NINE BID SCHOOL FAREWELL A. P. Bourland Delivers Instructive Address—Gordon Lightner Wins Scholarship in State University.  Beautiful and impressive ceremonies marked the commencement of the Manassas Agricultural High School and the Normal Training Class in Conner's Hall last Friday evening. The graduates were: High School, Miss Minnie Swart, Miss Beulah Griffith, Miss Lillian Amos and Gordon Lightner. Normal Training Class: Mrs. W. C. Bundick, Miss May Leachman, Miss Nellie Mayhugh, Miss Ruth Smith and Miss Fannie Willis.  The musical feature under direction of Mrs. B. T. H. Dodge was the signing of "United," the new national hymn composed for the reunion of the Gray and Blue on the Bull Run battlefield July 21 in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the First Battle of Manassas.  The anthem was repeated at the close of the program and the entire audience joined in the chorus. The anthem will be given at the Peace Jubilee Concert, July 10, when 48 young ladies will represent the States of the Union.  The Rev. Philip Arthur delivered the baccalaureate sermon in Trinity Episcopal church last Thursday evening.  The graduating classes with the choruses occupied the stage. The invocation offered by the Rev. T. D. D. Clarke, was followed by the chant "The Lord is My Shepherd," beautifully rendered by the chorus class. The salutatory was given by Gordon Lightner upon the subject, "Recent Developments in Agriculture."  The excellent training of the chorus class by Mrs. B. T. H. Dodge was plainly shown by the excellence of the musical program, and more especially by the artistic rendition of "The Lord is My Shepherd," "I Know a Bank Where the Wild Thyme Grows," and "Good Night."  The paper by Mrs. W. C. W. Bundick of the Normal Training Class upon "Our Common School," was earnest and thoughtful.  The reading "The Vision," by Miss Minnie Swart showed deep feeling and understanding as well as good training in the art of expression. Miss Beulah Griffith gave an excellent rendition of the valedictory, "Education for Service."  The honor paid to Dr. H. M. Claggett, the unveiling of his portrait purchased from the honor fund, was a pleasing feature.  The diplomas were presented by Geo. C. Round and the agricultural prizes by Prof. H. F. Burton.  INSPIRING ADDRESS  With inspiration A. S. Bourland, trustee of the Peabody fund, in the address to graduates, spoke of the opportunities of the future. Indeed it was a privilege to hear this learned man advise the young people of the responsibilities, tasks and opportunities of life.  He declared that the civilization of the past has been a city civilization, originating in the centers of population, while the task of the future is to develop rural surroundings fitting country people for country life. The possibilities of an acre of soil never have been realized, he said, nor have the possibilities of coun-	SERGEANT WILLCOXEN RESIGNS Leaves on Vacation and Citizens Take Law in Their Own Hands—Town Peaceable as Sunday School Picnic.  Manassas today is a town without a policeman, but despite the restraining influence of a minion of the law the town is as quiet and peaceable as a Sunday school picnic. Sergeant J. W. Willcoxen has resigned and left town on a vacation and now each citizen must take the law in his own hands if provocation is thrust upon him, which is doubtful. The only difference discernible in a town without a policeman is the freedom with which tramps roam the railroad yards and trains block the crossings.  Sergeant Willcoxen resigns because of ill health, but his relinquishment of preservation of dignity and order in the town has not yet been accepted. It is hoped that he may induce to continue his unpleasant and unremunerative duties. Sergeant Willcoxen is an efficient and faithful officer and his resignation is regretted.  try life. With emphasis he stated that days of war are largely past, and the heroes of the future will perform peaceful deeds that will help humanity, not destroy it. Mr. Bourland referred enthusiastically to the grand Peace Jubilee, to be held on the Bull Run battlefield July 21.  Gordon Lightner was awarded the scholarship in the University of Virginia, for his most excellent work in mathematics. He has received the highest marks of any student in the Manassas Institute or the Agricultural High School. This is a high honor, as the final tests in all subjects are given from examinations of the College Entrance Board, and the papers are corrected by the faculty of the University of Virginia. The test, most difficult and impartial, places the Agricultural High School in rank with the best educational institutions in the United States.  The prize for an essay on the spraying of fruit trees offered by Judge J. B. T. Thornton, resulted in active competition. First prize was awarded to Miss Neville Doxan, and second to James Metcalf, of Catharpin.  The prize for school garden offered by Westwood Hutchinson, was not awarded because backward condition of the fields has prevented development of the crop. As soon as a report of the yield can be made, the prize will be given on the basis of the yield, appearance and written report.  