Moffett, supervising principal of the Manassas High School, of his willingness to contribute the sum of $200 towards equipping the school play grounds, and that the money was subject to her order.

PROTECTION OF FARMERS

Lectures Delivered From Train to Farmers of the South Through-out State of Virginia. Virginia farmers are being told how to protect themselves from disease as well as how to protect their crops from pests, through the lectures which are now running farmers' trains throughout the state. While representatives of the Agriculture Department are preaching on alfalfa and corn in one car, an officer of the State Health Department is telling the farmers how to prevent typhoid fever and hookworm disease.

SANITATION INVESTIGATED

Commercial Travelers Provided With "Complaint Blanks" For Adverse Reports. THE JOURNAL'S INDUSTRIAL EDITION

We announced in the last issue of THE JOURNAL that we were desiring to advertise our business, under consideration for some length of time, for launching an industrial edition strictly as a home enterprise. These plans are now fully matured and the edition referred to will make its appearance during the month of April, and will equal, if not surpass, any of its kind which has been issued from the press of any country newspaper in the state. It will be written with matters of public interest throughout its numerous and attractive pages and nothing will be left undone which will redound to the interest of Manassas and of Prince William county. The large number of copies to be issued will be scattered broadcast throughout the land with the view of exploiting the fertility of our soil, healthful climate and other conditions calculated to induce immigration and capital to our town and county.

RELEASED FROM PRISON

C. J. Martine Remains Probable Loss of Wife's Affections as He Leaves Loudly Call. Chas. J. Martine, who has been confined in the Prince William county jail for the past thirty days, was released Sunday morning. A few days previously Martine sent word to his wife to bring or send him some clothing to wear upon his release from prison. A valise containing his wearing apparel was promptly brought by his wife and left at the Hotel Maine with request that the same be sent to her husband. When Martine received the clothing, with no message from his wife accompanying them, and with his knowledge of her having been in Manassas and not coming to see him, he became frantic and leaped up such a bedlam in his cell that there was no rest for the other prisoners day or night until his release from custody.

The bride's sister, Miss Frances Virginia, was maid of honor with Mr. H. D. Duling, of Gormanville, Va., as best man. Others in attendance were Miss Sadie Smith, a sister of the groom, and Mr. M. S. Kerlin, a brother of the bride, also Miss Gertrude Flory and Mrs. Dewitt H. Briles, both cousins of the bride.

LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT

United Daughters of the Confederacy Entertain Guests With Pleasing Program. The literary entertainment given by the Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy on Wednesday evening last, was well attended in spite of the stormy weather. The readings and recitals were along the line of special tributes to Virginia's two most noble sons, George Washington and Robert E. Lee. The first number on the program was a paper entitled "Tribute to George Washington" which was read by Mrs. A. W. Sinclair, and which was followed by the national song, "My Country 'Tis of Thee." The death bed of Benedict Arnold, deserves especial mention because of its pathos, and the impressive manner of the impersonator, Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge. Mrs. Giddings sang very sweetly the old and popular song, "Ben Bolt." Mrs. Newman read a paper prepared by the chapters historian, Mrs. J. E. Herrell, entitled, "The Drum-Head of the South." Miss Estelle Holden read a very appropriate poem, "A Rose of the Old Regime." Miss Stuart-Hy read a song, charmingly, the sweet old song, "Lorina." Mrs. Marie Clark and Mrs. Newman sang a duet which was highly appreciated by the audience. "Lee in Statuary Hall," a beautiful poem, was splendidly rendered by Mrs. Welby Rice. A solo by Mrs. Hodge was highly enjoyed. Mrs. R. S. Hynson read a sweet and touching poem entitled, "Dear Old Virginia." The program closed with numerous confederate war-time songs. Refreshments, consisting of cake and lemon sherbert garnished with maraschino cherries, were served the daughters and their guests after which "Dixie" was rendered by Mrs. Hodge.

PLAN ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Leesburg Man Subscribes $22,500 For Improved Road to the Chain Bridge. The movement to improve the old road from Washington to Leesburg seems assured of success. John G. Hopkins, who owns a large farm near Leesburg, has promised a subscription of $22,500. Robert N. Harper has subscribed $1,000, and farmers along the route have expressed themselves as willing to put up a good share of the balance necessary, either in cash or its equivalent, team work, upon construction of the road.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCISTS

Locusts Will Soon be Hare With Their Destruction and Nerve-racking Songs. In about thirty days there will be an open-air "musical" in which the bluebirds and the locusts will take part, for this is the year in which the locusts here comes in all its glory to make the welkin ring with its discordant, nerve-racking, rasping song. Farmers are already ploughing up the unfledged pests, showing that they will of their own free will and accord, soon reach terra firma and fasten themselves upon some tree or shrub until full-fledged they start upon their tour of devastation. The greatest accumulation of locusts, in this county, within the knowledge of the oldest inhabitant, occurred in 1860, when the fruit trees were practically all destroyed by the busy pests.

