AUXILIARY HOLDS STATED MEETING

Address by Rev. William Stevens on "Women in Relation to Political Influence."

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent) The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held in the high school building on Friday.

As decided at the January meeting, a luncheon was served at 12:30 p. m. During the luncheon, Mrs. Round suggested that new members be solicited and dues for 1922 be collected.

The following new members were enrolled: Mesdames C. C. Lynn, J. J. Murphy, M. Bruce Whitmore, George B. McDonald, J. F. Powell Merchant and R. S. Emmons and Mrs. Emmons were invited to join. Twenty-six members paid their dues.

At 2 p. m. all adjourned to the study room, where the meeting was held, Mrs. Round presiding.

The following program was presented: Song, Old Virginia; Prayer, Rev. William Stevens; Song, America the Beautiful.

Business meeting was held until after the address was delivered by Rev. William Stevens. The latter filled the place on the program of Dr. Wayland, who, owing to the extreme illness of Mrs. Wayland's mother, was unable to be present.

In order of business the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and approved. Report of the committee amending the constitution was laid on the table until the March meeting.

Mrs. C. F. M. Lewis made a report of the work of the rest room committee and reported $10.40 in bank at present.

The election of officers for 1922 followed: President, Mrs. E. E. E. E. E. E.; vice-president, Mrs. May E. E. E.; secretary, Miss Lillian E. E. E.; assistant, Mrs. C. F. M. Lewis; treasurer, Mrs. E. E. E. E. E. Rest room committee, Mrs. C. F. M. Lewis, (assistant appointed); program committee, Mesdames Round, Gibson and E. E. E.

Words of thanks, was given to the retiring officers for their service during 1921.

A special piece of business was presented by members of the C. T. U., this to be considered by the auxiliary at their next meeting.

The following is a synopsis of Rev. William Stevens' address, his subject being "Women in Relation to Political Influence."

In introduction to his subject, Rev. Stevens told of attendance at an enforcement conference in Richmond. He said that "Trinkie's ringing call to the people of Virginia was that they stand by enforcement of the law. If an officer doesn't do his duty he shall be dismissed. Another thing brought before the body was rescinding of the law requiring a warrant to search automobiles loaded with bootleg liquor. The Governor recommended repeal of such law."

The speaker said that no organization could have a better program than that of the Woman's Auxiliary. To do anything that will be for the uplift of the county and community He urged the women to be sure to pay their poll tax in time to allow them to cast their votes. He also urged all women to look

PATRONS' LEAGUE MEETS

Interesting Program Rendered by Primary Department.

The Patrons' League of Bennett School held its regular monthly meeting on February 3 at the school building. After a most interesting program, rendered by the primary department, under the supervision of Miss Grace B. Moran, a business meeting was held.

This league for the short time in which it has been in existence has done a wonderful work. Among other things it was instrumental in having sanitary drinking fountains placed in the school buildings. It purchased curtains for every room in the building at a cost of about $200, and it had the walls tinted and made other needed repairs about the building.

There is now in the treasury the sum of $360, $50 of which will be devoted to the purchase of chairs and books for the school library. It also proposes to repair the old cinder walk between the courthouse and the school building, and is planning to buy single desks for one and probably for two of the rooms.

DAIRYMAN ORGANIZE

About Fifty Members Present—Officers Elected.

The Prince William branch of the Maryland-Virginia Dairyman's Association was organized in Manassas on Wednesday, February 15.

The meeting, which was held in the town hall, was called to order by Mr. S. C. Harley, after which interesting addresses were made by Mr. Dallas Berry, of Fairfax and Mr. O. L. Jamison, of Washington, president and superintendent, respectively, of the association.

This organization is expected to fill a long felt want. Heretofore the nearest meetings having all been held in Washington, the members of the association in this section of the county not being able to attend, have felt rather out of touch with the work.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, R. S. Hynson; vice-presidents, S. C. Harley and J. A. Hooker; secretary-treasurer, Wheatley Johnson.

About fifty members were present.

The next meeting will be held at the call of the president.

at the question squarely and see the responsibility that rests upon them since they have been given the ballot. He assured them that it is not degrading or belittling to womankind when she casts her vote to protect her boy and girl.

He told of a woman in a town in Iowa who was elected mayor on the platform that she expected to clean up the town. The speaker said that women cannot afford not to vote; they must vote to offset the corrupt element of our government. He said, "As you take part in the political issue of the day, face it as it is—little bigger than party lines."

In closing, Mr. Stevens said that he would take his text at the close: "He then that is risen with Christ seek those things that are above." Virtue, honor, truth—seek for higher and nobler things—things that will make old Prince William a better place to live in. See a vision of the possibilities.

HIGH SCHOOL EVENTS

Luncheon Served for Russian Relief Netted Sum of $30.00.

The past week has been crowded with events at the Manassas high school. On Tuesday and Wednesday the first and second year classes of the home economics department conducted a luncheon for the Russian relief. The patronage of the student body was excellent. As all materials were donated by the faculty and by the classes serving the luncheon, the sale was clear, the amount reported raised being $30.00.

