NEW LAW REQUIRES AUTOS TO STOP AT CROSSINGS

Richmond, Va. May 1.—Drivers of automobiles and other vehicles using the public highways of Virginia must come to a full stop before crossing any main line railway track at grade under a law recently enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia.

The law provides that drivers of all vehicles on approaching any grade crossing of a main line railway track outside an incorporated town, must stop not less than ten feet nor more than one hundred feet from the nearest rail. A penalty of ten dollars for each violation is provided in the act.

Advocates of this act pointed out that its enforcement would greatly reduce the number of grade crossing accidents. By enacting this law the Virginia solons have given legal effect to the admonitions which railways have for many years displayed on their crossing signs, urging drivers of vehicles to "Stop, Look, and Listen!"

FEDERAL AID ROAD BILL

Under the federal aid road bill, passed by the house on Monday afternoon, more than $2,500,000 federal funds will be available to Virginia in the next two years for road construction.

The bill authorizes the appropriation of $65,000,000 for road construction throughout the United States during the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1924. It is estimated that under the apportionment provisions of the bill Maryland will obtain approximately $555,000 from the federal treasury during the first year and approximately $640,000 the year following.

It is estimated that Virginia will receive $1,242,000 during the first year and $1,450,000 during the second. Passage of the bill by the house with favorable action in the senate regarded as certain, will give added impetus to road construction in various states and relieve the anxiety which has been felt because of the depletion of federal funds. Proponents of the bill say that will aid in solving the unemployment problem.

MARSHALL HARRIS
R. F. D. No. 3 Manassas, Va.

Mrs. Dinah Dovel, aged 102, said to be the oldest woman in the state of Virginia, died last week at her home in Honeyville, Page county. She is survived by four children and four great-great-grandchildren.

Retail prices of Virginia school books will be 60% higher this year than last, Harris Hart, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, announces. Mr. Hart has just returned from a trip to New York, where he was in conference with New York publishers. The increase in textbooks would have occurred sooner, he said, but for the fact that books have been supplied under a contract, made with publishers, which has expired.

Roger D. Eastlake's marriage since the murder of his wife seven months ago, and for which crime he was tried, was verified last week when it was ascertained that the naval petty officer was married in Alexandria, Va., on March 4th to Miss Susan Belle Crittenden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Crittenden, of Fauquier county. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Eugene V. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The marriage license was secured on March 3rd, the day prior to the wedding, in Alexandria. Miss Crittenden is said to be a telephone operator at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D. C. Her whereabouts at this time is unknown.

C. E. Littlejohn has been employed as field worker for the apple industry for the counties lying between Roanoke and Afton. He will locate a laboratory at Amherst, where he will make his headquarters. Special attention will be given to tree diseases, and growers will be instructed how to fight these troubles. Orchard experts who have recently inspected orchards in that section declare that the fruit crop this year will be injured more by the lack of attention last year after the freeze than by the cold weather this spring. After the freezes of March and April last year the owners neglected their orchards, and much vitality has been lost, they claim, because of this lack of attention.

The Brookneal high school, near Lynchburg, did not close last week as was expected would be the case because of the lack of funds arising from county and district school taxes, because patrons have agreed to curtail the courses and to raise private subscriptions in order to keep the school open to the end of the regular term. Teachers, too, have agreed to accept reduction in pay for the last month, for most of this is to come from private sources. The arrangement to continue the public high school will probably result in the private high school going on till the end of the school year. The town got into a school row last winter, since which two high schools, one by public fund and the other by subscriptions, have been operated. A majority of the pupils in the town are in the subscription high school.

The French government has conferred upon an American, E. B. White, of Leesburg, the order of Officer du Merite Agricole, a decoration in recognition of signal service to agriculture, but in this instance awarded for "service rendered in the improvement of horses." Mr. White began to breed horses twenty years ago after returning on the advice of physicians to his native home in Virginia from St. Louis, where he had been active on the grain exchange. The physicians had given up hope for his recovery, but the outdoor work incident to his interest in horse breeding aided in his recovery. The particular animal which led to the award of the decoration is the stallion Laet, bred by Mr. White and exhibited in Chicago at the last International Live Stock Show. Laet was declared grand champion and one of his sons reserve grand champion, giving Mr. White a record said to be unprecedented in the history of the show. Mr. White is a member of the advisory board of the Horse Association of America.

