Here in Prince William at we have to do to prove this to our satisfaction is to look around and nete which farmers are most prosperous. Of course, every school boy knows that the dairy cow not alone provides a steady income through the milk she produces, but returns to the soil, in the form of valuable manure, a large part of the vital elements found in the grains she con-

Undoubtedly, Prince William farm folks are much prouder of their choice of life work than they used to be. The widespread extension, of the sural free delivery of mail, the appreciation that is shown the farmer's efforts today, the good work that is being done in behalf of the farmer and his family by state and county demonstration offices, and the good-natured rivalry that the county fair fosters, thus spurring the individual farmer to equal at least, if not excel his neighbors have added to the attractiveness of agricultural life in this county

Hats off to County Demonstration Agent W. L. Browning and County Home Demonstration Agent Miss Lillian V. Gilbert! These two good workers deserve the thanks of all citizens of Prince William. The excellence of the exhibits at the fair this week and the lively in terest shown by all in the agricultural progress of the county, particularly by the ruddy-cheeked lads and lassies, can be attributed, large measure, to the faithful was Mr. Browning and this Citter

PEMEMBRANCE

Beyond the hum of honey-questing bees Or passion-pregnant song of nightingale, I lie and drain remembrance of the lees, By Fate flung past life's sweet, alluring vale Where you still linger, and my spirit sups Deep draughts of wine, love's essence, in the gold, Clear chalices of last year's buffercups, Which flower anew beneath the damp, fresh mould.

And you, your beauty deepening, rich and mellow, You walk along the paths which we have trod. I see you stoop to gather leaves gone yellow, I feel your gentle fingers press the sod Which, like a roof above my house of dreaming, Safe-keeps me from the swirling storm of Life. The while my soul, with fragrant memories teeming. Soars free, unbound, far out beyond all strife.

Yourself iorgetfulness of all your sorrow. The boon of Lethe, which the midnight brings, Today holds but the dread of each tomorrow. Your happiness has flown on widespread wings. Here in my star-set world of silent places, Each flower mnews itself in your fair semblance. Across Infinity's vast, chambered spaces Fhold your perfect beauty in remembrance.

Prepared to Care For Automobile Batteries

There is no longer any need of expressing your battery to Washington, having it recharged or repaired there and then waiting for it to be expressed back to you.

A complete battery service equipment has recently been installed by us. And we not only have everything needed with which to take care of your battery troubles, but we know HOW.

If you have run a car a few years you need not be reminded that the time to cure battery ills is in the beginning. Once your battery starts going down grade it goes fast.

The thing to do is to have us look your battery over frequently. We will be candid with you. If your battery is all right, we will be glad to tell you so. If it is too far gone to justify repairing we will frankly advise you not to spend any more money on it.

Battery testing and filling with pure water is free. Avail yourselves of this service at our garage. And when you need a new battery remember that we sell the best-the Willard Threaded Rubber, that is regular equipment now on nearly 200 -makes of standard American cars.

Are You Helping Make Others Wealthy?

The money you squander, even if not much, does add up in the course of the year. It helps the fellows you spend it withbut it doesn't help you.

A dollar is not so easily gotten now as was the case two or three years ago. A thing that must be worked for harder is worth more, and should be prized more highly. Every dollar you earn today is worth more than the dollar you got for your work when wages were high and labor scarce.

To spend recklessly when everybody had money and when more could easily be attained was a great temptation. Today there is nothing like the same excuse for letting money get away for non-essentials. Money is worth so much more now than it was that no one can afford to neglect setting aside regularly a certain amount for the "rainy day" that is apt to come.

Help yourself prosper-not the other fellow. Buy what you need, but don't spend unwisely. Open an account with this bank, if you haven't one here already. We do everything we can to help our customers, and will be glad to have you join our growing list of satisfied patrons.