Earl Merrill, of Independent Hill, won the prize offered by Corbin Thompson for the production of sanitary milk. Many excellent papers were submitted.  For the encouragement of corn growing among the boys of Prince William county some liberal prizes will be distributed at the Annual Corn Show and Farmers Institute which is to be held on November 17, 1911.  In 1909 only a dozen exhibits of corn were made, but the number had in 1910 grown to more than 50 exhibits of corn besides as many more of fruit and farm products and an equal number of specimens of household art, cookery and needlework. This year the prizes offered by public spirited citizens will bring out a far longer and better exhibit. About 60 boys have entered this contest with good prospects for successful crops.	SLIGHT DAMAGE IN THIS SECTION Interrupt Telephone Communication—Elements Spend Fury With Great Destruction in Surrounding Districts.  Severe storms sweeping over this entire section the past week, caused slight damage in Prince William county, but descended with great destruction upon surrounding sections. Torrential rains have been of daily occurrence since the visitation of a heavy electrical storm early Saturday night. A high wind tore branches of the trees, and driving a pelting rain sent homeward bound shoppers scampering to shelter. The storm spent its fury in Washington with great damage to property.  Extreme heat Sunday was followed by a refreshing deluge late in the evening, but the storm passed on into Maryland, where it caused heavy destruction.  Heavy rain and a bombardment of hail late Tuesday afternoon was the outbreak of a serious electrical storm in the vicinity of Woodstock. A little daughter of Joseph Walker, a farmer near Woodstock, was pinned under a pole blown down by the wind. The child is severely injured.  Property and crops in Prince William county suffered slightly from the series of storms. Telephone communication has been repeatedly interrupted, by the lines burning out during the electrical storms. Manassas was cut off Tuesday afternoon with Nokesville. Independent Hill, Clifton and Alexandria, but service was restored yesterday morning.  Two ladies waiting wearily at a street crossing while a freight train blocked the way, have occasion to remember with gratitude the prompt action of Sergeant Willcoxen in making the train crew remove the obstructing line of cars, and incidentally reviving respect in the trainmen for the town ordinances. The train had obstructed the crossing for many minutes, and the crew ignored all appeals to move on until Sergeant Willcoxen started to climb into the locomotive cab after the engineer and fireman and then the train cleared the crossing in a hurry.	CLAIMS OUTLET IS NUISANCE Indicts Eastern College and Hopkins Company—Complaint of Sewers in Rear of College—Continues Case.  Eastern College and the Hopkins Company, were indicted by a special grand jury Monday in the circuit court on a charge of misdemeanor, the specific complaint being the maintenance of a nuisance in the form of an alleged offensive accumulation of sewage in the rear of the college. The college and the Hopkins Company operate a joint sewer and it is claimed that the outlet is a menace. The case probably will be brought to trial at the next term of court.  Other court proceedings are as follows:  FRIDAY John Goodwin vs. Geo. J. Sloriorik. Judgment for plaintiff for $3.95. One-half of cost each.  SATURDAY Wise, administrator, vs. Edwin F. Mather. Judgment for plaintiff for $720. Lucian Payne vs. Southern Railway Company. Continued.  MONDAY L. L. Riley vs. Eastern College. Judgment for plaintiff for $185.	FEATURE OF BIG EXHIBITION Premiums Largest in History of Institution—Strong Racing Card—Southern Grants Reduced Rates.  Surpassing all former exhibitions in merit and interest, the Manassas Horse Show on July 26 and 27 promises to attract the largest crowds in the history of the institution. Premiums aggregating more than $2,000 will be offered for competition between the equine aristocracy of this section of Virginia, the handsomest prizes ever given at the Show. The increase in amount of premiums was decided upon at a meeting of the board of directors last Saturday.  One of the greatest attractions ever offered at the Horse Show will be presented in the celebrated drill of the Fort Meyer cavalry, a feature that will create widespread interest in addition to the other excellent events.  The racing features will be especially strong.  Special inducements will be offered farmers to exhibit young stock. The Southern has granted reduced rates for the big event.  MUSEUM OF COLONIAL RELICS  The Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church will open a museum of Colonial and war time relics during the Peace Jubilee beginning July 10, 1911. The rooms of the U. D. C. in the M. I. C. Building will be used. Miss Susan Monroe will be one of the ladies in charge, and she will give some of her interesting talks about the relics and about war times. All are cordially invited to attend.  Those who have interesting relics which they would like to exhibit will leave them with Mrs. L. J. Larkin before July.  