MANASSAS, VIRGINIA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1922

:: THE ILLUSTRIOUS POTENTATE AND HIS OFFICIAL

Edward G. Schmidt, Illustrious Potentate of Acca Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., and Other

Manassas is in holiday attire to welcome the visiting nobles of Acca Temple, Ancient, Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, here today for their first pilgrimage ceremonial of the autumn.

Mayor Davis, himself a Shriner, has tendered the key to the city, and the population is out in full force to bid them welcome. The principal streets are brilliantly decorated, Shrine emblems and Old Glory and her patriotic colors being prominently displayed.

The candidates for initiation into the mysterious rites of the order began to arrive early in the day. The public side of "going through the paces" has been as much fun for the spectators as any circus that ever came to town.

Tonight, in the seclusion of their council chamber at Eastern College, the ceremonial session will take place, and the candidates will cross the burning sands of the desert, accepting in full the experience which constitutes admission to the temple.

EDWARD G. SCHMIDT, Illustrious Potentate

The official divan, which is composed of the Illustrious Potentate Edward G. Schmidt and other members of the present reigning family to whom these Virginia Shriners owe allegiance, is to arrive at 3:30 o'clock by train from Richmond. The divan will be accompanied by the patrol and band. Shortly after the arrival of the official family the nobles will assemble for parade. The Acca Temple band will furnish music.

A special train leaving Washington at 2:15 p. m. is expected to bring three hundred nobles from Almas Temple.

All visiting Shriners will be entertained at a buffet banquet at Eastern College, beginning at 6 o'clock. Cards of admission will be furnished at official headquarters near the railway station, where members of the order have been invited to register. The menu promises to hold everything to please the nice discrimination for food which is a Virginia heritage and to appease the

The Mayor's Welcome

STATE NEWS NOTES

Youngest Bride and Groom.
One of the youngest couples ever wed in Loudoun, according to the Mirror, recently obtained a license in Leesburg. They were Miss Bertha Velmah Farris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Farris, of Outlands, aged sixteen, and Oehion Willard Jewell, of the same place, aged seventeen. Under the Virginia law the consent of the parents of both bride and groom was necessary.

New Paper at Strasburg.
The Strasburg News made its first appearance two weeks ago as a semi-weekly newspaper. In the past the News was published weekly. The rise from a weekly to a semi-weekly is indicative of the fact that Strasburg is progressing and growing.

Boy Drowns in James.
Plunged into the waters of the James river by hands that sought to aid him, Thomas Phillips Kerse, jr., eight-year-old boy, met death by drowning recently when a rowboat in which he and Henry Korte, aged fourteen, were riding was capsized near Drewry's Bluff.

The lad, tired of rowing, hailed a passing yacht and asked a "life." A line thrown from the yacht became entangled in the clothing of one of the boys, dragging him overboard. The rowboat was capsized, plunging the other boy into the river.

The yacht turned about, and its crew tried to save the boys. The Korte child was dragged ashore and resuscitated, but all efforts to revive his companion failed.

Vacancies to Be Filled.
Should Governor Trinkle decide to call an extra session of the general assembly of Virginia to pass on the question of authorizing the issuance of $12,000,000 of good roads bonds, the prevailing opinion about the capital is that he will not summon the assembly until the early part of 1923, according to a dispatch from Richmond.

It was pointed out that prior to the holding of the session four senatorial vacancies and one in the house of delegates would have to be filled.

Woman Dies at 95.
Mrs. Mary E. Frazer, widow of John T. Frazer, died at Coventry, the home of Thomas Frazer, a relative, in Spotsylvania county, on Sunday. She was almost a centenarian, having passed her ninety-fifth birthday.

Mrs. Frazer retained her faculties to the end. She corresponded with friends and read without the use of eye glasses. She did much fancy work and needle work. Mrs. Frazer was the daughter of the late Major Sanford Chancellor. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Sue Chancellor, of Fredericksburg.

Municipalities Meet.
The seventeenth annual convention of the League of Virginia Municipalities convened in Danville yesterday for a session of two days. Louis Brownlow, city manager of Petersburg and president of the league, and Merton L. Wallerstein, of Richmond, secretary and treasurer, were in charge of the program.

Leesburg's New School.
"The most pretentious, modern and spacious high school building in Northern Virginia" was opened on Monday when the new Leesburg high school began the 1922-23 term, according to the Loudoun Times. The auditorium and several classrooms are yet to be finished, but ample classrooms are in proper condition for occupancy.

Capt. Ballard Dies.
Capt. John N. Ballard died on Friday at his home at Fairfax, at the age of eighty-three. He is survived by his wife, one son and three daughters, all of Fairfax county.

Capt. Ballard was a Confederate soldier and was wounded three times. After losing a leg he served one year in Mosby's command as a captain.

Fairfax Urges Lee Highway.
A conference between the state highway commission and a delegation from Fairfax county, in connection with the Lee highway, was held in Richmond on Tuesday. The Lee highway is one of the state projects, and it is expected will be built into a first-class automobile highway at an early date.

Among those attending the conference from Fairfax county were George F. Harrison and Ronald Blake, county supervisors; Col. C. A. Soane, chairman of the local Lee highway committee of Fairfax county, and F. S. McCandlish, N. C. Weston, Charles R. Moran and Dr. M. E. Church, members of the committee.

Pobick Rector Resigns.
Rev. E. W. Mellichamps, for several years rector of Pobick Church, Fairfax county, has accepted a call to a church at Halifax.

