EASTERN BASKETBALL TEAM EASY WINNERS

Defeat War Risk Girls of Washington 51 to 6—Next Game Saturday, February 4.

(By M. B. J.)

After many postponements the Eastern College basketball team played a game with the War Risk girls of Washington, last Saturday. Much had been heard of the fame of the War Risk team, or War Bureau, as they now call themselves, and the Eastern team and coach expected to have to play very hard to defend their own former record. Local fans in Manassas professed great interest in the game.

A large crowd filled the Eastern gym and had reached a pitch of intense excitement by the time the rival teams appeared on the floor. The college girls lined one side of the gym along the bleachers and added much to the enthusiasm of the crowd by their constant singing of college songs and cheering, ably led by Miss "Dick" Hyde.

The first goal was tossed into the basket by the Eastern girls within but a few seconds after the whistle blew, so it was evident from the first that the War Risk girls would be unable to intercept the passwork of the Eastern team. There were few spectacular plays made, the ball passing smoothly down the floor to goal. The War Risk girls played well as a rule, but they held the ball in their own territory and were easily outplayed.

It would be difficult to describe the excitement at the heat and speed of the play to the victory. The ball was passed from center by the Eastern players and was played in the basket by the forwards, who were accurate shots. Whenever the ball went out of Eastern's territory the alacrity with which the guards sent it back to their own girls was quite noticeable.

Miss "Jack" Morgan has successfully played the position of forward for several years, being the most experienced player on the Eastern team. She played on the high school team of Stephens, Arkansas, which held the state championship. During 1919 and 1920 she starred at Henderson-Brown, which held the intercollegiate championship of the state of Arkansas. Last year at Meridian College she was on the varsity which took the championship of Mississippi and Alabama. Miss Morgan has never played in a losing game.

Miss Thelma Wolfe, forward for Eastern, played on the same winning team at Meridian College and participated in nearly all the games.

Miss Thelma Bell, from Mississippi, also a forward, was the star forward and captain of the high school team at Starkville for five years. She was reputed to be the best high school forward in Mississippi.

Eastern's jumping center, Miss Viola Saries, holds the same record for herself at her position, as Miss Bell, both being from the same city.

Miss Grace Monroe, side center, played basketball for a number of years in her home parish, which team won state championship in 1919. She starred at Meridian College last year in all games.

Miss Grace Blevins, guard, played as a forward for three years in her home parish, which held the state championship the last year she was there.

MEETING OF BETHLEHEM GOOD HOUSEKEEPERS

Mrs. Ashby Lewis and Mrs. Howard Knevels Birthdays Celebrated By the Club.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary) One of the pleasantest and most profitable meetings of the Bethlehem Good Housekeepers' Club took place on Saturday afternoon at the rectory, the home of Mrs. A. Stuart Gibson, with Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Charles Lewis as hostesses.

Thirteen members were present. The guests were Mrs. Arthur Raymond and Mrs. H. T. Davies. The reports of the committees on the various activities were very satisfactory. A new opportunity for helpfulness was presented to the club and a special offering was given, with the request to leave at the Rest Room any contributions of food, etc., on Friday afternoon.

The election of officers for 1922, resulted as follows: Mrs. E. E. Conner, president; Mrs. Charles Lewis, vice-president; Mrs. Hodge, secretary, and Mrs. Broadbent, treasurer. An expression of great appreciation was accorded the retiring president, Mrs. Gibson, and regrets that she should lay down the reins of office. Good wishes were extended to the new occupant of the office.

A supper was given to the club, especially to Mrs. Ashby Lewis and Mrs. Howard Knevels, whose birthdays were celebrated. A small table decorated with red and white, with a white birthday cake, mounted on a crumpled paper, was placed on the table. Candles were brought in by Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Charles Lewis. It was a delightful surprise and much appreciated by the recipients of the loving courtesy.

All the members participated in the feast, which was added other cakes and coffee. "All went merry as the marriage bell" until the time of parting came, when, thanking our hostesses for their delightful hospitality, we returned to our various homes.

Mrs. W. G. Covington has returned from a visit of several days with friends in Washington.

Miss "Billy" Boone, formerly star guard in Batesport county, playing on the varsity of Fincastle high school, which held the county championship. There she distinguished herself in many hard games, before coming as guard to the Eastern team.