A camp of the Modern Woodmen of America has been instituted at Haymarket with the following officers: Consul, C. A. Heinsohn, Jr., banker; A. B. Rust; advisor, J. M. Dunbar; clerk, E. H. Hunt. H. S. Tredway, deputy head consul, who was present, said: "With these able officers the M. W. A. will be an important factor in this community."	VETERANS WRITE MANY LETTERS Survivors of First Battle of Manassas Coming to Fiftieth Anniversary Commemoration July 21.  Widespread interest in the grand Peace Jubilee on the Bull Run battlefield July 21, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the first Battle of Manassas is evidenced in the following communications received by Geo. C. Round:  VICTORY OF PEACE "Peace hath her victories." A. N. Yost. Second-Nebraska, Omaha.  SERVED EVERY DAY "In Eighteenth Maine Infantry and First Heavy Artillery. Served every day, never on sick list, was never injured and well today." A. C. SAWYER, Sergeant Major, Bangor, Me.  ENDURING FRATERNITY "The Blue and the Gray blended in an enduring fraternity—one country and one flag." OLIVER C. COOPER, First Massachusetts, Dundee, N. Y.  ONE OF THE FIRST "I was one of the first 300 'Rebs' who went to Manassas in May, 1861." TIPTON D. JENNINGS, Company G, Eleventh Virginia, Lynchburg, Va.  GOD BLESS THEM ALL "God bless our reunited family. To my brothers who wore the Gray I send loving greetings." ANDREW DILLON, One Hundred and Third Ohio, Cleveland, Ohio.  MARCH ON MANASSAS "I would like to take part in the March on Manassas for a Grand Peace Jubilee." BRADFORD C. RAYMOND, President Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.  UNITED "We are today one people, one country, united under one flag." HIRAM HANDY, Eighteenth Connecticut, Brooklyn, Conn.  COMING "I'll be there July 21." T. R. COVINGTON, Ninth Virginia Cavalry, Stevensburg, Va.  REVIVES MEMORIES "Would like to wander over field of Bull Run once again." PHILIP W. HUDSON, Houston, Tex.  ALL AMERICANS "God bless every soldier on either side. We were all Americans. I was in prison 21 months." JOHN E. WOODWARD, Eighteenth Connecticut, Norwich, Conn.  WASH AWAY SCARS "I rejoice at this celebration and sincerely hope that the day is fast approaching when all the scars of the Civil War will be entirely obliterated and all will go forward joining heart and hand to promote universal peace all over the world." EBEN NEWELL HEVINS, Forty-fourth Massachusetts, Brookline, Mass. A blind man.  REMAIN UNITED "May we remain our united country." O. L. FRISSEN, Portsmouth, N. H.  ONE OF THEM "I am one of them." E. J. FITZGERALD, Saginaw, Mich.  IN FIRST MANASSAS "Was in Company I, Second South Carolina, Bonham's Brigade, in First Manassas." ALEX. B. MILLER, Newark, N. J.  Mrs. M. S. Moffett was presented Friday night with a beautiful carving set by members of the Normal Training Class. The presentation was made by W. M. Wheeler. The gift bore the following inscription: "A slight token of love and respect for your untiring efforts in our behalf as Normal Training instructor, and an expression of our great appreciation of your work as supervising principal of our public schools. From the graduating class."
FRIDAY John Goodwin vs. Geo. J. Sloriorik. Judgment for plaintiff for $3.95. One-half of cost each.  SATURDAY Wise, administrator, vs. Edwin F. Mather. Judgment for plaintiff for $720. Lucian Payne vs. Southern Railway Company. Continued.  MONDAY L. L. Riley vs. Eastern College. Judgment for plaintiff for $185.	BEGIN MACADAM ROAD THROUGH NOKESVILLE STATE AND COUNTY HIGHWAY Extends One and One-half Miles Through Town—Approximate Cost of Improvement, $4,500.  Work was started Monday on the new State and County macadam road through Nokesville, an improvement involving an approximate expenditure of $4,500. The road will extend one and one-half miles from the Mellon farm west through Nokesville to the property of William Allen. The new road will parallel for three-fourths of a mile the cement sidewalk recently constructed by enterprising citizens of Nokesville. With paved streets and permanent sidewalks Nokesville leads in civic improvements all towns of its size in the State.  Twenty men are employed on the road improvement, and the force is to be increased as rapidly as competent workmen can be secured, as plans contemplate completion of the macadam highway by January 1.	INDEPENDENT VOTERS ELECT CHAPMAN MAYOR SEVEN MAJORITY OVER BROWN Respect Present Councilmen—Fight on May Election Features—97 Votes Cast—New Administration in September.  Independent voters sprung a surprise in the municipal election Tuesday when they elected Penn P. Chapman, an unsolicited candidate, Mayor of Manassas, by a majority of seven votes over W. Hill Brown, incumbent executive and copious nominee. M. A. Lynch, Jr., received ten votes. Scattering ballots were cast for six citizens, none of whom were seeking the strain of mayoralty. Save for the fight on Mayor, desultory interest marked the election, a total of 97 votes being cast.  The officials will begin their administration with the September meeting of the council.  The present councilmen were re-elected:  Following is the official count:  FOR MAYOR P. P. Chapman..... 87 W. Hill Brown..... 40 M. A. ## VIRGINIA NEWS

