NEW CATALOGUE IS PROGRESSING

Several Fine Special Premiums Offered by Enterprising Local Merchants.

During the past week considerable progress has been made toward the completion of the 1922 Catalogue, and it is expected that they will be ready for distribution at an early date. In the meantime, as suggested last week, prospective exhibitors will find the 1921 Catalogue a satisfactory guide to be used in the preparation of exhibits for 1922. Especial attention is called, however, to two new classes included in the current prize list in addition to the class for community exhibits mentioned last week.

The following is a copy from the Catalog describing these two classes: Single Garden Exhibit. This class is open only to exhibitors from Prince William County. Small berries, such as currants, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, etc., that are commonly grown in gardens and by-products of the same will be allowed in this exhibit. All products in this class cannot compete in any other class. Each exhibit will be limited to a space eight feet in length, the width to be regulated by the management. The Association will furnish only the regular shelving. All extra labor and material that may be desired must be furnished by the exhibitor.

The awards will be based on the following score: Quality, 50%. Variety, 25%. Display, 25%. First Prize—Planer, Jr. Garden Cultivator with all attachments. Presented by Southern Real Estate Exchange and Insurance Company, Inc. Value, $15.00. Second Prize—Lawn Mower, offered by Cornwell Supply Company. Value, $10.00. Third Prize—Garden Plow, offered by Newman-Trusler Hardware Company. Value, $5.00.

SECTION 4—CLASS 4 Floral Exhibit.

Entries in this class are limited to exhibitors from Prince William County. The entries in the floral exhibit will consist of any and all cut flowers and annuals in boxes or pots. The above flowers are specified as the motive for having the floral exhibition is to encourage the planting of more inexpensive annuals in order to make the home grounds more attractive and beautiful. All flowers, ferns, bulbs, etc., that are commonly grown by the florist may be used in the make-up of this exhibit, but must be grown by the exhibitor on his or her premises. Each exhibit will be allowed a space not more than eight feet long and the width as may be determined by the management. Only the regular shelving will be furnished by the Association. Anything more must be furnished by the exhibitor.

The award will be based on the following score: Quality, 50%. Variety, 25%. Display, 25%. First Prize—Pair of $10.00 Shoes, offered by Mrs. R. S. Hynson. Second Prize—Pair of $8.00 Shoes, offered by Mrs. R. S. Hynson. Third Prize—Pair of Shoes, offered by Jenkins & Jenkins.

It is needless to add that preparations should be begun at once by those who expect to exhibit in these classes. There is every indication at the present time that the corn show will be one of the features of the 1922 Fair. New corn will not have to compete with old corn, as separate classes are provided for the 1921 and 1922 product. The Prince William Co-operative Exchange will give a special prize—a sixty-tooth smoothing harrow—for the best display of corn, while Hynson & Company offer a Stetson hat for the best ten ears of corn in the show, and Hibbs & Giddings offer a pair of Dent gloves for the best single ear.

Special prizes in the Agricultural Department not previously mentioned are as follows: $5.00 in cash presented by Coche's Pharmacy to the person who exhibits the best display of forage crops; $5.00 in cash presented by C. E. Nash & Company to the person exhibiting the best display of fruit; and thirty pounds of lime sulphur spray presented by Dr. C. R. C. Johnson for the best display of apples in the show.

Officers of the Fair Association wish to take this opportunity of thanking the many firms and individuals who have been so generous in their contributions of special prizes for the 1922 Fair. Such support and co-operation is greatly appreciated and augurs well for the success of the fourth annual exhibition. Much credit is also due Mr. J. M. Kline for his excellent work in arranging the prize list for his department.

GOLD BRICK?

Opening Up Old Project Near Washington. A delegation of senators, headed by Senator King, of Utah, struck the first blow Monday in the operations of Charles L. Bodine, of Copy, Md., in his search for gold in Bull Neck run, in Virginia, near Washington. The mining, which is to be done by placer methods, is to be on a site almost opposite the old Great Falls gold mining project of Col. George W. Kirk. The search for gold at this place dates back to the civil war, when wounded Union soldiers found nuggets in the bed of the creek. The owners of the prospect believe that they have discovered the main vein of the lode, which has lured prospectors for many years. The lode, which is located about 10 miles from Washington, yields about 60 cents per cubic foot, it is claimed, and is of an eruptive nature.