RETIRED OFFICER PURCHASES HOME

Col. H. D. Berkeley, Formerly of Haymarket, Acquires Estate in California.

One of the largest real estate deals of the season in La Jolla, Cal. (near Los Angeles), was recorded recently when Col. H. D. Berkeley purchased "The Boulevardier," the home of Horace E. Rhodes, according to a California newspaper. The home is one of the largest in La Jolla, and the house and grounds have been among the show places of the community. The house is two stories high, overlooking the ocean. More than sixty varieties of fruits and flowers have been planted in the grounds which are laid out like a small park.

Col. Berkeley is a son of the late Col. Edmund Berkeley, of Haymarket, this county, and a sister of Miss Lucy F. Berkeley, of Haymarket. He recently was retired from the United States army after a long military career, and visited La Jolla during the summer, liking the place so well that he decided to live there permanently. He moved into his new home October 1.

BETHLEHEM CLUB MEETS AT BEN LOMOND FARM

Mrs. Knevels and Mrs. Lewis Together Have Housekeepers as Their Guests.

(Chloe E. Lay Hodge, Secretary)
The delightful afternoon of October 14 lured eighteen members of the Bethlehem Good Housekeepers' Club to respond to the tempting invitation of Mrs. H. A. Knevels and Mrs. Ashby Lewis to be their guests at Ben Lomond Farm, the home of Mrs. Nnevels.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of the secretary, Mrs. E. D. Winsler kindly took the notes. Mrs. Buck was the guest of the afternoon. Two new members were welcomed into the club, Mrs. John Lewis and Mrs. George McDonald.

The various subjects of interest were fully discussed and amicably settled. It was unanimously agreed that the Kitchen Cabinet band should disband until the spring, when we hope it will be able to accept some of the many invitations to give the program. The social hour was especially enjoyed while partaking of the refreshments provided by Mrs. Knevels and Mrs. Lewis, her associate.

GOVERNOR DISCOUNTS PRISON FARM CHARGES

Says Dudding May Address County Authorities or General Assembly.

Following a personal investigation of charges brought against management of the state prison farm at Leesiter, in Goochland county, by E. E. Dudding, head of the Prisoners' Relief Society, Washington, D. C., Governor Trinkle has reached the conclusion that there is absolutely no merit in these representations, which he regards as irrational, sensational and false. Dudding attempted to lay a foundation for his investigation with eleven affidavits from George L. Craddock, ex-convict. These papers were investigated by the Governor and all found to be worthless. After careful examination and diligent inquiry the management of the state prison farm was pronounced excellent and was given the unqualified endorsement of the executive.

In a letter to Dudding, Governor Trinkle employed this language: "So far as I am concerned, I am through, while Governor of Virginia, with dealing with you or your society, because I have become convinced of your irresponsibility and of the fact that I cannot place dependence in what you have to say or write."

Should Dudding desire to appeal to other agencies for an investigation of the state prison farm, the Governor suggests that he address himself to the Goochland county authorities or to the General Assembly of Virginia.

WELCOME, NOBLES!

All Manassas is happy to join with the Noble hosts in welcoming the host of Nobles here today for the pilgrimage ceremonial of Acca Temple.

For a day we are privileged to name our historic soil a fair oasis to attract the tribes which have safely crossed the burning sands. The rest of us who have never seen beyond the veil of mystery which surrounds your desert caravan may permit ourselves to catch the spirit of the occasion, even to a wondering, brief belief that we really see your dromedaries, your camelers and the glint of the desert that lingers in their eyes.

We bid you welcome to this caravanserai, and shall do our utmost to make you feel the warmth of it.

THE ALARUM

"Peopled days" these are, in spite of a state election on the horizon.

It is even possible that our section of the Old Dominion holds ardent admirers of Senator Swanson and Representative Moore who are unaware that these distinguished Virginians have republican opposition at the polls on November 7, and perhaps but dimly aware that their names will come before the electorate this year.

In this part of the country where democratic supremacy is assured, we have come to look upon the primary as the real contest and upon the November election as a mere formality—a necessary evil.

We work in the primary like true democrats, with all the ardor of our forefathers.

When the November "formality" arrives, we may not know it.

We depend on the great majority to provide enough votes to carry the day.

It always has.

But a comparison of figures from November elections gives an exaggerated idea of the relative strength of the republican party in Virginia. The republicans know it and are strenuously active to increase the lead.

Are we asleep at the switch?

A WORD TO BROWN EYES—AND OTHERS

A brown-eyed resident of the Greenwich community sent us this week a nice collection of news items for publication in The Journal. You can't find them in the paper, however, because that is all we know about the sender.

Please remember, dear readers, that we are always glad when you send us news for publication—but don't sign yourself as "Brown Eyes." The Journal does not want the name of the sender for publication, but it is absolutely necessary for us to know the source of our information. It's just a matter of good faith.

A COMMUNITY IDEALIST

The picture section of a Washington newspaper a few days ago introduced Edward J. Ward, of Wainwright, Alaska, as schoolmaster, postmaster, doctor, preacher, lawyer and undertaker to his community.

Some of our Prince William readers who have been interested in community problems may remember the name of E. J. Ward as the editor of The Journal remembers him, through his efforts toward community betterment when he was an official of the bureau of education in Washington. Mr. Ward came to Manassas a few years ago to talk to Prince William farm folk about the opportunities for community progress through organization and, according to our recollection, co-operative marketing by farmers and farm women of this section direct to the consumer members of the Park View Citizens' Association of Washington, which he represented.