During a severe storm at Woodstock Monday, a ten-year-old daughter of Joseph Walker, a farmer, was almost killed by a silo being blown over, as she was passing. Lightning, hail and rain accompanied the storm, and much damage was done.

Roanoke friends of Edgar Stripling, ex-chief of police of Danville, who is serving a life sentence in the Georgia State penitentiary, say that if he is granted a pardon by Hoke Smith, he will accept a position offered him in Columbus, Ga. Application for a pardon will be made to Georgia's new-governor soon after he enters office.

John Edwards, twenty-five years old, dropped dead in Onancock Monday afternoon of heart failure. He had been joking with his friends a few minutes before his death, and was in a fit of laughter when he placed his hand to his heart and fell to the ground. He was an inspector for the Eastern Shore of Virginia Produce exchange.

Captain William H. Kearfoot, a widely-known Confederate veteran of Jefferson county, is recovering from the effects of a severe electrical shock he suffered several days ago when he endeavored to rescue a dog which had stumbled upon a live wire that had fallen down. The dog was instantly killed, and Captain Kearfoot was rendered unconscious for hours.

Though in her seventy-ninth year and extremely decrepit, Mrs. Rebecca Kite, of Harrisonburg, a native of Page county, is experiencing an almost unheard-of dental anomaly. For thirty years she has carefully guarded her "false teeth" with devotion. Within the past few days she has found out she will have to part with these on account of a set of teeth she is now cutting.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, through its industrial and agricultural department, is organizing alfalfa clubs in Virginia. There are already about half a dozen of these clubs in operation, and several other communities have made application. The railroad company gives instructions as to preparation of an acre of land, hauls a carload of lime free of charge, and furnishes one-half bushel of alfalfa seed free of charge.

In order to make its study of typhoid fever as complete as possible, the State Department of Health has secured from the United States Health and Marine Hospital Service the detail of Past Assistant Surgeon L. L. Lumsden, an expert on epidemics. Dr. Lumsden will report to the Health Department July 1, and will spend the months of July and August in an investigation of typhoid fever in the rural sections of Virginia.