Temptation to Spend Money

Is greatly lessened by not carrying any more than absolutely necessary in the pocket. If you put your money in the bank, it is just sufficient trouble to draw it out again to make you hesitate about spending it. It forces you to think twice; and if you think twice before spending each dollar you will find yourself much better off at the end of the year. You will discover that you are spending a great many dollars unnecessarily which might be earning good interest for you in a SAVINGS ACCOUNT.

Try it. A Savings Account in a good strong bank is the greatest aid to saving imaginable. We shall be glad to open an account with you, and you needn't wait until you can make a big first deposit, for we open accounts for One Dollar or more.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST-TOWN OF MANASSAS, VA.

The undersigned holds Corporation tax tickets against persons and corporations named in the following list, for the year 1921. Unless the taxes are paid at once, steps will be taken to collect the tax tickets from those owing on personal property. Tax against real estate will be returned delinquent so as to become a lien in favor of the Town of Manassas, Va., against the real estate affected. If any person on the list is erroneously assessed, application may be made to the Town Council for correction.

Table listing names and amounts for delinquent taxes, categorized by 'White' and 'Colored'.

SPECIAL TAX FORMS READY

Returns of Corporations Must Be Filed Before July 31.

Special tax forms, due under the revenue act of 1921, during the month of July are now available at the office of John C. Noel, collector of internal revenue, at Richmond, and at the branch office in Norfolk, Mr. Noel announced Monday. The tax must be paid on or before July 31, 1922, he stated.

Form 707 must be used in the return of the capital stock tax of domestic corporations, while form 708 is to be used on foreign corporations. Returns of the miscellaneous occupational and the tobacco manufacturers' special tax are to be returned on Form 11.

Every domestic corporation shall pay annually the special excise tax, with respect to carrying on or doing business, equivalent to $2 for each $1,000 or so much of the fair average value of its capital stock for the preceding year ending June 30, as is in excess of $5,000, the revenue act provides.

WOMAN KILLS SNAKE

Uses Hoe as Weapon and Vanquishes Blacksnake—Six Feet Long.

Holding her baby under her arm with one hand and a hoe in the other, Mrs. J. F. Allen, of Greensprings, near Winchester, battled desperately Friday last with a ferocious blacksnake until she hacked it in two with the hoe. She was not in the least unnerved, she said.

Mrs. Allen was sitting at one end of the porch rocking her baby, with other children playing around her chair. One of them saw the snake poke its head above the other end of the porch floor, and then crawl and coil itself around a corner post, at the same time lashing the balustrade with its tail as if angered.

As the children ran into the house and shut the door, Mrs. Allen jumped from the porch, with her baby under one arm, and, seizing the garden hoe near by, battled with the serpent single-handed. The first blow missed and the snake sprang toward her. As it did so, Mrs. Allen dealt it a blow that cut the snake in two. The two pieces of the snake were laid together, and they measured exactly six feet and nine inches. The body was about as large as a pick handle.

BUSINESS BAROMETER

Stamp Sales in Country Show Large Increase Over 1921.

That business throughout the United States is rapidly increasing in volume is evidenced by a report of the Postoffice Department of the June postal receipts for the fifty largest cities in the country. The two largest mail order cities in the country, Chicago and Philadelphia, show increases over June, 1921, Chicago with 14.41 per cent, and Philadelphia, 10.32 per cent.

The report shows the amount paid out for stamps in each of the cities mentioned and the comparative figures form a good basis for the determination of the increase, and in a very few cases the decrease, in business.

The report that business in tires is increasing is borne out by the fact that Akron, greatest tire center in the world, leads the list of cities showing increases. The increase is 32.55 per cent.

GOOD FRUIT CROPS

Middle Atlantic States Growers Are Very Optimistic.

Good crops of apples and peaches are expected this year, delegates to the fruit growers' convention of the middle Atlantic States at the Center Market auditorium in Washington report. The convention was called by the State bureaus and the Federal bureau of markets. Besides the fruit growers there were railroad officials of eleven different roads and representatives of various agricultural colleges present. About 100 attended the convention.

Good fruit crops are expected in New York, New Jersey looks forward to a good crop of peaches, while the fruit crop of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia will be fair. Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and the southern part of Pennsylvania had a frost which injured their crops.

MOVIE CENSOR BOARD

Ready to Begin Work on Pictures August First.

Members of the State Board of Moving Picture Censors, Evan R. Chesterman, chairman; Mrs. Emma Speed Sampson, secretary; R. C. L. Moncure, and Miss Martha Cunningham, formerly executive secretary of the Woman's Club, chief clerk, will take up the censorship of all movies to be shown in the State August 1, 1922, when the new State law goes into effect.