Tuesday afternoon an assembly was held, the program follows:

Prayer.
Song, America the Beautiful.
Cardinal Rules of Health—Catherine Ayres.

Startling News—Susan Ish Harrison.

Rules for Healthful Sleeping—Thomas Fately.

The week will close tonight with the basketball game to be played at Eastern College-Conservatory gymnasium. The game will be between the boys' team and a team from Orange.

All through the week a general sale of delicious chocolate, coconut and mint candy has been going on, to sweeten our labors of hard study in school and out, and to help the athletic association.

DEATH OF MRS. HEFLIN

Mrs. Susan F. Heflin, widow of Marshall Heflin, an ex-Confederate soldier, died at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. John S. Anas, on January 7th.

Mrs. Heflin had reached the age of ninety odd years, and was in good health until the day before her death. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Anna, and Mrs. Silas Rose, and six sons, who acted as pallbearers, the eldest being seventy and the youngest fifty-five years of age.

The deceased united with the Grove Baptist Church when she was young, and later moved her membership to Rock Hill.

Her funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Westwood Hutchinson, and her remains were laid to rest in the Rock Hill cemetery.

BENEFIT FOR M. H. S.

Manassas High School Community League will present a "vaudeville" entertainment at the Dixie Monday night, February 27, for the high school benefit.

Rosser M. Thompson, civil war veteran, died last Friday at his home in Culpeper in his eighty-eighth year. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. J. Gordon Thomas and Miss Rosa Thompson, both of Culpeper. Funeral services were held Sunday from the Baptist Church and burial was in the Masonic cemetery. He had been deacon in the church for a number of years and was a prominent Mason.

VALENTINE FAIR SUCCESS

Grace M. E. Church, South, Realize Sum of $130.00.

One of the most important social events of the week was the Valentine fair, held on Tuesday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harrell, on West street.

At about four o'clock in the afternoon, the doors of this hospitable home were thrown open to the public, and from that hour on until nine o'clock, a steady stream of visitors was coming and going.

The whole ground floor of the residence had been converted into a dining hall, and a pleasing picture it presented with its softly shaded red lights, artistically arranged vases of red roses, and hearts of every size, displayed throughout the decorations.

The menu cards were of large hearts, cut from fed cardboard, and bonbon dishes of miniature candy hearts were found on each table. The menu, which consisted of chicken salad, hot rolls, ham, coffee, tea, cocoa, ice cream and cake, was daintily served by several young ladies, who with their heart-shaped aprons and bandeaux, made a picture that would have gladdened the eyes of old St. Valentine himself.

In addition to the supper and the beautiful fancy articles for sale, another great attraction of the evening was the music which was furnished by the following young ladies of Eastern College-Conservatory: Misses Bobbie Carr and Thelma Lee, violin, and Misses Lucille Dorough and Beatrice Luke, piano and vocal music.

The crowd was not only a large, but a liberal one, and a sum of $130.00 was realized.

DUMFRIES

Miss Goldie Keys gave an old-fashioned "taffy pull" last Friday night. Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves very much.

Miss Constance Waters, of Manassas, spent the week-end at her home here. Saturday night she entertained Misses Norah Beazley, Goldie Keys, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Keys, and Messrs. Magruder Keys, George and Leon Waters, Frances Keys, of Joplin, and Rev. A. H. Shumate.

Mrs. R. S. Brawner called on Mrs. Warfield Brawner this week.

Mr. French Brawner, of Washington, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brawner.

Little Elenore Brawner received a number of her little friends last Thursday in honor of her fifth birthday.

A. H. Shumate, of Hotel Druzzella, called on friends in the village Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Norah Beazley and Mr. George Waters spent Tuesday evening with their friends, Mr. M. J. Keys' family.

We are glad to know that little Catherine Keys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eastman Keys, is better at this writing. At one time pneumonia was feared.

Mrs. Eastman Keys has returned to her home after spending the week with her father, F. C. Keys, near Richmond, where she was nursing her brother through typhoid fever.

The Jr. O. U. A. M., of Dumfries, will present a flag and Bible to the school next Wednesday, February 22. A suitable program is being arranged by our principal, Miss Norah Beazley.

Mr. Magruder Keys was entertained by Miss Norah Beazley Sunday evening.

DEATH OF MISS DINGES

Deceased Was a Sister of Mrs. J. L. Bushong, of Manassas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bushong and daughter, Frances, have returned from Middletown, Va., where Mrs. Bushong was called by the death of her sister, Miss Vista Dinges.

Miss Dinges was a daughter of the late William H. Dinges and Frances C. Dinges, and belonged to one of the oldest families of Frederick county.

Miss Dinges was a member of the Presbyterian Church at Vancluse, Va., and was an active church worker.