This Washington community association then was the first field in which Mr. Ward sowed the seed which is flowering into his picturesque and wonderfully helpful work in Alaska, where he undertakes to fill more than half a dozen professions for the benefit of an unfortunate people who have few to look up to in their isolated habitation.

The Washington Herald, commenting editorially on Mr. Ward and his work, has this to say:

"A few years ago the work of Dr. Greenfall in Labrador stirred world-wide interest. Recruits from great universities flocked to his side. Money in abundance was subscribed to help his efforts. But he never dared to much, it seems, as this Washington man who is using to advantage the lessons in community organization he learned at Park View.

"Ward is an idealist of the highest calibre. He has carried the message of brotherly love and co-operation into the white shadow of the North Pole. But he is a missionary who does not preach in words to any great extent, or from the pulpit. He preaches in material things—in sewing clubs and dramatic clubs, in community stores and community dances. The sermon in such language is apt to be more impressive.

"If there is such a thing as American imperialism, Mr. Ward is the advance agent of it. He goes about as the representative of the real, brotherly, co-operative, charitable America. He goes about making Americans of the finest type. It well may be the source of pride to Park View people that they furnished this man with his first opportunity; that they offered themselves as subjects for his experiments in christianity. Already he has impressed their spirit on the far-off Arctic snows. It will not be long before they are known around the world as typical examples of neighborly Americans."

"OUR FIRST DUTY ALWAYS"

What is even more reassuring than Commander MacNider's declaration that the American Legion regards the interests of the disabled soldiers as its first responsibility is his assertion that "tremendous results" already have been accomplished in this direction. That the Legion placed its devotion to the welfare of its disabled "buddies" above every other consideration has been affirmed from the beginning, and appropriate effort has proven the sincerity of that cardinal plank in the legion platform. Concerning the progress that has been made, Commander MacNider yesterday told the legionnaires at New Orleans of his personal conviction that "tremendous results for the betterment of the disabled veterans—our first duty always—have been attained." The national rehabilitation committee, he declared, "is now operating on a permanent basis, and the foundation that has been laid means that the veteran who is suffering disabilities "is going to receive a square deal from the country he fought for."

This expression from the man who has directed the affairs of the legion during the past year is significant. It is an official declaration of confidence in the machinery that has been set up to meet the country's obligation to the disabled soldier, and as such may be expected to allay widespread and long-persisting misgivings. Through its own committees the American Legion has been in a position to determine how well the nation's duty to the men broken in war was being discharged. Unnecessary delays and other weaknesses in the administration of proper relief have been exposed by the legion whenever occasion demanded, and the utterance of the national commander is a most gratifying commentary on the results of this persistent agitation. To the legion must go most of the credit for what has been accomplished in the important field and for what ever is now in process of being accomplished. Loyalty to this "first duty" has been one of the most inspiring and comforting expressions of the legion's lofty spirit and purpose.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

AUTUMN INVITATION

O, come with me to the autumn woods,
And cast dull care away.
For we shall learn in its secret depth
What the fairies have to say.

They spread a wondrous carpet down
Through the hazy, dim aisles of trees,
The moth looks down on the magic wrought
And laughs at what she sees.

Tall trees shiver in gaunt array,
Lifting their branches high;
The fairies have stolen their lovely gowns
And left them there to die.

The woods though stricken by blighting cold,
Dead on the breast of earth,
Held ever at heart the message old
Of man's immortal birth:

TEACHERS END ANNUAL SESSION

Miss Meek's Address—League Rally and Business Meeting—Large Attendance.

The Prince William county teachers' institute held its final session here on Saturday, the busy and enthusiastic meeting adding a fourth day, which had not been scheduled.

Friday's session opened with the usual large attendance of nearly one hundred per cent. The devotional exercises included singing of the Doxology, with Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge at the piano, and Scripture reading by Rev. William Stevens, who gave a helpful talk on the various types of literature represented in the Bible, closing with the twenty-ninth Psalm.

Mr. Henry G. Ellis, supervisor of high schools, appeared before the conference with greetings from the state department of education. He made most helpful suggestions for the school program and urged that teachers look upon the classroom duties with an optimistic attitude. He spoke of the progress in education, the better prepared teacher and the advancing attitude on the part of the public toward educational matters. He spoke also of the changed legislation in school administration as being an important step in the advancement of school affairs.

Educational Standards Rise.

"Higher standards for rural education, compulsory education and new text-book regulations," said Mr. Ellis, "should not only make the teachers' task easier and more pleasant, but materially aid educational advancement."

Miss Lois Meek, of Columbia University, next spoke on the subject of silent reading and the importance of open-mindedness on the part of reading teachers in accepting new methods and using them for advancement in the teaching of reading.

Miss Meek analyzed the meaning of both oral and silent reading, stressing the value of each and silent reading in particular. In a second lecture she gave helpful and valuable suggestions on the teaching of primary reading.

Miss Meek was for a number of years a teacher of reading in the Washington schools, and at present is an instructor at Columbia University.

County League Rally.

The rally of the Prince William civic and community leagues took place in the afternoon. Hon. C. J. Meetez, county president, who has been an enthusiastic worker in behalf of the leagues, presided. After singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers," the program opened with the address of the county president. Mr. Meetez spoke of the league as a great factor in promoting co-operation and enthusiasm on the part of patrons and communities in the training of citizenship. He urged that every school in the county organize a league, and spoke further of the many improvements in the county schools through the work of the leagues.

