SLEEP

How much sleep does a man need?
 I have always believed that we all require at least seven or eight hours every night, but each time I have made the statement it has been challenged.
 In each instance the challenger has mentioned Napoleon or Edison.
 Now, there is no doubt that Napoleon did work at a tremendous pace during a greater part of his career. There is conclusive evidence that he was in bed only a few hours each night—at the most not more than five.

But anyone who has studied his life is also aware that he paid the penalty in his later years. He was the victim of chronic drowsiness.

I had never read a signed statement from Mr. Edison on the question of sleep, so I wrote him myself.

Here is the reply:
 "Until the last six years, and over a period of 40 years, I and my experimental assistants worked on an average 18 hours daily. New men found it very difficult to get used to 4 or 5 hours' sleep, but in a short time they became accustomed to it and I have never heard of any one of them being injured.

"I find that men who once worked with me for a number of years and then left, kept up the habit of working long hours. I think any person can get used to it.

"One remarkable thing that they all agree on is that it stops dreaming. This is perhaps due to a deeper sleep.

"If the world had been differently arranged and the sun had shone continuously, I do not think that anybody would require or take sleep. There seems to be no actual reason why we should sleep, from a scientific standpoint.

"I noticed in automobiling through Switzerland that the towns which had electric lights had many new buildings and the people were active and on the streets at 12:00 o'clock, midnight, whereas in towns without electric lights, everybody was in bed about 8:30 and the town was a dead one."

Mr. Edison's letter is extremely interesting. The writer will allow the reader to draw his own conclusions as to whether most of us spend more time in bed than is necessary.—Type Metal Magazine.

TRY WALKING A MILE

The last act in a vaudeville show is usually a bad act.

The reason for this is that the manager wants to clear the house for the next show, or he wants to let the people, who are in a hurry, leave without feeling they have missed something.

However, there are exceptions to all rules, and I happened to be present one night when the last act was a good act.

The man had a walking machine, constructed like an old-fashioned treadmill. It was geared up to an indicator which showed the distance traveled. Two of these treadmills were in the act, and after a few minutes of horse-play a man and a woman put on a one-mile race. The interesting feature of the act was that you could see that walking is a perfect exercise. Every muscle of the body is used—neck, shoulders, arms, chest, legs and feet.

All of us ought to walk more. Walking improves the circulation, and distributes the blood through the system, which cleans up the poisons of the body.

Some evening when you leave your work, tired and groggy, try the plan of walking briskly for a mile before you get on a car, or even in an automobile. You will find the walk will start the blood coursing through the body, clearing your head of aches and worries. You will arrive home refreshed and hungry instead of tired and dyspeptic.

Also try this: On the next fine Sunday, an hour or so after dinner get out into the country and walk about five miles. You will return home as hungry as a ten-year-old boy and you'll be as tractable as a kitten.

Not only this, but on Monday you will go to work fresh and ready to tackle anything.

Walking is nine-tenths of golf and is the chief reason why the game is so popular. But it isn't necessary to join a golf club to enjoy the benefits of walking.

PARAGRAPHS

Collectors meet many men of promise.
 Harness your energy with common sense.
 A mistake, when discovered, always looks stupid.
 Our first thoughts are not always our best thoughts.

A PENNY SAVED

"A penny saved," said Uncle Ben, "is like a penny earned again;"
 And any one with brains will know
 That what Ben Franklin said was so.
 It's not a person's wage or rank
 That tells his balance in the bank;
 It's not the way his income runs
 That rates him good or bad at Dun's
 The chap who draws his hundred beans
 And spends each week as many groens
 Is not so wealthy as the guy
 Who gets but ten and puts some by.
 A single dollar in the fist
 Is worth two on the credit list;
 And every penny laid away
 A bracer on a rainy day.
 The man who spends his bottom red
 And gets no value in its stead,
 Is not by far so wise as he
 Who banks upon the lock and key.
 And he has a grain of sense
 Will save anon a dozen pence,
 And then upon some future day
 Award himself a raise in pay.
 There'd be less trouble in the land,
 And less of woe on every hand,
 If folks would only live and learn
 To save a part of what they earn.
 —N. A. LUFBURROW.