The funeral services took place from her home, "Ripple Farm," on Tuesday morning and interment was in the family burying place on the farm.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. F. C. Dinges, and sisters, Miss Edna Dinges, of Middletown; Mrs. Robert G. Van Meter, of Acosta, Pa., and Mrs. J. L. Bushong, of Manassas, and one stepbrother, Mr. Geo. C. Dinges, of Stephens City, Va.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon I. Glascock, Formerly of Prince William, New of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon I. Glascock celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Tuesday, February 7, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Shepard, 2706 13th street, northeast, Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Glascock spent most of their married life in lower Prince William, but have resided in Washington for the past four years. They are the parents of nine children, five of whom are now living. All were present with their families with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Ashby Glascock and son Billy, who were deprived of this pleasure on account of the illness of Mrs. Glascock.

A six o'clock dinner was served and a scheme of golden yellow was carried out in the dining room. A feature of the celebration was the cutting of the beautiful wedding cake, at which time Mr. Glascock repeated several verses of poetry, which he said expressed his experiences of the past fifty years.

Many close relations were present, making it virtually a family reunion. A number of attractive anniversary presents were tendered the couple.

Among those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glascock, Mahlon Glascock, jr., Bun Glascock and Margaret Glascock, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. David Glascock, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Glascock, of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sheppard and son, Junior, of Washington; Milton Gulick, brother of Mrs. Glascock and Miss Marie Gulick; Mrs. Anna Campbell and daughter, Miss Margarete; Miss Naomi Myers, John Reynolds, Mrs. Norris Almstead, of Washington; Miss Mollie Glascock, of Agnewville, sister of Mr. Glascock; Mrs. Georgia Norman, of Hamilton, sister of Mrs. Glascock; Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Warner, Miss Margaret James, Miss Blanche Rogers, all of Hamilton; Mrs. Luck Tiffany, of Lincoln; Mrs. Keene Warner and daughters, Alverda and Zelma Lee, of Braddock; Miss Winifred Glascock, of Braddock; Mrs. John Coleman, of White Post; Mrs. Mollie Gulick and Mr. and Mrs. P. STATE NEWS NOTES

Officials of the International Merchant Marine announce that they intend to increase their general cargo trade to and from the ports of Hampton Roads. The office which they had in Norfolk and which was closed some time ago probably will be reopened in the near future. The general agent says: "It is indeed gratifying to note that freight for export is arriving at Newport News in greater quantities than has been the case for the past few months—at least we are now doing more business in this section than ever before, and you may rest assured that we will not hesitate to supply sufficient vessels to handle any further increase that may take place. About half the vessels scheduled to sail during February will leave Newport News. We are hopeful that the increased movements of general cargo and cattle will be of a permanent nature so that we may continue our frequent sailings to English and Continental European ports."

Every conviction for post office robberies hereafter will mean a term in the federal prison at Atlanta for the guilty party. Warning to this effect was issued from the bench at Norfolk by federal Judge D. Lawrence Groner Saturday following the sentencing of three men for this violation. Judge Groner stated that beginning with the next term of court those guilty will be sent to Atlanta.

The state highway commission has signed the contract for the construction of the road between Alexandria and Fairfax Court House, a distance of fourteen miles. The signing was done in Richmond recently by the commission, with Mayor J. M. Duncan and Capt. George H. Evans, business manager of the chamber of commerce. The agreement has practically been approved by the board of supervisors of Fairfax county. The proposed road will cost $500,000. Temporary notes will be issued in lieu of the bonds, and Alexandria banks have agreed to handle the bonds, which are to be disposed of as the money is needed and will bear interest from date of issuance only. It is believed that after certain little details are completed the actual work of constructing the road will be commenced by April 1. A certain part of the interest charges will be paid by Alexandria.

Linton Earl Lloyd, one of five sons of James W. Lloyd, who served in the American army in France during the world war, was drowned last week in a small reservoir on his father's farm near Berry's Ferry, Clarke county, according to a special dispatch from Winchester. His face was submerged in about twelve inches of water that had collected in the reservoir the young man was building. It was believed he either fell and struck his head against a rock, rendering him unconscious, or he suffered an attack of heart disease. He was a member of Company D, 101st Infantry, 26th Division. Surviving are his parents, six brothers and three sisters. He was twenty-four years old.

One of the most interesting ejectment suits in many years has been instituted in the circuit court at Christiansburg by Mrs. Annie Sibold, of West Virginia, against the Virginia Polytechnic Institute to recover one acre of land in the heart of the V. P. I. campus, and it will probably be tried at the May term of court. Mrs. Sibold is a daughter of the late John M. Harvey, who died in 1863, leaving a widow and two children. The widow married a few years later, and she and her husband united in a deed conveying her claim of dower in one acre of land to the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, in 1874, alleged to have been owned by her former husband, John M. Harvey. The widow died some four years ago in West Virginia, and one of her children died before maturity. Mrs. Sibold claims she is the sole heir and owner of the land and an interesting legal battle over the land which the plaintiff alleges is worth $8,000, as well as a claim for rental since her mother's death, will be fought out at the next term of court. A survey has been ordered and is now being made. Many nice legal questions may arise and the outcome is awaited with anxiety on both sides, as some of the points have never been passed on by a Virginia court, so it is stated.