Miss Lucille Dorough was star forward for three years at Meridian College, and had an excellent high school record. She now plays guard.

Eastern's next game will be played with Wilson Normal on Saturday evening, February 4. No game has been scheduled for this coming Saturday as yet, though Coach Holliday is still negotiating with various teams.

Eastern College has not been defeated so far this year and feels justified in claiming the championship of the state of Virginia. War Risk, which they have just played, were champions of the District of Columbia. The Y. W. C. A. at Memphis, Tenn., are now claiming the championship of the entire United States and Prof. Holliday is planning to play this team some time in the near future, possibly in February, since he says he is quite willing to play his girls against any in the country.

Citizens' Mass Meeting

A mass meeting of the citizens of Manassas will be held Wednesday evening at the Town Hall at 7:30 to discuss town taxation and finance.

This is not a meeting of "knockers," and the object is not to abuse any one, but the object is to get all of those interested in the matter of taxes and expenditures to come together and discuss, in a fair and friendly way, matters in which every citizen and taxpayer is interested.

The matter of increasing the power of the Council to raise taxes (from $1.25 on the $100, to $2.00 on the $100), is now under consideration. If the citizens and taxpayers want this increase, now is the time to say so.

If the people don't want this, an opportunity will be given to go on record. Don't stay away and complain if something is done which you don't approve of. COME. CITIZENS' COMMITTEE.

MRS. HARRIET E. HUNT

Remains After Death of Son

(By Rev. T. D. D. Clark)

At her home in upper Reston, Virginia, after one week of suffering from influenza, Mrs. Harriet E. Hunt, beloved wife of Mr. S. W. Hunt, at Reston, Va., died.

She was born March 14, 1870, and was married to Mr. S. W. Hunt on March 3, 1870. Eight children were born to this union of whom six survive, viz.: S. W. Hunt, Jr., of Woolsey; Mrs. Harriet Gardner, of Del Ray, Va.; Mrs. Cross, of Accokeek, Md.; Mrs. Portsmouth; Mrs. Hunt, of Haymarket, and Mrs. C. O. Hunt, at home.

Three nephews and three nieces were present at the funeral at Sudley Church. Harry Poken, C. O. Pfen, and Hunt, Joseph Hunt, Walter Hunt and Frank Hunt.

In the passage from earth to the good beyond another and long-cherished friend has departed. To be with Christ, which is far better than any earthly portion however good that portion may be.

Mrs. Hunt was not only a faithful wife, a devoted mother and sympathetic neighbor, she also possessed that unpretentious manner and simple, unaffected quality of heart, that wins confidence and commands respect. The writer most sincerely believes that the words of the inspired record concerning David are applicable to the life and work of this dear friend of many years. She, "when she had served her own generation by the will of God, fell asleep."

MONDAY BRIDGE CLUB

First Prize, Luncheon Cloth and Napkins, Won by Mrs. Lyon.

One of the most delightful entertainments of the season was given by the Monday Bridge Club to the Acacia Club at the home of Mrs. G. Raymond Ratcliffe. It being the eve of Lee's birthday, the decorations were in keeping with the hour: Confederate flags, potted plants, red and white carnations and maiden hair ferns. A handsome picture of Lee, draped in Confederate flags, met the eye of each guest, as she entered the door, typical of a genuine southern atmosphere. A delicious salad course, ices and coffee were served.

The first prize, an embroidered luncheon cloth and napkins, was given to Mrs. J. P. Lyon; the second, an embroidered apron to Miss Tavener, of Baltimore, and the consolation prize to Mrs. John Hynson.

MISSIONARY MEETING

Next Meeting February 14 at the Home of Mrs. Hornbaker.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary)

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. R. Lewis. The hostess was Mrs. Elizabeth Foote.

Mrs. E. L. Hornbaker, president, presided, and opened the meeting with the hymn, "Rescue the Perishing," after which the Scripture lesson was read from Luke 7:1-10, and prayer offered by the president. "Hold the Fort for I Am Coming" was sung, followed by the roll call, to which eleven members responded. The minutes were read and approved.

The leader, Mrs. F. R. Hornbaker introduced the subject for the afternoon, "China and Its Missions."

The following articles were read at the leader's request: "The T'ang's Gift," "The Road Not Easy," "The Road of Life," "The Road of Substance," "The Road and Chimneys in China," "The Temple that Became a Christian Church," "From a Confucian Father to His Christian Son," and two poems, "The New Year" and "What Christ Said."

