AGENT STARTS ROUND ROBIN

Housekeepers to Have Benefit of Information Useful in Home—Suggestions Solicited.

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)

This week the county home demonstration agent has started what is known as a Round Robin, in connection with the Better Kitchen contest.

An alphabetical list of names of all women interested in the contest is sent to seven women. An interesting and helpful article is placed with each list of names. The woman getting the same is requested to read and copy anything she wishes to retain, and mail the article to the woman next to her on the list. All women are urged to put into the envelope any helpful suggestions they have worked out or any clippings they have found in papers. The last woman receiving the envelope will read the contents and return the same to the county home demonstration agent.

Any helpful suggestions from women will be gladly received and given out for publication; so that all women in the county may have advantage of the good things being done. By doing this, the work can be made educationally helpful not only to those actively engaged in the work, but to other women in Prince William and surrounding counties.

Ready inquiries have come for full description of the work being done in Prince William. Students are asking for accounts of the work to be used in writing theses for graduation. This is real extension work; therefore, outside of the county papers, the news must go out from Blacksburg.

One of the merchants in Manassas has taken quite an interest in the kitchen improvement contest, and is putting into his store quite a selection of all useful wares for a kitchen work shop. A housekeeper can go in and get almost anything she wants at a reasonable price for the times. Women are urged to visit this store and find the necessary things to make work easy in the home workshop.

Already, two of the contestants, Mrs. C. F. M. Lewis and Mrs. Wilson Wenrich, have volunteered to receive women interested to see their work. These women have gotten a little more work done than some others and are willing to help others in this way. Don't be too busy to visit. The automobile will help make this possible.

BELL-DULIN

The marriage of Miss Grace Dulin, of Greenwich, to Mr. Edward Bell, of Nokesville, took place in Washington on Saturday at the home of the bride's foster sister, Mrs. Annie Laster. Only a few intimate friends were present.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Laster as matron of honor. Mr. Allen Laster was best man. The bride looked lovely in a traveling suit of brown, with hat and shoes to match. Mrs. Laster also wore brown. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and ferns.

Later the happy pair left for a motor trip to Luray and the Blue Ridge mountains, after which they will make their home at Greenwich.

"Life is something else besides just living."

HAYWOOD HERNDON DIES

Confederate Soldier Passes Away at Age of 87.

Haywood Herndon, a Confederate soldier and one of the oldest residents of the Adon neighborhood, died Monday morning. Funeral services took place on Tuesday at the Methodist Church, of which he was member. Rev. W. H. Marsh, the pastor, officiated.

Mr. Herndon is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Weeks, of Nokesville; three grandchildren, Mr. Leonard Weeks, of Nokesville; Mrs. A. H. Norman, of Catlett, and Mrs. James Crump, of Catlett, and three great-grandchildren, Misses Irene Norman, Dessie Norman and Essie Norman, of Catlett. He also leaves a brother, Mr. Thomas Herndon, of Bristow.

STUDENTS OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY HERE

Rev. A. S. Gibson Makes Address, Upholding Wilson Peace Ideals.

(Reported)

The usual celebration of Armistice day which Manassas High School has held for the last three years took place on Wednesday morning—the actual date, November 11, having come on Saturday.

A part of the program was devoted to the commemoration of the poet, Bryant, whose birthday comes in November.

The service flags, which are among the most cherished possessions of the high school, decorated the assembly room—one with twenty-two stars for the Alumni and the other with sixty-three for the members of the student body who fought in the Great War.

The following program was given:

Prayer.
Song, "America," by the school.

Reading, "The Meaning of Armistice Day," Review of Reviews, Miss Christine Moser.

Reading from Woodrow Wilson's War Address to Congress, Miss Mary Evans.

Recitation, "In Flanders Field," Miss Rose Rice.

Reading from Woodrow Wilson's Address on Armistice Day, 1922, Paul Arrington.

Life of Bryant, Miss Elizabeth Coleman.

"Death of the Flowers," Miss Constance Henry.

"Lines to a Waterfowl," Miss Florence McNeil.

The program closed with a short address by Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, in which he spoke of the tremendous importance of upholding the peace ideals of former President Wilson, or of uniting with the civilized people of the world in some form of established world peace, and so to prevent future wars now to be doubly terrible with the increasing power of science in the invention of deadly machinery of destruction.

—Mrs. Charles Fuchs, of Lorton, was hostess at a bridge luncheon one day last week, having as her guests Mrs. Corbin Thompson, Miss Josephine Thompson, Mrs. Douglas Janney and her sister-in-law, Mrs. William H. Leachman, of Manassas; Mrs. C. Lee Starkweather, Mrs. Frederick R. Hynson, Mrs. H. S. Claggett, Mrs. H. H. Green, Mrs. S. M. Byington, Mrs. H. B. Haar, Mrs. F. W. Hornbaker, Mrs. C. O. Thurman and Mrs. E. A. Green.

MISS SPIES AN AUTUMN BRIDE

Quiet Ceremony Performed at Home of Bride's Mother—Mr. Ellis the Groom.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Ann E. Spies on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when her daughter, Miss Frances Elizabeth Spies, became the bride of Mr. Mackall M. Ellis. The decorations were autumn leaves, mountain laurel, yellow chrysanthemums and potted plants, forming an arch under which the ceremony was performed by Rev. William Stevens, pastor of Grace Church.

Miss Margaret Temple Hopkins played the wedding music, including the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's wedding march. Just before the bridal couple entered, Mrs. R. R. Whitmore, sister of the bride, sang "Because."

The bride wore a suit of blue moireen, squirrel trimmed, with accessories to match. Her carriage was of pink roses and orchids.

Before the ceremony was performed a wedding supper was served in the dining room, which was decorated with pink chrysanthemums. The young couple left immediately for Florida. On their return they will live at the home of the bride's mother.

The bride has been a popular teacher at the Temple School of Music and Mr. Ellis is assistant cashier of the Peoples National Bank.

The wedding guests were: Mrs. Ellis, of Greenwich, mother of the groom; Mrs. Lucy Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis and Mr. Frank Cokerille, all of Greenwich; Miss Margaret Temple Hopkins, Mrs. M. Bruce Whitmore and Mr. Gilbert E. Spies.