A United States flag that once floated over the fortifications at Winchester known as Milroy's fort, and which for a time served to check a Confederate advance, has been sent to Gen. J. Warren Keifer, at Springfield, Ohio, by Mrs. Annie Jackson Reese, of that city, who had kept it in her possession nearly fifty-nine years. The flag has been well preserved. The last time General Keifer saw the flag was on the evening of June 15, 1863. It was then floating over a fort near Winchester. That night union forces, under General Milroy, evacuated their position and escaped capture by the Confederates.

The large water pipe which supplies the town of Riverton, was broken several days ago due to the heavy pressure of ice on the river. The break occurred near the centre of the stream where the water is between four and five feet deep. Riverton was without the town water supply for several days and had to depend on wells and cisterns. The pipe was repaired with the aid of grappling hooks which rescued the broken end which had floated some distance down the river.

William, the young son of Mr. C. O. Pulman, residing on the Telegraph road, about a mile from Alexandria, was Tuesday of last week bitten by an Airdale dog. The animal was killed and its head sent to the Research Laboratory, in Washington, where it was found that it was suffering from rabies. The boy has been taken to the Pasteur Institute in Washington for treatment. The dog had bitten several other dogs in the Pulman neighborhood and Officer Robert A. Long, of Fairfax county, shot them. The dog is said to have had a Fairfax county tag, No.

7166, but at the office of the county treasurer it is stated no such number has been issued in the county in the past two years.

Orchardists of the counties around Lynchburg are pushing plans for organization for marketing and storage of future crops and plans now are well under way for final organization in Lynchburg at a meeting to be held February 18. A cold storage plant is part of the co-operative plan.

Rose of Brooklandwood, "pure bred Guernsey cow, owned by L. Clarke Hoge, Leesburg, gave during the month of January, 1,630 pounds of milk, about twice her own weight. In terms of gallons this would be 191 or over, an average of six gallons per day. If churned into butter 77.9 lbs, or 2 1/2 lbs a day for the month. The first day of the month she gave 42.5 lbs of milk, or five gallons, and the last day 59.6, or seven gallons.

Citizens of Petersburg are warned by the Salvation Army officials to be on the lookout for fakers who have been soliciting funds in the name of the Salvation Army. The officers of the local organization say that the clothes worn by the illegitimate solicitors are similar to the uniform of all solicitors for the Salvation Army. Envoy McCutcheon said recently that his organization has no collectors at work at this time, and announces that the best way for citizens to distinguish the regular Salvation Army workers is by the red band on their hats.

Fredericksburg Post, American Legion, has communicated with Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, of Alexandria, and she has consented to visit the post on February 21, and assist in the organization of the Woman's Auxiliary. Committees have been appointed to arrange details of the affair which will consist of a conference between Mrs. Barrett and the women of the city who are eligible to join and a public mass meeting at the courthouse at night, which will be addressed by Dr. Barrett, and a reception by the Legion Post to members of the auxiliary. Dr. Barrett, who is a speaker of note, is at the head of the Legion Auxiliary in the state.

As a result of urgent recommendations of members of the coroner's jury, which investigated the case, a reward of $400 is to be offered for information that will clear up the mystery surrounding the death of Carl Brooks, a 16-year-old boy, whose burned torso was found in the ruins of a burned, unoccupied new dwelling at Lynchburg the morning of January 1. Members of the board of supervisors have pledged themselves to vote at the next meeting for $200 reward by the county, and Governor Trinkle has advised county authorities that the state will supplement the reward by a similar sum. The rewards are for the arrest and conviction of the murder or murderers of the boy.

A capture of fifty-four gallons of corn whisky, two bootleggers and a Studebaker roadster was made Saturday by Chief of Police S. B. Perry and Officer Catlett Jenkins, when the rum-runners attempted to cross over the city bridge which spans the Rappahannock River at Fredericksburg, en route north. When surprised at the gate by the officers, the men made an attempt to resist arrest. They were taken to a detention cell at headquarters and jailed until trial for violation of the state prohibition law. The men gave names of C. M. Atwood and A. L. Kitchen, of Petersburg, and were neatly dressed and well appearing. The liquor was contained in 108 half-gallon fruit jars, and was packed in the rear and under the seat of the roadster car.

At the auction sale at Camp Lee Saturday 300 small buildings were sold at prices ranging from $25 to $250 each. Fifty officers' buildings were sold in a lump at $50 each and were purchased by Price Ray, of Owensboro, Ky. The Red Cross buildings were sold to a bidder from Hopewell for $600. Two hundred Kawanee and Ideal water heaters brought $32 each. Price Ray was the purchaser. Brenner & Michaelson, of Richmond, bought all of the radiations of the camp at a cost of about $25,000. The aggregate amount realized from the sale for the six days it has been held is estimated to about $350,000.