LAUGH AND LIVE

THE USE OF A PLATFORM

Seated in a street car, Sam and Raustus were talking politics. Raustus was a rabid partisan of the incumbent representative. "Well," said Sam, "Ah likes him all right, Ah guess, but his platform ain't no good."
 "Platfo'm!" snorted Raustus, "Platfo'm! Say, niggah, doan' you know dat a political platfo'm is jes like a platfo'm on one of these yere street cabs—hit ain't meant to stan' on; hit's jes' meant to git in on."—The Pretzel.

PROMPTED PREVARICATION

A little fellow scored neatly on his mother the other day. "I hope, dear," she said, "you were a nice little boy while you were at Mrs. Brown's and didn't tell any stories."
 "Only the one you put me up to," said her young hopeful.
 "Why, what do you mean, child?"
 "When she asked me if I'd like to have another piece of cake, I said, 'No, thank you, I've had enough.'—Boston Transcript.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH

Strolling along the quays of New York harbor, an Irishman came across the wooden barricade which is placed around the inclosure where immigrants suspected of suffering from contagious diseases are isolated.
 "Phwat's this boarding for?" he inquired of a bystander.
 "Oh," was the reply, "that's to keep out fever and things like that, you know."
 "Incadee!" said Pat. "O'iv'e often heard of the Board of Health, but, bajabbers, it's the first time O'iv'e seen it!"—TK-Bits.

UNLUCKY COINCIDENCE

And here's one about the Quaker whose patriotism got the better of his religious scruples and who went to war. Crawling through No Man's Land he spied a husky German. Raising his rifle to his shoulder, he shouted:
 "Friend, tis most unfortunate for thee, but thee standest just where I am going to shoot."
 And blazed away.

HE SAW THROUGH IT

Bixby—Waiter! Was this chicken cooked with X-rays?
 Waiter (bewildered)—Why, or-so; that is, yes, sir.
 Bixby—I thought so; I can't see anything but bones.—A. Maurice.

HEROES

"No man is a hero to his valet."
 "Why should he wish to be?" inquired Miss Cayenne.
 "My impression is that the kind of heroes valets usually admire are motion picture heroes."

SIMPLE SOLUTION

"Where are those bills I've got to pay tomorrow?"
 "Dearest, I fixed them. I saw how they worried you, so I burned them."

WELL INSTRUCTED

Distracted Mother—"Oh, dear, what shall I do with Baby?"
 Bright Little Sister—"Didn't we get a book of instructions with it?"

OUTPUT INCREASES

Although the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, has been increasing the output of Fordsons daily since the first of the year, retail sales have maintained even a greater advance.

April requirements necessitate the building of four hundred Fordsons a day, and production is being further increased as rapidly as possible. This is the Ford Company's largest output since 1919, and it is expected that production will have broken all previous records before the end of the month.

The increased buying of Fordsons indicates that the farmer's position is better and also is the farmer's endorsement of the Fordsons price-cut which created considerable comment throughout the country.

Besides the Fordsons being sold for farm use, many are being sold in the cities as power units for hauling, excavating, grading and other kinds of industrial work.

R. S. Cochran, The Plains, Va.

Manufacturer of Fertilizer for THE FARMER. Always the Highest Quality. Always the Lowest Price.

I offer to any farmer or party of farmers to deliver on car at any station in this county in car load lots either in straight or mixed cars, in 167 lb bags

Acid Phosphate sixteen per cent--THIRTEEN DOLLARS per ton.

Phosphoric Acid twelve per cent, Potash five per cent--TWENTY-TWO DOLLARS per ton.

Ammonia two per cent, Phosphoric Acid nine per cent, Potash two per cent--TWENTY-FOUR DOLLARS per ton.

MY ONLY TERMS ARE SPOT CASH ON ARRIVAL OF CAR

I am not making these prices to any dealer to be resold at a profit. I am going to take care of the farmer.

PLOW UNDER PEAS AND BEANS AND MAKE POOR LAND RICH LAND.

