On Saturday night last about eight o'clock there was considerable excitement on the streets of the town and much indignation, when it was reported that Murray Braxton had caught a stray dog, that was very old and covered him with turpentine and set him on fire.

Braxton made his escape, but by this time the indignation of the young men of the town was stirred and quite a number started in hot pursuit. But he eluded his pursuers. Search was made for him at home and an effort was made to apprehend him, but he is still at liberty.

Verdict, Braxton, Harris and Nickens fined $12 and costs, and five days in jail, and Nim Naylor $6 and costs and two and a half days in jail. In default of payment of fines a sentence of sixty days on the road is imposed.

DAVIS'S FIRST MARRIAGE

Opposition of General Taylor,
The Bride's Father—The Place of Wedding.

[From The St. Louis Times.]

The handsome old country home of Maj. and Mrs. William Christy, in which Jefferson Davis was married to Miss Sarah Knox Taylor, daughter of Maj. Gen. Zachary Taylor, U. S. A., Mexican war hero and later President of the United States, still is 2d and Monroe streets, but soon will be wrecked to make room for progress.

The old home is one of the landmarks of St. Louis. The Missouri Historical Society members recently visited the place and are preparing to erect a tablet to mark the spot where Maj. and Mrs. Christy entertained with a lavish hand for so many years.

The house was built in 1818, while Maj. Christy was public auditor. He had been commander-in-chief of the Missouri territory, judge of the common pleas court and register of the land office of the territory.

When the house was built it was two miles from the town, surrounded by several thousand acres of farming land belonging to the major. The ground in front of the house to the river was parked, and negro cabins crowned the rising ground in the vicinity of Broadway.

The house is a two-story four-room affair, but of limestone and of unusually pleasing proportions. There is a basement under the building containing a huge old-fashioned fireplace. Every room in the building was heated by grates of generous size. The stairs leading to the upper floor were protected by a handsome balustrade of black wainut, which is still in good condition, except the slats have been kicked out by vandals.

Jefferson Davis and Miss Taylor were married in the house in 1835, shortly after Davis had resigned his commission in the United States Army. Mrs. Christy was an aunt of Miss Taylor.

Gen. Taylor, "Old Rough and Ready," opposed the match, and after trying for two years to reconcile her father to her fiance, the young woman took affairs into her own hands and came to St. Louis from Louisville, Ky., where she was visiting relatives. Lieut. Davis met her here and they were married.

The young couple went to Brierfield, a plantation owned by the bridegroom in Mississippi, and began cotton raising on a large scale. Mrs. Davis died September 15, the same year of her marriage.

Davis' second wife was Varina Howell, daughter of W. B. Howell, owner of the Briars, an extensive plantation near Natchez, Miss. The second marriage took place February 26, 1845, and it was not until then that Gen. Taylor became reconciled to his former son-in-law.

Lecture at Haymarket.

The first of a series of lectures was given last Friday to the children of the Haymarket school by Mr. C. R. McDonald. The talk was a most interesting one, dealing mainly with the coal mines of Pennsylvania and the strange types found among the miners.

In the last half-hour of the school day, Mr. McDonald was able to give the children new and valuable light upon this phase of our national life, and assured the success of the series of talks at that hour.

On October 22, Mr. Button will visit the school and give a set of experiments in agriculture and simple chemistry.

On November 8, Dr. C. R. C. Johnson will tell the children about the middle West.

Later on Mr. Jordan will speak to them about Panama.

Patrons and friends are cordially invited to these lectures.

Don't fail to see it.

SPECIAL

All during this week a special demonstrator direct from the Majestic Factory will be glad to show you "all about ranges"—show you why the Majestic is the best range on earth at any price.

COME, IF YOU INTEND TO BUY OR NOT.

Education lies in knowing things—know why the oven of a range is heated—know how the water is heated—how the top is heated—why the Majestic uses so little fuel—know how a range is made inside and outside. This education may serve you in the future. Don't overlook a chance to know things shown by one who knows. COME.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high priced food with that old worn-out cook stove?

You know that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year. You know you have trouble in getting it to bake just right, in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it is a considerable for yearly repairs.

Stop and think and figure. Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Range?

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALLEABLE AND CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a movable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (browns bread just right all over without turning), heats 15 gallons of water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, and costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "until unseen," you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive features explained—and out why the MAJESTIC is 300 per cent stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

Don't Overlook the Date. This is a Special Invitation to You and Your Friends and Neighbors

NO MORE, O MOORE, NO MORE!

Auditor C. Lee Moore, who has been riding recklessly and riotously after the tax dodgers, is now threatened with disaster Titanic.

Vengeance! cry the lords of creation, who regularly and annually have been holding on to a little tax money.