Among all these interesting and helpful readings, interspersed during Mrs. Hornbaker's remarks, perhaps none were more appealing than the poem, "What Christ Said," and "The Letter from a Confucian Father to His Christian Son." It is wonderful—the progress of the Gospel in China.

In closing, Mrs. Foote's request, we sang, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," and after prayer, the benediction was repeated. Our hostess made the social hour doubly pleasant by serving chocolate and cake.

The society will meet next month, February 14, at the home of Mrs. E. L. Hornbaker, when the officers for 1922 will be elected.

BRISTOW CLUB MEETS

(Pauline Ritchie, Reporter)

The Busy Bees Agricultural and Home Economics Club of Bristow school met January 2, at 2:30 p. m. for the regular monthly meeting. Only a small program was rendered, most of the time being taken for the election of new officers.

The following officers were elected: Sylvia Showalter, president; Gertrude Ledman, vice-president; Ruth Mandley, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dickens, club leader; Pauline Ritchie, reporter.

The meeting was closed by singing, "America."

CONSIDER PURCHASE OF "BULL RUN" AT MEETING

Sons of Confederate Veterans Formulate Plans to Acquire Battlefield Near Town.

Ways and means for the purchase of the battlefield of First Manassas—"Bull Run"—were considered last night at a meeting of the special committee of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, appointed at the annual reunion held in Charlottesville. The Manassas Battlefield Association, Inc., of which Major E. W. R. Ewing, of Ballston, Va., is president, holds an option on the property.

Members of the committee are Dr. R. Benton Davis, of Holdcroft, Virginia commander, ex-officio chairman; Colonel W. McDonald Lee, of Irvington and Richmond; Governor-Elect E. Lee Trinkle, of Wytheville; R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax; Samuel L. Adams, of South Boston; James T. Tatem, of Norfolk; W. H. Lewis, of Clifton Forge; J. E. Leslie, of Leesburg, and Colonel H. L. Opie, of Staunton. A majority of the committee was present, and final decision as to ways and means of purchasing the property will be discussed at a subsequent meeting.

Westwood Hutchison, corporation treasurer, of Manassas, spoke briefly on the objects of the Manassas Battlefield Association, Inc., as did also C. W. Morris, of Richmond, adjutant chief of staff of the Virginia Division, Sons of Confederate veterans.—Times-Dispatch, Thursday.

Mr. Byrne was very highly esteemed in his neighborhood, being a kind neighbor and he will be greatly missed by his many friends.

ENTERTAINMENT

On Monday, January 30, at 7:30 p. m., there will be an entertainment given in the Dixie Theatre instead of Conner's Hall, as stated last week.

This entertainment promises to be one of the best in Manassas for a long time. Harriette Gunn Roberson, President of the Roberson School of Personality, in Washington, will direct it, assisted by several of her pupils.

The program will consist of readings, humorous stories and music.

MRS. FANNIE N. SIMPSON DIES IN WASHINGTON

Passes Away at Home of Her Son, Dr. French Simpson, in Eighty-fourth Year.

The many friends of Mrs. Fannie N. Simpson, in Manassas, were grieved to learn of her death which, due to the infirmities of age, occurred on Friday in Washington at the home of her son, Dr. French Simpson, with whom she had made her home since leaving here in the autumn.

Mrs. Simpson, who before her marriage was Miss Fannie Stewart, was born at Aspin Grove, in Fairfax county, in 1838, being at the time of her death in her eighty-fourth year.

She was the widow of Mr. John S. Simpson, of Loudoun county, to which union were born four sons and four daughters, namely: Dr. S. S. Simpson, of Manassas; Dr. French Simpson and Dr. Augustus Simpson, both of Washington, and Mr. Frank Simpson, of Smithfield; Mrs. Tulloss, of Haymarket; Mrs. Thomas Tyler, of Waterbury, Conn.; Mrs. William Watson, of New Haven, Conn., and Mrs. F. E. Ranadell, of Washington, all of whom survive her with the exception of Mrs. Tulloss, and who were with her at the time of her death. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. C. W. Simpson, of Landmark, and Mrs. Samuel Simpson, of Memphis, Tenn., and one half brother, Mr. Julius Brittlebard, of Charleston, S. C. A number of grandchildren and several great-grandchildren also survive her.