"There is no factor, perhaps, in the county which offers such opportunities for service and for training in citizenship," he said.

The reports of the county leagues followed, and these speak for themselves as to the value of league work. School sessions have been lengthened, desks and other furniture placed in schools, wells dug, sanitary drinking fountains installed, curtains given, musical instruments bought and many other improvements made. Over $2,000 in money was reported.

League reports showed the following sums raised for school improvement: Nokesville, $206.16; Greenwich, $175.00; King's Cross Roads, $500.00; Brentsville, $51.45; Bristow, $39.46; Purcell, $55.00; Gold Ridge, $210.89; Minnieville, $20; Waterfall, $273.33; Manassas high school, $150.00; Manassas graded school, $749.50; Cannon Branch, $100.00; Bethel, $5.00; Woodbridge, $300.00.

Other leagues made good reports, and several were not represented, owing to the unavoidable absence of delegates.

High School Conference.

Friday afternoon the high school teachers' conference also took place, with Mr. Henry G. Ellis, state supervisor of high schools, presiding. The aim of the conference was to continue the organization of the work of the three junior schools in the county—Haymarket, Bethel and Nokesville—in accordance with the standardized work done in the first two years of Manassas High School, so that pupils finishing at these schools might be prepared to do the work in the upper years of any accredited four-year high school, and in this way receive credit for their work. Otherwise no credit could now be given for the work of these three schools, since they have not yet fulfilled the conditions necessary to be credited as junior high schools by the state.

In his address to the conference, Mr. Ellis explained that the crediting agencies for the high schools—the state departments of education of the various states and the five great associations of colleges and high schools (the New England association, the association of the middle states and Maryland, the association of the central western states, the association of the Pacific states and the association of the southern states) could not by their rules credit the work of individual teachers but only of schools.

A school, in order to be credited by any of these agencies, must fulfill certain conditions as to the number and preparation of its teachers and as to its library facilities and scientific equipment. Moreover, the standard set by the five great associations of colleges and secondary schools for crediting the work of the high schools is much higher than those of many of the state departments; as, for instance, there were 250 four-year high schools credited by the state of Virginia, and of these only 25 were credited by the southern association of colleges and secondary schools, Manassas High School being one of the 25.

Saturday's Session.

The session on Saturday opened with singing, "Come, Thou Almighty King," prayer by Rev. C. L. Beard and singing, "Holy Night."

Supt. Charles R. McDonald spoke a few words of appreciation to teachers and visitors for their enthusiastic attitude and spirit of helpfulness, and made a plea that teachers of the county use suggestions received for the betterment of the schools and communities in which they labor. He then called upon several of the new principals in the county to appear before the conference.

"Teachers, if they love their work, should be proud of their profession. All the compensation of the teacher is not in money, but in more lasting things," said Prof. W. H. Winslow, Aden principal, who declared that for intensity of work and things accomplished, the institute surpassed any that he had ever attended in this or other states.

Prof. C. A. Bittle, principal of Greenwich, followed with remarks of appreciation for the valuable and instructive program of the conference.

School Principals Speak.

Rev. A. H. Shumate, of Dumfries, spoke next of the attitude necessary on the part of the teacher toward her profession and the importance of having high ideals in teaching.

Prof. L. A. King, Bethel principal, spoke of the great opportunity of the teacher's quiet influence for good. One-third of the life of Christ was given to teaching, and many of his converts were made through quiet talks with those who came near him, Prof. King said.

Mrs. W. W. Davies, a member of the Manassas faculty, followed Prof. King. Mrs. Davies gave an account of her visit to the Washington schools and stressed particularly the good discipline of the city schools and the success of self-government there.

The concluding speaker was Prof. Harry M. Pearson, principal of the school at Haymarket.

"The most important responsibility of the teacher is to teach self-government, self-control and good citizenship," Prof. Pearson said.

Business Meeting.

At the business meeting which followed, the following officers were elected:

President, Miss E. H. Osbourn, Manassas High School principal; secretary-treasurer, Miss Lulu D. Metz, Manassas High School; vice-presidents, Prof. I. N. H. Beahm, Brentsville district; Miss Mildred L. Harrell, Coles district; Miss Nora Beasley, Dumfries district; Prof. H. M. Pearson, Gainesville district; Prof. L. A. King, Occoquan district, and Miss Grace B. Moran, Manassas district.

The following delegates were selected to represent the county at the teachers' convention at Richmond: Mrs. A. L. Henry, Manassas; Prof. H. M. Pearson, Haymarket, and Prof. L. A. King, Occoquan.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolutions of Appreciation.

"We, the Prince William County Teachers' Association, in convention assembled in Manassas, feeling under obligations to those who have contributed in making this meeting a success, do hereby offer the following resolutions: "First, That we acknowledge the blessings of Divine Providence on our work at all times.

"Second, That we express our most sincere appreciation to the speakers who have contributed so materially to the success of the meeting in bringing to us so many valuable and helpful suggestions and in co-operating with us for the betterment of our schools.

"Third, That we offer our sincere appreciation to the superintendent for his untiring service, and to the county institute officers for services rendered.

"Fourth, That we express our deep gratitude and thanks to the citizens of Manassas for courtesies extended and to the members of the two patrons' leagues for their cordiality and hospitality to us at all times during our stay, and especially for the delightful social hour and luncheon at Thursday noon.

"Fifth, That we extend our thanks to The Manassas Journal for the excellent account of the meeting.

"Sixth, That we shall ardently endeavor to translate the instruction and inspiration of the conference into the betterment of our respective schools and communities.