The Free Will Baptist Church in Madison was found in ashes last Friday morning. The night before prayer meeting was held in the church, and it being very cold a big fire was made in the stove, and the building is supposed to have caught fire from an overheated flue. There was no sign of danger from fire when the worshippers left about nine o'clock. The destruction of the church is a serious setback to religious activity in that community.

He Tried SUNOCO Oil

And this is what he said:

"That SUNOCO OIL I got from you proved to be fine; especially for the Haynes. It has worked better than it ever has since I bought it. I have been trying to buy some more of the oil since my return, but no one seems to handle it out here. I am writing to the factory today to have them send me some. Tell Ludd (I think that is the name of the fellow that works there with you all the time) that all I have to do with the Haynes is give it lots of Sunoco oil and gasoline and drive it like Sam Hill."

The writer is Mr. J. B. Gibson, who recently left here in his Haynes for Webb City, Mo.

What Mr. Gibson thinks is the opinion of many other SUNOCO users. Have you tried it on your car?

HARDING'S GOOD JUDGMENT

The President's address to the Senate asking prompt ratification of the nine treaties negotiated by the Washington conference, submitted by him was most favorably received on both sides of the chamber. While disclaiming that all of the treaties were interdependent, he stressed the fact that they have such important relationship that favorable action on all of them was necessary to carry out the dominant thought of making them "covenants of harmony, of assurance, of conviction, of confidence and of unanimity." Recognizing that there has been more expressed opposition to the four-power pact designed to guarantee the peace of the Pacific, he closely linked it with the naval reduction pact, and in reminding the Senate that it was negotiated and signed in accordance with its expressed wish, argued that the particular ratification of the naval treaty was the settlement of international problems found in the Pacific, the basis for which was laid in the four-power treaty.

In his extended argument in behalf of the four-power pact the President made the point that all of the Eastern treaties take the place of various other treaties, agreements and understandings affecting the Pacific, and that the new treaties serve to end contradictions and remove ambiguities. He told the Senate that neither he nor the conference was unmindful of the opposition of that body to international entanglements, and in response to that sentiment he could bring every assurance, "that nothing in any of these treaties commits the United States, or any other power to any kind of alliance, entanglement or involvement. It does not require us or any other power to surrender a worth-while tradition." In case of trouble arising under the four-power treaty the signing powers, he said, are to communicate and perhaps to confer, but he explicitly affirmed that there is no commitment to armed forces, no alliance, no written or moral obligation to join in defense and no express or implied agreement to act except in accordance with constitutional methods. These methods, he thought, would be effective moral warning to any aggressive nation.

In the careful phrasing of his appeal to the Senate for prompt ratification of the treaties the President scrupulously respected its traditional attitude on foreign policies. He did not use any words implying that the pacts should not be thoroughly studied, or that the Senate should refrain its right to include reservations in its resolution of ratification. In this connection, particularly good judgment was shown in submitting to the Senate, along with the treaties, for its information, the complete minutes of the plenary sessions and committee meetings and the report made to him by the American delegation. This remarkable example of open diplomacy will disarm much of the criticism of the methods by which the agreements were reached, which otherwise might have cropped out in the subsequent consideration of the treaties by the Senate. Significant of the good impression created by his speech was the statement of Senator Borah that he considered it "a very fine address," adding that he had been most favorably impressed and that he would support the treaties if he found the President's construction of them correct.

Not only did the President set the discussion of the treaties on the high plane of universal world desire for practical methods of forestalling future conflicts between nations, but in inviting the Senate to consider them entirely on their merits, eschewing partisanship, he indicted the course of true wisdom for that body to pursue in its forthcoming debates. There is no doubt about American sentiment being favorable to ratification, and the Senate will come under double public condemnation if it defeats this second attempt at international accord for reducing to a minimum the danger of future wars.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN

Rodger Dolan says it takes us half our life to find out what not to do, and then we're too old to make our experience count for much.

I am reminded of this by the receipt of a letter from a young man who says he has just turned twenty-one and wants some advice.

None of us are ever happier than when giving out advice or information, and I being no exception to the rule, am glad to tell this young man what I would do if I were twenty-one.

I would take care of my health. I wouldn't over-exercise. I would go through a few setting-up exercises, morning and evening. I would get at least eight hours sleep every night. I would confine all my drinking to water—lots of it.

I would read at least two hours every day—mostly biography, history and economics. I would read the "Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin" at least once every two years.

I would pay cash for everything. I wouldn't contract any obligation unless I had the money in the bank to meet it. Credit is a good servant but a bad master.

I would try to do my job a little better than it was ever done before. If I were peeling potatoes, I would be the fastest peeler in the city. If I were keeping books, I would get out my monthly balance promptly even though I had to work overtime.

I would cultivate a hobby—something to which I could turn in my moments of leisure.

I would start a bank account and deposit to my credit a definite amount every pay day. I would let nothing interfere with this habit. As my savings began to accumulate into a tidy sum I would be cautious about investing it, without asking the advice of a responsible person.

I would value friendships highly, remembering that it is to one's friends one must turn when one is in trouble, and that friends cannot be created overnight.