The funeral services were held from the house on Monday at 1 p. m. Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, of Trinity Episcopal Church, Manassas, officiating, she having been a member of that church for the past twenty-five years.

The pallbearers were her three grandsons, Messrs. Stewart Tulloss, Frank Tulloss and Ashton Simpson, and Mr. Herman Bonney, a grand son-in-law. The interment was made in Fort Lincoln Cemetery, Washington.

Mrs. Simpson was not only well known in Manassas, where her cheerful disposition and affectionate manner had endeared her to a large circle of friends, but also in Loudoun, where she had lived for a number of years prior to moving here.

REV. CUEVAS WELCOMED

Reception Given New Pastor of All Saints' Catholic Church.

The ladies of All Saints' Catholic Church held a reception at the home of Mrs. Ella Howard, on Grant avenue last Friday evening in compliment to their new pastor, Rev. Valentine Cuevas, successor to Rev. William Winston. Father Winston now has charge of the parishes of Warrenton and Culpeper, Manassas having been lately joined to the Fairfax parish.

Among those present from Fairfax, aside from the honor guest, were Mrs. Ford, Mrs. E. L. Brown and Miss May Hamill. A delightful evening was spent by all present, and a number had the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the new pastor.

—The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans died at the home of the parents in Fairfax on Tuesday of pneumonia. The funeral was held at the Church of the Brethren, at Bull Run yesterday, Rev. Neff conducting the services, and interment was in the cemetery at that place.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Fishermen of Hampton Roads and Chesapeake Bay are making ready for the opening of the shad season. They say shad will begin running earlier this year than usual, and predict that the supply will be large. Most of the shad fishing of Virginia is done in James river and vicinity. Nets are being patched, poles put in place, boats overhauled and motors tuned.

Former Governor A. J. Montague, now member of congress from the Richmond district, was the principal speaker last Thursday at impressive ceremonies held in Christ Episcopal Church, Winchester, to commemorate the birthday of General Robert E. Lee. Special seats were reserved for Confederate veterans and Daughters of the Confederacy. Governor Montague was most eloquent in his tribute to the confederate commander-in-chief. R. Gray Williams, president of the Handley Foundation, read a personal letter from Gamaliel Bradford, Wesley Hills, Mass., author of "The Soul of Lee," in which the latter expressed his admiration of the Southern chieftain. The vested choir of the church sang the favorite hymns of General Lee.

Six charges of violating the prohibition laws are now lodged against W. T. Rahily, arrested several weeks ago when six persons, including a woman, were taken into custody. The sixth indictment came as a surprise, the grand jury returning a true bill in the case which Commonwealth's Attorney Pollard had kept under cover. It is reported that this indictment was for operating a place for the purpose of selling whisky, and that the indictment had been sought for the purpose of closing up Rahily's restaurant on East Bank street, Petersburg, where he is alleged to have sold the liquor to the complaining police officers. Four of the charges against Rahily are for selling whisky and the other for having parts of a still in his possession.

Plans have been practically completed at Lynchburg for the organization of a community chest for welfare and charitable organizations working in that city. Among the organizations to participate, will be the Salvation Army, Tuberculosis Association, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Associated Charities, the Florence Crittenden Home, the Traveler's Aid Society and several others of smaller scope.

"Hilltop," Danville's tuberculosis sanatorium, will be completed within two weeks. The final interior touches are now being given and a committee is at work selecting furniture for the institution.

Judge D. Price Withers has sentenced George Mason, of Danville, to spend twelve months in jail on the charge that he accepted an automobile as a gift, which was later found to have been stolen. The young man pleaded guilty to the charge, but sought to show that he had accepted the car little knowing that it was stolen.

Williamsburg is facing a grave water shortage, the two artesian wells which supply the town and surrounding territory apparently drying out. The wells are 425 feet deep and have been flowing freely for years. Recently, however, the flow has been decreasing almost daily, and officials of the water company and citizens realize that something must be done if the flow becomes much less. There are many surface wells in Williamsburg, but most of them have been abandoned for several years. A new sewer system is being installed in the town and it cannot be used unless there is running water.

More than 100,000 gallons of whisky "mash" and fifty-five distillery outfits have been seized by revenue agents in the mountains of Southwest Virginia in the last month, according to a statement made at Bristol recently by E. M. Addington, chief federal prohibition agent for zone four.