I have in stock bought direct from large growers in Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina, two carloads Brown and Gray Whippoorwill Peas--one car Brabhams Peas and one carload Black Soy Beans.

For cutting for hay use Brabhams or Whippoorwills. For plowing under to improve the land use Black Soy Beans or Black Soy Beans and Peas mixed with peas.

I have been a merchant for the past thirty-one years and a practical farmer for the past seventeen years, and I am giving you the results of my observation and experience.

Every bushel of these peas and beans are sound select and Recleaned stock and these have been tested for purity and germination by the Virginia Department and none is lower than 97 per cent purity and 89 per cent germination. Some run as high as 96 per cent germination.

Be cautious when you buy Mixed Cow Peas on the open market for my experience with mixed peas has been that they are usually low grade stock and undesirable. In fact I have seen some Mixed Peas on the market this year with germination as low as 80 per cent.

My price on these peas and beans is TWO DOLLARS AND SIXTY CENTS per bushel of sixty pounds and this price will go no higher so long as these four cars last. If the market declines I will name lower prices of course. Write for samples. I will be glad to mail you samples.

A part of my job is to sell cow peas. A part of your job is to buy cow peas from the man who offers you the highest quality at the lowest price.

I am going to try to make every farmer my friend; at any rate I am going to be the friend of every farmer

EASTER DANCE NUMBER

Many Attended Successful Affair of The Manassas Cotillion Club.

The Easter number dance given Monday night by the Manassas Cotillion Club was a decided success. The affair was attended by one of the largest crowds seen on a local dance floor for some time.

Music was furnished by a three piece Washington orchestra to which those in attendance danced in perfect harmony except in a single instance, this being in the middle of fox trot when the time suddenly changed, the couples stopped their dancing, wondering, and then caught the strains of a wedding march. The clapping of hands started and all eyes were turned to Mr. Elmer Metz and his bride who had entered the hall on this number.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Misses Katherine Peters and Lucille Hutchison, of Haymarket; Marie Ward, of Washington, Evelyn and Kathleen Moffett, Lucille Willis, and Mary and Sallie Fletcher, of Warrenton; Mr. and Mrs. Tink Willis, of Remington, and Messrs. Ray Matthews, Henry Brown, Brooks Parkinson, Murray Fletcher, Edward Jackson and Marshall Moffett, of Warrenton, and Gustav Peters, Edward Carter and Marion Hutchison, of Haymarket.

EVENTS AT MANASSAS HIGH

(Edited under the Auspices of the Welfare Committee)

The standard of excellence of the school is splendidly sustained by the commercial department. The highest record for typewriting speed and accuracy made during the life of this department has been made by a member of the senior class, Miss Nelle Hyde, of Bristow. A speed of 50 words a minute with 100 per cent accuracy is required for graduation. In a 250-word test from Congressional Record matter new to her, she wrote with 100 per cent accuracy at the rate of 64.6 words per minute.

Julian Gregory, another honor student, recently received a special prize of a bronze pin for work entered in an international contest conducted in Chicago by Robert Gregg, author of Shorthand. Boys and girls from England and Australia usually lead in this contest, so we feel quite proud of our own students. Gregory, with twelve others, also received the certificate of membership in the Order of Gregg Artists.

"Arbor Day" has been observed throughout the past two weeks. The first year class has planted English Ivy; the third year class, Norway Spruce; first and second, shrubbery. An Arbor Day program will be given next week.

The monthly meeting of the High School Community League was held Thursday afternoon of this week.

"Robin Hood" was shown at the Dixie theatre Thursday afternoon and evening. This is the third picture of a series given by the courtesy of Prof. H. W. Sanders for the benefit of the history classes.

HEAD OF PARK MAKES APPEAL

dren to know about those great battles, who fought them, why and where. That the schools will respond is not theory. For instance, one State Superintendent has pledged his free personal work in the schools of his State. Think of that! Then we have a lovely badge button, bearing appropriate words and a pretty Confederate flag. We give it to each donor of one dollar from now on. Nearly every Southerner wants one. But—where are we to get the needed badge? They cost us 18 cents each; the buttons less, much less; but banks and buttons to supply even one State mean a few hundred dollars' capital with thousands of dollars certain return.