I would organize myself, having a time and a place for everything so far as possible. When I made up my mind to do a thing I would write down my resolution, and follow myself up to see that I carried it out.

I would read the daily newspapers of my town carefully in order that I might know what was going on. I would take an interest in civic affairs, and try to vote intelligently. I would boost my town—or get out. Every citizen helps to make a town what it is—good or bad.

I would always be a booster for my employer—or get out. An employee who knocks his employer is as bad as a guest who steals from his host.

I would aim high on the theory that what others think of us is determined to a large extent by the estimate which we form of ourselves.—William A. Feather, in Type Meta Magazine.

PAYING THE BONUS COST

The American Legion, composed largely of those that come from the indefinite group commonly called "the people," has worked hard for the soldier bonus under the delusion that the cost of raising it would fall on the shoulders of war profiteers and the ultra rich and that the masses of American citizens, already struggling along under burdens of taxation and expense that challenge their ability, would escape the penalties it will impose. It appears from the tentative program of levies agreed upon by the House Ways and Means Committee that the American Legion, with the help of their fellow average citizen, will be called upon to pay themselves off.

As so far agreed upon the committee proposes to raise $22,000,000 by a tax on undivided profits of corporations, which is the only feature of the bill even faintly resembling an attempt to make those who have it to pay the cost of the bonus. In the raising of the additional $230,000,000 yearly, war profiteers and those who honestly made large fortunes during the war, will bear but a small part, the American Legion and their friends being compelled to shoulder the rest, which is going to be got by taxing parcel post packages, gasoline, automobile horsepower, documentary stamps, cigarettes, smoking and chewing tobaccos and admission to places of amusements. The latter will be exactly doubled where the charge is over twenty-five cents and in the cities the poor, whose chief form of amusement is the motion picture, are rarely permitted to see a good picture for less than that price.

It would seem that the republicans have very carefully placed the burden of the bonus on the general public and as the estimated revenues from the sources mentioned fall about thirty-five million short of the sum needed yearly, the committee must further ponder ways to extract coin.—Fredricksburg Free Lance.

KEEP GOING

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
And the road you're treading seems all uphill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest if you must—but don't you quit.

Life is queer, with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about,
Don't give up, though the pace seems slow—
When he might have won had he stuck it out;
You may succeed with another blow.

Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and faltering man,
Often the struggle has given up
When he might have captured the victor's cup,
And he learned too late, when the night slipped down,
How close he was to the golden crown.

Success is failure turned inside out—
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems afar;
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit—
It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

LAUGH AND LIVE

ENGLISH AS IT SOUNDS

Here is a singular incident showing how easy it is to mis-translate an overheard remark. Said Mrs. A. (one of the overhearers)—They must have been to the zoo, because I heard her mention "a trained deer."

Said Mr. B.—No, no. They were going away, and she said to him, "Find out about the train, dear."

Said Mr. C.—I think you both are wrong. It seemed to me they were discussing music, for she said "A trained ear" very distinctly.

A few minutes later the woman herself appeared and they told her of their disagreement.

"Well," she laughed, "that's certainly funny. You are poor guessers, all of you. The fact is, I'd been out to the country overnight, and was asking my husband if it rained here last evening."

Peace Time Patriotism

¶ The American people were fairly started on the road to National Thriftness during the war. They learned how to get along without a good many things that had theretofore been considered necessary, and many who had never saved before managed to land money to the government.

¶ It is to be hoped that the people will not forget the war's lesson of economy and thrift, and that those who have fallen back into the old ways of extravagant living will soon come to realize that patriotism can be exemplified as well in peace as in war.

¶ Patriotism demands thrift.

Trial on the charge of conspiracy for the purpose of collecting $176,000 war risk insurance and $181,000 marine insurance in the sinking of the four-masted schooner Charles G. Endicott by an explosion at sea on February 9, 1921, has opened at Norfolk in United States court before Judge D. Lawrence Groner and a jury. The alleged conspirators are J. S. Vasconellas, president of the Peninsula Transportation Company, of New York, and his brother, Joseph Vasconellas, of Taunton, Mass.; Capt. James C. Cook, master, and Russell L. Beatty, alias Charles Anderson, of New York and Norfolk. The Charles G. Endicott, built in Bath, Me., twenty years ago, was consigned with a cargo of 811 tons of coal to Manzanillo, Cuba. On the night of February 9, 1921, she sank by the head, sixty miles north by east of Cape Maisi, Cuba, as the result of an explosion. The crew escaped in a lifeboat. MISSIONARY MEETING

Presbyterian Society Meets at Home of Mrs. Hornbaker.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary)

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church met on Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. E. L. Hornbaker.

The president, Mrs. E. L. Hornbaker, presided, and the meeting was opened by the singing of the beautiful hymn, "Roc of Ages." Instead of a scripture lesson, the president read an editorial in the Earnest Workers, entitled, "Thy Kingdom Come," and prayer was offered by Mrs. F. R. Saunders.