"Seventh, That we greatly prize the attitude of helpfulness and good fellowship of the teachers and visitors of the institute.

Respectfully submitted,

"SELINA T. WILSON, Chairman. "MARY T. CARTER, Secretary. "I. N. H. BEAHM."

Protest Against Pension System.

Another resolution, addressed to the state teachers' association at Richmond, and signed by a committee composed of Miss E. H. Osbourn, Prof. L. A. King, Prof. I. N. H. Beahm and Prof. H. M. Pearson, was as follows: "We, the teachers' association of Prince William county, do unanimously register our protest against the present pension system for teachers, in that—

"First, We regard the present law as unjust and unfair in that the teachers, the servants of the state, are themselves required to support the pension fund so largely;

"Second, That the present system is not fair to the great percentage of teachers who never reach the age of pension eligibility in the teaching profession.

"Therefore, We do hereby petition the state teachers' association to appoint a committee of five properly representative persons to study the present pension law thoroughly and generously in view of the complaints herein incorporated and report on the same one year from date."

This business meeting marked the close of the thirteenth annual session of the teachers' institute, which has been pronounced one of the most successful conferences ever held in the county. Supt. McDonald, through whose enthusiastic efforts the work of the institute is maintained, has been warmly congratulated upon the excellent programs presented.

KU KLUX SPEAKER HERE

Col. J. Q. Nolan, of Georgia, addressed Manassas Audience.

Col. J. Q. Nolan, of Georgia, gave a lecture at Eastern auditorium Wednesday evening on "The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," introducing the klan to the community and explaining the reasons for its organization. With an interesting topic and a natural gift of oratory, he held the attention of his audience for nearly two hours.

The klan membership includes men from the United States senate to the plow handles, the speaker declared. A man, to be a klanman, must be of high character and good standing and 100 per cent American, he said.

Col. Nolan, in conclusion, paid high tribute to Virginia, whose soil has produced the greatest statesmen of the nation, and to American womanhood.

The Hayfield Boys' and Girls' Club was called to order Thursday at 10:30 a. m. with four members and one visitor present. The meeting was opened by the vice-president. All repeated the Lord's prayer, after which the club song and yell were given. The roll was called and minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The following program was enjoyed by all: Reading by Bertha Luck; song by club members, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia;" recitation by Theresa Copen; song by club members, "Smiles;" reading by Elsie Copen, and song by two girls, "Four-H Club."

Our reporter talked of the trip to the state fair at Richmond with the bread-judging team. After singing the song, "It Isn't Any Trouble Just to S-M-I-L-E," we made the motion to adjourn to meet again next month.

THE NEW STENOGRAPHER
I have a new stenographer—she came to work today. She told me that she wrote the Graham system.

Two hundred words a minute seemed to her, she said, like play, and word by word at that—she never missed 'em.

I gave her some dictation, a letter to a man, and this, as I remember it, was how the letter ran:

"Dear Sir:—I have your favor, and in reply would state that I accept the offer in yours of recent date.

I wish to state, however, that under no condition can I afford to think of your free lance proposition.

I shall begin tomorrow to turn the matter out. The copy will be ready by August 10th, about.

Material of this nature should not be rushed unduly. Thanking you for your favor, I am yours very truly."

She took it down in shorthand with apparent ease and grace; She didn't call me back, all in a flurry. Thought I, "At last I have a girl worth keeping 'round the place."

Then said, "Now write it out; you needn't hurry." The Oliver she tackled, now and then she struck a key, and after thirty minutes this is what she handed me:

"Dear sir, I have the fever and in a pile I sit. And I accept the offer as you have reasoned it. I wish to see however that under any condition can I think of your free lance proposition.

I shall be in tomorrow to turn the matter out. The Cap will be red and will cost $1 about.

Material of this nation should not rust. N. Dooley, Thinking you have the fever, I am yours very truly."—Exchange.

An old octagon-shaped structure standing among the trees that surrounded the historic mansion of Lord Fairfax at "Greenway Court," near White Post, Clarke county, which was used by George Washington as an office when he surveyed in that section more than 150 years ago, is soon to be restored to its former appearance. Two members of the Mount Vernon association, recently visited "Greenway Court" and inspected the building. The Woman's Club of Clarke county is co-operating in the movement.

"TURKEY" BROWER HOME FOR THE WINTER

Frank (Turkey) Brower, of Catharpin, just across the Loudoun line, who performs in right field for the Washington American League base ball team and enjoys the reputation of being among the best if not the best outfielder of that club, was in Leesburg for a short while on Tuesday. He has just finished a good season's work with the Nationals, batting around the 300 mark and fielding with the best in the league. "Turkey" has many ardent admirers in Loudoun who are ever ready and willing to give credit where credit is due, and who are gratified with the record he has made. He is the only major league player that this section of Virginia can call its own, and base ball fans here enjoy the opportunity when it is offered to discuss big league base ball gossip with him.

He will remain at his home at Catharpin during the winter months and until his team leaves for the southern training trip next spring.—Loudoun Times.