Instead of picking out some insignificant fellow and making a horrible example of him, he has systematically and deliberately gone after every mother's son of us. The merchant, the banker, the lawyer, the doctor and the farmer, whom the state has been assiduously and tenderly nursing, have been boldly challenged to show the amount of their worldly goods, and what the increase is. The voters before whom legislators, governors, senators and great progressive leaders even bow with long, pleading speeches, are called upon to show up their cash accounts, etc.

Instead of discovering a few "discrepancies" and merely hinting the same to the press, he has called on courts and grand juries to get an accounting of people and property. Moreover, he says he has proof, positive and point blank, that a whole lot of fellows have not sworn to the truth before the assessor.

In the name of that discretion, which is the better part of valor, was there not in all Richmond a friendly, experienced policeman to take him by the ear and say:

"Here, you guy, you are too fresh. You must not keep on much. Or if you know, keep your lid on your mug."

That is the style. You are not a good politician, Mr. Moore. If you are going after every slip in money matters, how can you expect to be reappointed? Did you not know that when you hit a man in the pocket, that you would hurt him?

Mr. Moore, Mr. Moore, why did you not learn from the hundreds of other officials, sworn to enforce the law, and only know the right thing at the right time.

Why, sir, if any editor told all he knew about people, the verdict of the coroner's jury would read:

"He came to his death by being tarred and feathered, hung to a tree, shot full of holes and then burned in the hands of parties unknown but believed to be leading and influential citizens."

"You'll hurt the party. Doing your duty as you are sworn to do."

—Yes, we know; that is intended for campaign purposes, and did you not know the office-holder is always campaigning? That is merely a political slogan.

Besides, foolish man, Mr. Roosevelt has promised to settle all the affairs of life after the fourth of March next.

No more, O Moore, no more!

THE supremacy of law and order must be maintained. It means every man's protection.

THE ATTACK UPON THE EX-PRESIDENT.

The attempt to kill Ex-President Roosevelt last Monday was not only an attack upon an American citizen, but it was an attack upon the right of every American citizen to hold office, to aspire to office, to express any view or opinion, so long as he himself is within the bounds of law and decency.

We do not agree with Mr. Roosevelt and we hope to see the campaign go on against him, but all our forms of law and its machinery should protect him, if necessary.

Of course, the act was that of an insane man, and even that is suggestive of an important fact.

We doubt that any man with an unbalanced mind should be at liberty, and certainly the officers of the law somewhere knew something about this man.

Too, calm thinking men are bound to realize that some of Mr. Roosevelt's own utterances are likely to arouse just this class of fanatics. When the attempt was made to make a great religious revival of the Roosevelt convention, and Mr. Roosevelt himself declared, that "We are standing at Armageddon and battling for the Lord," it was a challenge to religious fanatics of the Schrank type.

It seems to us that all men must agree that it is time to call a halt on all men who preach against our form of government or attack it in any way. The Philadelphia Inquirer very pertinently says:

"The incident shows that we are not yet rid in this country of men of violence, who would take the law into their own hands and would shape the affairs of the nation by the resort to bullets. It teaches that a stronger hand must be used in dealing with the doctrines of anarchy and the preaching of irresponsible agitators who carry murder in their hearts."

Moreover, the American politician is not without his responsibility, when he made this country the dumping ground for the Cizeaus, the Czolgozas and the Schranka.

THE LIME QUESTION.

There appeared in last week's JOURNAL an article based upon an extended report in the Southern Planter for October, and the Planter's article was based upon State Farm Bulletin, No. 63. The whole article, as taken from this Bulletin, was conclusive evidence in favor of ground limestone, and now comes Bulletin No. 69 and says it is a disputed question, though admitting that burnt lime burns the humus in the soil.

Further, we have Mr. W. H. Brown, field agent of the Southern Railway, declaring in to-day's JOURNAL that the lime question is a mooted one. Further, he says for quick results he would advise the use of caustic lime.

Let us look both at experience and at the facts as we find them.

The Pennsylvania Experiment Station conducted a series of experiments for twenty-six years, using both limes on plots, side by side, and the result was decidedly favorable to the ground limestone. The Maryland Station tried the same thing for eleven years with exactly similar results, and Mr. Westmoreland Davis, President of the State Farmers' Institute, says practically the same results have been reached at Blacksburg.

Moreover, Dr. Hopkins, of the Illinois Experiment Station, and a recognized authority over all the United States on "Soil Fertility" has, after considerable experience at the Station, as well as throughout the state of Illinois, declared in favor of ground limestone. The Ohio Experiment Station has had a similar experience.

Too, in this connection, Dr. Hopkins objects to the use of burnt lime not only because it burns up the humus in the soil, which is the base of soil fertility, but that its action is too quick for permanent soil fertility.

So much for experience. Now what are the facts patent to every man?