U. D. C. BENEFIT

College Girls Will Present Program on Nov. 24.

An entertainment will be given by the students of Eastern College-Conservatory in the college auditorium on the evening of Friday, November 24, at 8 o'clock, in aid of funds for the U. D. C. The program follows: Trio, "Oh, Wondrous Night," Offenbach (from the opera Les Contes d' Hoffman)—Mildred McNary, Margaret Green, Enid Edie.

Reading, "Topsy," Stowe—Dessie Nickels.

Piano, "To Spring," Grieg—Margaret Green.

Voice, "The Magic of Your Eyes," Penn—Enid Edie.

Violin, "Extase," Musin—Ruth Eckelman.

Reading, "Changing the Ethiopian," Calhoun—Mary Alice Ramsey.

Voice, "Love Brings a Little Gift of Roses," Cooke—May Maxwell.

Reading, "The Lie," Parker—Jacquelin Hyde.

Piano, "Masurka," Lischetzsky—Margaret Crowe.

Admission will be twenty-five cents.

ROLL OF HONOR FOR MINNIEVILLE SCHOOL

The scholars on this roll of honor made from 90 to 100 in deportment, attendance and recitations:

William Dane, Eva Hopkins, Louis Hinton, Francis Hinton, Archie Gordon, Beatrice Gordon, Ernest Florence, Edwin Bland, Ida Bland, Ethel Bailey, Ocelis Posey, Hattie Hopkins. FLORENCE S. LION, Teacher.

FIRE DESTROYS RAILWAY BRIDGE

Breaks Direct Communication Between Washington and Virginia Capital.

Fire early yesterday morning partially destroyed the quarter-mile bridge of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad over Neabeco creek between Cherry Hill and Quantico. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Traffic is tied up not only on the R., F. and P., but also on the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line, which use the R., F. and P. tracks. When the trains resumed their schedule out of Washington late in the day, they faced a two hour delay between Washington and Richmond on account of a necessary detour over tracks of the Southern railway and the Chesapeake and Ohio route between Alexandria and Doswell, which is practically the only way in which the trains of the three lines affected can now reach Washington.

No casualties from the fire have been reported. The scene was a trestle bridge 106 feet high and 300 feet long over a creek and adjoining marsh land almost a quarter of a mile in width.

Appeals were made to the Washington fire department which was unable to respond, the creek being too shallow for the fire-fighting boats.

A local train was run yesterday from Richmond to Cherry Hill, just below the bridge, and from Washington to Neabeco, north of the bridge, and such local trains will be continued for the benefit of patrons in that vicinity until the bridge can be restored. How to transfer passengers from one side of the bridge to the other is still a puzzle because of the width of the marsh land and the creek.

Reports declare that the north and southbound tracks will have to be relaid on the trestle and that a large part of the trestle will have to be rebuilt.

The Southern railway bridge across Mill creek at Mt. Jackson burned a few weeks ago.

MOORE LEADS WILEY BY GREAT MAJORITY

Eighth District's Representative Receives 8,712 Votes—1,746 Cast for Wiley.

Representative R. Walton Moore led his opponent, Mr. John Sidney Wiley, of Fairfax county, by a majority of 6,966, according to final returns from the election of November 7. Mr. Moore received 8,712 votes, and 1,746 votes were cast for the republican candidate.

Tabulated returns, showing the vote of the entire eighth congressional district, follow:

County	Moore	Wiley	Moore's Majority
Alexandria	800	213	587
Arlington	1008	326	772
Calpeper	630	49	581
Fairfax	1800	348	1452
Fauquier	1000	147	853
King George	120	28	194
King William	1008	177	831
Loudoun	508	77	431
Stafford	631	52	579
Orange	612	120	492
Prince William	447	156	291
Stafford	447	156	291
Total	8712	1746	6966

—The home of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Gohnew was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday morning, when Miss Edith Estelle Cunningham, of this county, became the bride of Mr. Edgar F. Henry, of Middleburg. Mr. Henry is a traveling salesman. The couple will make their home in Manassas.

SOCIETY MEETS

Presbyterian Ladies Study Southern Mountaineers.

(Mrs. J. H. Dodge, Secretary) Mrs. C. J. Meetze entertained the Presbyterian Missionary Society on Tuesday afternoon at her home in West street.

Mrs. Hodge read the sixty-second Psalm and in her remarks in relation to prayer said, "What a blessed consolation to the Christian that we have the privilege to accept God as our personal Friend that He regards us individually, not collectively." All the members took part in the study, "Among the Southern Mountaineers," from their early history, present condition and future outlook.

After the program the society spent a pleasant social hour.

CLUB WORKERS BEGIN ANOTHER NEW YEAR

County Agent Urges All Officers to Get Records in on Time.

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)

Thursday, November 30, the year 1922 in club work closes, and Friday, December 1, the year 1923 begins. The first Friday in December will be known as annual club election day. Sometime during the day the different clubs are expected to hold meetings and elect officers for the coming year. The secretaries will start with new minute books, recording the names of officers elected, the revised club rolls and minutes. The club-reporters are to be responsible for sending reports of each club meeting to the county agents.

Are we ready to begin the new year? Let each one of us ask this question. Are all reports in the hands of the county agents? If not, try and get them in place by the 22nd of November. These are all needed in making out annual reports. Presidents and secretaries of clubs should see that all reports from their clubs are in on time.

We want to make 1923 the best year in the work. New members should all be enrolled by the first of January. There will be several new clubs organized in the county. These will get to work with vim. It is up to the clubs now in operation to keep abreast of these new ones.

Who is going to win the county banner this year? Are we going to let the Junior Workers win it again, and thus let it become their property. Presidents and secretaries, get busy and see that your minute books get in on time, and that nothing is left out in making out your records. Make everything count for what it is worth. It is not the biggest club that counts for most, but the club being the most active.

Remember, the boys' and girls' 4-H club motto is "To make the best motto." We must live up to this motto.