The use of moving pictures in the schools as a mode of instruction is a development of the near future, in the opinion of J. D. Eggleston, Jr., Superintendent of Public Instruction of Virginia. Mr. Eggleston says that he believes the moving picture machine will soon be found as a part of the equipment of many public schools. The display adds to the interest in the lesson to be taught and helps to impress it upon the mind of the child. In public health work and in other lines of modern endeavor in this State, the old magic lantern has been used of recent years to illustrate conditions as the speakers have found them. But the motion picture machine has not been introduced. It is believed by Mr. Eggleston that along many lines of instruction such a method may be used with great profit.

Dyspepsia is our national ailment. Burdock Blood Bitters is the national cure for it. It strengthens stomach membranes, promotes flow of digestive juices, purifies the blood, builds you up.

The store of W. H. Spillman at Viewtown, Fauquier, was struck by lightning and burned a few nights ago. The merchandise was also destroyed. Loss on building and contents estimated at $8,000, with small insurance. Mr. Spillman will rebuild.

Announcement is made at Lynchburg for the closing of a deal for the erection of a five-story, fireproof hotel, with 127 rooms. The hotel, which is to be built by Lynchburg money, will cost $270,000, and is to be located on the site of the Arlington.

During a thunder-storm last week a large barn belonging to J. E. Craun, near Woodbury forest, Madison county, was struck by lightning and burned together with one horse, one colt, one calf, farming implements and some hay. The loss was heavy with but little insurance.

J. A. Anderson, of Richmond, who has been on a visit to relatives in Winchester during the past week, gave an exhibition before the Winchester Gun Club the other day, one of his feats being the exploding of a twenty-two-short cartridge, thrown into the air, by a shot from his twenty-two-calibre rifle.

More horses continue to arrive at the United States Army's remount station at Front Royal, there being about 100 horses now in pasture. Captain Casper H. Conrad, Jr., who is in charge of the station, has been in Kentucky buying horses for the past two weeks, and the number now at the station will be greatly increased.

Sensational charges were sprung last week in Norfolk county politics. County Clerk and Republican National Committeeman Alvah H. Martin, the "republican democratic fusion boss" of the county, was charged with being granted several thousand dollars in "allowances" by the board of supervisors, which are said to have no warrant in law. Added to this was an affidavit from H. S. Nichols, a leading city republican, which charged that he offered the lease of the famous stone quarry, which the county leases in Greenville county, to the supervisors at $13,000. Afterwards, Nichols swears his lease expired, and that it was bought out by Landis M. Spivester, county democratic chairman and one of Mr. Martin's supporters. Records of the board of supervisors show that $16,600 has been paid on the lease.

Recommendations will be made to the next General Assembly coordinating the State educational institutions. This conclusion has been reached by the Virginia educational commission, which held an all-day meeting in the capital Friday. There will be several other meetings of the commission before the assembling of the next legislature, when plans will be perfected and measures adopted for the presentation to the lawmakers. The commission will also recommend to the legislature the supervision by the State board of education every institution of learning chartered by the State. To this end it was recommended that no institution chartered by the State (as nearly all schools are) shall be allowed to confer the degrees of bachelor of arts, bachelor of science or civil engineer unless it gives a four-year college course of work based on a four-year high school course of not less than fourteen units. The commission will also recommend that no person shall be allowed to teach the young people of Virginia, whether in a public or private school, unless he or she has been licensed as a teacher by the State.

IN THE REALM OF FASHION

New Hairdressing.

There are many Greek suggestions in the fashionable coiffure, the waved hair banded at the top with ribbons or gilt braids and held up in a long Psyche point of puffs and curls at the back by an under fillet of some sort or a shell or gemmed barrette. The change in the shape of the head is beautiful. For few feminine skulls have the elongation at the back needed to make

Banded Coiffure.

The head handsome with smoothly banded hair. For little touches here and there, at the temples, over the ears, a few hairs are sometimes cut and curled into loose levelocks, or the same feathery bits are bought attached to hairpins and put in at these points. But, after all, the hair arrangement is a matter of becomingness, so when it comes to putting the style to the test the individual may need many changes.

Boleros Again.