The censors will spend at least eight hours a day viewing the pictures which the producers will desire to show in Virginia. A special room for the "screening" of the plays is being erected. It will be furnished with chairs and tables, the handiwork of labor convicts in the State Penitentiary.

Every picture passed by the board will be given a serial number, and, when complaint is made, the serial number of the title of the play must be given. Fees charged the producers for the registering of films will defray the salaries and expenses of the commission, it is estimated.

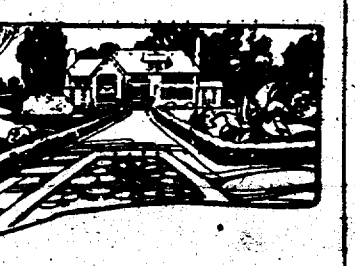

INCOME TAXES IN VIRGINIA

Returns for the Year Show $2,576 Persons Pay Income in State.

Figures compiled by John C. Noel, collector of internal revenue, and announced by him, show that the number of Federal personal income tax returns filed in Virginia for the calendar year ending December 31, 1920, was 92,576, which represented a net income of $273,235,229, and a tax, including normal and surtax, of $7,404,201.

While these figures show an increase of 16,610 in returns filed, and an increase in the net income of $25,576,856 they also show a decrease in the tax of $1,816,036.

Statements just issued show that while the proportion of population of the United States who filed personal income tax returns for the calendar year ending December 31, 1921, was 6.85, the proportion of the population of Virginia who filed personal tax returns was only 4.01. The average net income per return for the United States was $3,269.49 and that for Virginia was $2,951.47. The average amount of personal income tax per return in the United States was $148.08, and that of Virginia $79.98.

SHOES THAT ADD TO YOUR VITALITY

Shoes that bind and distort the feet are a source of constant irritation. They drain your nervous energy, distract your attention and lessen your ability to concentrate and to work. Such shoes are a drawback to health and success. If you would enjoy the best that life has to offer of buoyant strength and achievement, change to the comfortable Cantilever Shoe.

It is well built on a last that conforms to the contours of the foot. With the natural inner sole line, the toes point straight ahead and are comfortable; a shape of the weight of the body falls easily on the ball of the foot.

The well-set heel encourages good posture, which in turn encourages health.

The shank of a Cantilever Shoe is drawn up, by lacing the shoe to fit the instep and provide restful support. And it FLEXES WITH THE FOOT. It does not bind the muscles and impede circulation as a rigid sole does. It strengthens the muscles by allowing them freedom to exercise, thus preventing or correcting weak arches.

Sold in Washington only by Cantilever Shoe Second Floor—1210 F Street, N. W. SEND FOR BOOKLET WASHINGTON, D. C.

READY AND WAITING

With the formal election of George P. Coleman as State Highway Commissioner, the official personnel of Virginia's reorganized Highway Department is complete. The new organization is one in which the whole State should take deep pride, an organization fully capable of handling both the technical and administrative sides of highway construction to the best advantage. The State is to be congratulated on the retention of Mr. Coleman's services. Always a zealous and efficient public official, he will have in the new arrangement a part which will permit the larger use of his special gifts and experience; every informed Virginian knows how eminently Mr. Coleman is qualified for engineering duties such as will fall to him in his new assignment.

The reputation of Henry G. Shirley, chairman of the commission, is national. Governor Trinkle offered him the appointment only after a canvass of the entire country and after reaching the conclusion that Mr. Shirley is second to none in the field of highway engineering. The Virginians who will be associated with him as members of the commission are known, not only to their respective districts, but to the State, as men of large calibre in business and of intense enthusiasm for the development of a State highway system.

The completion of the official machinery supplies an appropriate occasion for remarking that one essential still is lacking. Members of the Advertisers' Club heard something about that essential yesterday from Chairman Shirley. The Highway Commission, with the ablest management and most expert engineering, will be totally unequal to the job that is before it unless money is provided. This virtually necessary asset is lacking. The commission is wholly unprepared, in a financial way, to go forward with a road construction program such as the interests of the State demand. There can be no escape—no reason to seek escape—from an issue of bonds sufficient, at least, to cover construction operations on a respectable scale for two or three years. The departmental machinery—not surpassed by that of any State—is ready, and waiting. It is time for the people of Virginia to insist upon legislative authorization of a bond issue which will make it possible for this machinery to be set in motion.—Times-Dispatch.