—Charles Robinson, a colored resident of Manassas for many years, died on Saturday in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was buried here on Monday. His wife, formerly Eva Nickens, survives. "Charlie" was well-known in this vicinity, having been employed by Mrs. John Prescott, the Portner family, Mr. R. S. Hynson and others before going north a few years ago.

—Mr. George G. Tyler left for Washington on Monday to undergo treatment at a sanitarium near the city.

LANSDON SPEAKS TO FARMERS HERE

National Organizer of Farmers' Union Makes Address on Co-Operation.

Hon. W. C. Lansdon, national organizer and lecturer of the Farmers' Union of America, spoke to a large audience of farmers here on Monday.

Mr. G. H. Bowles, state secretary, made a few introductory remarks pertaining to the organization and its interests, after which Mr. Lansdon was introduced.

The farming population of the United States comprises only 30 per cent of its population, the speaker said. Seventy per cent live in cities and villages, depending on the 30 per cent for their livelihood. No farmer or manufacturer can sell his product for less than the cost of production and succeed, he declared. Food is life insurance and must be sold at a profit or the farmer goes bankrupt.

Farm crops have been sold at a loss for the past two years, he said. The result will be decreased production, and decreased production means decreased purchasing power of the farmer, and that will mean disaster always around unless we find a remedy.

"The wealth of this country is six hundred billion dollars. Land, Capital and Labor, these three partners, have made this vast wealth in about fifty-seven years. A few years ago the farmers represented one half of this wealth—now only about seventy billions," he said. "Think of the wonderful deflation!"

This condition is not due to lack of wisdom, organization or co-operation alone, according to Mr. Lansdon, but to the natural course following every war. The farmer gets only twenty-five cents of the consumer's dollar, while seventy-five cents goes to the middleman. In other words, it costs seventy-five cents to market a dollar's worth of food, he said.

Agriculture has not kept pace with other industries, declared Mr. Lansdon. Farmers could have a monopoly on the products which they raise and the present status, according to the speaker, is largely due to lack of foresight.

Mr. Lansdon's solution to this great problem is more organization, closer co-operation and a system of marketing which would get the products direct to the consumer, eliminating a large part of the seventy-five-cent loss to the producer.

Through co-operative selling and buying, he said, he was sure that Kansas farmers got twenty-cents a bushel more for their wheat and saved $1,400,000 in one year on binder twine, and he figured at least $20,000,000 is saved each year due entirely to co-operative marketing and distribution.

Mr. Lansdon gave a comprehensive summary of what the farmers' union has accomplished in legislative matters and in conclusion made an appeal for loyalty to the organization.

D. A. R. FOUNDER DEAD.

Mrs. Mary Smith Lockwood, founder of the Daughters of the American Revolution, died Saturday at the Hordan hospital, Plymouth, Mass., where she had been a patient since September. She was ninety-one years old.

Ice this morning!

STATE NEWS NOTES

To Scrap Camp Lee.

Definite announcement that Camp Lee is to be scrapped by the War Department is made in a letter received at Richmond from Frank S. Cocheu, chief of staff for the Third Corps Area, who states that the attorney-general of the army has ordered the camp salvaged without reservation.

The government recently offered the camp to the Virginia national guard, but the state organization had no funds with which to repair the cantonment and put it in shape for troops.

Married Half a Century.

Rev. D. G. C. Butts, D. D., veteran minister and now pastor of Campostella Methodist Church in Norfolk, and Mrs. Butts celebrated their golden wedding with a reception at the church on Tuesday. Both are widely known in the Virginia conference, Dr. Butts having held many pastorates in the state, as is indicated by his book just published. Dr. Butts in his book recounts his experiences as a Methodist preacher and the pastoral charges which he has served during the last fifty years.

Seven Hurled From Airplane.

While making a landing at Reid flying field near Fredericksburg on Friday, a large Martin bombing plane with seven occupants, struck a hill of earth causing it to tip on its nose, in which position it remained, its tail pointing skyward. The pilot, Lieut. Shilt, and six enlisted men were thrown out of the machine, but escaped unhurt with the exception of one man, who sustained a sprained ankle. The plane was traveling slowly at the time and was just in the act of settling to the ground when the accident occurred.

Dr. Shirley Carter Dead.

Dr. Shirley Carter, a widely known and distinguished former citizen of Loudoun county, died while visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Stuart, in East Orange, N. J., one day last week. Dr. Carter was eighty-two years old and was born in Clarke county. He married Mary Mercer Swann, daughter of Governor Swann, of Maryland, and was private secretary to Governor Swann when the latter was a member of the U. S. Senate. Dr. Carter served with distinction as an officer during the war between the states. After Governor Swann retired from the Senate Dr. Carter moved to Morven Park, Loudoun county, where he resided before moving to Washington several years ago. He leaves three children, Mr. C. Shirley Carter, of Leesburg; Mrs. Stuart, of East Orange, N. J., and Mr. William B. Carter, of New York. He was buried at Leesburg.

Burned Fighting Fire.

Mr. John M. Fishpaw, rich Clarke county farmer, was badly burned about the face and head while fighting fire that destroyed a large barn and contents on a farm he owns adjoining his home place near Opequon creek. Friction in a threshing machine box is thought to have caused the fire which spread with alarming rapidity, enveloping straw stacks and then igniting the barn, one of the largest in the county. It contained sixty tons of hay, 300 bushels of barley, nearly 600 bushels of wheat, large numbers of farming implements and other equipments and an immense silo nearby also was consumed. Fire-brands were carried 1,000 yards by the high wind and burned several great piles of fodder. Volunteers formed bucket brigades and saved the Fishpaw mansion.

Fatally Burned.

A daughter of Mr. Enfield Shiffett, who resides on the farm of Mr. William S. Trimmer near Rapidan, was fatally burned one day last week, her clothing having caught fire from the cook stove. She was rushed to the University hospital for treatment, where she died in a few hours. She was thirteen years of age.—Orange Observer.

Vets Winter at Hampton.

Several score wounded American soldiers, veterans of the world war, will spend the winter at the national soldiers' home at Hampton, according to advices received there from the government. There now are about forty world war veterans, wounded men, at the soldiers' home.

