

CPL. ELLISON WRITES OF WAR

Letter from Cpl. Harry M. Ellison, A. S. N. 33098997, Co. C, 39th Inf., A. P. O. No. 9, care Postmaster, New York City, N. Y.

August 20

Dearest Sister:

Just a few words to let you hear from me again as it has been a long time since I last wrote you. I have only written two letters since I left Africa and they were to mother.

I received a letter and a birthday card from you, thanks a lot.

I also received some from a few other folks, but haven't answered any of them yet. I didn't have a chance to answer them when they were received, but I will, soon get to them to show the folks I mean well.

Well, honey, I guess you want to know what I think of Sicily. The shores of Sicily were the best fortified I have experienced yet.

I thought North Africa had a lot of mountains, but Sicily is nearly all mountains. The fighting was tougher here than in North Africa. That could be expected as we were in enemy country. The people here were starving as everything in the food line went to the soldiers. The civilian people here are tired of the war. I know they are glad it is over with; but their towns were smashed and all the bridges were blown out. They had the prettiest churches inside I have ever seen, but most of those in the towns were hit by bombs. The graveyards are kept up well. They are very religious people and most of them Catholics.

I met a few people here who speak good English. Nearly anyone you talk to between the ages of fifty and sixty years have lived in Brooklyn for ten years or Chicago for twenty. I talked with a few people about Mussolini and they would like to cut his throat. Well, who wouldn't like to do that?

I am a squad leader in a machine gun section, and "boy" I had a squad that just wouldn't slow down, but some of them got hurt and are in the hospital now. I don't know if they will be back with me or not. If not I will get some more to break in and by the time they are trained something will happen to them.

I know there were quite a few friends of mine left along the way-side. I read in the "Stars and Stripes" this morning that our losses in men in the Sicilian campaign was 25,000 including killed, wounded and captured, but the Germans lost more than 30,000 and a great many captured.

Guidry is in the hospital now. I think he had a nervous breakdown, but I hope he will soon be back for I miss him a lot.

In your last letter you were telling me that you had not heard from Rolfe for over a month. I surely hope you have heard by now. I have a feeling that he has been home recently.

I sometimes wonder if I will ever get back across that great Atlantic. I'll never give up hopes, for if I do my roaming days are through. I have seen about half of the world since I landed in Ireland last fall and I can judge the other half by this.

I guess Rumsey and Neville are on the ball these days. I imagine everyone has good crops this year but the big job will be getting enough help to save them. Food is going to be even more important in the future.

Washington Baseball Club is doing pretty good this season. I see where they are in third place.

I hope my mother is keeping well at home. I know mother is working hard and worrying these days about us three boys. I have written her a couple of letters lately and I know she will be glad to hear that I made out all right again. Thank God.

Honey, I will sign off for this time. Give my best regards to all. "It leaves me never better."

Love to all,

JINKS

STREONS OF THE DESERT "There's a stream trouble across my path, It is black and deep and wide; Bitter the hour the future hath When I cross its swelling tide; But I smile and sing, and say, I will hope and trust always; I'll bear the sorrow that comes tomorrow, But I'll borrow none today;

VICTORY CORPS ORGANIZES

The Victory Corps organization is well under way at Osbourn High School. The purpose of the High School Victory Corps is to mobilize the secondary school students for more effective preparation for and participation in wartime service. With this purpose in mind, the Osbourn organization is designed to include all school activities. The students have elected their own Chief of Staff and general staff, which is divided into various service divisions.

One such service of interest to the community is the Community Service Division, since participation in wartime community service activities is recognized as a condition for general membership in the High School Victory Corps.

One activity of the C. S. Division is the publication of a weekly news sheet which will be mailed to servicemen from this section. The publication will be written and mimeographed by members of the Victory Corps. All patrons are urged to turn in to the school names and addresses of servicemen who would be interested in receiving this publication.