SUGGESTIONS TO FARMERS OCCOQUAN FISH LADDER BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Horse-power One of the Most Important Factors in Successful Agriculture

The progressive farmer is always on the alert for ideas that will increase the yield of his crops and lessen the labor of producing them.

POTATOES ON SWAMP LAND

On black swamp land a reader wants to know what will make his land grow potatoes, as it makes large vines and small potatoes. Wants to know if lime will sweeten the soil, doubtless, but if there is any acid in the soil, it will be helped to, and the sweetening of the soil may make scabby potatoes. Better grow the potatoes and then harrow in lime for a legume crop on the land for hay.

NITRATE OF SODA FOR GRAIN CROPS

If wheat or oats do not seem to thrive as they should, it is a good practice to apply some nitrate of soda. I have used as much as 100 pounds an acre on wheat, always applying when the leaves are dry, to avoid scalding. In another experiment I increased the wheat crop nine bushels an acre on part of the field with an application of 100 pounds of nitrate, this part making 20 bushels where the rest of the field made 10 bushels, the land being in rather a low state of fertility. But I followed that wheat with peas and gathered only the peas, and the next season that land made a fine corn crop. Could have made a heavier one had I followed the peas with crimson clover, but at that time we had not found out the value of this clover.

GET ENOUGH HORSE-POWER

I was once talking with a state commissioner of agriculture, and remarked that when I was farming on a large scale, I used ten mules. He said: "That is not many. A four-horse team is all his idea of a four-horse farm, was a tract of land on which, where I now live no one would think of using less than eight horses. On such a farm as this man indicated, one of the four horses would be hitched to a plow to plow the land for the crop, and every plow would take a man, and the plowing would be about three inches deep, while the eight horses would take no more men, but the team would plow at least six inches deep, and the same four men would cultivate a far larger area with two horse riding cultivators. We need to get away from the old idea of estimating a farm by its horses, and should use all the horses we can make profitable. W. F. Massey in Raleigh, N. C. Progressive Farmer.

DEATH OF MRS. CORNWELL

Mrs. Mary D. Cornwell, wife of Mr. John H. Cornwell, and daughter of the late David and Annie Williams, of this county, died at her home in Del Ray, Alexandria county, on Tuesday night. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and interment was in the Del Ray cemetery.

Has the Law Been Complied With, if Not Why Not? Is the Question Asked

The Warrenton Virginian, in a recent issue, made a commendable suggestion with reference to clearing a passage at Occoquan Falls, for the fish to come up in the streams running through Prince William and Fauquier counties.

That paper suggests that, from information received, it would be possible, at an expense of $100 invested in dynamite, to blast a sufficient passage for the purpose named. We have not investigated the question of expense or feasibility along the line suggested by our contemporary, the Virginian, but that some effective method for according a free passage of fish up these streams is a matter which the people of Prince William, Fauquier and Fairfax counties, which are beneficiaries, have a right, under the law, to expect and demand.

Section 2105 of the Code of Virginia of 1904, provides that: "Any person or corporation owning or having control of any dam or other obstruction in any of the rivers of this state above tide-water, which may interfere with the free passage of fish, shall provide every such dam or other obstruction with a fish ladder so that fish may have free passage up and down said rivers during the months of March, April, May and June of each year, and maintain and keep the same in good repair, and restore it in case of destruction; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to the Meherrin river, within the county of Brunswick."

Section 2406, as amended by the Acts of 1910, provides that: "Any person, firm or corporation failing to comply with the provisions of the preceding section shall be fined one dollar for each day's failure; and the circuit or corporation court, after reasonable notice, by rule or otherwise, to the parties or party interested, and upon satisfactory proof of the failure, shall cause the fish-way to be constructed, or put in good repair, as the case may be, at the expense of the owner of the dam or other obstruction provided, however, that the penalty provided by this section shall not be imposed in any case until some male or kind of ladder shall be declared by the board of supervisors of the county in which the dam or other obstruction is located to be a suitable fish ladder."