Hungry thieves, who want nothing but something to eat, and the best of that, are terrorizing the Diamond Hill residential section at Lynchburg. During the past week as many as a dozen residences of some of the richest residents of that city have been entered through the back doors and food ready for breakfast or left-overs have been feasted upon in the house, while the occupants slept. Money and valuable silverware in easy reach have been left untouched, but the amount of food missing indicates that the marauders have appetites that are to be envied. Entrance to all of the residences thus far has been by means of skeleton or duplicate keys.

One thousand, two hundred and sixty-four patients were admitted to the Rockingham Memorial Hospital at Harrisonburg during last year, or an average of more than 100 a month, according to a report read Saturday at the annual meeting of the Hospital Association. Of this number of cases handled, of which 358 were for major operations, only fifty-one deaths occurred in the institution—a little over four for every hundred patients. Extensive and far-reaching improvements were made in the plant during the year just closed, the reports showed, a new addition having been built and fully equipped at a cost of approximately $40,000; a new heating plant installed, and the office of business manager created. The hospital was founded in 1911 by a bequest of one, W. G. Leake, who had been a bachelor of retiring habits, and in his old age, felt the need of such an institution to care for him. Other bequests have been made in recent years, so that now the plant represents an investment of approximately $100,000.

Postmaster Byrne Downing, of Front Royal, met with a very painful accident last Thursday, while attending to his duties in the post office. While raising one of the small windows to the mail delivery window, the frame came out of the guide and fell over, hitting Mr. Downing on the head. This shattered the glass, a portion of which cut his nose a terrific gash, beginning just below the bridge, and all but severing it entirely. Mr. Downing was immediately rushed to a physician, where first aid attention was given the wound and a number of stitches taken. Mr. Downing was very fortunate that some of the flying glass did not hit him in the eye, as it would undoubtedly have ruined his sight.

Robert Teets, familiarly known to the people of Woodstock as "Bobbie," was instantly killed on the Willow Grove Hill, south of Woodstock recently by a fall from a milk truck. Teets was on his way to Woodstock from his home on the mountain, several miles east of Willow Grove, when the accident occurred. With his young son and a nephew he had boarded the truck at Willow Grove, and when near the top of the hill he attempted to shift his position, and because of the rough road, incident to the recent snow, he was thrown headlong to the ground and a wheel of the truck passed over his head. His skull was badly crushed and his neck broken.

The condition of Joseph Welsh, seaman, found unconscious in a bedroom at Salvation Army headquarters, in Talbot street, Norfolk, recently, from alcoholic poisoning, was said to be improved at St. Vincent's Hospital. Welsh's home is in Glen Walls, N. Y., it was disclosed by papers found in his pockets.

H. C. Young, a farmer of Weldon, was badly bitten last Friday by an opossum. His son treed two animals and, climbing up, he seized them and pitched them down to his father. One of the beasts attacked Young fiercely on landing in his arms, and badly mutilated one of his thumbs before it yielded its hold.

A sensation was sprung at the meeting of the police commissioners at Danville recently when John Thomas Watson, an attorney by the Law and Order League, filed blanket charges against Police Sergeant J. H. Martin, charging him with collusion with men engaged in the violation of liquor laws.

The cornerstone of the new Masonic Temple at Newport News was laid recently with impressive ceremonies conducted by the grand lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Virginia. J. Alston Cabell, of Richmond, was the principal speaker. A dash of color was lent by the Knights Templar in full uniform. John S. Bottimore, of Tazewell, grand master of Virginia Masons, presided. The invocation was rendered by Dr. Frank T. McFaden, grand chaplain. The building, which will cost about $175,000, will be one of the handsomest structures of its kind in the state. It covers two lots and is four stories in height. Part of it will be used as offices and the remainder by the Masons of Newport News. There were many Richmond and Norfolk Masons present for the ceremony, which lasted nearly two hours.

Erection of a new $200,000 fireproof building at the Blackstone College for Girls will be started immediately, the board of trustees of the institution having met recently and authorized that the construction start at once. Contracts have been let for the work. The new building will take the place of the main school, which was destroyed about two weeks ago by fire.

The school has been closed since the destruction of the main building, but, it was stated, the institution will reopen about February 1; when the new wing of the school, which is now being built, will have been completed. Hope was expressed that the proposed building would be completed by the time for school to open next September. It will contain dormitories and administration offices.