We know positively from our own personal experience, as every man knows who has handled burnt lime, that it is severely caustic, eating or burning into one's shoes and clothes and even destroying living animal tissue as many a man has painfully experienced. It will, of course, destroy almost any organic matter with which it comes into contact. No burnt lime user ever hauls it into the barnyard and mixes it with the manure, although that would make the burnt lime much easier to handle. If it destroys the manure or humus in the barnyard and the living tissue on your hands, it will destroy organic matter in the fields. And no man wants to burn up the organic matter or humus.

We have no personal interest in either lime, but these are the facts as we find them.

COMPTON FARM IN COURT

In the Prince William county circuit court against Annie G. Roberts, daughter of Henry Roberts, and filed its suit to have the equitable title to the Prince William and Fairfax farms declared to be in Annie G. Roberts, because the Pittsburgh property was hers and alleging that the title to the Virginia farms was taken in Henry Roberts' name for the purpose of defrauding Annie Roberts' creditors.
A short while later Dillard filed his suit, setting up a judgment obtained against O. T. and Clara P. Martin prior to the conveyance to Roberts and praying for a sale of Compton to satisfy his judgment. Martin then filed his suit in equity alleging that he had been grossly defrauded by Roberts as to the value of the Pittsburgh property and asking that the conveyances be annulled and the parties restored to their original status. It is interesting to note that Roberts in his answer denying the allegations of Martin's bill, seeks to recover a judgment against Martin for some $40,000 for loss he alleges he has sustained by reason of the trade.
These consolidated causes were referred to Master Commissioner H. T. Davies to report the liens binding on Compton farm and the Master's report shows something like $25,000 in liens by deed of trust and judgments.
Upon this report and the motion of the attorneys for the Gaines estate, the Court ordered a sale of the Compton farm unless Henry Roberts shall pay the lien in favor of the Gaines estate within thirty days from the rising of the Court.
The questions growing out of the suits of the German Savings and Deposit Bank vs. Roberts and Martin vs. Roberts have not been determined. It is more than probable that the suit of Martin vs. Roberts will be heard finally at the next term of Court.
The taking of depositions in the suit of the German Savings and Deposit Bank has been postponed, awaiting the outcome of the Martin vs. Roberts case.
IN MEMORIAM
In loving remembrance of our dear father, W. S. Langbyer, who was cremated in his old home October 13, 1908, just four years ago. Friends may think that we have forgotten And our wounded hearts are healed; But they little know the sorrow That within our hearts concealed. How often we wished and wondered That we knew the reason why; That God in His infinite mercy Took our dear father too soon on high. We have missed thy kind and willing hand; Thy food and earnest care; Our home is lonely without thee; We miss you everywhere. Oh dear father, you are sweetly sleeping; Free from every earthly pain. But we have the consolation That we all shall meet again. We do not know when we may fall Beneath that chequering red; One must be first, But let us all prepare to meet our God. Written by his devoted wife and children. —Dora V. Langbyer.

HARD ON THE POTOMAC

Secretary Wilson of the Agricultural Department Declares It is One Big Sewer.
"The Potomac river is nothing but a big sewer," declared Secretary Wilson to a Washington Star reporter. "It should be cleaned out as soon as possible, a work that should have been done long ago. The chemistry bureau report that the pollution in the river is affecting the oysters taken from the water between Washington and Blackstone Island was premature, in that it was not comprehensive, and it was given out during my absence before the full investigation I intended was made. A complete investigation of Potomac river water is to be made, and we shall welcome the participation of the states of Maryland and Virginia in it.
If the result shows, as I believe it will, that the water is not only contaminating the oysters in the river, but is killing off some of the fish supply, I shall recommend to Congress the establishment of a sewage filtration plant in the Potomac river, such as the great cities in foreign countries have in their rivers, and this probable first step here in the capital may lead to a general investigation of river pollution all over the country by the Department of Agriculture."
It is urged by the Secretary that the States of Virginia and Maryland and the District of Columbia take the matter up and protect the river from pollution.
No Nicotine Peril. [From a London Letter.]
Cigarette smokers who are continually being advised that their indulgence is most harmful may be comforted by the results of an investigation conducted by the Lancet.
Pipe tobacco mixtures were found to contain the largest amount of nicotine—2.04 to 2.85 per cent.; Egyptian and Turkish cigarettes came next with 1.38 to 1.74 per cent.; then Virginian cigarettes with 1.40 to 1.65 per cent.; British cigar, 1.24 per cent. and Havana cigar, 0.64 per cent.
The cigarettes, however, of any brand gave the smallest total of nicotine to the smoke produced. The pipe gave a very large proportion, in some cases as much as 70 to 80 per cent. of the total of its nicotine to the smoke reaching the mouth of its consumer. The analysis of cigar smoke gave intermediate figures.
From this it would appear the cigarette is the least harmful form of smoking, and the pipe the worst, the cigar coming between, assuming that nicotine is the principal toxic factor of tobacco smoke.
It is suggested, however, that the importance of nicotine has been much overrated. Among the other constituents found is tarfural, a toxic and highly irritating substance, which occurs chiefly in the smoke of cigarettes, while it is practically non-existent in the smoke of the cigar and pipe.
This fact is believed to be the reason why the cigarettes is a source of throat trouble when smoked to excess.