WILLING WORKERS MEET

(Inez H. Rollins, Reporter)
The Willing Workers' Club held a meeting of its members on April 29, the president of the club presiding. After the club yell had been given, the song "Onward Christian Soldiers" and several matters of business were called and it was found that all were present with the exception of two members. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and several matters of business were transacted.
The members were glad to have Miss Gilbert present. She gave interesting instructions on fancy work. Miss Gilbert asked all members to be present, if possible, at the county meeting of the clubs in Manassas on May 6.
After this the meeting adjourned to meet again on May 17.

INTEREST MORE THAN OFF-SET BY THE BENEFITS

Those who continue to oppose the proposed bond issue for roads on the ground that it will cost more to construct the Highway System by means of the bonds than by using the current funds, entirely ignore the fact that the road system will be completed and in use, if bonds are resorted to, many years before it could be built by current revenue. The argument that the state should not issue bonds because, in such event it will have to pay interest, which interest becomes a part of the cost of the roads, is fallacious. While it is true that neither the state nor an individual can borrow money without paying interest, yet it is likewise true that the actual returns from the roads constructed with the borrowed money, will far and away exceed the interest which the state will be called upon to pay.

If one desires to construct a business building in a city for instance, and has a portion of the cost of the building available, the usual method is to borrow the remainder. Of course, interest must be paid on the money borrowed but on the other hand the owner of the building, when completed, receives the revenues therefrom which ordinarily takes care of the interest and which yields a net return to the owner. Perhaps nine-tenths of all office buildings in the country are constructed by this method. So it is with the state. If Virginia issues bonds and builds a Highway System ten years prior to the time that it will take to build it by using the current revenue, the state and her people will enjoy the pleasures and benefits of a completed system during these years, as an offset to the interest which will have to be paid on the bonds.

Few will perhaps dispute the fact that the financial return to the people of the state from such a system of highways will be greatly in excess of the interest to be paid on the bonds. If this is true, and it has not been seriously denied, what good reason is there to postpone the completion of our road system? The state has provided ample funds for the maintenance of the roads after they are completed, thus making it certain that when the bonds mature the roads will still be in good condition.

Further, the completion of the road system will greatly reduce the cost of maintenance, because the type of roads to be built will require much less maintenance than those we have at present.—Free Lance.

HOW A BUSINESS GROWS

All argument and theory to the contrary, this is the way a business grows: A customer buys a small bill of goods. His order is well handled, the goods are delivered on time and are of the quality specified. Next time he buys more, and as his business grows his orders increase.

Eventually, the small initial order grows into a big monthly order.

All the scheming of salesmen and advertising men will not build up and successfully maintain a business unless the product is right.

Andrew Carnegie, in his great "Autobiography," puts it this way:

"I have never known a concern to make a decided success that did not do good, honest work, and even in these days of the fiercest competition, when everything would seem to be a matter of price, there lies still at the root of great business success the very much more important factor of quality. The effect of attention to quality, upon every man in the service, from the president of the concern down to the humblest laborer, cannot be overestimated."

From the day he organized his first company—to build iron bridges—Carnegie pounded away on the quality idea. He would turn out nothing but the best work that could be done. He welcomed a job that others could not do.

Soon he reached the point where the buyers of iron bridges were afraid to give big jobs to any company other than Carnegie's.

It was so with steel rails, too. Carnegie would roll only the best rails, regardless of price. When he cut his prices, he did it not by cheapening his product but by improving his methods.

Carnegie was one of the great business men of all time.

He had the ability to project his personality into everything he touched. After his various enterprises were in operation he moved to New York to take care of the finances and sales, but his wonderful appreciation of the product is apparent in his statement that "clean, fine workshops and tools, well-kept yards and surroundings, are of much greater importance than is usually supposed."

After all, business is just the personification of the individual. The same qualities which bring a man to success will bring a business to success—if the individual has the ability to express himself through others.

To return to Mr. Carnegie again, he mentions that a group of bankers once visited one of his "works," and as the party was leaving, a member remarked, "Evidently somebody belongs to this plant."