Teachers of music at Lynchburg and in near-by colleges have commenced arrangements for the entertainment of the Virginia Music Teachers' Association, which is to hold its annual convention at the Virginian Hotel there February 23-25. The convention is to bring about 300 of the best musicians of the state together.

John Robert Martin, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Martin, of Amherst, narrowly missed being shot last Friday when an old pistol with which he was playing was discharged. The little boy found the pistol in an upstairs room, and pulled the trigger. The bullet grazed his forehead and went through the ceiling of the room and out through the tin roof of the house.

He Tried SUNOCO Oil

And this is what he said:

"That SUNOCO OIL I got from you proved to be fine; especially for the Haynes. It has worked better than it ever has since I bought it. I have been trying to buy some more of the oil since my return, but no one seems to handle it out here. I am writing to the factory today to have them send me some. Tell Ludd (I think that is the name of the fellow that works there with you all the time) that all I have to do with the Haynes is give it lots of Sunoco oil and gasoline and drive it like Sam Hill."

The writer is Mr. J. B. Gibson, who recently left here in his Haynes for Webb City, Mo.

What Mr. Gibson thinks is the opinion of many other SUNOCO users. Have you tried it on your car?

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

Investigation of the State Highway Department will be worse than useless if conducted in any spirit at variance with that expressed by the legislative committee Tuesday. The resolution adopted by the investigating body should serve to clear up any misapprehensions that may have existed in the public mind or about the Capitol as to the purpose of the inquiry. The committee's declaration is doubly reassuring; it reveals the perfectly legitimate nature of the committee's object, and at the same time carries a definite warning to outsiders against any attempt at subversive use of the investigation.

Let the central fact of the matter be made clear: The purpose of the investigation, the committee declares, is to obtain first-hand information of the policies, activities and management of the Highway Department for the guidance of the Legislature in the pending road legislation. There is no place in such an inquiry for politics or for personal animosities. Virginians will welcome the committee's promise that no such extraneous factors will be permitted to enter the investigation.

With the atmosphere cleared of misconceptions, the legislative committee will be expected to pursue its task without unnecessary distractions and with all possible vigor. No one can question the propriety of the inquiry. The Highway Department has been subjected to widespread criticism. This criticism must be answered, affirmatively or negatively. The record should be kept straight under any conditions, and it is particularly essential that it shall be kept straight at a time when the state is contemplating the inauguration of an epochal highway building project. The General Assembly should not face the necessity of going into this important matter lacking in vital information. The undertaking that is in prospect means too much to the people of the state, to the future of the state, to be initiated under handicaps that are now easily removable. The legislative committee sums up the whole matter in the most effective language: "If defects exist, either in the laws governing the department or in the management of the department under those laws, any prepared legislation should be considered with the fullest knowledge of the facts."—Richmond Times Dispatch.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

The spectacular descent of Austrian exchange to the rate of 10,000 kronen to the dollar has served to emphasize the currency situation caused by the torrent of paper money that has been let loose. In a majority of nations exchange is lower today than it was a year ago, and the printing presses are still running. Will it eventually result in bankruptcy and repudiation? These are questions which naturally recur to the minds of those who have watched the fall of international exchange.

It is a striking fact that $100 in American money will purchase 1,000,000 Austrian kronen, and that an immigrant wishing to transmit $50 to relatives in Poland can send them 100,000 marks for that sum. It is not unnatural that many persons should be so impressed by this situation as to be hourly awaiting the smash which seems inevitable.

A well known writer on business topics, however, takes an optimistic view of the situation, and believes the world will be able to weather the storm, no matter how severe it may be. He calls attention to the fact that during the French revolution there were 245,000,000,000 franc assignats issued which became worthless overnight. This imposed a great hardship upon the French people, but they survived it, and eventually brought their currency up to a normal state. During the civil war in America the confederacy issued many millions in paper money which became less and less valuable as the war progressed and finally lost all its value. The people of the South felt this loss keenly, but in time it was forgotten. He also cites the experience of Mexico, and refers to some of the mushroom governments which sprang up in Europe following the war and issued large amounts of paper money which passed current for a time and then became worthless.