OLD DUMFRIES

Speaking of old communities, did you ever notice a tiny little village, hardly worthy of that title, called Dumfries, on the Richmond road near Quantico? There is one large and unmistakably aged but substantial red brick house there right on the highway, and a few shanties, and that is about all. But I'm told that at one time it was the largest seaport for this country; that was in pre-Revolutionary days. It is at the head of a creek or the remains of a "once was" large creek or stream which has dried up now. Well, in the county records is a letter written by a pre-Revolutionary citizen of the then flourishing port of Dumfries to a friend in "New Amsterdam" in which he says he has heard that some one had expressed the opinion that New Amsterdam might some day be as important a port as Dumfries; that he, the writer, could hardly believe it, but would his friend express his opinion on the subject. And now all of Dumfries could be lost in one of New York's smaller buildings.—Washington Herald.

HAIR NETS FROM CHINA

American women during the year 1921 spent between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 for hair nets, according to statistics supplied by a prominent New York manufacturer. They are spending more this year, he explains, because thousands of young women who had bobbed hair in 1921 are now wearing it long again. The percentage of women who use nets on their hair is constantly on the increase. Many of the human hair nets sold in this country are made in China. There is a large plant in Chefoo owned and operated by a New York company. Before it is made up into nets the long Chinese hair is thoroughly sterilized in muriatic acid and bleached in peroxide. After the nets are completed they are shipped to this country. The Chinese business in hair nets was formerly controlled by Germans, but is now chiefly in the hands of Americans.—Kansas City Star.

USE YOUR ALARM CLOCK

Get the full value from your alarm clock by setting it to signal you:

1. When to take the bread from the oven.
2. When the cold-pack canned fruits and vegetables should be taken from the cooler.
3. When to leave your sewing or your reading to start supper going.
4. To rouse you from a five or a thirty-minute nap.
5. To start for the train or to teach the young people and yourselves habits of punctuality in starting for school, church, or other meetings at which you should be on time.

Other uses will suggest themselves. Rising in the morning isn't the only thing of which we need to be reminded.

The Cheapest Cow

The cheapest cow is not the one which costs least but the one which produces not one month or two months but 10 1-2 months in a year and for a number of years.

On October 11, our last test, 4 cows which had been milking 10 3-4 months averaged 21.4 lbs. of butterfat for the month; 4 other cows which had been milking 8 1-2 months made an average yield of 26.7 lbs. of butterfat, while 3 more cows, in milk over 7 months, made 36.9 lbs. of butterfat. And in the last group, was a cow fourteen years old which in the last four years has averaged 389.5 lbs. of butterfat per year under seven different testers.

Can You Afford to Work for Poor Cows

when we are offering three heifers, descendants of this cow, at cheap prices, considering the records behind them? And we also offer, for sale or lease, immediately, a 3-year-old bull, grand champion at the Prince William Fair. We must have room at once.

THE CHEAPEST HOG

The cheapest hog is the hog that produces the largest litters of growthy pigs. For profit in hogs buy Berkshires from a proven herd. We have bred sows, bred and open gilts, and sows with litters by their sides, at prices that make them cheap from every standpoint. Talk with us now before they are gone.

To Maintain a Standard—

is not always an easy task. In these times when the public is clamoring for something cheaper, it's a great temptation for merchants to cheapen their products. We have always refused to do this for the quality here must be kept up. We buy only the best and sell only the best—and at prices that are consistent with a standard quality. Selling only meats we have no "baits" to throw out. Our only inducement for you to buy is: Quality plus Service and Sanitation. Our steadily increasing patronage warrants us in our belief to fight along this line and not be tempted to resort to the line of the least resistance. STATE U. D. C. CHAPTERS IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

Mrs. Scott, of Lynchburg, Presides—Manassas Sends Four Representatives.

The twenty-seventh annual convention of the Virginia division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was held in Fredericksburg last week, the sessions lasting from Tuesday evening to Friday afternoon. Mrs. James A. Scott, of Lynchburg, state president, presided.

Manassas chapter was represented by Mrs. W. A. Newman, president; Mrs. Arthur W. Sinclair and Miss Louisa Moxley, of Manassas, and Mrs. M. M. Washington, of Greenwich.

A feature of the convention was a trip to the battlefield of Spotsylvania courthouse.

Mrs. Lloyd T. Everett, state historian, asked the representatives of the various chapters to keep alive the interest in the proposed Manassas battlefield park and to aid the project in any way possible.

Among the business of general interest was the adoption of a motion of Mrs. L. T. Everett, historian, in which the convention endorsed the movement to have the names of the great southern leaders included among the inscriptions of leaders of the revolutionary war, war of 1812, Spanish-American war, northern forces of the war between the states and world war, on the columns of Arlington national cemetery.

It was pointed out that the Confederate chieftains were entitled to this honor, and Senator Swanson and others were willing to present a bill if the southern people really desired it and would support the movement. The following prizes were presented:

The Virginia flag offered for the best historical work of the year was awarded to the Wolby-Carter chapter, Upperville.

The John Wheeler prize, offered in honor of her father by Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes, wife of the junior senator from New Hampshire, for the best poem on Arlington, was won by Miss Barbara Redd, of Ashland.

The John Wheeler prize for the best essay on Arlington, also offered by Mrs. Keyes, was awarded to Mrs. William Cabell Flournoy, of Arlington chapter, Bay View, a former president of the Virginia division. Mrs. Flournoy was also the winner of the state U. D. C. prize for the best essay on "The Twin Patriots," Washington and Lee. This prize was a gold piece.

MINNIEVILLE

Farmers are busy preparing to sow wheat and housing corn.

Mrs. A. S. Boatwright and her two little sons, Sinclair and Garland, of Manassas, returned to their home on Sunday after spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. E. J. Alexander.

Mr. Paul Clarke, of Washington, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clarke.

Miss Mary Cornwall is visiting her sisters in Alexandria for a few weeks.