Which was, of course, a recognition that some man took pride in having things done right.

Before I leave this wonderful Scotchman, let me quote one more paragraph, which has an important bearing on the general subject of the successful conduct of business. Says Andrew Carnegie:

"A great business is seldom if ever built up, except on lines of the strictest integrity. A reputation for 'cute-ness' and sharp dealing is fatal in great affairs. Not the letter of the law, but the spirit, must be the rule. The standard of commercial morality is now very high. A mistake made by anyone in favor of the firm is corrected as promptly as if the error were in favor of the other party. It is essential to permanent success that a house should obtain a reputation for being governed by what is fair rather than what is merely legal. A rule which we adopted and adhered to has given greater returns than one would believe possible, namely: Always give the other party the benefit of the doubt."—Type Metal Magazine.

VIRGINIA DESTINED TO TAKE LEAD IN APPLES

Most Washingtonians do not know that their neighbor State Virginia is one of the three great apple-growing states of the United States, the order in which they rank being New York, Washington and Virginia, with Pennsylvania fourth. There are orchards old and new near the capital that are large and are highly productive in favorable seasons, and perhaps there might be more large and productive orchards near-by. It is forecasted that the state of Washington will have dropped from second place as an apple state and her place taken by Virginia when the next national census is compiled. It is computed that the number of trees now of bearing age in the chief apple states are: New York, 9,636,698; Washington, 7,964,167; Virginia, 7,385,277; Pennsylvania, 6,981,128. In the number of trees not of bearing age the rank is: New York, 2,932,281; Virginia, 2,857,007, and Pennsylvania, 2,603,516. Washington is not among the first twelve states in the number of trees not in bearing.

The main apple-culture districts in this part of the country are the Cumberland and Shenandoah Valleys from Winchester to Staunton, with the adjacent Piedmont counties east of the Blue Ridge, and sections of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia lying in or adjacent to the Potomac and Monocacy Valleys.—Washington Times.

THE FELLOW PEOPLE LIKE

He doesn't try to win them, and he goes along his way. The same well-balanced mortal in the hum-drum of the day. He isn't any different to one than to another. With everybody smilingly, he sends a "Hallo, brother!" The fellow people love, you know—who makes a brighter sky—
 And everybody likes him, but he don't know why!

God gave him lots of laughter, and he gives it back again; He says he's never bothered doing things for other men; He's gentle with the children and polite to women—well! His days are spent in weaving round his fellowmen a spell. They greet him with affection every time they pass him by—
 And everybody likes him, but he don't know why!

Guess he's lived in your town as he used to live in mine; His cheeks were always rosy and his eyes were full of shine; His sympathies were ever with the weak and with the old, His heart was like a blossom and his soul was true as gold; He scorned a guilty action, or a meanness, or a lie—
 And everybody liked him, but he couldn't tell you why!

If, out of every one hundred people you meet on the street, seventy-five were minus a foot or hand, you would marvel greatly. Yet, it is an established fact that at the present time, seventy-five people in every hundred throughout the world are defective in the precious and important faculty of sight.

The majority of people are under the impression that so long as they can see well, their sight must be quite all right. That this is a deplorable fallacy may be realized that in one defect—Hypermetropia, or "long sight"—the vision may be, to all appearance perfect, and the individual be congratulating himself that he can see for miles. Yet, this prized ability may be the direct cause of bad headaches, biliousness, eye-strain, and smarting, burning eyes, leading eventually to brain-fag and general nervous breakdown. Don't wait! Have your eyes examined now!

ANNIE DAVIS HEREFORD, ET ALS
IN CHANCERY

The general object of the above styled suit is to have sale of the real estate in Prince William county of which the late C. S. Hereford, deceased; to commute the widow's dower in the funds arising from the sale, and to distribute such fund, after the payment of costs of suit and said debts, to those entitled thereto.

And an affidavit having been made and filed that the defendants, Lucy Hereford, Annie Davis Hereford and R. C. Hereford, her husband, are not residents of this state, it is ordered that the said Lucy Hereford, Annie Davis Hereford and R. C. Hereford, her husband, do appear within ten days after due publication hereof, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published once a week for four successive weeks, in the Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulating in the county of Prince William, and that a copy be posted at the front door of the courthouse of this county as required by law.