Wm. A. Rucker Dead.

William Ambrose Rucker, eighty-two years old, one of the oldest Masons in Virginia and a veteran of the war between the states, died in Richmond last week at the home of his son, Mr. D. H. Rucker. He was a member of the Joe Kendall camp, Confederate veterans, and often referred with pride to the fact that he was the courier who carried the first message from the battlefield announcing to President Jefferson Davis the news of the great victory at the first battle of Manassas.

Mr. Rucker's wife, who was Miss Arne Chappelle, of Delaware, died in May. He is survived by four daughters and five sons—Mrs. M. T. Hudson, Washington; Mrs. W. P. Wood, Richmond; Mrs. Garland Skinner, Dallas, Texas; Mrs. H. C. Rucker, Mattoax; Mr. W. B. Rucker, Urbana; Mr. B. C. Rucker, California; Mr. D. H. Rucker, Richmond; Mr. C. P. Rucker, Mattoax, and Mr. B. A. Rucker, Delaware.

Torpedo Upsets Rowboat.

A torpedo discharged from one of the government boats was "running wild" in the water around Lewisetta Friday. It did no damage, but excited some of the watermen by running near their boats.

It ran in Garners creek, on the Potomac side, then curved, passing out into the Potomac again, but not until it had upset a rowboat in which were two men, giving them a good wetting.

Drowned in Foot of Water.

The tragic drowning of a nineteen-month-old child in a pool of water about one foot in depth about noon Sunday marred Sunday for the people of the Cross Keys community, Rockingham county. Little Orville Showalter, only child of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hubert Showalter, was the victim. The child had been in the kitchen with its mother and then left the house. It was not missed for fifteen minutes, when the search of the father located the body in a shallow pool nearby. First aid methods were tried and a physician was called, but without avail.

Gets Historic Medal.

Mrs. Francis Eppes Shine, of Los Angeles, Cal., has presented to the University of Virginia the medal struck by Congress in 1801 to commemorate the writing and signing of the Declaration of Independence. The medal belonged to Dr. Francis Eppes Shine, who died in Paris last September. Mrs. Shine has given it to the university in compliance with her husband's wishes.

THE ROLL

Again the American Red Cross calls the roll. Membership is a privilege and one dollar is the price of the privilege.

Where there is suffering, there is the Red Cross. In fire, flood, pestilence, war, there is its healing influence. It is without race, without nationality. An appeal from suffering is its law. In disaster there is no appeal to the Red Cross: the Red Cross volunteers. It is ready at a moment's notice to telegraph funds and to send aid.

Such ministrations are impossible without money. And we who have the dollar have but to give.

Prince William in war-time had a good working organization and her people had many opportunities to see its good works. Now that needs are not so apparent locally, interest has cooled in many quarters and the dollars fall to come as they did. We have been blessed for a long time with immunity from fire and flood and disaster. Surely it would be fitting to register our acknowledgment of the blessing by contributing a dollar to the Red Cross for the relief of the suffering ones who have been less fortunate than we.

WOODROW WILSON

The mere fact that Woodrow Wilson was physically able on Saturday to break the silence which the state of his health has so long imposed lights another beacon of hope for the democratic party. Mr. Wilson's illness came at the height of his striking public career, descending as a blight on his physical being, casting a desperate gloom over his millions of followers and breaking in some measure the amazing influence of one of the strongest and ablest leaders America has ever had.

Although he perhaps may never experience a return to physical health and vigor, it was a happy occasion which permitted him to speak to a host of friends and admirers and to testify that the same alert mind remains even in the possession of the broken man and that he is still keenly sensitive to and able to consider with his old rare judgment his country's hopes and needs.

A COMPLIMENT TO SENATOR GLASS

Senator Carter Glass has been mentioned by some thoughtful observers as a possible successor to Senator Underwood, of Alabama, as leader of the democratic minority in the Senate. Senator Underwood has announced that he will retire from the leadership when this Congress expires. So far only Senator Glass and Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, have been mentioned openly for the post.

His name having been brought forward at this time is a high compliment to Virginia's junior Senator. Although he attained national prominence as head of the treasury portfolio under Wilson he is still fairly new to the Senate and decidedly the junior of many others to whom the honor might be expected to fall.

LOOKING TO 1924

"We must now clear our minds and purify our hearts to offer to the country in 1924 exactly the service it most needs and the candidate who can best render that service."

Woodrow Wilson, America's famous war president, in a letter to Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, includes this paragraph freighted with a meaning and a sincerity that are impressive. He sounds a note which should be the key to democratic victory in 1924.

To many minds there is only one outstanding figure in the long list of democratic possibilities. And, furthermore, it is entirely possible that the country holds a man of the right calibre who has not been considered presidential timber before.

The time has come, at all events, to set aside factional difficulties, personal prejudice and every minor consideration—"to clear our minds and purify our hearts" in order to be ready to welcome in 1924 what America desires and what America needs.

AMERICAN SPORTSMANSHIP

Conflicting estimates of what may be called the American sense of fair play have recently come from abroad. Expressions from two prominent British figures, Sir Thomas Lipton and John Fortescue, president of the Royal Historical Society, have gained rather wide publicity. The estimate advanced by the latter in a recent book caused the recall of an invitation that had been extended to him to address the cadets at West Point, and Americans generally will applaud the course of Secretary Weeks. Fortescue had said: "The United States cannot engage in any form of competition with us, from athletics to diplomacy, without using foul play. They must win, if not by fair skill, then by prearranged trickery or violence." On directing the recall of the invitation to Fortescue, Secretary Weeks expressed the opinion that "an author entertaining these sentiments is not a proper person to address the students of a government academy." It is singular, in fact, that one holding such views should desire to speak to an American audience or associate with Americans in any way.

Sir Thomas Lipton, who though less distinguished in historical research than Fortescue, has enjoyed exceptional advantages for studying American standards of sportsmanship, presents his view of the matter in the form of a little story. "A lady once wrote me," he relates, "she was sure the Americans were putting something in the water so the Shamrock couldn't win. I wrote back to her and said I thought she was right. The Americans were putting the Reliance in the water." The points of difference between Fortescue and the woman who wrote to Sir Thomas Lipton are plain; the latter was ignorant and simple-minded, the former ignorant and malicious. —Times-Dispatch.

THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn
In the peace of their self-content:
There are souls like stars that dwell apart,
In a fellowless firmament:
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
Where highways never ran:
But let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
The men that are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorners' seat,
Or hurt the cynic's ban:
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press with the ardor of hope,
The men who are faint with the strife.
But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears—
Both parts of an infinite plan:
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead
And mountains and wearisome heights:
That the road passes on through the long afternoon
And stretches away to the night.
But still I rejoice when the travelers rejoice,
And weep with the strangers that moan,
Nor live in my house by the side of the road
Like a man who dwells alone.

Let me live in my house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit on the scorners' seat
Or hurt the cynic's ban?
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man. —Author Unknown.

"How jolly! We'll be able to listen to the next world war by radio." —Simplicissimus (Munich).

APPELLATION

A kindly old soul asked the seven children of an acquaintance to tea. The youngsters' ages ranged from three years to fourteen. As they streamed into her drawing-room, her brain reeled, and their christian names failed her.

"And which one are you, dear," she asked a solemn boy of seven, helplessly.

"Me?" said he, importantly. "I'm the one with the spectacles." —Tit-Bits.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

The insurance adjuster who had been investigating the fire turned to go.
"I came down here to find out the cause of this fire, and I have done so," he remarked.
"That's what I want to know. What caused it?" demanded the house owner.
"It's a plain case of friction."
"What-ya-mean—friction?"
"The fire was undoubtedly caused by rubbing a three-thousand-dollar insurance policy on a two-thousand-dollar house." —Everybody's.

Mauck has moved to Oakton and Mr. Landy Pearson has moved to Delaplane. Dr. W. Fewell Merchant is attending a meeting of Southern railway surgeons at White Sulphur Springs. The Tuesday Night Bridge Club was entertained this week by Mrs. Jacob L. Harrell at her residence in West street. Twin daughters—Virginia Frances and Elizabeth Steward—were born on Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Miller. Mr. Robert W. Adamson, who has been under treatment at Catawba Sanatorium, has returned to his home in Manassas. Miss Lillie Sutton, who has been under treatment at Kendall Home in Washington for a month, is very much improved. The ladies of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, South, are holding a rummage sale in the Larkin-Dorrell warerooms today. The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will have a social in the league room this evening. All are cordially invited to attend. The St. Cecilia Club, composed of the music pupils of Mrs. B. H. Hodge, held its first meeting of the season this afternoon with Mrs. Hodge at Roblay apartment. Rev. George W. Crabtree, of Catlett, will preach at Independent Hill in the O. F. A. hall each night next week, beginning with Sunday, November 19, at 7:30 o'clock. A red fox is a prize of the hunting season captured near Manassas last week by Mr. Joseph C. Bennet. The fox was fully grown and will provide a handsome fur for Mrs. Bennet. The patrons' league of the graded school will hold an important meeting this afternoon. The program includes a business meeting with election of officers, musical selection and refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson, who have had apartments with Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Craver, in Prince William street, have moved into apartments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ashford in Lee avenue. Rev. J. Murray Taylor, of Abingdon, a native of this county, preached at the morning and evening services at the Baptist Church on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Taylor was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hall. The regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity Church will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. C. A. S. Hopkins. Work among the Indians will be discussed. The leader will be Mrs. Emily C. Round. Miss Mary Larkin, who has been editing The Journal since October 1, will go to Washington tomorrow to spend a few days with her mother, Mrs. L. A. Larkin, before leaving on Tuesday for St. Louis, Mo., for further treatment at the McLain Orthopedic Sanitarium. Sunday School will be held at Bethel Lutheran Church on Sunday at the usual hour. There will be no preaching service on account of the absence of the pastor, Rev. Edgar Z. Pence, who is attending a meeting of the synod at King's Mountain, N. C. Rev. Mr. Pence left Manassas Tuesday night and will be gone for a week.

The town council held a short session at the town hall on Monday night. The marriage of Miss Viola Hall, of Camden, N. J., and Mr. F. Ernest Ransdell, jr., of Washington, took place in Philadelphia on October 26. Mr. and Mrs. Ransdell are making their home at the residence of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Ransdell, 3341 17th street, northwest, Washington D. C. Mr. S. W. Cooksey has recently interested himself as a member of Bull Run Council, No. 15, Order Fraternal Americans, in having a tombstone placed at the grave of the late Richard Taylor, who was a member of the order. Mr. Cooksey has secured the necessary funds and the stone has been erected at Mr. Taylor's grave. Mrs. Sallie C. Richards, one of the oldest residents of Manassas, celebrated her eighty-seventh birthday anniversary one day last week. P. Chapman. "Aunt" Belle Primm, an old and well-known colored resident of Manassas, died in Washington Saturday, after a long illness. Wyntham Primm, three-week-old daughter of her eldest son, died on Monday in Philadelphia. A double funeral was held in Manassas Wednesday. "Aunt" Belle is survived by her husband, "Uncle" George Primm, and several children. Probably the strongest and most distinguished cast ever assembled for any picture in the history of the screen, is seen in the Rex Ingram production for Metro of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," adapted by June Mathis from the world-famous novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, to be shown at the Dixie Theatre Monday and Tuesday. Rodolph Valentino has the role of Julio, the romantic South American hero of the story. "In a magnificent gridiron battle in Mayfield Friday afternoon, the Fredericksburg Normal and Industrial Institute football eleven and the team of the Manassas Colored Industrial School played a scoreless game, 0 to 0," says the Fredericksburg Free Lance. "Both teams were in fine shape, and battled hard for supremacy, but each putting forth invincible defensive, neither team was able to take the pigskin across the goal line for a touchdown in the four quarters. A large and demonstrative crowd witnessed the game."