Mr. N. Currell Pattie, of Fredericksburg, was in Minnieville on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Warfield Brawner and Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Brawner, of Dumfries, visited at the home of Mrs. J. T. Clarke on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Clarke, of Washington, formerly of this place, are the proud parents of a baby girl, Marguerite Ann.

Miss Florence Lion, who teaches Minnieville school, attended the teachers' meeting in Manassas last week.

Mr. J. T. Clarke has purchased a new truck.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of Rosie Belle McCuen, who departed this life four years ago, October 22, 1918.

We had a little treasure once
Which was our joy and pride,
We loved her, oh, perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died.

Her heavenly crown is won,
And I am alone in my broken home,
A-wearying for you, dear little Belle,
My empty arms miss your charms,
As I grieve for you each day.

A precious one from us is gone,
But never shall your memory fade,
And sweetest thoughts shall ever linger
Around the grave where you are laid.

Far away from pain and care,
With her Savior and loved ones
May she rest in Jesus' keeping,
For we hope to meet again
On the golden shore where there is no parting.
Others forget thee, though never will I.
By her Mother.

PEOPLE'S DAYS AS ELECTION NEARS

Little Interest Exhibited in Virginia Contests to Be Decided November 7.

Although the congressional election is less than three weeks away and democratic candidates will have republican opposition in every district, the contest is attracting little attention throughout Virginia.

The only unusual activity reported is in the ninth district, where George C. Peery, of Tasewell, representing the democratic party, is opposed by State Senator J. H. Hasinger, of Washington county. Democratic camps are busy, spurred to warmer effort in the face of fairer prospects than any recent year has shown.

Representative C. Bascom Slemple, republican, who has represented the ninth district since the death of his father (Representative Campbell Slemple) in 1907, declined to accept the nomination this year. It is declared that Representative Slemple was able to foresee republican defeat, but it is known that he has talked of retiring for several years, and might have refused the nomination before except for the urgent pleas of republicans who feared the defeat of their cohorts without his leadership. Here the republicans are mustering every possible vote to withstand the drift away from Slemple and his party.

A warmer than usual campaign is scheduled for the seventh district, where Representative Thomas W. Harrison, of Winchester, democrat, and Capt. John Paul, of Harrisonburg, republican, are in the lists.

Representative R. Walton Moore, of the eighth district, will be opposed by John Sidney Wiley, of Fairfax county.

Some of the candidates are paying brief visits to their constituents to the extent of making addresses at the county seats within their districts, but no campaign tours are of record, and campaign clubs apparently are not in existence this time.

A list of candidates follows:
United States Senate—Senator Claude A. Swanson, Pittsylvania, democrat, and J. W. McGavock, Wythe, republican.

First district—Representative S. Otis Bland and George N. Wise, Newport News.

Second district—Representative Joseph T. Deal and Percy S. Stephenson, Norfolk.

Third district—Representative Andrew J. Montague and Channing M. Ward, Richmond.

Fourth district—Representative Patrick H. Drewry and Herbert Rogers, Petersburg.

Fifth district—Representative J. Murray Hooker and Dr. C. S. Smith, Henry county.

Sixth district—Judge C. A. Woodrum, Roanoke, and F. W. McWayne, Lynchburg.

Seventh district—Representative Thomas W. Harrison and Capt. John Paul, Harrisonburg.

Eighth district—Representative R. Walton Moore and J. S. Wiley, Fairfax.

Ninth district—George C. Peery, Tasewell, and State Senator J. H. Hasinger, Washington county.

Tenth district—Representative Harry St. George Tucker and John Martin, Cumberland.

J. W. CATON PASSES AWAY

Well-Known Catharpin Resident Succumbs to Long Illness.

John W. Caton, a well-known resident of the Catharpin neighborhood, died on Friday at his home, "Soldiers Rest," after a long illness. On two occasions in recent months Mr. Caton had been carried to a Washington hospital for radium treatment. He returned from the hospital about two weeks ago, growing steadily worse until the end came on Friday.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday at his late home by Rev. Clarence L. Beard, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. A large gathering of friends and relatives attended. The body was laid to rest in Stodley churchyard.

Mr. Caton was sixty-four years old. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Sarah J. Caton, and two sons, Messrs. Charles F. Caton and John M. Caton, of Catharpin. Two brothers—Messrs. Thomas J. Caton, of Catharpin, and Enoch Caton, of near Falls Church—also survive.

FARM BUREAU FORGES AHEAD

Two Million Farmers of Forty-Six States Have Enrolled in Two Years' Time.

(By Frank Nelson)

To the thinking farmer, the coming of the Farm Bureau is the advent, not only of a new day in agriculture, but it means the final elimination of many, if not all, the ills the present-day agriculture is heir to. This is not a prophetic declaration. Not by any means. The declaration is based on actual, accomplished facts; the savings of millions of dollars to the farmer and the public of the whole United States. Look up these facts yourself and you will find the following savings, not only to the farmer, but the "Common Wealth" of the whole United States: $55,000,000 saved annually through the Farm Bureau transportation policy in rates authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. You will find another $45,000,000 saving in freight bills on grain, hay and live stock. You will also find a gigantic saving to the shippers of the United States in the reduction of railway valuation, to the extent of $1,700,000,000, for computing guaranteed earnings; an average saving to every one of the 6,500,000 farmers of the United States of $2.50 for every day of the month. Thus, every fourth day the Farm Bureau is paying for you your annual dues of $10. You will also find that the Farm Bureau secured the extension of the War Finance Corporation's power so as to lend $1,000,000,000 to farmers.