To the Man Who Believes in Economy:

Speaking of Cushion tires— Why buy truck tires at all? Why not run your truck on steel tires? They would be cheap—and long-lived. They would be cheap and long-lived. But your truck would be ruined in a week—perhaps a day. Vibration would rack it to pieces. So steel tires would be the most expensive you could use. They would cost the price of your truck. Somewhat the same cost estimate must be placed on any truck tire you buy. It figures something like this: The original price of the tire, truck repairs and depreciation—final cost of the tire. And naturally the tire that is economical in truck repair and depreciation cost is low in final cost—and is a good tire to use. So, in the end the quality above all qualities that you want in a Cushion Tire, is CUSHIONING. Great cushioning capacity means small truck upkeep costs, and longer truck life. Other qualities must be there—durability, traction, reasonable price, etc., but the Cushion Tire that has most cushioning ability with those qualities, is the cheapest tire to buy. It is the lowest priced in wear and tear on the truck. The Goodyear Cushion Tire of all Cushion Tires, is that tire. Under any test it cushions most.

CATHARPIN

Miss Alice Metz spent the week-end with friends at Greenwich.

Mrs. Maude Fetzer, Miss Amy Fetzer, Mr. Luther Fetzer and Mr. Samuel Marshall, of Washington, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fetzer Sunday.

The Catharpin Housekeepers' Club was entertained by Mrs. J. W. Alvey last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Elisa Dorsey, of Berryville, is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson, at "Lawnville."

Mr. Popovitch, of Roanoke, spent the week-end with his brother-in-law, Mr. E. Conrad, of Tecumseh Farm.

Miss Delia Allison spent the week-end with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Allison, of lower Loudoun.

The play given by the Junior League of Catharpin school last Wednesday evening was attended by a large audience and about fifty dollars realized from door receipts and the sale of refreshments.

Mr. A. B. Sanders spent the first of the week with his sister, Mrs. C. F. Brower, and other relatives in the county, en route to his home in Florida, after a trip to New York. Mr. Sanders attended services at Sudley on Sunday, where he was at one time superintendent of the Sunday School and was warmly greeted by many old friends.

Mrs. J. H. Kidwell and Miss Edna Mae Kidwell were callers at the home of Mrs. J. S. Wood at Wellington one day last week.

Miss Bessie Sloper has accepted a position at the National Cathedral School in Washington.

Mr. J. E. Kidwell and daughter, Miss Edna Mae, of this place, and Mr. C. S. Kidwell and son, Mr. Wilfred Kidwell, of Hickory Grove and Mr. D. Allison were guests at the home of Mr. John Kidwell at Greenwich on Sunday.

A daughter, who lived only a few hours, was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson on Thursday, April 20th.

Miss Marjorie Brower returned to Roanoke on Wednesday to resume her studies at Virginia College, after spending Easter with her parents at this place.

Dr. C. F. Brower has recently had a water system installed in his residence. Work is progressing satisfactorily upon the building of the cheese factory at this place, and Mr. C. H. Seeley, of Manassas, is sinking a well upon the grounds.

Mr. S. B. Sanders, of Washington, visited his brother, Mr. F. H. Sanders, last week.

Mr. J. E. Kidwell is on the sick list. Mr. Pulaaki, who spent the winter months with relatives in Maryland, is now at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Walter Ward, and has been quite indisposed for several days.

One end of a barn upon Mr. C. E. Ellison's farm near here was entirely demolished by the severe wind-storm which visited this section about five o'clock a. m. on Friday, April 14th. Fortunately the storm lasted only a few minutes and seemed to follow a very narrow strip or other serious damage would have been done.

GREENWICH

The commencement exercises of the graded school were held on Friday, April 21. The reading by Miss Emma Mayhugh, Miss Ruth Foster and Mr. R. Jackson Kidwell were excellent, and the play given by the primary department was very interesting. Certificates of graduation were awarded to Misses Emma Mayhugh, Ruth Foster and Mr. Royall Jackson Kidwell, and taken altogether, was quite a success. The teachers, Miss Myrtle K. Johnson, Miss Helen Virginia Cook and Mr. Edward S. House, are to be congratulated.