Coats with the tailored suit are short. Coats longer than twenty-six inches are exceptional in Paris, while many models are from twenty to twenty-two inches. The bolero is a growing feature in the styles. This appeared originally as a feature of the three piece suits, though now it is a strong rival of the tailored jacket. The great question now is, Shall the bolero be in reality a bolero or shall it take the form of the Eton coat? This is not decided at present, as all types of boleros are shown varying in length from ten to nineteen inches.

For the Baby.

A traveling pouch for the baby is made of mercerized poplin in colors and will be found very convenient, as all the articles necessary for the little one on a journey may be kept in it. It has two compartments and is brought together with strings of washable silk.

Davy Crockett at the Play. John Quincy Adams used to occasionally attend the theater, and he was especially pleased with Hackett as Falstaff. When Mr. Hackett had a benefit it was announced that at the particular request of Colonel David Crockett of Tennessee the comedian would appear in the play called "The Kentuckian." This brought out a house full to overflowing. At 7 o'clock the colonel was escorted by the manager through the crowd to a front seat reserved for him. After a short time the curtain rose, and Hackett appeared in hunting costume, bowed to the audience and then to Colonel Crockett. The compliment was reciprocated by the colonel, and then the play went on. —From "Parley's Reminiscences."

To Star and to Starve. Charles Matthews, the English actor, once went to perform at Wakefield, where, owing to the depressed state of trade, the drama received no support. He was afterward asked how much money he had made at Wakefield and replied, "Not a shilling." "Not a shilling?" repeated his questioner. "Why, I thought you went there to star." "So I did," replied Matthews. "But they spell it with a 'v' in Wakefield."

The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has made it a favorite everywhere. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

SPRING BRINGS SORE FEET
HERE IS A POSITIVE CURE

With the advent of warm weather comes foot troubles to thousands of people. The increased temperature and heaviness of the atmosphere causes swelling and excess perspiration. This brings on a series of foot troubles. The treatment given below will be welcomed with joy by an army of sufferers. It acts like magic—"Disolve" two table-spoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of hot water; soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. Less time will not give the desired results. Repeat this each night until the cure is permanent. All soreness disappears immediately. Corns and calluses can be peeled right off. Bunions are reduced to normal and the inflammation drawn out. Sweaty and smelly feet, tender and swollen feet need but a few treatments. This Calocide is a remarkable drug. Formerly used only by doctors but any druggist now has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale source. A twenty-five cent package is claimed to cure the worst feet.

SOME POINTS ON INCUBATOR

Beginner Will Be Greatly Aided in Management of Machine by Observing Rules Given Herewith.

The following points in the management of an incubator may be helpful to the beginner:
 Set the machine perfectly level to insure perfect ventilation and efficient working of all the heating apparatus. Do not place the working machine in a north or west room, if possible. A south or east room is preferred. The incubator should be in a room where there is fire at no time or fire at all times.
 In a cold room the eggs must be aired when the temperature is above 40 degrees or chilling will result.

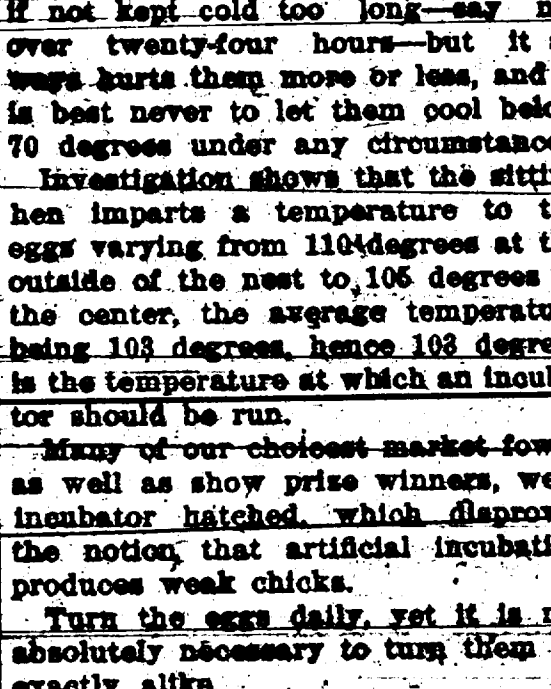

Fresh air and some moisture are necessary for successful incubation, and these are supplied by the ventilated device of every incubator. Incubator doors should be made of double glass and fit neatly to avoid loss of heat. A machine of from 50 to 120 egg capacity is about right for the beginner. It is large enough for practical purposes and not so large as to cause confusion. Avoid excess of temperature and absence of moisture in the room in which the incubator is located. Fill and trim the lamp daily and use a wick of sufficient width so that a low flame will produce the necessary heat. Let one person only attend to the incubator and give it attention at least twice each day.

