

Getting dirty for history

Josh Sackett sifts through dirt collected at the Tavern site with the Hylton High School Archeology Class.

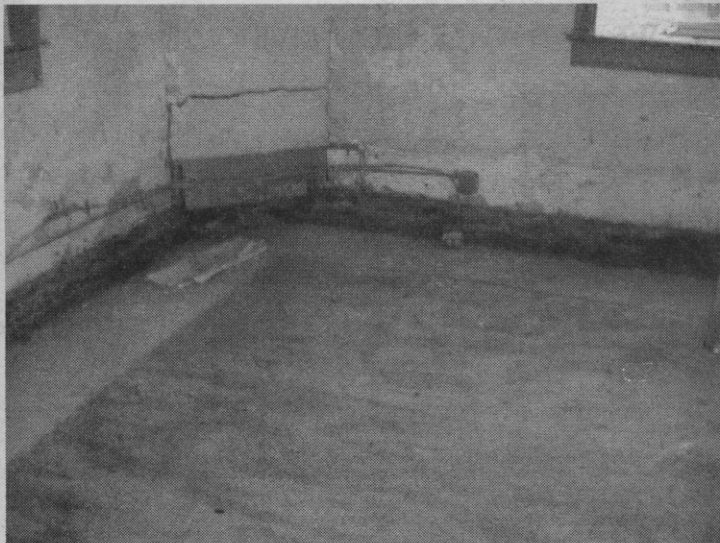

Allison Brieske works an area that has been marked off near where the Tavern was in the Brentsville with the Archeology Class from Hylton High School.

Josh Sackett sifts through dirt collected at the Tavern site with the Hylton High School Archeology Class.

Allison Brieske works an area that has been marked off near where the Tavern was in the Brentsville with the Archeology Class from Hylton High School.

The inside after the first phase of the old Brentsville Courthouse exposing the walls and the floors, now covered with plywood. The next phase will be the completion of the inside of the courthouse, though not the furnishing of it.