A PERSONAL LETTER FROM SECRETARY MORGANTHAU

On the eve of the Third War Loan, I want to impress upon you how heavily we are depending upon the newspapers, and upon the businesses who sponsor newspaper advertisements, to carry our urgent message to the American people.

In the past, these industry sponsored advertisements have proved the backbone of our promotional campaign. I am sure they will prove no less in the coming Third War Loan Drive.

I hope you will pass this information along to those businesses and industries in your community who can and will help sponsor this vital local newspaper advertising.

We all know that raising fifteen billion dollars—no less than five billion of it from individuals—is going to be a tremendous task. We must take full advantage of every available source of support.

Sincerely,

H. MORGENTHAU, JR., Secretary of the Treasury

AIR RAID SIGNALS ARE EXPLAINED

BLUE LIGHT FOR BLACKOUT PURPOSES PROHIBITED

The local Civilian Defense Office has just received a communication from the Richmond office covering the instructions from the War Department to Commanding Generals prohibiting the use of blue lights for blackout purposes. Following is a quotation from these instructions:

"Blue light affects the human eye one thousand times as much at night as it does during the day, while red light (now determined to be the most satisfactory of all colors for blackout use) affects the human eye no more at night than during the daytime.

At low levels of illumination, the human eye is sensitive to colored light in the following order; blue (highest sensitivity), green, white, yellow, orange, red (lowest sensitivity).

Huntton Tiffany, Co-ordinator of Civilian Defense for Prince William County, hopes every citizen will observe this new ruling so that we will still rank high in observation of Blackout rules and regulations.

REVISED AIR RAID ALARM SIGNALS SHOULD BE MEMORIZED

Virginians are urged to memorize the system of air raid alarm signals as revised recently to include an audible "All Clear." This is the signal procedure as outlined by the State Office of Civilian Defense:

BLUE: A long steady blast. Extinguish outdoor lights and screen indoor lights so as to be invisible from without. Traffic and pedestrians continue as usual, motor vehicles using low or depressed lights.

RED: A series of short blasts or a warbling note of the alarm. Continue blacked out as above. Traffic stops. All vehicular lights extinguished. Pedestrians seek shelter. Emergency motor vehicles may move when properly identified.

WHITE or "ALL CLEAR": One short steady blast not to exceed 45 seconds indicates the all clear and the return to normal.

The above is the normal sequence of audible alarm signals. However, the signals as indicated should be memorized as it is possible that the first audible signal might conceivably be the warbling or series of short blasts indicating total blackout and stopping of traffic. This would be followed by the steady blast (BLUE) indicating a lessening of danger. The "ALL CLEAR" is the one short steady blast (Not exceeding forty-five seconds duration) and will always follow a BLUE signal.

The bond sale quota for Osbourn High School is $100,000 for this year. The sale is being conducted by the Victory Corps. You are urged to buy your bonds through the school. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. William C. Kelly of Frederick, Md.

Private John B. Broaddus Jr., of Fort Bragg, N. C., was home last week for an over-night visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. John T. Broaddus. His many friends were glad to see him. John is looking well.

CHAMBER AIDS WAR BOND SALES

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PROGRAM SPURS THIRD WAR LOAN CAMPAIGN

The Prince William County Chamber of Commerce at a fully attended luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Prince William Hotel, gave impetus to the newly launched Third War Loan Campaign which has as its goal, $500,000. G. Raymond Radcliffe, chairman of the County War Finance Committee in announcing the Government request for War Bond Purchases amounting to half a million dollars, said that the sum greatly exceeds the quota previously assigned the county, but that every effort would be put forth to meet the goal. Recent figures show that $30,562 of bonds have been sold in the county in two days, and the schools have assumed the responsibility of raising $100,000. Mr. Radcliffe introduced Mrs. J. Vincent Davis, chairman of the Women's Division of the War Savings Staff, who outlined the drive to be conducted locally by her division. Beginning this week, a house-to-house canvass will be made by campaign workers in an effort to encourage the investment of extra dollars by every resident of the community. Mrs. Davis stressed the fact that the opportunity to purchase bonds is a privilege for all Americans and an investment which is giving us a chance to help our country in its greatest emergency and to help ourselves at the same time.

