SENATOR SWANSON PROTESTS

THAT THE Strengthening of our navy is a necessity is evident. There can be no question of it if we would maintain our naval force in its proper rank among the powers of the world. The fundamental theory of the maintenance of American power is founded upon a navy of sufficient magnitude to protect American interests.

A large standing army is not of as great importance to the protection of our interests as a powerful navy, and no petty economy should interfere with the keeping of our naval force in its proper rank. If the Democrats refuse to vote an appropriation for new battleships by December 31, 1915, the United States will have fallen behind Great Britain, Germany, Japan and France.

The protest of Senator Swanson against the action of the Democratic caucus in refusing to agree to the building of two new battleships is based upon sound reasoning, and sooner or later this fact will have become apparent to those who now oppose the movement.

The cry of economy comes with poor grace from a congress that has added $70,000,000 to the pension bill and voted $20,000,000 for harbor and river improvements. This is the kind of economy that proves costly in the long run, and sooner or later these ships will have to be built. The risk of war far outweighs any temporary saving and the time lost cannot be replaced by the dilatory tactics of the House caucus.

THE HANOVER OUTRAGE

It was wise policy upon the part of the Hanover county officials after taking the negro suspect, Andrew Cash, before a magistrate for identification Monday, to hurry the prisoner off to the Richmond jail for safe-keeping without letting it be known whether or not Miss Rouse had identified the suspect as the party who committed a felonious assault upon her just outside the corporate limits of Ashland Saturday night. Everything so far points to Cash as the guilty party.

Three hundred citizens of Hanover county, on foot and on horseback followed bloodhounds over swamps and meadows Sunday in search of Miss Rouse's assailant. After working on the trail amid difficulties arising from frequent showers, the dogs led the pursuers to the home of Cash and he was placed under arrest and held under suspicion until Miss Rouse, the 10-year-old schoolmarm, had sufficiently recovered from the shock to pass judgment as to his guilt or innocence. It is generally believed that the young girl identified the prisoner as her assailant and that the negro was hastened to prison to have a lynching.

There should be no delay in bringing Cash to trial and if guilty, sending him to the electric chair if our homes are to be protected and summary proceedings availed.

SIGNIFICANCE OF ALL-FOOLS' DAY

ACCORDING to "Puddin' Head Wilson's Calender" April 1, is the day on which we realize what we are all the rest of the year."

This is not a comforting statement to any one; still it shows with little doubt that Mark Twain's sense of humor was the result of close observation. Shakespeare was only trying to preserve human self-respect when he made a fairy, the immortal Puck, express the sentiment: "What fools these mortals be." What man or woman has not, at some stage of life, been the victim of some practical joke on the first day of the winning month of April? which made them feel the force of the above quotation.

The small boy loses no opportunity by means of various methods of deception to contribute to the embarrassment of parents by, and even the older set find much enjoyment in taking others unaware and pronounce upon them the judgment, "April-fool."

LOOKING OVER THE GROUND

L. DANIEL MAHAN, formerly of Kansas City, now connected with the Champ Clark headquarters, accompanied by J. W. Ward, Green and Dr. Ford of Washington, were in town Saturday in the interest of the Champ Clark presidential campaign.

Just what encouragement they received has not been learned. While it is pretty generally conceded that Woodrow Wilson will carry the State at large unless there should be new developments in the situation between now and the date set for the Baltimore convention, Prince William county has many voters who favor the nomination of Clark. The fact that Wilson is a Virginian is probably the nucleus around which much sentiment of preference for a native born candidate for the nomination is crystallizing.

MAKING MAPS

If you wish to test the bravery of a woman turn a poor little innocent mouse loose in the room.

SIDNEY SMITH has broken the record of Aguinaldo by possessing the ability of being in ten different places at the same time.

Don't think, because a young woman speaks to you pleasantly on the street, that she would allow you to accompany her to church.

You can approximate the honesty of your grocer by the frequency he takes advantage of the half-cent in his business transactions.

BEFORE marriage there are no burdens too heavy for the love-sick swain to bear for the sake of his lady-love. After marriage — well, that's quite a different matter.

FROM present indications Hon. C. C. Carlin will have no opposition and that he will be declared the nominee by the Democratic Committee.

When the National Republican convention convenes in Chicago this summer, "credentials" will be at a great discount and "times will only be tolerable."

WHEN you observe a married couple out for a walk you can generally tell how long they have been wedded by the distance apart they are walking.

SINCE Amundsen wreathed from Captain Scott the honor of discovering the South pole, the captain has concluded to stay a year longer to ascertain what the pole really looks like and the length of it.

UNDER a recent act of the Legislature only persons whose income exceeds $2,000 a year will be subject to the income tax. Heretofore those whose whose income exceeded $1,000 a year was subject to the tax.

It is not likely that all this third party talk can be satisfied until after the Chicago Convention. Should "Teddy" get the cold shoulder then there will likely be something done which will add substantial color to the present conjectures.

WHILE it appears that Virginia will send a solid Wilson delegation to the Baltimore convention, indications are that the delegation of our interests as a powerful navy, and no petty economy should interfere with the keeping of our naval force in its proper rank. If the Democrats refuse to vote an appropriation for new battleships by December 31, 1915, the United States will have fallen behind Great Britain, Germany, Japan and France.

The protest of Senator Swanson against the action of the Democratic caucus in refusing to agree to the building of two new battleships is based upon sound reasoning, and sooner or later this fact will have become apparent to those who now oppose the movement.

It turns out that a native of Prince William county figured conspicuously in the capture of two of the Allen clasmens. This man is Edward C. Payne, son of the late John M. Payne of near Dumfries, and who was commissioner of the revenue "below the run" for a number of years. Mr. Payne is a member of the Baldwin detective force and considered one of the most sagacious and fearless members of the force.

Senators Mason has secured a favorable report in the Senate upon his bill providing for a public highway bridge across the Potomac river connecting the district of Columbia with Virginia. The bill which has been pending in Congress for the past ten years calls for an appropriation of $44,000 for the structure. This should give fresh impetus toward the proposed public highway from Washington to the Gulf Coast.

The Richmond Chamber of Commerce and the Washington Highway Association met in the Washington Chamber of Commerce in the National Capital, Monday and discussed the new plan for building the road between Richmond and Washington. President Henry W. Anderson of the association, has proposed to form a corporation which shall undertake the building and the maintenance of the highway. His plan has the approval of Judge Wilson, State Highway Commissioner, and by the business men of Richmond.