The Farm Bureau secured the passage of the Packer Control bill after a continuous struggle of the farmers for over thirty-four years, with a resultant saving of $26,400,000 to the farmers and live stock producers of the United States. The constitutionality of this bill has just been confirmed by the United States supreme court. All this immense saving is shared equally by both consumer and producer, one year's saving of this bill being ample to pay the running expenses of the national Farm Bureau organization for eight years.

The Farm Bureau appointed the live stock committee of 15; the grain marketing committee of 17, now being so hotly fought by the Chicago and other grain exchanges of the United States; the farmers' dairy marketing committee of 11; the fruit growers' marketing committee of 21, of which your neighbor, Mr. B. F. Meonaw, of Cloverdale, is one of the higher officials; appointed the farmers' wool marketing committee of 25, which has already put across co-operative wool pools in eighteen states, handling better than 40,000,000 pounds of wool in 1921; assisted in the organization of the cotton and tobacco pools; stood sponsor for many, many beneficiary laws for the people of the United States, and squarely across the path of all class legislation, graft and inequitable tax laws. In fact, has through its agricultural bloc, done more for the welfare of the peoples of this broad land than any organization ever yet formed.

The slogan of the Farm Bureau is neither class, party, race, section or creed, but the immortal cry of the patriot, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." It was this spirit that prompted the spontaneous opening of the farmers' grain bins of the United States and the outpouring of 700,000 bushels of gift corn to the famished, starving hordes of Europe.

Agriculture is basic. Thus the farmer, in seeking the solution of his very complex problems, is economically, fighting for the higher social standards and cheaper living costs of every family in the United States. The farmer's ends, his aims, his efforts and his investments, collectively, do not—cannot—make solely for private gain or greed. God would not have made "Food" a prerequisite and thus agriculture basic, if agriculture could have been made the plaything of greed and avarice. Agriculture is not a plaything of man. Neither can man make it that. It is God's own creation. Hence above and beyond all human arrogance, greed or caprice.

It is as a race, not as individuals, we live and exist. For this reason human beings form races, nationalities, communities and cities. Not by individualism are these created. On the contrary, the sacrifice (not that word sacrifice) of individualism. Sacrificing individualism, what do we get? Co-operation, of course. What do we then become? Why, we are then co-operatives, pure and simple. As such only were all our public benefits, such as trails, roads, dwellings, schools, churches, cities, etc., attained.

This is why the Farm Bureau comes to you purely as a voluntary co-operative organization, of the you's and me's of this old historic state of Virginia; having as its sole aim and purpose the betterment of agriculture

YOUNG ROBBER CAUGHT IN CITY

Two Negroes, Said to Be Equally Responsible for Manassas Burglary, Escape.

Carl McDaniels, a white youth giving his age as nineteen years, was arrested in Washington on Saturday and lodged in the county jail here to await trial on the charge of burglarizing the Byrd clothing store in Manassas on the night of October 12. Two negroes, who are said to have broken into the store with McDaniels, escaped.

The arrest took place in a second-hand clothing store, where McDaniels confessed to selling an overcoat which Mr. Byrd redeemed for $3, which the dealer said he had paid McDaniels. When the clothing was exhibited the dealer became suspicious of stolen goods and notified police headquarters. Before the arrival of detectives the negroes had escaped.

Two suits and a number of ties, socks and handkerchiefs were found in McDaniels' possession. Three suits, said to have been sold by the negroes, were found at a shop farther down the same street and redeemed by Mr. Byrd for the sum of $10.

McDaniels was returning from New York, where he had been employed, to his North Carolina home, according to the report of his confession. Reaching Alexandria, out of work and out of funds, he fell in with two negroes, who came with him to Manassas on a freight. After looking over the ground, they decided upon the robbery, which occurred about midnight, he said. Four suitcases packed with clothing constituted the haul.

A freight ride took them to Washington, and the spoils are said to have been divided in the woods of the Soldiers' Home grounds.

McDaniels was tried Saturday night before Mayor Davis and sent to jail to await the action of the grand jury in December. His bond was placed at $1,000.

DEATH OF MRS. GORE

Mother of Mrs. Hough Passes Away in Loudoun—Funeral Yesterday.

Mrs. Gore was a member of the Episcopal Church. She was the widow of Albert W. Gore, and before her marriage was Miss Sallie Moore. F. Hough.

Mrs. Hough was notified by telegram of her mother's critical condition and reached her bedside on Monday. Dr. Hough and their daughter, Miss Marjorie Hough, accompanied by Mrs. Stuart E. Bevans, motored to Loudoun yesterday to attend the funeral. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Hough.

BODY FOUND IN POTOMAC

Swiss Identified as Mrs. Irene Fewell—Family From Here.

The body of a woman found floating in the Potomac river a short time ago was identified as that of Mrs. Irene Fewell, wife of Mr. William Fewell, of New York city and Meridian, Miss. The body was weighted down with pieces of concrete and an electric iron. It is said that Mrs. Fewell had been suffering from melancholia and had threatened to take her life.

The Fewell family is well known in this section, and Mrs. Fewell had visited here. Mr. Fewell's father was Judge John Fewell, of Mississippi, and the adopted son of the late Robert Leachman, of Prince William county. Judge Fewell will be remembered by many older residents. His father was T. T. Fewell, and his grandfather was known as Colonel Fewell, both of whom lived at Brentsville.
