

All who have wealth in excess of a reasonable accumulation of their own labor, also all who live on endowments and who are physically able to perform useful work of some kind, as well as those whose inheritance has committed them to idlers, or holders of sinecures, must some day, when the terms of justice shall have been worked out, be put to work, and those who will not work shall not eat.

Just by what course the millennial state of equity shall come, we cannot say, but it will surely come and all profits arising from the state official combination shall go to the state, to the people as a whole.

One of the most far-reaching acts of 1914 was the statement by the National Congress, in its passage of the anti-trust law preventing the use of the Sherman Act against trade unions, "that of the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce."

The implication of the declaration it will be difficult to see for sometime. It seems now to strike a blow at the very center of the old system of business under which the world was operated for some six thousand years.

It means that humanity does not consist of employers and employed persons, of nobles, wealthy people and professional men, but the clerks and workmen who made the money for this selected class must be given grave consideration in the future if the world is to stand.

Charity makes the slave driver feed candy to the poor devil he is riding; justice would make him help carry the load.

Justice is the one great internationalism that will align all people to view the future with new inspiration.

BANDITS BLOW SAFE GET AWAY WITH $150

St. Elmo Post Office Robbed in Same Way It Was Year Ago Today

Alexandria, Va., Dec. 13.—Robbed of $607 exactly one year ago today in identically the same manner, the post office at St. Elmo, Arlington county, was entered early this morning by robbers, who blew open the safe with nitroglycerin and escaped with approximately $150 worth of money and stamps.

Entrance to the store in which the post office is located was effected by breaking a window. No one living in the neighborhood was roused by the explosion. The robbery was discovered by W. T. Jones when he opened his store today.

Postmaster A. F. Campbell notified postal inspectors of the Washington district, who today are investigating the robbery and checking up the loss. The postmaster stated that the robbers got about $100 in cash and $50 worth of one-cent and two-cent stamps. The robbery today, as that of a year ago, is thought to have been the work of yeggs. Report of the robbery has been made to the police here.