COL. BRYAN ON THE SITUATION

"Neither Colonel Roosevelt nor his friends could ask that the discussion be turned away from the principles that are involved. If he is elected President it should be because of what he has done in the past and what he proposes to do. A mania, however cowardly and dastardly his deed, is not the arbiter to whom to submit a presidential contest.
It is embarrassing to discuss Mr. Roosevelt or his policies at this time while he is suffering from the murderous assault made upon him.
I would rather occupy the time in denunciation of the deed and in expression of sympathy for him and hopes for his speedy recovery, y, but the issues of this campaign should not be determined by the act of a madman. They must be settled by the sane rather than the insane."

Popular University Lectures.
By the University of Virginia extension lectures, which have recently been arranged, thirty members of the faculty have agreed to deliver addresses before the public schools of this state. These lectures in every instance will be given upon the invitation of the schools. Each of the professors will have one or two lectures, and these will be repeated in the different communities. No professor has obligated himself to lecture more than six times.
These lectures will be delivered in the main to the public schools of the state. In exceptional cases other arrangements may be made. The addresses are the result of an effort to make the state derive benefits from the knowledge represented by the faculty of the state's highest educational institution, and this preference will be given the public schools because they belong to the same educational system as the university itself.

AN HYGIENIC CAMPAIGN

Representatives of the State University Begin a Great Campaign.
Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 15.—Professor W. H. Heck, of the department of education, University of Virginia, has begun a school hygienic campaign for the purpose of improving hygienic conditions in the public schools of Virginia. His work will be threefold in each selected locality. The morning will be devoted to an inspection of the schools, with special attention to sanitary equipment; where necessary he will make suggestions to the principals and teachers. The afternoon will be devoted to a meeting of the parents of the pupils, when matters relating to the children's welfare will be informally discussed. In the evening he will address the residents of the particular community on such questions as playgrounds, sanitary improvements in buildings.
This work will be done throughout the state. In Orange County it will go further as an experiment. After Professor Heck has made his investigation, Dr. J. C. Fippin, Dr. R. F. Compton and Dr. H. S. Hedges, of the university faculty, accompanied by a local dentist, will visit the schools of the county and subject the pupils to a thorough examination. These specialists will exert every effort to help those children found defective in any way.
This branch of his work Professor Heck is not only a representative of the university, but also of the State Boards of Health and Education.
A $30,000,000 MERGER
A New Corporation to Take Over All Electric Lines into Washington.
A $30,000,000 corporation has been organized to take over the electric plants of Washington and the electric roads in or out of the city.
Some of the stockholders of the Alexandria County Electric and Light Company opposed the merger and appeared by counsel before Judge Thornton asking for an injunction to enjoin the stockholders from holding a meeting of ratification.
Judge Thornton declined to grant the injunction. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, where the decision of the lower court was affirmed. It is now said that a fight will be made before the State Corporation Commission.
It is generally believed that the merger will be formed and that the big corporation will soon be in charge.
It will undoubtedly mean great development of electric lines in Northern Virginia and many persons believe that the line at Fairfax court-house will be extended to Manassas.

HEALTH AND FADS.

[From the New York Globe.]
The scientific fighters against disease gathered in Washington must sometimes be surprised at the keen interest in the doings taken by the public. The public is not yet fully awakened to the possibility of lessening contagious diseases. But it is waking up. It is already more nearly broad awake than it has ever been before since the beginning of the world.

The minority, which is actively hostile to most forms of precaution, which lumps them all together as fads, grows smaller year by year. It regards as a fad any fussiness about health which it thinks costs more, in depressing worry and busy fear, than the practical results of the fussiness are worth. But the majority realizes that the fussiness of one generation may be the necessary preliminary to the wholesome, unthought-of habits of the next or of some later generation.

There was a time when brushing one's teeth was a fad, when the practice was confined to a few meticulous and apprehensive persons. Little is known about the earliest bathers, but certainly their companions thought them eccentric and probably thought them dangerous.

—A little later than prehistoric times, in the period when we were children, it would have been offensive to inquire of any remote New England farmer, who took boarders, where he got or how he treated his water supply. Legitimate curiosity could go as far as the question, "Which is the drinking water?" and no farther. Nowadays, even in northern New England, an authoritative analysis of the water supply may now and then be found voluntarily posted on the wall.

The day may come when nearly all precautions now taken by none save the most inveterate fusser will be taken as a matter of course by every navy.