Pence & Turner
PROPRIETORS

To the Farmers of Prince William County

The time has come when we have got to organize. The sooner the better, if we ever expect to stretch out and command our prices for what we have to sell.

Have we not the same right to get our prices as has the manufacturer?

The local buyer, when you go to buy from him, has his prices set. The manufacturer sets his prices to the jobber, the jobber then to the retailer, the retailer then to you.

Where did the manufacturer get his raw products to start with?

He got them from you.

Did you tell him what price you would take for your wheat, your wool, your oats?

No. You asked him how much he was paying. He tells you. What is the outcome?

You keep it or sell it at his price.

How about those fat steers that you have to sell? Those hogs, those lambs, those calves? Did you set your price?

No. Here comes that hard luck tale when the local buyer comes around. Brother farmer asks, "How is the market?"

"It is rotten," he says.

Do you take a daily paper to see what the markets are? The majority do not.

Then you chew the rag for a while and then you ask the dealer what he is paying.

He says, "I don't know."

Now, how do you feel? You are at his mercy. You either have to sell to him or keep your live stock. He ships his load on to market and clears $200 or more. They are then resold to the slaughter house, sold again from there to the retailer, from there back to the consumer, and what does a steak from that steer cost the consumer? Not less than 40c a pound. You raised it, took all the chances, and then had to take it to the local stock pens. The buyer weighs it for you but you pay the weight bill and then the local dealer pays you 5c a pound.

Doesn't this look like tying your hands. Gentlemen, it's worse than a convict with a ball and chain to his legs.

Now see where your losses are. Too many middlemen, too many fellows laying around studying out schemes to beat the farmer. Gentlemen, where will you be in a few years, if we don't join hands and stand together?

The Farmers' Union is your friend and he is always ready to help you. He wants you to join him and be one of his Brothers.

What would this old world be if it were not for the farmers? They are the backbone of the world. They are the biggest buyers in the world. They are the hardest working people in the world, from sunup to sundown, and their work is never done.

Brother Farmer, be on your guard, study the man you vote for, know who you are putting in office to rule you, to tax you, and so on as it goes.

Thank the good Heavenly Father that we live in a free country. As Patrick Henry said, "Give me liberty or give me death." The poor farmer is the most peaceful man on earth. He is too busy to think of schemes.

What are these poor dairymen trying to do (or vice versa), what are the milk dealers trying to do to them? Put them out of business, of course.

"It's too bad," some fellow said.

But it's not going to put back all he has spent to get up a good herd of cows, sanitary barn and dairy equipment. Thousands of dollars tied up, is he going to junk it?

Here is what the live wire says: "No, let us organize and handle our own milk. Are you on, brother?"

"I will study about it," he answers.

Next time he sees him—"Well, what have you decided to do?" He answers, "I guess I will stay out."

Next thing here comes a notice from the milk dealer saying that he will need his milk no longer, and he goes to his wife and asks, "Well, Mary, what are we going to do; how am I going to meet those notes?"

Mary says, "Do not come bothering me, I told you to join the Association."

Gentlemen, that is what all this leads to. We have got to organize, stand together, before we ever will get anywhere. The Farmers' Union, with its three big headquarters in our capital city, is doing more to help the farmer every day and the more members it has, makes it that much stronger.

Now, why not say to yourself right now, "I am going to see my local Secretary and Treasurer and tell him that I have been a slacker long enough, here are my dues, you can bank on me now and forever more."

What class composes the wealth of our county? The farmer class does.

How would the other fellow live if it were not for the farmer?

Be on the guard, Brother Farmer, for the fellow who is trying to tear down your organization. Trade at your local exchange. What they have not got in stock they will get for you. All profits are divided among its members when they deal with them, so why not join the Union and trade at your store. Join hands and help the poor farmer who is trying to help himself.

Yours for a better living, to uphold our laws.

RECENTLY ENACTED GAME FISH LAWS

General Assembly Provides for Protection of Game Fish in Virginia Waters.

