

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING
Franchises for Water Works And Electricity Discussed
 Other Business

March 1st, 1912, provided property owners would give sufficient land to straighten the street.

The accepted bid of D. B. Mudiman & Bros., with bond, to lay a concrete walk on the East side of West street, from Church street to the north side of Lee avenue and thence along Lee avenue to Grant avenue, was presented and ordered filed.

VACANCY FILLED.
 Mr. J. R. Evans, who was elected a member of the council at the June election, having failed to qualify as such, Mr. T. F. Coleman was elected to fill the vacancy.

Dr. W. A. Newman was appointed commissioner of health, with Dr. C. R. C. Johnson as his assistant. These gentlemen will compose the local Board of Health.

COMMITTEES NAMED.
 The following standing committees were announced:

Elections.—Messrs. W. M. Wheeler, R. S. Hynson and T. F. Coleman.

Commerce.—Messrs. E. R. Conner, R. S. Hynson and T. F. Coleman.

Public Property.—Messrs. D. H. Prescott, T. F. Coleman and W. M. Wheeler.

Education.—Messrs. Albert Speiden, W. M. Wheeler and R. S. Hynson.

TYPHOID FEVER VACCINE
Health Department Will Keep Stock of Prophylactic on Hand—A Caution.

County boards of health desiring typhoid fever vaccine as a preventative of disease can hereafter get it from an accredited manufacturer through the State Department of Health, but they are cautioned not to use this newest weapon of science for any other purpose than to prevent disease.

This announcement, made by the Health Department, comes after careful deliberation. Experience has shown that typhoid vaccine if properly administered, will give a person immunity from typhoid fever for a limited period of time, and is, in consequence, health officers say, very helpful where typhoid appears in a community. The liberal use of this vaccine, at the first appearance of an epidemic will protect those who have not been exposed to the disease. The vaccine should never be used except for this purpose and is positively dangerous if administered to a person already suffering from typhoid fever.

Under the arrangements just completed by the Health Department, a stock of this virus will be kept on hand for sale at wholesale rates and can be ordered by local boards of health. Bill will be rendered direct by the manufacturer. The vaccine will not be shipped private practitioners except upon order of the local board of health.

"It is the people will appreciate the powers and limitations of typhoid vaccine," according to an official of the Health Department, "they can derive great benefit from its use. Our own field inspectors as well as a large number of the National Guard in the state have been vaccinated for typhoid and the treatment has

THE STATE FAIR BOOMING
Every Department Will be Well Filled With Choice Virginia Products.

RICHMOND, VA., Sept. 25, 1911.—With many of the entries for the State Fair closed and but little over two weeks remaining to the opening, on Monday, October 9th, all indications point to the fact that the fair this year will be the most successful ever given.

Several thousand visitors, it is expected, from all parts of the state, will be attracted to Newport News during the twenty-fourth annual reunion of the Grand Camp, Confederate Veterans of Virginia, which will take place October 17, 18 and 19. The Sons of Veterans have arranged to meet with the men who wore the gray. Though the ranks have been depleted by constant deaths, it is nevertheless anticipated that this year's meeting will be one of the most successful yet held.

Miss Louise Williams, daughter of Attorney General Samuel W. Williams, has been named as one of the two maids of honor-in-chief by Mrs. George W. Nelms, of Newport News, chief sponsor for the estate. Miss Grace Dalton, of Norfolk, daughter of Andrew Jackson Dalton, commander of Pickett's Bahannan Camp, will be the second.

Among the interesting engagements announced is that of Miss Nina Dulany Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Welby Carter, of Middleburg, Va., to Mr. McKensie Tabb, son of Mr. John Prosser Tabb, formerly of Richmond, now of Baltimore. Both bride and groom-elect belong to prominent Virginia families, and the wedding will be one of the most interesting social events of October.

PAVILION WILL BE BUILT
Needs of Catawba Ex-Patients So Great That Association Must Build at Once.

RICHMOND, VA., Sept. 27, 1911.—So imperative has become the need of providing quarters for patients leaving the Catawba Sanatorium under the six months' rule, that the Catawba Relief Association on Monday awarded contract for a new pavilion at Catawba, although sufficient funds are not in sight to complete the work.

Mr. Chas. E. Brauer, president of the Relief Association, was in Richmond to-day and expressed his confidence that the Association would receive sufficient money to meet their obligation.

"Health work in the state," said the Commissioner of Health, "has witnessed no finer example of courage than this action on the part of the Catawba Relief Association. They have raised about $3,000, and will need much more before they can pay the contractor in full. But the officers of the Association felt that something must be done to care for those who otherwise would have to leave the Sanatorium, and accordingly they have undertaken to raise this money. The contractor was willing to accept their promise to pay, so they have assumed this obligation."

The new pavilion will be a haven for the patients who otherwise would have to return to home where the conditions are not so favorable for the cure. It will be provided with proper plumbing and sewerage and will afford quarters to a number of consumptives. The design of the pavilion is similar to that of the most modern buildings erected by the state and affords every facility for the treatment of the disease.