Mr. Bell visiting relatives here. The party bagged about twenty birds, eight gray squirrels and seventy-five rabbits. RIDES, REELS AND RUM Girl's Downfall Blamed by Investigator on New 3 R's. A new three r's, "rides, reels and rum" according to Vincent T. Pisarri, agent of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, are the cause of the downfall of young girls. In a statement issued today he said: "It is no exaggeration to say that the hip flask has become a national menace to our girlhood. Today liquor, and generally bad liquor, is held out as a lure to girls who would not have tasted it in the old days, but who now think it smart to drink. "Automobiles still serve as a dangerous lure to those girls who have no motor cars in their own families and to whom a ride is a luxury. "Nor can we blame the child of a poor family and of a younger age who permits the apparently kind man she never saw to take her to the movies."

DAUGHTERS TO UNVEIL MONUMENT TO DAVIS

Shaft at Fairview, Ky., Will Be Second to Washington Monument in Height.

The Jefferson Davis monument, in course of erection at Fairview, Ky., the birthplace of the Confederate president, had,
when work was temporarily suspended last June, reached the height of 216 feet. When completed it will be 351 feet high, the second highest monument in the world, the Washington monument alone overtopping it.

As a step towards raising the $30,000 necessary to complete the memorial the Kentucky Division, U. D. C., at the recent convention held in Louisville, directed that immediate plans be made to resume collection of contributions for this purpose.

Gen. W. B. Haldeman, president of the Jefferson Davis Home Association, which has the work of construction in charge, states that the contractor to whom the work was let, assures him that if the building is resumed not later than January 1, 1923, the structure will be completed in ample time for filling June 3, the birthday of the Confederate president.

The monument is of a rugged form of concrete construction with walls eight feet thick at the base and becoming gradually thinner as the height increases.
The monument is located in a wooded park of about twenty acres, a place of great natural beauty, the ground having been a part of the old Davis homestead.

It is twelve miles from Hopkinsville and on one of the principal roads under construction in that section of the state—the Jefferson Davis highway. The monument and park have cost to date $120,000. In accordance with the law enacted by the legislature of 1920 when the monument has been completed and dedicated the monument and park will be turned over to the state of Kentucky and maintained for all time to come.

SAYS COUNTY GOT TOO MUCH FOR ITS MONEY

Another Reader Attacks Action of Supervisors in Demonstrations Matter.

(T. R. Hurst)

An article published by the two county papers last week was written by J. C. Parrish, in regard to the action of the board of supervisors in voting to do away with demonstration work.
In looking up the taxes and the property values of the county, it might be fairer to all the people to say that for the farmer in the county whose taxes are $160, the part of this appropriation of $350 for extension work would be 60 cents. The part of the man whose taxes are $20—and a lot of them do not pay more—would be 12 cents. It does not seem right that the county should have to take a back seat
when the cost is so insignificant.

In a letter shown the writer,
the Director of Extension Work says the only reason he could give for the board of supervisors refusing to continue the work in this county was that they were getting too much for their money.

After some investigation I find that approximately 75 of the 100 counties in the state have extension work. Are we going to be one of the few counties which have not waked up?

I also find upon investigation that Prince William County is having extension work carried on within the county for the smallest appropriation of any county in the state. We are getting service the same as these counties that are appropriating $1,500, and still our board of supervisors tells us it is not a good investment for us, and we have to abide by their decision.

PAST YEAR SEES 180 VIRGINIA SUICIDES

More Than 3,000 Deaths From Tuberculosis — 23,475 in State From All Causes.

During the fiscal year just ended, Virginia set a new record in the number of suicides, 180 persons in the state having taken their own lives. These figures were given out by Dr. W.
A. Plecker, registrar of vital statistics.

The total number of suicides in 1921 was 53 more than in 1920. One hundred and fifty-nine of the suicides were white and twenty-one were colored.
The ages ranged from 15 to 80
years and a majority of the suicides were men.

Deaths from all causes during the year totaled 28,425, with a rate of 12.15 per 1,000 population.
This is a decrease of 2,127 as compared with 1920. During the year, 384 persons died of typhoid fever. Infants dying of diarrhoea during the year were 1,160.

Deaths from malaria dropped to 34. Tuberculosis was the cause of 3,118 deaths. There were 1,604 deaths from all forms of accident. Of this total, 140 were killed in automobile mishaps. Two hundred and two died from burns, 149 from drowning and 319 were homicides.

Pellagra was the cause of 115 deaths and 367 died of diphtheria. Lobar pneumonia took a toll of 1,083 deaths and 811 died of bronchial pneumonia.
There were 2,107 deaths of in-

People You'll Never Forget

They are really only shadows on a screen of silver. They do not, nor did they ever, exist. And yet you will know them, speak of them by their first names; dream of them, perhaps, and of the great human drama their lives constituted.

They are people you will never forget: the principal characters in the Rex Ingram production of the masterpiece of Vicente Blasco Ibanez's novels—

RECTOR EULOGIZES THOMAS NELSON PAGE

"Ship of His Soul Laden With Precious Cargo of Christian Graces."

The late Thomas Nelson Page was eulogized by Rev. Robert Johnson, rector of St. John's Episcopal church in Washington at the funeral services in the church on November 4.

Speaking on the text, "Being Rooted and Grounded in Love," Dr. Johnson spoke of the deceased diplomat as follows:

"We had sign of this in the person of him whom we laid to rest yesterday. He made no claim for himself. That he was a type of American manhood of which we have reason to be proud seems sacrilegious to say.
That he brought in his own personality all the traditional qualities of Virginia—a name that sounds like music to multitudes in the world—is a secondary thing. That he adorned the life of letters is unimportant.

"We think of him most fittingly when we remember that he struggled hard to be a Christian; this his intimates know.
That he brought gentleness and tenderness and love to the forefront of his life is good to remember. He recognized, as I have reason to know, the 'Christian Thing' though it came to him in a dress strange and new to him. He recognized it, because it was within him. In no strange country is his soul today. Gentleness, patience, tenderness, kindness, tranquility are all at home where God is.

The ship of the soul of Thomas Nelson Page was laden with precious cargo of Christian graces.
Quietly he has assumed the duty of a citizen of Heaven, who was on earth a domestic of God."

CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Miss Copen Made President of Hayfield Club.

(Reported)

The Hayfield Boys' and Girls' Club was called to order on Thursday, November 9, at 2:30 p. m. All repeated the Lord's prayer. After singing the song,
"Boost for Club Work," the roll was called and minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and approved.

The following program was enjoyed by all: "The Point of View," a recitation by Elsie Cop-pen; "Guilty, or Not Guilty,"
a reading by Bertha Luck;
"America," sung by all club members; "My, the Sun Must Get Up Early," recitation by Theresa Copen, and readings by Margaret Abel and Myrtle Keys.
One new member was added to the roll. We were sorry not to have our county agent with us.

New officers were elected as follows: President, Elsie Cop-pen; vice-president, Nellie Cop-pen; secretary, Bertha Luck;
reporter, Margaret Abel; song leader, Bertha Luck; club leader,
Mrs. Nettie Wright.

After singing the song, "Our Club Will Shine Tonight" the meeting adjourned, to meet again next month.

ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. Francis Norvell Larkin is Bridge Hostess.

Mrs. Francis Norvell Larkin entertained the bridge club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. John Carden Albright received the prize. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

The players, engaging three tables, were: Mrs. Albright, Mrs.
Margaret Pringle Lewis, Mrs.
Jacob L. Harrell, Mrs. C. M. Larkin, Mrs. James R. Larkin, Mrs.
W. Fewell Merchant, Mrs. W. A.
Newman, Mrs. Mark D. Brown,
Mrs. Vivian V. Gillum, Mrs. C.
R. C. Johnson, Mrs. G. Raymond
Ratcliffe and Miss Mary Larkin.
Other guests were: Mrs. James E. Herrell, Mrs. L. F. Hough and Mrs. Herbert Vaughn.

DOG KEEPS VIGIL

Refusing to give up the vigil it had kept for three days and three nights Spot, a mongrel dog, brought about the recovery of the body of its master who had been drowned in the Ohio river.

William Heinig, according to his widow, disappeared from home early Wednesday night, as also did the dog. Mrs. Heinig, looking from her home toward the river, observed Spot waiting at a point on the river bank since Thursday. Confiding her greatest fears to neighbors, the river was dragged and Heinig's body was recovered.

Mrs. Heinig told police her husband had become despondent due to illness.

BURGLAR A HYPNOTIST

German Plunders Houses Under Eyes of Victims.

Germany's master burglar is a practical hypnotist, according to a recent news story from Berlin.

He recently went so far as to leave one of his victims under the spell of hypnosis and was unable to bring her from under the influence of his hypnotic power, causing her to attempt suicide by throwing herself before a moving train at Becklighause.
A doctor discovered she was in a state other than her normal state.

A practicing hypnotist was called in and awoke the girl from her stupor. The girl, a daughter of a high city official, declared she knew nothing of her attempts to commit suicide. She said a strange man with a heavy beard and a pair of peculiarly piercing eyes had spoken to her in the street, but she did not know what happened to her after that.

Police declare the man is a master burglar who hypnotizes his victims and has them led to their homes where he plunders under the very eyes of the owners.

NOTICE

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 17, 1922. To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that I have this 17th day of October, 1922, appointed C. J. Meetez, of Manassas, Va., my agent, with full power and authority to take charge and operate for me my farm, containing 1,912 acres, located in Prince William and Fairfax counties, known as "Ben Lomond;" also to see after any business which has arisen from the operation of the farm in the past and to act in all matters for me, and in my stead, concerning the operation of the said farm. Witness my hand and seal this 17th day of October, 1922. F. W. BRUCH.

NOTICE

The Public Take Notice: Ben Lomond Farm has recently been assigned by its owner, Mr. F. W. Bruch, to the state of Virginia, as a bird and game sanctuary. This means that no hunting or trapping will be allowed upon this farm by any person, white or black, under the penalty of the law, and the law will surely be enforced. This notice in regard to the state of Virginia having taken over this farm for this purpose was published last week, and persons have ignored it, but the game warden is going to be on the job, and if people will insist upon coming upon property without permission, they will do so at their own cost. This notice means all. C. J. MEETZ, Mgr. Ben Lomond Farm.

HAYMARKET

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Moore Browne, who shortly leave for their new home in Lynchburg, were the guests of honor at a delightful reception on Saturday afternoon, given by Mrs. Carvel Hall and Miss Anne Williamson to the whole parish. The decorations were chrysanthemums and sprays of autumn leaves and were particularly effective in the dining room, where the color scheme of yellow was carried out in clusters of large chrysanthemums and many lighted candles. Lunch and other dainty refreshments were served.

Those serving were: Mrs. Willie Moore Jordan, Mrs. Gabriel Disoway, Mrs. Wade C. Payne and Mrs. Robert A. Meade; those assisting: Miss Keyser, Mrs. John Piercy, Miss Furr and Miss Virginia Hall.

A very happy and interesting feature of the occasion was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Browne of a purse containing over $100 in gold from the members of St. Paul's parish "as a token of their love and appreciation and as a symbol of their worth in the parish." The presentation was made by Dr. Wade C. Payne, a vestryman of St. Paul's Church.

The funeral of Mr. Thomas Everett Garnett, who died at his home here on the 9th, took place at the Baptist Church last Friday afternoon and was attended by a large assembly of relatives and friends. The service was conducted by Rev. V. H. Council, pastor of the church, Rev. T. D. D. Clark, of Manassas, and Rev. C. W. Trainham, of Loudoun, a former pastor of the church and a warm, personal friend of the family. Interment was in the family lot in the churchyard. His grave was covered with many and beautiful flowers.

Mr. Garnett was a faithful and consistent member of the Baptist Church. He was a native of Albemarle, but had resided here for about twenty-seven years. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mollie Garth, of Albemarle, and three children—Julia, Thomas and Garth, all of Haymarket.

Mrs. Thom Williamson had as week-end guests Miss Elizabeth Bancroft Bliss and Miss Williamson, who motored from Washington Saturday morning.

Miss Virginia Hall spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Carvel Hall.