The roll was called and thirteen members answered, giving excellent selections. The minutes were read and adopted.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. E. L. Hornbaker; first vice-president, Mrs. G. D. Baker; second vice-president, Mrs. E. K. Mitchell; devotional leader, Mrs. Chloe E. Lay Hodge; recording secretary, Mrs. J. H. Dodge; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. B. McDonald; secretary of literature, Mrs. J. L. Bushong; treasurer, Mrs. F. R. Saunders; assistant treasurer, Mrs. D. R. Lewis, and accompanist, Mrs. A. B. Jamison.

The important business of annual occurrence being over, our attention was turned some what briefly to the subject of the day, "The American Indian." The leader, Mrs. J. L. Bushong, being absent, because of personal bereavement, the president took up the subject. The intense interest that enveloped this thrilling subject could hardly have scope in the short time we could devote to it. Mrs. Hornbaker held our attention while she read of "The Red Man in Church and State." The progress the Indian has made, mentally, morally and spiritually since he was given a fair chance, is wonderful. The duty of the Protestant Church is to inspire hope and effort on the part of the Indian. He has a pride in his heritage and he must be led to claim a worthy destiny for his people. Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Lewis gave us very interesting and instructive articles.

The lateness of the hour prevented a full discussion of the subject. After prayer and the benediction, the society adjourned to meet on the afternoon of February 28, at the home of Mrs. C. J. Meetze, with Mrs. E. K. Mitchell as leader. The subject for that meeting will be chosen.

DISCARD SCRUB STOCK FOR PUREBRED SIRES

Interesting Example of Value of Purebred Sires—Consult Your County Agent.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)

An interesting example of the value of a good purebred sire was given in an article which appeared in a recent issue of the Short-horn World.

According to this article, two calves were dropped in the spring of 1918 and were put in the same lot in the fall of 1919. Both were carried through that winter on hay alone and turned out in the same pasture the next spring. They were taken into the same feed lot on December 15, 1920, and fed all the clover hay they would eat until January 15, 1921, when about 5 pounds of corn and 20 to 25 pounds of silage per steer was added to their ration. They were held on this feed until being shipped to market during the latter part of March.

When sold one of these steers weighed 1410 pounds and brought 8 cents a pound, making a sale price of $112.80. The other steer weighed 990 pounds and sold for 6c a pound, bringing a total of $59.40. The difference in weight of these two steers of the same age, grown and fed together, was 420 pounds while the difference in selling price per pound was 2 cents. The total difference in selling price was $53.40.

What was the cause of the difference? Both of the steers were out of grade cows. The best steer however was by a good purebred beef sire, the other by a scrub. Examples of this kind are convincing proof of the losses incurred by farmers in using other than good purebred sires.

Can anyone afford to keep breeding to a scrub or even ordinary grade bulls when a purebred costs little more, and the results in dollars and cents mean the difference between profit and loss? The results of the two steers in this article are similar to those in our own county happening every day. Are you one of the ones that will change from a scrub to a purebred bull this spring? The county agent will help you locate this bull, and help you make arrangements about financing the difference in what your scrub brings and the cost of the purebred bull.

Not only does better bred beef cattle and dairy cattle pay big returns, but nothing pays quite so well as the best bred poultry you can secure. There is today more interest in better poultry than ever before, because of the fact that it brings in cash returns every day. Poultry, like the dairy cow, brings in a regular cash return—something that the farmer of today must have. We cannot live like we used to from one year's end to another and rely on a pay day when we sell something once or twice a year.

In order to get more farmers to raising better poultry, I have made arrangements with some of the best breeders in the county who will furnish a farmer with the number of settings of the best high class eggs and in return, should the farmer not care to pay cash, take in the fall at a stipulated time, a pullet for each setting of eggs furnished the farmer. Here is an opportunity to secure a start with some very high class standard bred chickens without any outlay of cash on your part.

If interested in securing foundation stock on the above terms, get in touch with your county agent.

Discovery of approximately 800 human skeletons in a cave near Benhams, Va., and an inspection of the interior of the cavern by Professor Henry Woodman, of the Bristol, Tenn., High School, has been brought to the attention of officials of the Smithsonian Institute, who told Col. Sam L. King, over long-distance telephone, that experts would be sent for an investigation. Reports of the huge mass of human bones in the cave reached Bristol several days ago, but on account of the discovery was not published until Prof. Woodman, a student in archeology, visited the cave at the request of a local newspaper. The day before the investigation was made three mountaineers brought to a local newspaper office six or seven skulls and other bones which they said were taken from the cave.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Hettie Margaret Turner, who departed this life two years ago today, February 17th.
We stood by her bedside and we saw her soul depart.
And when we realized she was dead, it nearly broke our heart.
Days of sadness still come o'er us;
Hidden tears so often flow;
Though it brings her memory near us,
Though she died two years ago.