Staff Sergeant Joseph Austin and Pvt. Fred Huff of the Baltimore Filter Station, Aircraft Warning Service, were present as guests of Edgar G. Parrish, Sub-Director of Aircraft Warning Service for this District. Sgt. Austin gave an interesting talk in connection with the Third War Loan Drive, calling upon further cooperation of the people on the home front to raise funds to equip our men and take care of war expenditures on the far-flung fronts of the world. He spoke also in behalf of the Aircraft Warning Service whose thousands of volunteer workers have released men throughout the United States for service, and asked for assistance from every civilian in continuing the effective work of this Service in protecting the shores of our country.

A committee composed of Dr. George B. Cocke and Mr. Stanley A. Owens has been appointed by the Chamber to assist the County Staff with the sale of bonds and Mrs. Davis' committee conducting the town canvass consists of the following: Mrs. E. D. Gothwaite, Mrs. J. Lewis Carper, Mrs. Frank D. Cox, Mrs. R. Terrell Johnson, Mrs. T. E. Diddlake, Mrs. John Wightman, Mrs. Richard C. Haydon, Mrs. J. Mills Hanson, Mrs. Earl Hurt, and Mrs. A. O. Beane. Mrs. John Williams is in charge of canvassing the colored section.

Several letters received here from Claud Smith say he is again back in North Africa after helping with the invasion of Sicily. As many of you possibly know, Claud is a paratrooper and while in Sicily made several successful landings. He writes of the beauty of Sicily and how different it is in North Africa out on the desert, where the sand is about ten inches deep and always a hot wind.
Other friends write that they have seen as many as 15 camels crossing the desert at one time. It has not rained there for five months, and the way the natives live and the things they do are unbelievable.

Sgt. George Smith was one of the first soldiers to land in the North African invasion, and was still located there when he wrote his last letter home.

Before Claud went to Sicily he asked the Red Cross to locate George for him. They located him and found the two were only about 50 miles apart, but about this time Claud was sent to Sicily. George writes he put his name on a Red Cross register and in a few days Allen Barbee of Manassas and Independent Hill came to see him and he found they had been fighting almost side by side all through the North African campaign.

"That's OUR railroad, Tommy!"

A tiny lad on tip-toe flattens his nose against the window-pane, watching a passenger train speed by.
"That's our railroad, Tommy!" grandmother explains.
Yes, to grandmothers and kids... to farmers and business men... to all the people who live in the Southern Railway's territory... the Southern is "our railroad."
And how right they are... for the Southern is their railroad. Their railroad... and yours!
It brings you the clothes you wear and the food you eat. It hauls the fuel and lumber and brick that warm and shelter you.
It serves your mines and mills and industries... your forests and farms... your villages and your bustling, growing cities and towns.
It shares your pride in the Southland's progress; your dreams of a better, a greater South. And it works with you, in countless ways, to help make those dreams come true.

Today, your railroad has gone to war. Day and night, the men and women of the Southern are moving fighting freight and fighting men... keeping the wheels rolling under the heaviest transportation load in history.
Tomorrow, when final Victory has been won, the busy trains of your railroad will serve the growing transportation needs of the South... just as efficiently, dependably, economically as they are now serving the transportation needs of a nation at war.
Then, more than ever, you'll be proud to say of the Southern—"That's our railroad!"

Home Front Volunteers Start Today To Put Over Third War Loan Campaign For World's Greatest Financing Drive

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 9.—America's Third Army marched forth today to capture the most important immediate objective on the home front. As 2,000,000 volunteers swung into line to put over the Third War Loan campaign, they were met with helping hands from millions of workers in the home front production battle, and cheers of encouragement from men on the fighting fronts—to whom the success of the Third War Loan is literally a matter of life and death.