NO MATTER WHO OPPOSES

All thoughtful Americans must share the concern which President Harding is said to feel over "wholesale violations of the dry law." The President did not speak, necessarily, as a prohibitionist when, in his Fourth of July address at Marion, he warned against an attitude of disrespect toward a constitutional amendment. It is not necessary to be a prohibitionist in order fully to accept his conclusion that "contempt for the law will undermine our very foundation." This conclusion is one that cannot be escaped by any person who has the slightest understanding of popular psychology.

Said Mr. Harding: "The Constitution and the laws sponsored by the majority must be enforced. It does not matter who opposes. If an opposing minority has a just objection, the rising tide of public opinion will change the law. There is no abiding liberty under any other plan. . . . The eighteenth amendment denies to a minority a fancied sense of personal liberty, but the amendment is the will of America and must be sustained by the government and public opinion."

The President might have added that, without the support and stimulation of a vigorous public opinion, the government will be totally unable to sustain this expressed will of America. To the extent that the attitude of the public toward the eighteenth amendment is one of indifference or disrespect, enforcement authorities will fall down on their part; and in like proportion will the impression grow that laws are mere trivialities, deserving of no measure of sacredness, and related in nowise to the foundations upon which the State rests. The President has issued a timely warning to the reckless, selfish and unthinking.—Times-Dispatch.

TAKING RELIGION TO THE PEOPLE

"If the mountain will not come to Mahomet, then Mahomet will go to the mountain." Most Christian churches in the United States, we venture to predict, before many years, will reach the same conclusion as did the founder of Mohammedanism. The Catholic Bishop of Richmond last week granted permission for masses on Sundays and holy days at the Fort Berry Country Club, over the District line in Virginia, where many tired business men from Washington go during the summer months for a breath of fresh air and a Sabbath golf game.

If these men were obliged to stay in the city Sunday afternoons in order to attend church, they would lose the best part of the weekly holiday. Under the new arrangement they can mix religion and healthful sport without neglecting either.

Many clergymen, we understand, complain that the country clubs are rivals to the churches. They lament the fact that Sunday sports prove more of an attraction to the worldly men and women of 1922 than dull sermons.

The remedy is simple. They can follow the precept of Mahomet and the example of Bishop O'Connell.

If part of a summer Sunday must be spent in religious observance, why conduct the rites in a stuffy church? Why not let the people go where they will and then carry religion to them? The same purpose is served in both cases.—Washington Herald.

BROWN'S MULE

There was a man named Brown
 Who owned a stubborn mule,
 Half brother to a lunatic
 And otherwise a fool.
 'Twas common talk among the folks
 Who near him had to dwell,
 That Brown's mule had the devils and
 That he was full o'hell.

Brown's mule broke loose one day
 And started for the town,
 He scared the women on his way
 And knocked the children down;
 And when the men folks came to catch
 Brown's mule, the story goes,
 They got a fine view of his heels
 But never saw his nose.

So long as Brown's mule roamed
 All business was adjourned;
 Nobody cared to travel out,
 Nor for adventure yearned;
 So Brown's mule owned the universe
 Until a bold one came
 And stuck him with a snickersnee,
 And stopped his kicking game.

O! how the people cried!
 Their hero they exclaimed,
 And every baby for a year
 Was for the hero named!
 And in that burg the moral stands
 In home, in church, in school;
 Do What You Start, in Spite of All
 The Hell That's in Brown's Mule!

"CONGREGATIONAL SINGING"

That was an apt metaphor of President Harding's, speaking of a situation that is becoming altogether too prevalent in political and governmental affairs, when he referred to the egotisms of soloists and the effects resultant upon the altos, sopranos, basses and tenors respectively clamoring for the conduct of everything to their special advantage. A day or two before the Executive assailed class legislation and attempts to enforce class government in plain terms; his homely way of placing the same matter before the Marion Glee club at its jubilee will be appreciated not only by all with a musical ear, but by the masses of the people, regardless of their do, re, me qualifications.

Pursuing the path of Mr. Harding's blazing, what is needed is more congregational singing. Too many quartets, sextets and glee clubs are trying to sing different songs at the same time. The audience, which is the people of the country, are getting weary of this freak stunt of listening to one musical outfit sing "Onward, Christian Soldiers" while another is simultaneously grinding out "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." For a change they would like to hear the whole festival chorus striking the key and starting up "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." Political affairs, like music itself, have been getting too jazzy. A bit of the good old melody would be very much appreciated. There would be more real harmony in a season of singing by the congregation. Let everybody arise and get ready. Brother Harding, will you please "hist the hymn!"—Washington Post.