Frankly, who shall supply that capital?

Those who have been doing so are limited. Too, they are tired. The people immediately to be benefited should help more, it is felt. But if the states are to be equipped, if we are to gather the harvest awaiting us, the reaping machinery must be bought and that takes money; not big money, but money such as will hurt no one if all will help some.

Now I have shown you how practical and certain this proposition is from one source only. I have not considered donations from people generally. Thousands will donate. Governors, State School Superintendents, men of public life, who know their people, all testify to this fact. But, friends, we must reach the people, by letters, by circulars, by committees, in many legitimate ways; and for those purposes who will supply the capital? If not the local interests, who? If not local patriots, who, pray tell me?

Certainly, you have lacked faith. That is why I am addressing this letter to you. I want you to see what my finance committee, composed of the leading people who are used to doing big things, says, and that is, that this project is possible, is certain, if we can get the little capital from now on. We must have it.

Now, the conclusion of the whole matter. A man in Prince William county who has been asked to help raise $100 of the ten thousand asked of the State, writes:

"I am undertaking to raise $100 and as much more as possible, from Prince William county. But upon this understanding: That the money will be deposited in bank here, until the sum necessary for the completion of the purchase is raised, and if the fund is not gotten then the subscriptions from the people to be returned dollar for dollar."

Sincerely, what real good will that do this important work? If $100 were all that should be found needed when we come to pay for the land most any of us would pay it. What we need is capital. The rest is as sure as human certainty can be. The ten cent banks alone will do that work; but it will take two or three thousand dollars' worth of them. Take the State where the State superintendent is awaiting material, $200 worth of banks and $100 worth of circulars—for we must tell the teachers about it, plus the letters and postage to write to them, will bring us a clear return of about five thousand dollars or more, by most conservative estimates. If all the counties would go to work, the gentleman's Prince William proposition would be all right; but letter after letter, impotently after impotently only bring final results. That requires capital.

Those of us who have given freely and frankly of some money and much time for two years would stop right now if we did not see the certainty of this success provided you will give us the tools. Let me make it emphatic: Certainty with reasonable working capital is not my dream only; I give you the views of big business men, men who have spent years in gathering money for things of this nature, one of them being a man gathering the funds for the Georgia Memorial and another the man gathering the Wilson endowment; and each of them assures me that this battlefield project appeals to the hearts and purses of the South more than either of the others, great and successful as they are proving. Results as far as our capital enables us to go prove this. He that would sow must first buy the seed; and then he must have faith in the harvest.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,

Prince William County, to-wit: To the Sheriff of Prince William County, Virginia:

Notice is hereby given that an information has this sixth day of April, 1922, been filed in the Circuit Court of Prince William County, Virginia, by Thos. H. Lion, attorney for the commonwealth of Virginia for the county of Prince William, that a certain person, or persons, to-wit: Clayton Liming and Luther Carney on or about the 1st day of April, 1922, in the said county did unlawfully use and operate one Ford touring car, or machine, with engine numbered 3,075,253, for transporting ardent spirits illegally on and along the highways of said county in excess of that permitted by law, against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Virginia; which said automobile or machine, has been seized, and is now in the possession of Clayton Liming (because of a bond executed by him on the 6th day of April, 1922, to have the said automobile, or machine forthcoming in compliance with an order of the circuit court of said county), for the purpose of having the same condemned and sold and the proceeds thereof to be disposed of according to law.

You are therefore commanded to cite, or summon all persons concerned or interested in the said automobile, or machine, to appear before our said court on the first day of the June term, 1922, to-wit, Monday, June 5, 1922, at 10 o'clock a. m., and show cause why the prayer of the information for condemnation and sale should not be granted.

You are further commanded to post a copy of this notice at the front door of the courthouse and publish in the Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulating in said county, wherein such seizure was made, for four consecutive weeks, and at least five days before the return day of such notice, and make due return hereof at the June term, 1922, of said court.

Witness, Geo. G. Tyler, clerk of our said court, at the courthouse thereof, in the county and state aforesaid, the 7th day of April, 1922, and in the 146th year of the Commonwealth.