"The building will meet the

DEATH OF MR. STRINGFELLOW
 Mr. A. H. Stringfellow, a native of Culpeper county, but for the past 20 years a well known citizen of Charlottesville, died of pneumonia, at the University Hospital, in that city, last week, aged 58 years.

Mr. Stringfellow was a member of an old family, prominent in Culpeper and Fauquier counties. He is survived by three children—two daughters and one son.

His remains were taken to Marshall, Fauquier county, for interment.

NO SUCH PLAN AFOOT.
 Stories are going the rounds of the press to the effect that when the question of redistricting the state for members of Congress comes before the Legislature the coming winter, certain counties will be taken from the First District and added to the Eighth and certain other counties put into the First District so as to make it impossible for Mr. Jones to retain his seat in Congress, and that this will be done to punish Mr. Jones for his temerity in opposing Senator Martin for the United States Senate.

This is nothing more or less than a misleading piece of political bores, as unfair to the gentlemen who will compose the next General Assembly as it is to Senator Martin and his friends. Mr. Jones received all the punishment any man should need in his business at the polls on September 1st, and no Virginia will strike a man when he is down and out. There may be changes in Mr. Jones' district, just as there may be changes in other districts of the state, but if he doesn't go back to Congress it will be because during the Senatorial campaign his record of twenty years of chronic inactivity in the House of Representatives was uncovered and placed before his constituents, and not because of any enmity borne him by Senator Martin and his followers in the state.

Members of Congress will not be chosen until next year, which will give Mr. Jones ample time to do so, in order to prevent a recurrence of such dreadful disasters.

What is Manassas going to do about it?

It is not alone, however, for the purpose of fighting fire that we would urge the adoption of a more perfect water system. Think of the convenience of having a plentiful supply of excellent water in your house—water with which to sprinkle your lawn, your garden, the streets, and for other purposes. No town can hope to be clean and healthy without an abundance of good pure water, free from fruit the case germs.

And, we need electricity. There is not a town in all northern Virginia of the size and wealth of Manassas that is not far ahead of

FOR WATER WORKS AND ELECTRICITY.
 The primary action of the town council on Monday evening, looking to the granting of franchises to provide a modern system of water works and to light the town by electricity, is certainly a movement in the right direction and one that will undoubtedly have the hearty endorsement and support of a vast majority of our leading business men and private citizens.

There is no question as to our need of these two great improvements, and we need one equally as bad as we do the other.

The water supply of Manassas is, and has been throughout her history, decidedly limited and easily exhausted, especially in cases of disastrous fires, from which she has so signally suffered in recent years. No fire department on earth, no matter how well it may be otherwise equipped, can hope to save burning buildings without a full and necessary supply of water.

Thousands and thousands of dollars worth of property have been lost to the flames in this town while our firemen stood helpless.

Should it not be a lesson to us? And Manassas is not alone in her misfortunes. Other neighboring towns have shared a similar experience, for example, our sister town of Warrenton and a number of others in this section of the state. These towns have all since strengthened their water supply, or have taken steps to do so, in order to prevent a recurrence of such dreadful disasters.

What is Manassas going to do about it?

WOULDN'T RIDE WITH HIS RACE.
 Down in Texas the other day when Booker Washington was informed by railroad officials that "he must ride either in a negro compartment or charter a special car," he said: "I would not ride with my race."

Commenting upon the circumstance, the Richmond-Times Dispatch very aptly says:

"That was not a tactical thing for Booker to do; for all men, the highest representative of his race in this country, should object to riding in the same car with his own people, the white folks could hardly be blamed for not allowing negroes to ride with them. If close contact with negroes is so objectionable that Booker Washington, the chief of his race, should choose to pay for a special Pullman car rather than ride with them, the objections of the white people, regarding the question even from the negro's point of view, to the same sort of association with them are well founded. One of the most important things for the negroes to learn is respect for their own race."

WHY NOT A COUNTY FAIR?
 We observe from our exchanges that the Fauquier County Agricultural Society has been organized and will hold its first fair on the Polo Grounds, near Marshall, October 18th and 19th. The Society has, we understand, leased these grounds for a number of years and begun the erection of buildings.

Why cannot Prince William have an annual agricultural exhibit? Counties possessing less than half her great diversified resources hold creditable fairs to advertise their stock, farm and garden products, fruit, minerals, etc., and in this inexpensive manner attract the wealth of investors from other sections of the country. The fine stock produced here and the opportunities offered in this county for extensive stock breeding; the numerous products of farm, orchard and factory, as well as our mineral wealth should all be publicly exhibited to the world. A good old country fair, minus horse racing, has ever proved a public attraction and resulted in increased property values along all lines. Let us not put our fight under a bushel.

AFTER studying the recent primary returns Mr. Bryan no doubt realizes that Virginia is losing patience with her political "Wormy Willie."