EXPLODED

"It's the things we haven't got that make us unhappy," remarked the parlor philosopher.
 "How about the toothache?" suggested the mere man.—Judge.

VARIOUS BELTS

"The belt worn by Napoleon at the battle of Waterloo shows that his girth was forty-two inches. Some belt, eh?"
 "Yes, but not a circumstance to the belt that Wellington gave him."

JUST SHOPPING

"Your wife seems to be carrying on a voluminous correspondence."
 "Quite so."
 "What about?"
 "Oh, she's getting prices from hotels she has no idea of going to. Shopping by mail."

EXPLAINED

They are mighty proud of their one skyscraper in Seattle.
 It is a long, skinny building that stands on one leg like a stork and blinks down disdainfully from its thousand windows on ordinary fifteen-story shacks.
 A San Francisco man, recently in that city, was incautious enough to express surprise.
 "What are those posts sticking out all the way up?" he asked a Seattleite.
 "Those are mule posts," said the Seattle man.

DIXIE THEATRE
MONDAY AND TUESDAY, JULY 17th and 18th
THOMAS MEIGHAN IN "THE CONQUEST OF CANAAN"
A Paramount Special from Booth Tarkington's Famous Novel
In the town of Canaan you were "in" or you were "out." If you were in, you went into Judge Martin Pike's affairs and if you were not in—you didn't. Then you'd probably go to Beaver Beach, which is a hot-bed of politics and scandals. Joe Loudon is among those not respectable. His defiance of the conventions and his knowledge of the corrupt political leaders stamp him as an outcast. Ariel Tabor, who lives with her father and is known as the town's tom-boy, shares the same fate as Joe. Her awkward attempts to dance and her unpopularity at the Judge's sociables made her the laughing stock of the town. Admission, 10c-25c.
THURSDAY, JULY 20—BEBE DANIELS— IN "NANCY FROM NOWHERE"
A raggedy maid was Nancy when Jack Halliday first met her, but adorable for all that. He thought, in his impetuous youthfulness, that he could easily become her patron and benefactor. He did, and all went happily until his irate parents intervened. Then Jack discovered that he was not merely a good Samaritan but a man in love and in spite of parental protests, he made Nancy his wife. Admission, 10c-22c.
FRIDAY, JULY 21—SUSSUE HAYAKAWA and BESSIE LOVE IN—"VERMILLION PENCIL"
Biggest of the several smashing thrills is the eruption of a mighty volcano that sends its torrent of flaming lava flooding down the mountains. Whole villages are engulfed in the blazing stream. The earth is rocked by a terrific earthquake and buildings go toppling to the ground in fragments. The fleeing natives, rushing for shelter in the uplands, add a note of thrilling drama to this tremendous scene. Also Aesop's Fable. Admission, 10c-17c.
SATURDAY, JULY 22—WM. FOX PRESENTS BARBARA BEDFORD—IN "WINNING WITH WITS"
An actress, upon learning that her father has been railroaded to prison on a trumped-up charge, determines to free him by using her wits in punishing the guilty. The man higher-up covers his tracks but fails to take into consideration that he might fall in love. Her task is easy henceforth. Also Pathe News. Admission—Matinee, 5c-10c. Night, 10c-22c.

HAYMARKET

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Boydon Tyler have recently visited the brother and sisters of the Mr. Tyler, the Misses Tyler and Mr. G. G. Tyler, of "Highlands."

Mr. and Mrs. John Weber and Miss Virginia Bell, of Washington, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Garrett.

Mrs. A. R. G. Bass left on Saturday for an extended visit to relatives at Staunton.

After an absence of more than a year spent at Cambridge, Mass., Miss Jane L. Carter has returned and is at "Saint's Hill" for the summer.

The church supper under the management of St. Paul's Guild, which was held on Thursday evening of last week, was very liberally patronized, the receipts being about $86.00, which amount is practically clear, as everything for the supper was donated by the members of the Guild.

Miss Ethel M. Browne and her little niece, Margaret Rigg, of Pittsburg, are visitors at the rectory.

Mrs. Hugh Thompson Clarkson with her little sons, Ben and William, of Clarendon, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. D. S. Clarkson, the latter having recently returned from Flomaton, Ala. Having been unable to find a house in or near Haymarket, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Baker, of Washington, who have for some years been among our summer residents, are located near Herndon.