It is hoped that through co-operation of the stronger nations a financial crash in Europe may be avoided, and that the depreciated currency may gradually gain in value until it comes back to normal. But it is well to reflect that if some countries should find it impossible to avoid bankruptcy it does not mean that the whole world will become seriously involved. It is encouraging to find from history that similar crises have been passed through successfully.

Perhaps a financial crash is needed to bring certain nations to their senses, and cause them to think more of productive enterprise than of politics and war. When they abandon bolshevism, stop strengthening their war machines and go to work in earnest, they will contribute mightily to conditions which will make their money more valuable and give their kronen and marks a greatly enhanced purchasing power.

It is an odd fact that while some countries are suffering acutely from depressed exchange, others are profiting by their own debased currency. This is notably the case in Germany. The German government and people have actually made money by the drop in value of the mark. They borrowed from abroad when the mark was higher, and are paying their debts when the mark is lower, pocketing the difference. The German people are buying all the materials and commodities possible, as these suffer little or no shrinkage compared with the rapidly dwindling mark. Then, as the mark goes down, the relative value of their possessions goes up. It was by taking advantage of the fall of the mark that Hugo Stinnes has made billions in the last two or three years. He bought on credit all the railroads and manufacturing establishments he could find, mortgaging one to buy another. The drop in the value of money made his properties correspondingly more valuable, and he paid off many of his debts for 10 or even 5 per cent of what they had been when he contracted them.

Under proper conditions American gold can be loaned to solvent European governments. This plan would act as a restorative at once. But it is a proceeding which requires caution and farsightedness. The United States government is now considering the situation with great care, before committing itself too deeply in regard to the Genoa conference.—Washington Post.

UNEMPLOYED SERVICE MEN

Many of the veterans of the world war are reported still without any job. It is pitiful to think of these fellows who were thrown out of the regular business machine by their army service, and who now can't get back. In some states it is said that one-third of the former soldiers are out of work today.

If these men remain idle long, it must have a detrimental effect on the patriotic spirit of the people. The impression will spread that the American government does not appreciate sacrifices, and that it does not make any great effort to care for the interests of the men whose occupations were interrupted by the call to service.

The army of course included all kinds of fellows, and some were men of idle habits who would not stick to a job if they got it. But the great majority want to make good and their experience constituted a valuable training.—Exponent.

IF YOU HAVE A FRIEND

If you have a friend worth loving,
Love him. Yes, and let him know
That you love him, ere life's evening
Tinge his brow with sunset glow.
Why should good words ne'er be said
Of a friend—till he is dead?

If you hear a song that thrills you,
Sung by any child of song,
Praise it. Do not let the singer
Wait deserved praises long.
Why should one who thrills your heart
Lack the joy you may impart?

LAUGH AND LIVE

CAUGHT AT LAST

Mr. Thursday—"Our friend, Dodge, tells me that he has been doing settlement work lately."

Mr. Friday—"Yes, his creditors finally cornered him."—The People's Home Journal.

HOW HE READ IT

A poor woman of Shoreham, whose husband was going to sea, handed through the clerk to the person this public prayer: "A man going to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation." The person, pointing it in his own way read to the ears of his flock: "A man going to see his wife, desires the prayers of the congregation."

SEEING THE WORLD

This story comes out of the Editor's Drawer of Harper's Magazine. Two American soldiers were engaged in trench digging, when one paused to ask the other if he remembered the big posters back home saying: "Enlist and see the world."

"Yes," replied his friend, "but why?"
"Well, I didn't know we had to dig clear through it in order to see it."

THOUGHT IT WAS A CAMP MEETING

Old Caesar thought he knew something about the tented field, having followed his master as body-servant through the war between the States, but Camp Jackson was a revelation to him.

"Yer mean, Maus' Jeeems," he cross-examined his young massa, "dat dese young gem'n can't drink nothin' stronger'n spring water?"

"That's all."
"And no frolickin' wid de gals?"
"None whatever."
"An' no swearin' at de males?"
"Against regulation."
"Lor' Maus' Jeeems' disber ain't no camp. Disber's a camp meetin'!"

TOO LATE

One day Hazel came into the house crying because a small boy had kicked her.

"Why didn't you run away?" her grandmother asked.
"Well," she replied, "I did, but then I was already kicked."

Peace Time Patriotism

¶ The American people were fairly started on the road to National Thriftness during the war. They learned how to get along without a good many things that had theretofore been considered necessary, and many who had never saved before managed to lend money to the government.

