HIST

In 1871, Thomas and Martha Jones donated 1 acre to John D. Leachman, John H. Butler, and George C. Round, Trustees of the School District of Manassas, for the purpose of erecting there a public free school (for whites). According to the deed, the School trustees were to build a fence between the schoolhouse lot and Jones' land. The school was to have the use of a spring in the adjacent lot.

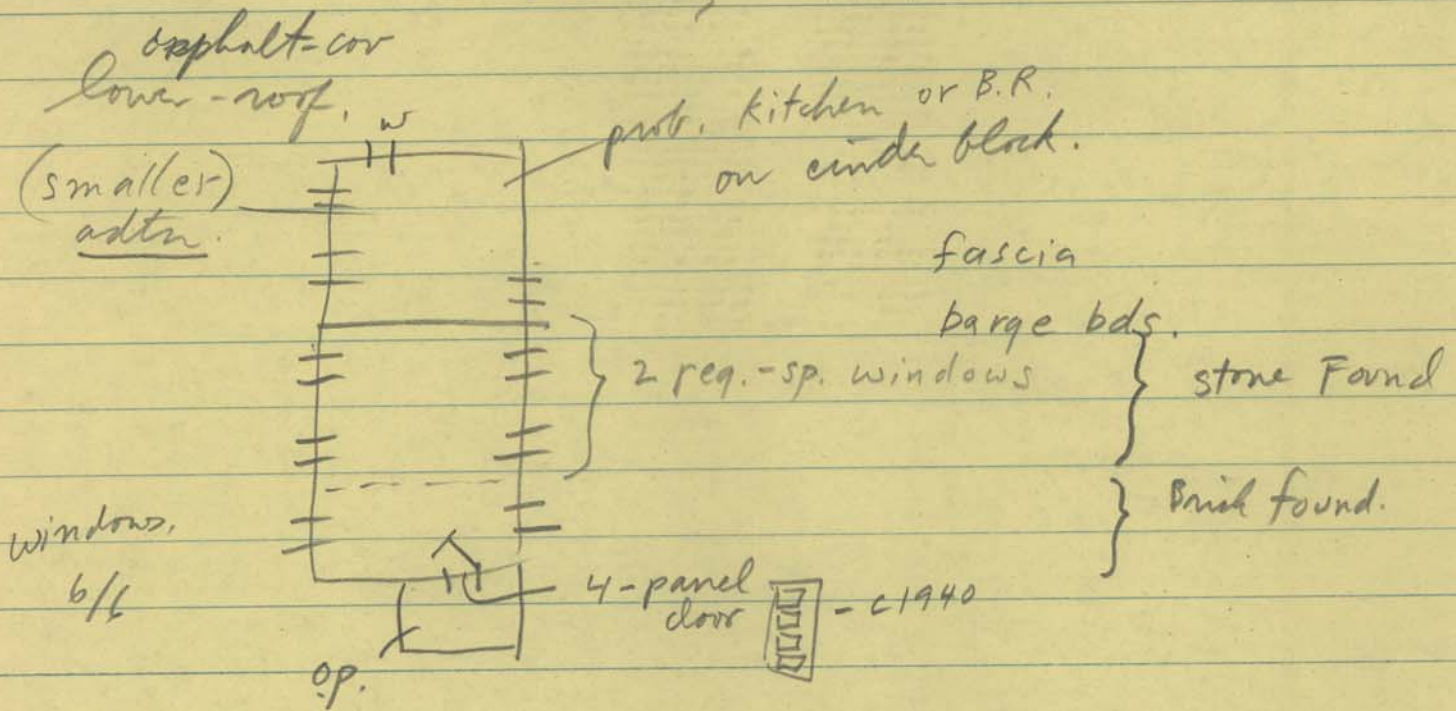

The Public School System was established in Virginia in 1869. Bradley School was one of the first schools to be built under the new law.

During the 1930s, the County School Board began to replace the old one and two-room schools with a central system.

In 1936, the school property was sold to Mrs. Hannah Florence Limstrong

O'Callaghan, who purchased the property for $200.00. In 1978, Mrs. O'Callaghan died, leaving the property to her grandchildren, the present owners.