It appears, beyond question, from the law quoted, that there is now a fish ladder in Occoquan Falls, which opens within the provisions of the law or that it is up to the supervisor of Occoquan district to see that proper steps are taken to provide such a ladder. The passage of fish up the tributaries to Occoquan Bay is hindered by an inadequate fish ladder why is not the law enforced?

A RUPTIAL INNOVATION

Scarcely had the stork left the Jewish Maternity Hospital in New York Thursday when cupid hit him at the door and both revolved a far larger area with two horse riding cultivators. We need to get away from the old idea of estimating a farm by its horses, and should use all the horses we can make profitable. W. F. Massey in Raleigh, N. C. Progressive Farmer.

Organization Speaks Mainly to Insill the Arts that Make Boys Self-Reliant.

BY PROF. H. F. BUTTON (Director Manassas Agricultural School)

The Boy Scouts of America is an organization founded by Gen. Baden-Powell, in England, and Ernest Thompson Seton, in America, for the purpose of setting better ideals among the boys and restoring some of the out-of-door habits that have made the youths of America's last generation the greatest race of nation-builders on earth.

The organization is not military in nature, but seeks rather to emphasize the arts of the frontier, woodcraft, nature study, camping, trailing, swimming, scouting and all the other features that made the boy of pioneer days sturdy, self-reliant and quick to act. It seeks to overcome the worship of professional athletes by setting a graded set of feats which do not involve competition or beating some one, but merely matching the wits and the senses against nature. All thoughtful people deplore the tendency among boys to collect cigarette pictures of ball players, instead of playing the game. Almost as dangerous is the tendency to carry competition to a point bordering on professionalism. In our competitive games the boys, who do not need it, are often overdeveloped, while those who need it most do not get any help.

In the non-competitive tests the enemies are not the other fellows, but time, space and the forces of nature. "We try not to down the other fellow, but to raise ourselves." About a hundred and fifty deeds or exploits are recognized and members are given decorations to show what they have achieved. Sturdy, self-reliant manhood is the purpose of the organization. Now well this idea is carried out may be shown by quotations from the Scout Law. "The Scout's honor is to be trusted; a Scout is loyal; a Scout should do a good turn to somebody each day; a Scout is courteous, obeys orders and looks pleasant; a Scout is thrifty and puts his money in the savings bank."

On entering the organization, the boy must know the Scout laws, know the history of the Stars and Stripes and be able to tie four standard knots. He then takes the Scout's oath "I give my word of honor to do my best to do my duty to God and to my country; to help other people at all times and to obey the Scout law," after which he is enrolled as a tenderfoot.

Before being promoted to a second class Scout, he must pass the following tests: 1st—Have a month's service as a tenderfoot. 2nd—Elementary first aid and bandaging. 3rd—Signaling, elementary knowledge of semaphore, Morse or Morse alphabet. 4th—Track a half-mile in 25 minutes. 5th—Go a mile in twelve minutes at Scout's pace. 6th—Lay and light a fire with but two matches. 7th—Cook a quarter pound of beefsteak and two potatoes. 8th—Have at least a dollar in savings bank. 9th—Know the sixteen principal points of the compass. The requirements of a first class Scout are of a similar nature, but are more difficult. The first class Scout is then entitled to win still higher honor by earning any or all of the fourteen badges of merit which are given for proficiency in ambulance, fireman's signaling, pioneer, electrician, etc., while if he wins all fourteen he may win the crowning distinction of the Silver Wolf.

The whole aim of the association is to promote those qualities of self-reliance, manliness and self-control as are known to be the basis of the best of citizenship, patriotism and character. There are more than a half million of Boy Scouts in England, while in the United States the number has increased in a year from a few hundred to more than 300,000. There are two million boys in the United States who need just such a training and it is earnestly to be hoped that the movement will spread until it reaches every boy who has the innate manhood to respond to its teaching.

DEVOURS WEDDING PARTY

Only Two Out of a Party of 120 Escape to Tell the Sad Tale of the Horrible Experience.