Viviana, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Cooke and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Rector, was buried in St. Paul's Churchyard last Friday morning, Rev. T. M. Browne, officiating. Mrs. Cooke was formerly Miss Nanna Rector, of Haymarket.

Lieut. Alfred Tawseay, U. S. N., who has recently been ordered from the Pacific fleet to a special Radio Conference in Washington, spent the week-end with Mrs. Tawseay and their little daughters, who are at "Shirley" for the summer.

A dance at the Masonic Hall on Friday evening of last week was largely attended by the young people of the community.

The Rev. F. W. Johnson, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, of Washington, will conduct revival services, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Council, at the Haymarket Baptist Church, beginning Sunday, July 16, at 8 p. m. Sermon Sunday night by Rev. Mr. Council. Everyone cordially invited to attend these services.

Mrs. Carvell Hall entertained on Thursday, June 29, for her grandchildren, Marie Hall Tawseay, Agnes Wirt Tawseay and Thom Williamson Blair. Various games were played, the prizes for pinning the tail on the donkey were won by Parker Peters and Carter Brown. Refreshments were served in the dining room. It being the fifth birthday of Marie Hall Tawseay, a birthday cake with candles was one of the attractions. After the refreshments, a large "Jack Homer" pie was opened, each child pulling out not a plum, but a toy.

GAINESVILLE

Rev. Father Winalow, of Warrenton, celebrated mass at the home of Mr. John Sweeny on Wednesday.

MONEY, WORK MAKE ROADS

Things Requisite to the Making of Good Roads—Highway Commission Organized.

Money, time and work are the three requisites for the completion of the State Highway System. Chairman Henry G. Shirley gave this terse summing up of what would be required by the State Highway Department to get the results which the people are expecting in the way of a completed network of State highways reaching into every section of the State, at the conclusion of the three-day session of the newly-organized State Highway Commission.

"The people of Virginia," said Chairman Shirley, "must supply the money. The best highway commission and department in the United States obviously cannot build roads with good viaducts. The amount of money which the people of Virginia place in our hands annually for the construction of the State Highway System will determine the time required for the completion of the system. Even after the people of Virginia have provided the amount of funds which can be economically expended by the department each year, the people must give us time in which to complete the job assigned us by the General Assembly in the laying out of the State system. By this I mean that they must have patience and realize that the project in which they are locally interested is only a part of the tremendous big job of completing 4,000 miles of State highways, which cannot be done in a day.

"With sufficient amount of funds provided annually for State highway construction by the people of the State and a manifestation of a reasonable amount of forbearance on the part of our citizens, it will be up to the State Highway Department to provide the third requisite of work. By this I mean all that goes into transforming the people's money into completed connected highways capable of performing the highway service which may reasonably be expected of these highways.

"I wish that it had been possible for all the people of Virginia to have sat in with the Commission and the Governor at its first session and there obtained the same understanding possessed by the members of the Commission of the real bigness of the job of building a State Highway in a State which is 500 miles long and 250 miles wide, with varying conditions in each section of the State and varying traffic needs on the different roads in each section. It would have been gratifying to every citizen to have noted how the various members as business men attacked their problem which had been put up to them by the Governor and the General Assembly, in a plain, practical business way. The building of a State Highway System in Virginia or any other state is, or should be, a cold-blooded business problem capable of solution through the proper application of technical knowledge and sound business principles in the same way the problems of a private industrial enterprise of similar magnitude would be solved. The day of haphazard road construction is passing in the United States, for the same reason—industry has found it necessary for economical operation to know the need and market for their product. It will be the intention of the State Highway Department to study traffic both present and future and make use of such other technical knowledge as has been proven out in this and other states in determining the type of construction and the best location which will give the maximum transportation service at the lowest ultimate cost.

"The new State Highway Commission is fortunate in being able to build the superstructure of the State Highway system on the well-grounded foundation which has been laid through all these years of faithful service of Commissioner George P. Coleman and the members of the old State Highway Commission. The State Highway Department is fortunate in the retention of Mr. Coleman's services as commissioner and chief State highway engineer, as his knowledge of the road situation in the State and his intense desire to further the road development of Virginia will be of immeasurable benefit to the State. Our predecessors have made mistakes just as we will make mistakes. We have this advantage, however, of being able to profit by their mistakes."