To "Back the attack—with War Bonds"—every American who can do so will be asked to buy at least an extra $100 War Bond. The quota for those who are able to invest more from income or accumulated funds will be much higher. Speaking of the great drive to raise $15 billion—a major portion to come from individuals—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said: "The United Nations are on the march. The first rumblings of the big offensive are being heard in all the Axis nations. Thousands of our men have stormed Sicily. Tons upon tons of bombs are dropping on Germany. We are attacking Jap-held territory as never before. This is a great day for us. But it means that the time has come for us to really tighten our belts here on the home front. We have come to a most crucial period in the war, and the success that we will have on the fighting fronts, will depend to a considerable extent upon the degree to which we here at home are willing to work and sacrifice for ultimate victory."

"It's going to be a costly victory. We have said that before, but we must repeat it again and again. The real war has only now begun. Billions of dollars more must be spent to keep the material of war going to our men at the front. Your Government must call upon you, the American people, for that money. "Remember! It is up to all of us here at home to 'Back the Attack'—and to do it more enthusiastically, more thoroughly and with greater sacrifice than any attack has ever been backed by any home front in all history. Everything is at stake. Everyone must help to the very limit of his ability." The drive, continuing throughout September, will offer to investors in addition to Series E, F and G United States Savings Bonds the following securities: Treasury Savings Notes, Series C; 2 1/2 percent Treasury Bonds of 1964-69; 2 percent Treasury Bonds of 1951-53; 3/4 percent Certificates of Indebtedness.

Green Soybeans—Easy to Cook. Cooking green soybeans is an old story to our Chinese friends but brand new to many an American homemaker, growing soybeans for the first time in her Victory Garden. She wants to know how to cook them and even when to pick them. Soybeans are ready for picking when the beans are fully developed but the pods are still green. At this stage, they have lots of carotene—plant source of Vitamin A—lacking in the dried soybeans. Fresh or dried soybeans are a good source of B. Vitamins—thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin—and they contain calcium, phosphorus, iron, and other minerals needed in the body.

Now about the cooking. Tenderize the pods for easy shelling by boiling three or five minutes. Pop the beans out of the shells and steam or boil them in lightly salted water, until they're tender but not mealy. Time of cooking depends on the variety. Some will cook as quickly as peas; others are more like lima beans. Good standard for cooked green soybeans is a "nutty" flavor and a firm texture, pleasant to the tongue.

Soybeans pack nutritious goodness in small space. They're hearty, having more fat and protein than many other vegetables. In these busy wartime days, the homemaker may wish to serve them in the simplest way—as a green vegetable much like peas or lima beans—seasoned with salt and pepper to taste and a little melted drippings or maybe crisply fried bacon or salt pork. They may also be scalloped and baked with tomato or white sauce, covered with bread crumbs, and the cold, cooked green beans make an excellent salad. Because they have protein, good in quality and quantity, soybeans are some times used as a main dish. Whether to serve them on the meat platter or vegetable plate depends on the other foods planned for the meal.

If the Victory Garden crop of soybeans is too large for immediate eating, home makers can can the surplus like any other member of the bean family in a pressure canner. Cover shelled beans with boiling water and boil 3 or 4 minutes. Pack hot; cover with fresh boiling water; process at 10 lb. pressure for 60 minutes if using pint jars and 70 minutes for quarts.