Prince William sportsmen will be interested in the new game fish laws passed by the recent General Assembly for the proper protection of these fish and they should do all in their power to see that these laws are enforced. Local reports state that the game fish in the runs around Manassas are getting scarcer every year.

The Acts of the Assembly follow:

Chapter 277.—Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia, That it shall be unlawful to buy, sell, barter, or offer to buy, sell or barter any black bass, big-mouth bass, small-mouth bass, southern chub, or millpond bass, or California or rainbow trout, or brook or mountain trout, at any time in this state. Provided, that this act shall not apply to Back bay and its tributaries in Princess Anne county, but it shall, in order to sell such fish caught in the waters of said Back bay and its tributaries be necessary first to obtain from the commissioner of game and inland fisheries a permit in writing, for which there shall be no charge, and said commissioner is hereby given authority to prescribe reasonable rules and regulations concerning the handling of any such fish.

Violations of the provisions of this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than five dollars for each fish offered for sale or bought, or bartered, or imprisonment in jail for a period not exceeding thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court trying the case, provided, that no fine greater than fifty dollars shall be imposed in any one case.

All acts or parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Chapter 278.—Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia, That it shall be unlawful to take, capture or kill, in any one day in this state, more than fifteen black bass, small-mouth bass, or millpond, or southern chub, or take, or kill in any one day in this state more than thirty-five rainbow or California, brook or mountain trout.

It shall be unlawful for any person to have in possession at any one time more than the number of fish mentioned in this act that may be legally taken, captured or killed in two days.

Violations of any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than five dollars, nor more than twenty-five dollars for each offense. Provided, this act shall not apply to Back bay and its tributaries in Princess Anne county.

All acts or parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

BIG NEW FEATURES ADDED TO THE COLOSSUS

Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Bring Entire Shipment of Novelties From Europe.

Made even more tremendous than in 1921 by the recent addition of many more trained wild animal displays and the purchase of Europe's biggest horse show, Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined will exhibit at Washington, D. C., May 15, 16 and 17.

All who glance over the cable news or who read the magazines must have noted the many contracts entered into by the Ringling Brothers for foreign talent last winter. A special ship was chartered this spring to bring the hundreds of human performers, trained animal acts and equine displays to America. More than a million persons saw the mammoth new circus of 1922 during the weeks that it exhibited in Madison Square Garden, New York. Now this marvelous exhibition is touring the country aboard five great railroad trains. It is a third bigger than the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey show of last season. It is ten times larger than any other circus now on tour.

Big as is this wonder circus of 1922—with its more than twenty trained wild-animal displays in steel arenas, fully 150 wonderfully schooled trick horses, 700 men and women performers, 100 clowns, and scores of features—the price of admission is no more than before. And though the trained animal numbers and the immense horse show were circuses in themselves while touring Europe, they are not offered as separate attractions by the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined shows. Instead all are on one gigantic program. Everything is in one mammoth main tent. One ticket admits to all and includes admission to the tremendous double menagerie. There are more than a thousand animals in the zoo of this circus and these include a tiny baby hippopotamus only recently born, and accompanied by its three-ton mother. Another remarkable zoological feature is an armored rhinoceros, the only one known to exist and for which the Ringlings recently refused an offer of $50,000.—Advertisement.

The Rev. Campbell Mayers, of Middleburg, was a visitor at St. Paul's rectory last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Clarkson and little sons and Mrs. Cary Gamble, of Huntsville, Ala., motored from Clarendon on Sunday and were guests for the day of Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Browne. Mrs. Gamble returned on Thursday evening for a brief visit at her former home, the rectory, and will spend the week-end with her son, Mr. G. P. Gamble, at the University.

A game of baseball being played at the school grounds on Friday afternoon of last week was brought to an abrupt end at the eighth inning, when Everett Tommison of the high school had a severe fall, which broke his collar-bone. The game was between the high school and the married men of Haymarket and the score stood 10 to 12 in favor of the latter.

The movies for Saturday evening are two comedies by Mack Sennett, "Uncle Tom Without the Cabin," and "Stead." Wallace Reid in "Always Audacious," was enjoyed by a good-sized crowd last Saturday.

Mrs. Stuart Tulless has returned from a visit to Washington.