"Placed in charge of the management of the road affairs of Virginia, it will be the purpose of the Commission to keep the stockholders—the people of Virginia—informed to the fullest extent possible of what the Department is doing with their money. A statement will be issued of the present available resources and the amount of money which the Department can economically expend annually ally in the construction of the State Highway System as rapidly as it seems wise to do so, just as soon as the Commission can complete their study of the extent of an organization which can be built up to economically handle the State's funds. It will then be up to the stockholders through their board of directors—the General Assembly—and their president—the Governor—to say how rapidly the State shall proceed toward the completion of the State System."

IT CAN'T BE DONE

We had to smile the other day when we heard a man who ought to know better contending that he would get along all right if people would let him "do as he pleased." It struck us as being funny, because no one in this country is permitted to do exactly as he pleases, and they never will be allowed to. In the first place it would not be a wise thing either for the man or for the rest of us.

Shortly after hearing this remark we read that a man and his wife had decided to show that they could live without the rest of their fellow-men, and without the things produced by others. They decided to go far into the wilds of the Maine woods, and live a primitive life, just as Adam and Eve lived. They figured on two things—doing as they pleased and beating the high cost of living. So into the woods they went, garbed as nature garbed them, and without camp equipment or food. They fashioned rude clothing of leaves and grass, and with bows and arrows made with their own hands they killed game and ate it.

Then a game warden, scouring the Maine woods, came upon them. He took them to the nearest magistrate, where they were fined for hunting without a license, and for killing quail and deer in the closed season. Their fines amounted to $354.

They didn't prove what they started out to prove, but they did prove that which we are contending—that it is not always best for a man to be permitted to do as he pleases, and neither is it good judgment to think you can beat the present cost of living.—Ex.

RICHMOND AS STOCK MARKET

The State Capital Offers Special Advantages—Lower Railroad Rates Inducement.

Richmond slaughtering houses offer farmers of this section a daily market for hundreds of hogs at prices equaling those paid in Washington and Baltimore and higher than those paid in Chicago plus the freight from that city to Richmond. A statement to this effect is made by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce in calling to the attention of local swine growers the excellent swine marketing opportunities afforded by the year-round operation of slaughtering houses.

Several of these plants were established with the idea that their supply of hogs would be drawn from the country closely surrounding Richmond. However, the supply in no way has been sufficient to meet the demand, and the companies have been forced to depend largely upon western markets. Richmond firms are still anxious to procure their swine from Virginia farmers, and, as a result, the Chamber statement says, one plant at least is paying prices somewhat higher than Chicago quotations. This firm, Kingan & Co., can handle 1,500 swine daily, when top hogs were bringing 11 cents at Chicago, was paying 1 1/2 cents for the same grade of hogs delivered at the Union Stock Yards. The freight rate from Chicago is 60 cents the 100 pounds.

The fact that of the 1666 Henrico County farms 618 are shown to grow no hogs is one that has caused the Richmond Chamber to call the attention of farmers within 200 miles of it. Not only is there a steady daily market, with low rail and water freight rates, but the willingness of the slaughtering houses to handle either individual or co-operative shipments to the Union Stock Yards offers farmers here many additional advantages.

An investigation of the hog market possibilities conducted by W. L. Kirby, agricultural agent for the Richmond Chamber of Commerce has shown conclusively that there is a steady demand there for hogs; that shipments can be made cheaply and quickly to Richmond; that efficient handling is assured, and that considerable profit awaits those farmers who avail themselves of the opportunity.

"We would like to see more interest displayed throughout this section in live stock production, and especially in hogs," stated the head of one of the large Richmond slaughtering houses in discussing the subject. "The local supply has proved insufficient for our needs, and we have been forced to draw heavily from the West. We operate throughout the year, and producers are assured of a daily market for their hogs. It seems to us that nothing on the farm could be more profitable than hogs at present prices and in view of the low prices of corn."

Curles Neck Farm, of Henrico County, is known throughout the State as one of the most progressive farms in Virginia and one that has gone heavily into the hog industry. Superintendent E. B. Kasley has placed the highest valuation on the Richmond hog market.

"The question of a breed sow on every farm is certainly fundamental," he states. "Richmond offers the farmer a good market for a great many of his products, but I believe the hog market is the best of all, and I feel quite sure that the Richmond hog market is the best in the United States. This fact should be an incentive, not only to Henrico, but to all counties tributary to Richmond, to raise more hogs."

CHAIN GANG ON STRIP

Lashed With Leather They Surrender

Following a two-day strike of the city chain gang at Danville, the superintendent of the gang Saturday was ordered by Judge D. Price to whip the recalcitrant men. Returning to the quarry with a handful of policemen the superintendent gave a final warning to the twenty-two men to return to work. All did so except eight. These men were chained singly to a post and thrashed with a leather thong. All surrendered after a few strokes and resumed work.