Keep the lamp burner and bowl free from oil and other foreign matter. Eggs are overheated at 110 degrees, but it will take ten to twenty-four hours to kill them, according to how near the hatching point they are. Eggs can be considered chilled when the heat falls to 50 degrees or below. They will still hatch, however, if not kept cold too long—say not over twenty-four hours—but it always hurts them more or less, and it is best never to let them cool below 70 degrees under any circumstances. Investigation shows that the sitting hen imparts a temperature to the eggs varying from 110 degrees at the outside of the nest to 105 degrees in the center, the average temperature being 103 degrees, hence 103 degrees is the temperature at which an incubator should be run.

Many of our choicest market fowls, as well as show prize winners, were incubator hatched, which disproves the notion that artificial incubation produces weak chicks. Turn the eggs daily, yet it is not absolutely necessary to turn them all exactly alike. The attachment which gives a warning signal when the temperature runs beyond the danger limit is a good device and believes one of much value.

When the chicks are nearly ready to hatch the inside temperature of the machine will rise and the heating apparatus must be regulated, as less heat is needed than at the beginning of incubation. Give attention to details, learn the workings of your machine, and don't worry. Let the machine do the work. Let the chicks stay in the incubator without food from twenty-four to forty-eight hours after they are hatched.

Practical Fashions

A GIBSON-SHIRT WAIST.

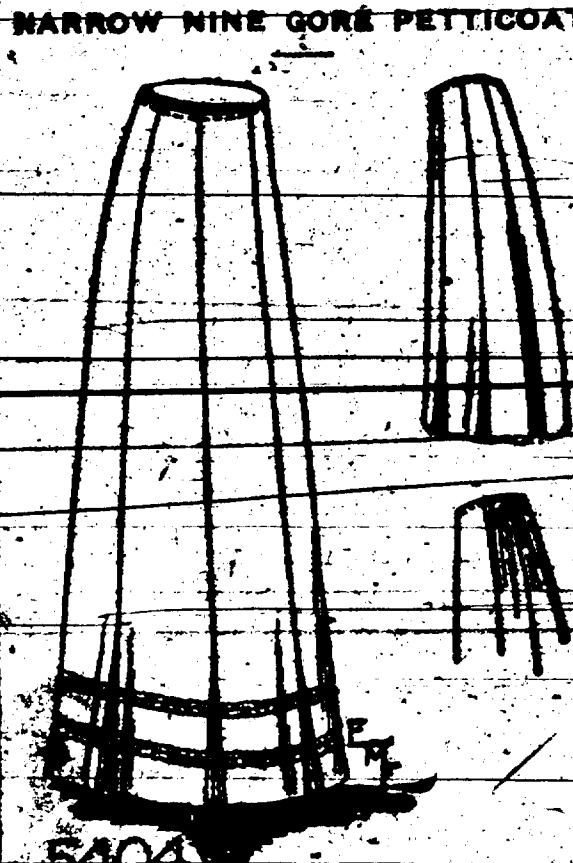

The Gibson shirt waist is to be coming to the figure that it is safe to believe that it will remain permanent in fashion, little changes being made from time to time, according to the mode of the day. The waist illustrated has the customary tucks at the shoulders, short in front and extending to the waist line on the back. The opening of the waist is a little to one side of the center of the front. The sleeves are of bishop design, finished with a cuff. This style is very good for plain silks, pongee, linen, flannel and gingham, or other wash fabrics. The pattern (5174) is cut in sizes 22 to 42 inches, bust measure. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 25 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

NARROW NINE GORE PETTICOAT

As the styles for dresses are all for very narrow models the styles for underwear must follow suit. This applies with especial force to the petticoat, and by using a design like the one illustrated there will be no unsightly wrinkles or bunches of material.