The congregation of Grace Chapel has presented to the rector, Rev. T. M. Browne, and Mrs. Browne a handsome silver vase.

Miss Eugenia Osbourn, of Manassas, visited Haymarket High School on Thursday.

Little May Parsons Carter, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, was baptized at St. Paul's Church on Sunday, the rector officiating. The sponsors were Mrs. John Lyon and Mr. Parsons Rector.

is not always an easy task. In these times when the public is clamoring for something cheaper, it's a great temptation for merchants to cheapen their products. We have always refused to do this for the quality here must be kept up. We buy only the best and sell only the best—and at prices that are consistent with standard quality. Selling only meats we have no "baits" to throw out. Our only inducement for you to buy is: Quality plus Service and Sanitation. Our steadily increasing patronage warrants us in our belief to fight along this line and not be tempted to resort to the line of the least resistance. The Buick They Judge By

The Model "45" Six-Cylinder Touring—$1195

The famous Buick five-passenger, six-cylinder open model today, as in past years, sets the standard of automobile value.

It is the motor car by which others are judged because it represents the best of each year's developments in mechanical refinements, appearance and riding comfort.

The Buick Model "45" combines the characteristic Buick qualities of performance and stability with distinctive beauty and a completeness of appointments not to be found elsewhere.

WILSON BREAKS LONG SILENCE

War President Speaks to Admirers Gathered at His Home Armistice Day.

Woodrow Wilson, sick but militant, lame and halt, but not blind to what he considers the duty of America to the world in this era of reconstruction, emerged Saturday afternoon from the seclusion of his home at 2340 S street, northwest, Washington, and looked over a cheering throng of approximately 7,000 people.

The Armistice day celebration in honor of the former President included drama, humor and hero worship. Women and men looked toward the doorstep upon which Woodrow Wilson stood and later toward the upstairs window to which he went, as though they were gazing upon the features of a super-human. The man of the picture feebly waved a hand at them and feebly smiled.

There were songs before Mr. Wilson emerged and other songs after he went upstairs. He smiled wanly through them all, but the keynote of the demonstration was struck when Mr. Wilson, speaking for the first time since he lost his fight on the League of Nations covenant, defied "puny persons," who are considered by him as standing in the way of a permanent peace. It reminded onlookers of the time when President Wilson, in his prime, denounced the "willful group," who held up the armed ship legislation just before his nation went into war.

A choir of 30, made up from the assemblage, opened the celebration with "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." At this both the upstairs and downstairs windows of the Wilson home were opened by servants, but nobody connected with the family appeared.

Greeted With Mighty Cheer.

A moment later the choir swung into "My Old Kentucky Home," and it was then that Woodrow Wilson limped out of his doorway and upon the little cement stoop in front of his home. As he appeared a mighty cheer went up from the thousands assembled and the voices of the singers were subordinated.

The former President came out leaning rather heavily upon a cane in his right hand. He wore a high silk hat, a cutaway coat and a black vest. Mrs. Wilson had not appeared up to this time. In the face of a battery of cameras, some of which were cut off by one of the posts in the front of the Wilson residence, Mr. Wilson bowed. Meanwhile cheers resounded all along S street and included those of a dozen or more men in trees opposite the Wilson home.

The appearance of Mr. Wilson, who was assisted to the portico by a negro servant, was the signal for prolonged cheers from the crowd that packed the street and overflow on nearby lawns and vacant field. The war-time President responded with a smile and a raising of his silk hat. Mrs. Wilson did not accompany him but as she appeared to assist him back indoors at the conclusion of his address, she, too, received an ovation.

Henry Morgenthau was the spokesman for the crowd, occupying about three minutes. Mr. Wilson responded as follows:

Mr. Wilson's Address.

"I am very much moved at this wonderful exhibition of your friendship and approval, and I have been reflecting today that Armistice day has a wonderful significance for the United States because the United States has remained constant with the armistice and has not moved forward to peace.

"It is a very serious reflection that the United States, a great regenerative nation, should remain content with a negation, for armistice is a negation.

Mere Standstill of Arms.

"It is a standstill of arms—that is all it is. It is a cessation of fighting. But we are so content with the cessation of fighting that we are even throwing our arms away.

"It is a singular circumstance to which Mr. Morgenthau has in part referred that while we subscribe to the conditions of the armistice we will not concur in the establishment of permanent peace. That of course, was brought about by a group in the United States Senate who preferred personal and partisan motives to the honor of their country and the peace of the world.

U. S. Moving Forward.

"They do not represent the United States because the United States is moving forward and they are slipping backward. Where their slip will end, God only will determine.

"But I have also been reflecting upon the radical difference between armistice and peace, and armistice as I have said, is a mere negation. It is refraining from force.

"But peace is a very positive and constructive thing, as the world stands nowadays, because it must be brought about by systematic maintenance of a common understanding and by the cultivation not of amiable phrases and hopes but of active co-operation for justice, and justice is a greater thing than any kind of expediency.

Stands For Justice.

"America has always stood for justice and always will stand for it. The puny persons that are now standing in the way will presently find that their weakness is no longer to stand against the strength of Providence.

"You will pardon an invalid for putting on his hat, and I will promise not to talk through it.

"I thank you all very fully from the bottom of my heart for this demonstration of your kindness, and may God be with the nation."

OVERCOATS

YOU WILL HAVE THE GREATEST RESPECT
FOR ONE OF OUR OVERCOATS

That is the way you ought to feel about it. Own an Overcoat you are proud of every time you put it on. The quality of the fabrics and tailoring in these coats stand out like a red umbrella on a rainy day. They LOOK costly but they are not.

$15.00---$19.75

Just the very last word as to style; made of all-wool Overcoat fabrics that look like they weigh a ton and are as light as a feather. The wonderful warmth without weight cloth. Sure, they are plaid backs.

We said they were the latest as to style and fabrics. We bought them to sell for $20.00 and $25.00 and then we were at least $5.00 under price. But to make them move fast—$15.00 and $19.75. Compare them with anything you can find at ten dollars more. We honestly want this comparison. We win!