¶ It is to be hoped that the people will not forget the war's lesson of economy and thrift, and that those who have fallen back into the old ways of extravagant living will soon come to realize that patriotism can be exemplified as well in peace as in war.

¶ Patriotism demands thrift.

Six Reasons for Placing Motor Carriers Under State Regulation

Because the business of transporting passengers and freight by motor carriers has become an important public service—

Because all other common carriers in Virginia are under State regulation and control—

Because unrestricted motor bus traffic is doing serious damage to streets and highways—

Because the public, instead of the motor carriers, is now paying for the road repairs which these vehicles make necessary—

Because only through State regulation can motor buses be required to operate on regular routes or maintain fixed time schedules—

Because under present conditions anyone, no matter what his character may be, may operate the bus in which your wife and children ride.

The subject of the Woman's Missionary meeting Sunday morning was China and the needs of the Home Field. A letter was read that Mrs. Doak had received from Miss Lillian C. Mills, of China, describing the work and giving a very vivid description of the floods of last fall, telling of the loss of crops, homes and lives of the people and how they fled to higher ground in boats taking with them what they could and setting up their home by making some sort of shelter and immediately planting some plots of greens which matures quickly for food. PLAN TO CONSOLIDATE MANY STATE OFFICES

House Debates Resolution for Investigation of Highway Department.

A resolution was adopted last week by the House for the appointment of a legislative investigating committee to inquire into the question of useless and supernumerary state offices, boards and commission in Virginia, such as could be dispensed with altogether, as well as such as could be merged with other state departments.

This resolution was introduced by Delegate Marvin Smitley, of Brunswick, and appeared to be popular. The present General Assembly appears to be bent on economy.

The resolution called for the appointment of a committee of nine to make investigation and report.

The House devoted some time to debate on the question of adopting the joint resolution providing for investigation of the State Highway Department. An effort was made to reduce the amount for the investigation from $2,000 to $500. Delegate Rew, of Accomac, wanted the resolution sent to committee. The matter was still under debate when adjournment was taken until Monday.

Proposes Compulsory Education

Delegate Frank Williams, of Fairfax, chairman of the House Committee on schools and colleges, offered a bill making education compulsory by requiring all children between the ages of seven and sixteen, not having completed the grammar or not being usefully employed, to attend school for the full time each day of the session.

Tribute To Woodrow Wilson

At the suggestion and request of United States Carter Glass, the Senate and House observed a "Wilson Hour," between noon and 1 o'clock. A special message from Governor Westmoreland Davis was read to the lawmakers, commending to their attention and study "the great career and great name of America's War President."

The Senate, after brief references of respect and admiration to Wilson, adjourned. In the lower branch representative took the floor, each vying with his predecessor in tributes of praise to the Democratic leader.

Fight on Pilots Begun

The fight on the Virginia Pilot's Association was started in the House in dead earnest, when Major Edwin H. Gibson, of Culpeper, introduced a joint resolution calling for an immediate investigation of this organization. The resolution, which was referred to committee, asked for "the annual gross and net income of each member of the said association for the eight years last past and a statement of the annual expenses of the association for the same period, including as a separate item the amount annually expended for advertisement, publicity and propaganda purposes; also a statement of any surplus now shown on the books of the same association. Davis, Stuart and Trinkle there.

Gov. Westmoreland Davis, former Gov. Henry C. Stuart, and Gov.-elect E. Lee Trinkle, are all in Richmond, and each visited the Capitol. Mr. Stuart is very much interested in the legislative redistricting of the state. Governor-elect Trinkle is in constant conference with his friends while Governor Davis, who is to retire from office at the expiration of this month, expects to plunge at once into his campaign for the United States Senate against Senator Claude A. Swanson.

The session of the General Assembly the Senate and House committees having been announced is expected to get down to real work by the end of this week. The first big fight will be over the State Highway Department and their road bond issue, both of which appear to be under hot fire at this time.

DEATH OF INFANT

John A. Metz, eight-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Metz, died at the Children's Hospital, Washington, yesterday morning at ten o'clock. All that medical skill could do was done for this little one, but it was of no avail.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning about ten o'clock from the depot, when the remains will be brought from Washington.

Interment will be in the cemetery, and the services at the grave will be conducted by Rev. A. Stuart Gibson and Rev. T. D. D. Clark.