According to one prisoner, W. D. Henderson, indicted for murder, urged the negro members of the gang to "back." An investigation will be made of the trouble. The men struck for the reinstatement of a guard.

RAIN INSURANCE

Protecting Baseball Clubs Against the Bad Weather.

Rain insurance companies that guarantee fair weather for baseball clubs, resort hotels, hot-dog vendors, golf players and vacationists, got an awful wallop throughout the month of June, and an even worse blow during the prolonged week-end which may stretch over four days to properly celebrate the Fourth of July.

The four big companies engaged in this business, which has been growing rapidly in the United States for the last eighteen months, paid out more than $500,000 to policyholders protected against bad weather over the Independence Day period, brokers estimated recently, yet they all feel that the June rains were good advertising, stimulating interest in their field.

On Sunday, July 2, the government charts reveal, almost every square mile of land within 200 miles of the Atlantic Coast, from Florida to Maine, was rained upon. The entire Gulf Coast country was sprinkled, and considerable parts of East Texas, Arkansas, Kentucky, Southern Indiana, Ohio and Middle Pennsylvania received a wetting.

July 4 was almost as bad. Draw a snake line from the levees at New Orleans to the rock-ribbed coast of Maine, and then look at the map. It rained July 4 on all the country east of that line. Baseball games were postponed, people who would have visited resorts abandoned their plans, open-air amusements were drenched, and umbrella dealers were the only ones who had a kind word for the weather man.

The big hotels on the board walk at Atlantic City had nearly all taken out rain insurance for the holiday period. Concessions along the beach were similarly protected. The hotels, as a rule, insured themselves of receiving gross receipts of a certain amount, and where these fell below the estimates, the insurance policy covered the difference.

CHEAP SEED

Is It Worth What It Costs the Farmer to Get It?

A very interesting and striking article appears in the July issue of the bulletin published by the State Department of Agriculture, entitled, "Cheap Seed: Is It Worth What It Costs." Comparison in the cost of high-grade seed versus low-grade is forcibly illustrated by actual cases of samples drawn by inspectors from lots of seed found on the markets in Virginia, offered for sale and being actually sold to our farmers for seeding purposes.

The enormous cost of "Pure live seed" in the supposedly cheaper grades, so often purchased by farmers because of attractive prices, is illustrated in a case cited where a lot of Kentucky Blue grass was bought by a dealer in this state from a wholesale house in Wisconsin at $35.00 per hundred pounds. Due to shameless adulteration, as disclosed by actual test of the seed in question, the purchaser, who believed he was saving money by paying $35.00 a hundred pounds, was, in reality, paying no less than $35.00 per pound. This did not take into account the profit added by the retailer.

Commissioner Koiner urges every farmer to read this article carefully and to avoid the purchase of "cheap seed." In the end it will mean money in your pocket and in addition, you will not be running the risk of getting your land infested with objectionable weeds.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

One Hundred and Five Persons Arrested in June—72 Still Seized.

Seventy-two illicit distilleries were seized in June, 861 gallons of illicit whisky taken and ten automobiles confiscated, the report of Prohibition Director R. A. Fulwiler shows in his summary of the activities of the Federal Prohibition Department in Virginia. The value of property seized and destroyed amounted to $13,215, while property seized and destroyed amounted to $8,654.

There were 105 persons arrested in the State during June, bringing the total of such arrests during the present calendar year from January 1 to June 30 to 672 persons, as compared with 791 for the calendar year of 1921.

Build Up Your Strength

Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract contains all the valued drug principles of purest Cod Liver Oil without the nauseating taste of the oil itself, and has proven ideal in treating run-down, weakened conditions, especially in children. Most persons in whom are found tubercular tendencies are to a greater or less extent anemic—the blood pale and impoverished. Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract, in addition to the medicinal virtues of Cod Liver Oil, contains peptonate of iron to help supply this deficiency.

In the treatment of children who are pale and listless and who catch cold easily, you may confidently expect an increase in the appetite and weight and the general appearance of good health very quickly after beginning the use of sometimes after two or three days' treatment. We strongly recommend, however, that the treatment with Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract be continued until such a time as there is every indication of a perfect healthy condition. Aged persons who find their general strength below its normal state will find in Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract that mild, healthful tonic of which the system is so greatly in need. Remember, Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract is guaranteed to satisfy, or money back. PRICE $1.00.