Last Call for Home Canning

We always have wound up the canning season at home by making sauerkraut. Probably the reason is because the late cabbage as a rule seems so much better and is so firm. SAUERKRAUT 20 lbs. cabbage 1/2 lb. (3/4 cup) cooking salt. Select firm, mature heads of cabbage. Remove outer leaves; wash well; quarter, remove core; slice very fine. Mix 5 lbs. (about 7 1/2 qt.) shredded cabbage with 2 oz. (3 1/2 tbsps.) salt; place in deep crock or tight wooden keg; tamp down firmly with wooden masher. Repeat until all cabbage is used. Press down, cover with clean white cloth, then with plate or round wooden board small enough to fit down inside crock; weight down with a clean rock to keep cabbage covered with brine that forms. Keep in a warm place, 75° to 85° F. Inspect each day; remove scum with spoon; rinse cloth in clear water. Kraut will be "cured" (appearance and taste will tell) in 10 to 20 days, depending upon amount of cabbage and temperature. Kraut may be left in crock or keg all winter, in a cold cellar or basement (take care to remove any scum) or it may be canned from 1 to 3 months after curing. To can: drain off juice, pack cold kraut into hot sterilized fruit jars to 1/2 inch from top; heat juice to boiling, pour over kraut, seal, store in cool dark place. Do not process.

NOTE.—Cooking salt is salt without a filler and comes in bags. ALL ABOUT HOME CANNING If you haven't a copy of my Handbook of Home Canning, 1943 edition, then send for your copy today and let it help you wind up the canning season in grand style. To get your copy, just send 15c to me at Box 660-CB, Oakland 4, California, and I'll see that it's mailed to you right away.

A WARNING TO MOTORISTS

We wish to take this means of adding a word of warning to the notice already given by our Division Superintendent of Schools in reference to passing school buses when loading and unloading children.

We notice ourselves a general disregard of the law in this matter and almost daily see motorists pass school buses while loading or discharging children. The present law is more stringent than formerly and arrests will seemingly have to be resorted to in order to safeguard the lives of the children.

"Any person," the present law reads, "who fails to stop at a school bus while taking on or discharging school children, whether going in the same direction or in the opposite direction, and to remain stopped until all school children are clear of the highway is guilty of reckless driving."

We particularly call attention to the present penalty. Violation is not an ordinary misdemeanor. It automatically imposes conviction of RECKLESS DRIVING, and that is something to think about because such a conviction carries with it possibility of revocation of driving permit, or the cancellation of gasoline ration.

In the most friendly manner possible Professor Hayden asks for cooperation. "Won't you help us enforce this law for the safety of your children," he urges. The school patrons, and most of us, will heed this warning, but there will be some, particularly from without the confines of our County, who will have to be hauled into Court before many days, and they should be made to respect the Virginia Law.

To the People of this Community:

ARE YOU REALLY AT WAR?

What does being at war mean to you? Less gasoline for your auto? Less sugar in your coffee? Higher prices for your food and clothes? Separation from your husband?

Sure, it has meant all those things, some serious and some really trivial for a period when your actual safety is at stake.

But has the war meant BLOOD, SWEAT AND TEARS to you? In many instances YES. The first stage of invasion has already pushed our casualties over the 100,000 mark.

The gold stars which decorate thousands of our homes today are a challenge to the vast majority of us to do our best in the Third War Loan. No good American wants to see one more gold star added to the firmament of glory. We educate our youth for life, not for death. If they die, they die so that we might live. Every extra War Bond you buy today will back the invasion so that the war will be shorter and so that there will be less blood, sweat and tears for you and your friends.

SOUTHERN STATES FARM LIFE

THE midsummer growth which burned up the pastures and fired the corn in a large part of Southern States territory took a toll of about $50,000,000. To make up for this serious loss of grass and grain, farmers will need to fertilize more heavily than ever this fall to produce more feed.

Fortunately nitrogen, which was so scarce last fall—is now on the plentiful side. Farmers can now use nitrogen fertilizer on small grains without restriction.

Fertilizing heavily this fall means more grain to harvest next summer and a bigger hay crop to follow. Southern States 4-12-4 is a good fertilizer for small grains and for the grass and clover seeded with the grain. Like all Southern States fertilizers, it is open formula.

Farm machinery and tools that stand out in the rain and snow and storms all winter are apt to be pretty sorry looking next spring. The place for them this winter is in the barn or shed where they're protected. Before you put your machinery and equipment away for the winter, wipe off the dirt and rust and give them a good coat of Southern States Implement Paint.

