

The boarded windows and a crumbling facade of the historic Conner House will be restored to their original conditions.

Conner House Restoration

Originally known as Blooms Grove, this antebellum house served as Field Headquarters for General Joseph Johnston, Confederate States Army, during the Summer of 1861 and later was used as a hospital by both southern and northern troops.

Through the efforts of many people and organizations, the Conner House will be restored so that the public can appreciate its historic and architectural value.

BY AUTHORITY OF
CONNER HOUSE HISTORICAL SOCIETY
CITY OF MANASSAS PARK

The sign next to Manassas Park's Conner House explains its history in the Civil War.

Brain Pohanka of the Fifth New York Zouaves (Union) represents a Northern officer in the Civil War reenactments and displays at the Conner House benefit and lighting ceremony Saturday evening sponsored by the Conner House Historical Society.

Civil War highlights Conner House gala