A special from Vienna, within the past ten days, tells a horrible story of a wedding party falling prey to ravenous wolves while on a joy ride. One hundred and eighteen members of the party of 120, including the bride and bridegroom, were devoured by the wolves while traveling by sledges from Ostropoff to Tashkend, in Asiatic Russia, a distance of twenty miles. The two survivors reached Tashkend in a half crazed condition, after having at the last stages of the journey thrown the bride and bridegroom to the ravenous pack of wolves. These four occupied the same sledge. The survivors demanded that the husband abandon his wife to lighten the sledge, but he refused. In their rage, the survivors threw both the husband and his wife from the sledge, thus appeasing the hunger of the wolves until the sledge reached the edge of Tashkend. The women and children of the party were the first to be thrown to the wolves, according to the survivors. They say the party started from Ostropoff in thirty two-horse sledges and that a few miles out hundreds of hungry wolves attacked them. The men shot many of the maddened animals, but could not check their pursuit. Then it was that the men in the party began sacrificing the women and children. The wolves were so numerous and ravenous that even when a horse was pulled down it checked the pack for only a few seconds.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

It is idle to say that the military demonstration of the United States Government on the Mexican border, is merely an indulgence in army maneuvers, as "Uncle Sam" does not provide his regular troops with solid shot for a picnic excursion. That there is a secret belief, in military official circles, that war clouds are gathering which will, in all probability, culminate in more hostile demonstrations, there appears to be not the slightest doubt. President Taft has virtually admitted that the army and navy of the United States is mobilizing for the purpose of aiding Diaz to crush the insurrection.

The 4,500 United States troops which have, heretofore, been patrolling more than one thousand miles of Mexican border it is said, have proven inadequate to the prevention of smuggling arms, ammunition and supplies from the States to the Mexican insurgents, and to this cause is assigned the establishing of a more formidable wall of 20,000 troops for the object in view.

White President Taft, the commander-in-chief of the United States military and naval forces has given his assurance to Mexico that the movement of his troops on the Mexican frontier, is not intended in any manner as a menace to her territory, the consensus of opinion of those who have taken a look "behind the scenes" is that the hidden and unexpected activity in American military circles surely presages war with Mexico and that the precipitation will come when it is found that the insurrectionists are getting the upper hand of the Diaz Government.

The Japanese, who have been seeking to gain a foothold on Mexican territory, are being closely watched by "Uncle Sam" and his war ships now stationed at Cuba are evidently intended to checkmate any movement that might be made in that direction.

Though recent reports have indicated a back-down upon the part of the United States Government in the withdrawal of certain war ships from Cuban waters, it is understood that such withdrawal is intended only as a mere change of program.

Taken together it looks as though we are going through much the same sort of excitement we experienced during the period just preceding the war with Spain.

MAYOR BROWN has been casting his eagle eye around the by-ways and hedges within the sacred precincts of his jurisdiction, with the view of depriving physicians and undertakers of victims resulting from unsanitary conditions. Therefore, get busy and thus keep yourself free from an interference in the town hall and the penalty likely to follow.

It is suggested that should Diaz shuffle off this mortal coil, Mexico would apt to prove to be what Sherman styled war, and that is why we are camping on the border.

HON. WILLIAM A. JONES, member of Congress and candidate for United States Senate, in a recent letter to the Richmond News-Leader, undertook to explain his record on the ship subsidy measure. The gist of his explanations was resolved into the fact that the vote he admits having cast on the measure referred to in 1909, was, at least, a first cousin to the one he cast on a similar measure in 1906.

The Supreme Court has spoken and the constitutionality of the federal corporation tax question has been settled and the twenty-one million corporation tax, already collected, will not be returned to the coffers of the corporations making the tax case.

THE WORLDS OF THE BIBLE

Will Be the Theme of Mr. Stephen Kendall's Lecture in Conner's Hall Sunday.

The well known biblical scholar, Mr. Stephen Kendall, of Washington, is announced to speak on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in Conner's Hall. His theme is to be "The Three Worlds of the Bible." Mr. Kendall, who is a very interesting speaker, is sent here in the interest of the Layman's Home Missionary Movement, whose work has accomplished wonders for bible students in the larger cities and is now reaching out for the benefit of the smaller communities.

The object of the meeting at Conner's Hall is to awake and assist every one interested in the study and understanding of the Bible, and to suggest such lines of teaching and of systematic research as will enable every sincere student to unravel the mysteries of the Book of Books.

The Layman's Movement lays aside all denominational hues and, while protestant in character, has had remarkable success even among Catholics who have attended the lectures. No admission is charged and no collection is taken, as all the expenses are contributed by the members of the International Bible Students Association.

Mr. Kendall will also lecture on Sunday next following, 26th, upon the subject, "Election and Free Grace," and expresses the desire to meet the Christians of Manassas and vicinity on both occasions.