Now that you drive your car only when you absolutely have to, the amount of sludge that gets into your motor oil is apt to increase. To keep your motor in top-notch condition during the winter at least three oil changes should be made—in October, December and February, for instance. It's good insurance to get a supply of Unico Motor Oil from your Southern States Service Agency—and to change your oil regularly this winter.

IT'S A FACT! that the Baltimore Fertilizer Plant of Southern States Cooperative is the largest fertilizer factory in the world owned and operated by farmers.

Signal Corps Officer Describes Vital Role Played By Telephone In U.S. Army

Major John C. Grable Reveals Administrative Post Communication Systems Total 189, With Nearly 60,000 Telephones In The Several Corps Areas

The important part played by telephone communication in the U. S. Army was recently described by Major John C. Grable of the U. S. Army Signal Corps. Major Grable, addressing the Independent Telephone Association, explained that the United States is divided into nine corps areas for administrative purposes.

"These nine corps areas," Major Grable said, "and the four overseas departments, Puerto Rico, Panama, Hawaii and the Philippines, each has a signal officer assigned as a staff officer of the Commanding General of each corps area and department, who is responsible to the Commander for all types of signal communication within the area."

The permanent communication systems of the Army include the Administrative Post Telephone Systems, Harbor Defense Fire Control Systems, Fire Telephone Systems, and Target Range Systems.

At present there are 189 administrative post systems, with about 60,000 telephones, in the several army corps areas. The completion of additional systems will bring the number of administrative post telephones to 98,000. Harbor Defense Fire Control Systems are used in transmitting information to gun crews necessary for the firing of major caliber guns.

Fire Reporting Systems are installed at all army posts. These systems consist of switchboards installed in fire houses with an electrically lighted annunciator placed in a prominent position near the fire apparatus. Anyone wishing to report a fire lifts the receiver of one of the telephones and the number of that telephone is flashed on the annunciator. By means of a locked relay that light remains lighted until cleared by the operator. The fire department can proceed to the location of the telephone at once, or, under normal procedure, the operator in the fire station ascertains the location and extent of the fire from the person reporting.

The number of telephones in a Target Range System varies from several up to more than 100. When a soldier is on the target range the result of each shot is instantly reported by telephone from the distant pit where observers inspect the targets.

Missing...

"Missing in action." You know what that can mean.

Mom says you must be brave. "It's what your father would expect of us," she tells you when it's bedtime and your chin starts to feel shaky. Then she kisses you extra hard and turns her head away so you can't see her eyes.

You've never let her see you cry. Not once, since that telegram came and she twisted it all up in a ball, then smoothed it and put it in the desk.

But, lying in bed, you play "Pretend"—pretend you can hear his step as he comes up to your room—pretend you can feel a stubble brush your forehead. And sometimes, in the dark, you can almost smell a cigarette-y suit close to your face.

Later you dream—dreams that you don't tell about. And in the morning you wake up with that funny, empty feeling in your stomach.

Poor little guy. We—all of us—wish there were something we could do. Perhaps there is. Why shouldn't it be this?

We can resolve that the plans your father had for you shall remain within your reach, that you shall have the chance to grow and learn, that your opportunities will be bounded only by your own get-up-and-go, that you will progress and prosper in direct relation to your own ability—in a land of freedom and opportunity.

Those are the things your Dad valued, the things for which he gave his life. Though some may strive to change all that—provide you with the "benefits" of an all-powerful government, the "advantages" of regimentation, the "blessings" of bureaucracy—we can resolve they won't succeed.

You, son, won't read these words, and if you did, they wouldn't mean much to you now. But your father's friends—known and unknown—are making you a promise, just the same.

You may never hear it from their lips. But if you were older you would read it in their faces—recognize it in their spirit. They are determined to keep America free. To keep it a land in which government is the servant, not the master of the people. To keep it the kind of America your Dad wanted to preserve—for you.