MISS BLENDINGER

FEBRUARY BRIDE

Becomes Wife of Christian A. Heineken, Third, at Home Ceremony.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Blendinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Blendinger, to Christian A. Heineken, third son of Mrs. Nina Carter Heineken, of Warrenton, Va., took place at 8 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's parents, 10 Rockview Terrac, North Plainfield, Rev. H. Cross, Episcopal Church, officiating in the presence of about one hundred and fifty guests from this city and out of town.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon with a train of white panne velvet and silver cloth. Her veil of tulle had a crown of rose point lace and was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies-of-the-valley in the center of which were four pale colored orchids.

Mrs. Herbert W. Schafer, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, was gowned in yellow tulle over yellow satin, trimmed with pale lavender sweet peas. Miss Madeline Griswold, of Orange, was the maid of honor. Her gown was of pink over orchid colored chiffon, trimmed with ruffles and silver lace and she carried sweet peas, shading from pale lavender to the deepest orchid.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Irma Williams, of North Plainfield; Ethel Meshinger, of Dubuque, Iowa; Emily Parker, of New York, and Mrs. James R. Moore, of Boston. Their gowns were of orchid chiffon trimmed with ecru shadow lace and pale orchid and yellow rose buds. They carried Ophelia roses. Master Fred John Schafer, a nephew of the bride, was a page. He wore a white satin waist and white velvet trousers. He carried the train of the bride's gown. Margarite Schafer, niece of the bride, was a flower girl. She wore a yellow organdie gown edged with Val. lace and caught up with lavender rose buds and from each shoulder there was draped two tone ribbon of lavender and yellow. The bride's mother wore a gown of gray chiffon, trimmed with embroidered steel beads. She carried a corsage bouquet of pansies.

The best man was J. Hindon Hyde, of New York City, and the ushers were Herbert Schaefer, of North Plainfield; Alan Stevenson, of Plainfield; Carter Stever, of The Plains, Va., and Ludlow Clark, of Warrenton, Va.

The wedding march was played by an orchestra as the bridal party entered the library where the ceremony was performed at an altar beneath a bower of roses. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Following the ceremony a reception was held and the couple received the congratulations of the guests. A buffet supper was served in the dining-room. Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed by the young people. One of the feature decorations in the dining-room was the bride's cake, thirty inches high, brilliantly lighted with miniature electric lights. The home was attractively decorated by Hugo Klots with narcissus, sweet peas and yellow roses.

The bride was the recipient of a wealth of wedding gifts including about everything that one might wish for. They were greatly admired by the guests. Mrs. Heineken is a graduate of the Emma Willard School, Troy, N. Y. Her father is the vice-president of the Lehigh Valley Railway Company. Mr. Heineken, whose family is among the oldest in Virginia, is engaged in the advertising business in New York City. He and his bride have gone South on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will remain for awhile at the home of the bride's parents and later will make their home in New York.—Fauquier Democrat.

Are You Oyster Hungry

"The melancholy days are come," but there is absolutely no use in being sad about it, if you will only consider what a big, hot, sizzling fried oyster will do with the blues. Glooms and oysters just can't live together. They don't mix. The next time you are not feeling fit, come down our way and try some of our delicious sea food. If you had rather take them home, we can furnish them in any quantity. Obey that impulse.

Virginia Can Not Lag Behind Other States

The following States have placed motor buses under the same regulations and control that apply to other common carriers:

- | | | |
|---------------|----------|-------------|
| New York | Maryland | Connecticut |
| Pennsylvania | Nevada | Illinois |
| Arkansas | Colorado | New Jersey |
| New Hampshire | Utah | Arizona |

Similar action probably will be taken by other States at the current sessions of their legislatures.

The motor bus is being regulated, not because legislatures or public officials want to drive it out of business, but because —State control assures the public of a dependable, safe bus service wherever needed; a service over regular routes, on fixed time schedules, provided by responsible persons;

—State control protects streets and roads from needless destruction;

—State control protects bondholders and stockholders of electric railways and other common carriers against an unfair competition that threatens to drive these lines out of business and in many cases has already actually done so.

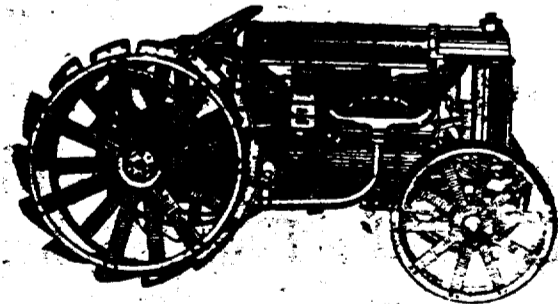

There is nowhere greater need for bus regulation than in Virginia.

A Great Industrial Worker

There isn't any doubt about the dependability, adaptability, efficiency or economy of the Fordson Tractor. These things have all been proved by the most severe tests on farms all over the country, where more than 170,000 of them are in daily use.

Light, easy to handle and operate in small spaces, there is absolutely no doubt about the practicability of the Fordson for industrial uses. This has been proved by manufacturers in most every line, construction and excavating engineers, cementing contractors, coal and building supply concerns, street and road building contractors, cities, towns and villages.

You can undoubtedly apply a Fordson to your line of business. Let's talk it over. It will interest you to get at all the details.