The nine gores are very narrow and straight, but just above the hem a little fan plaiting is inserted so that the wearer may walk with ease. The hem may be made to fit closely in habit style or it may be gathered across on a tape or ribbon as shown in one of the small diagrams. This petticoat pattern is suitable for any material of which undershirts are made, but more especially those that do not wash, as silk, moose, saten, etc.

The pattern (5404) is cut in sizes 22 to 36 inches waist measure. Medium size requires 3 1/4 yards of 24 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 25 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

LAST OF THE YAQUI.

Passing of a Once Famous Tribe of Mexican Indians.

All the world has heard of the famous Yaqui Indians of the state of Sonora, Mexico. They are for the most part dwellers in the hills, crudely armed with primitive weapons; but their fierce fighters who have more than once decisively beaten the soldiers of Mexico.

Peaceable when undisturbed, fully alive to the richness of their mines and the value of their fertile valleys, they sought only to defend that which was theirs from the grasping hands of those who desired their mines and their lands. Like most aborigines, however, they were doomed from the first. What was at the time of Cortes a tribe of 5,000 strong, able to defy the warriors of Montezuma, has dwindled until there are now not more than 500 souls in the valley of the Yaqui river and in the mountain gorges which wall in the source of this stream.

The bulk of the Yaqui have been wiped out in sanguinary wars or taken prisoners and shot, and those for whom no excuse for death could be found have been deported to the fever-stricken valleys of Yucatan. The Yaqui as a race are no more, but their passing has been made complete only during the past few years.—Wide World Magazine.

Tissot, the Famous French Painter, and His Critic.

An interesting story is told of Jacques Tissot, the great French painter. While in England he painted a beautiful religious picture and, meeting a country woman, asked her opinion of his work. "It's a chef d'oeuvre," she replied, giving a remarkably just and detailed appreciation of the various merits of the really splendid painting.

"Are you satisfied?" asked a friend. Tissot answered in the negative. He entirely repainted his picture, working night and day.

When finished he sent again for his fair critic, who pronounced it admirable and remained silently admiring it with smiling criticism. "Are you satisfied?" asked the friend again when the lady had departed. "No," replied the artist, and he set to work for the third time.

When the Parisienne saw the new painting she gazed at it for some moments with evident emotion and then without a word sank softly to her knees and began to pray.

"Are you satisfied now?" whispered the friend, and Tissot said "Yes." London Saturday Review.

Hannibal's Downfall.

The fate of Hannibal turned upon the result of a promenade. It was after he had crossed the Alps and entered Italy with winter quarters established at Capua. His residence was one of the best houses in the city, and while walking in the garden he heard a female voice singing not far away. Struck by the tones of the voice, he issued an order that the singer should be brought before him. He was so greatly impressed by her charms that he at once attached her to his household, disposing of the husband by beheading him. Retribution followed closely upon the cowardly perpetration of the outrage. The balance of the winter was devoted to pleasure, discipline and drills were practically abandoned, and with the advent of spring the Carthaginian army was so demoralized by the dissipation of the city that its prestige was lost, and with it came the downfall of Hannibal.

The Sara-Kabbah Fashion.

The Sara-Kabbah people of central Africa adopt the hideous fashion of wearing large wooden disks in the hair, the one in the upper lip about three inches in diameter and that in the lower six inches. "These ornaments," says Mr. Karl W. Kamm in "Travels in the Sudan to Egypt," "restrain the wearers from prolonged conversation. One of the chiefs, when I asked him the reason why they disfigured their women, informed me that their forefathers had developed this habit in order that the women might exercise no attractions for the Moslem slave raiders."

Warning a Serpent.

Down in Bermuda Mark Twain made a speech about snakes to a group of little girls. The speech was great. The only trouble was that the little girls could not appreciate it. It flew over their heads—this was the humorist's conclusion: "Never warn a serpent in your home. It is far easier to warn it by placing it under the pillow of an intimate friend."—Harper's Weekly.
